Affectionate Wishes for a Glorious and Joyous Easter

Dear Friends of the Clergy and Laity:

With this issue of the BULLETIN I send to all the people of our Diocese my affectionate wishes for a glorious and joyous Easter.

That great day should bring to all of us at this time, new hope and courage and new confidence with which to face the sorely troubled world in which we are living. Were we to make our own the true significance of the wondrous victory that has been won for us, we would live with Him now in the joy of His resurrection. That life eternal of which Easter is the pledge and assurance is not something that lies only beyond the grave. It can begin here. Had we faith to believe, those things which make for death, that we find on every side of us these days, would have no more dominion over us.

But we cannot rightly appreciate the meaning of Easter unless we give heed to what the Cross on Calvary tells us of the price that was paid for the victory that was won for us. Without Good Friday there could have been no Easter.

And there is a sobering sense in which that applies to our own lives and to the life of our world. Without a Good Friday there can be no Easter. As our Prayer Book reminds us: "sinful affections must die in us if the things belonging to the Spirit are to live and grow in us."

If the nations are to possess that larger, fuller, freer life God holds out to them, there are selfish designs that have to be overcome. And we know that cannot be done without a struggle in which we must all share.

If in our own personal experience with life we are to find that triumphant spirit which would enable us to rise above defeat and despair, we have to learn to say: "Not my will but Thine be done." There are inner conflicts to be won. St. Paul tells us that we become "joint heirs with Christ if so be that we suffer with Him."

And so in our relations with our Church. Through its Sacraments, its worship and fellowship, grace is given us whereby we may enter now into the power of His resurrection and share in His triumph over the powers of evil. But there is a price to be paid. There is "hardess to be endured as a good soldier of Jesus Christ."

Let us remember that and make this Easter a time for brave and honest rededication of ourselves to His service.

Charles C Gilbert

Old Age Study Results Approved in Principle

The Commission on Christian Social Relations at a meeting held March 15 approved in principle the recommendations of the directors of the study, Linda Wharton, and Dr. Margaret Benz.

1. The establishment of an Episcopal Service to the Aged, with a board representing the Bishop of the Diocese, the existing institutions for the care of the aged, the Convocations, and the Commission on Christian Social Relations.

2. The employment of one highly competent social worker, who shall be a communicant of the Episcopal Church, to act as a referral agency and interpreter to the clergy; to assist elderly people referred by the clergy in obtaining Old Age Assistance and Federal Security; to assist individuals and parishes to find suitable boarding homes for elderly people; to assist two or three parishes in the establishment of experiments in group activities for elderly parishioners; to enlist lay volunteers for calling, reading, and transportation; and, if time permits, to afford case work service to those on the waiting lists of homes for the aged in the Diocese.

3. The authorization of a budget of $8,500 for this program. This budget is sufficient to make it possible for the worker to spend one-third of her time outside New York City.

Diocese to Elect 8 Convention Deputies

The 167th Annual Convention of the Diocese, which will elect eight deputies to General Convention to be held in San Francisco, September 26, has been called to convene May 10, 1949 at the Synod House on the Cathedral close. Eight provisional deputies will also be chosen. Deputies are divided equally between clergy and laity.

Election of members to the Standing Committee, the Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society, the Board of Religious Education, the Commission on Christian Social Relations and of trustees of the Estate and Property of the Diocesan Convention will be held as usual.

The Convention will open with a celebration of the Holy Communion at 8:15 a.m. in the Cathedral. The business session will be called to order by the Bishop at 10:00 a.m.

The Bishop has invited the clergy, lay delegates and their wives to a reception at Cathedral House, the residence of former bishops of the Diocese, after the business session.

Auxiliary to Cathedral to Meet

At the invitation of the Bishop, the Diocesan Auxiliary to the Cathedral will hold its annual meeting at Ogilvie House, April 20, at 3:30 p.m.

The Cathedral Auxiliary provides for linen and flowers for the Altars of the Cathedral.

Growth of the Prayer Book Parallels History's March

Dates to Know: 1549, 1558, 1662, 1789, 1929

January, 1549, in the reign of Edward VI an act of Uniformity of Religion was passed by the British Parliament authorizing the Church of England to use the Prayer Book which had been translated into English. The Act enjoined that it should be used throughout the land by Whitsuntide of that same year.

The task of translating and compiling had been accomplished by Thomas Cranmer, then the Archbishop of Canterbury. With several associates, he had collated and adopted from Latin Service Books, the Eastern Liturgies, and a German Service Book drawn up by one of the Archbishops of Cologne. These labors produced the book which has remained the structure for that Prayer Book which stands as a symbol of the unity of the Anglican Communion.

The purpose which dominated its writing is described in the words of its Preface: "And where heretofore, there hath been great diuersitie in saying and syinging in churches within this realme: some folowying Salsbury use, some Herford use, some the use of Bangor, some of Yorke, and some of Lincolne: Now from hecefurth, all the whole realme shall haue but one use."

A copy of the March, 1549, first edition is in the Pierpont Morgan Library, 29 East 36th St., N.Y.C.*

Apart from its use of the vernacular, the authorized worship book of Edward VI was noteworthy among many features for uniting in one volume the various services of the Church, formerly in separate volumes.

The New York Bible and Common Prayer Book Society, in the brief tract on the 400th Anniversary of the Prayer Book just released, said, "The first English Prayer Book, published in 1549, was one of the striking achievements of the Reformation in England. In it the services of the Church were freed from many corrupt practices and erroneous doctrines which had grown up around the people's worship in the middle ages. But no break was made with the rich heritage of worship which Christians had offered to God for more than a thousand years. The structure and prayers of the new services faithfully followed the same patterns formed in the earliest years of the Church's life. The old Latin services were revised, translated into incomparable English."

As we go to press, excerpts from the Prayer Book of 1549, authorized by the Bishop to be used on Whitsunday or some other single appropriate day to celebrate the 400th Anniversary of the Prayer Book, are being released.

The Offices of Morning Prayer, Evening Prayer, and the Holy Communion have been prepared in separate booklets.

The language of today is used, and the rubrics have been simplified. However, the original rubrics and other material is appended as being of historic interest.

However, even during Edward's reign, some were not quite satisfied with that Prayer Book claiming it retained too much from former uses and of Catholic teaching to suit their extreme point of view; so that, as a result of their influence, Edward authorized a new revision on All Saints Day, 1552.

Within a year of its publication, the King died; and his sister Mary, a fanatical Roman Catholic, suppressed the Prayer Book and attempted to establish the Church of Rome in England. During her reign, from which she won the title of "bloody Mary", the three chief architects of the English Prayer Book, Archbishop Cranmer, Hugh Latimer and Nicholas Ridley, were burned at the stake for their part in reforming the Church in England.

Mary died in November 1558 and her sister Elizabeth succeeded to the throne. The Reformers gained a champion, and the Prayer Book of 1552 was restored to remain the Book of Worship for the Church of England until the "Commonwealth" was established under Oliver Cromwell. Then, again, the use of the Prayer Book was forbidden and anyone who was found with it in his possession was fined and imprisoned.

When Charles II was called from Holland to the throne of England, the Church was freed from the heavy restrictions which the Puritans had placed upon it, and the Prayer Book of 1662 was authorized on St. Bartholomew's Day.

The new Prayer Book reflected the change in the thought and point of view of some within the Church who had contact with continental theologians. Howbeit, that Prayer Book of 1662 is the Book of Worship in use in the Church of England today.

When the colonists came to America they brought the Prayer Book with them. The record is that when Sir Martin Frobischer landed on the shores of Hudson Bay in 1578, his chaplain celebrated Holy Communion there according to the Prayer Book usage and that, in the following year, when Sir Francis Drake landed in California, his chaplain also held services using the Prayer Book.

When the colonists rebelled against British sovereignty and established our new nation, the Prayer Book of 1662 was re-edited to become the first American Prayer Book in 1789.

There have been several subsequent revisions in the American book, the latest in 1929.

As a commentary on this history the New York Bible and Common Prayer Book Society said, "For Episcopalians, the Prayer Book is above all a strong bond of unity. We have among us different schools of thought. Our freedom allows a variety of approaches to the presence of God. It is perhaps the greatest glory of our Church that we still hold together in unity those divergent emphases which in other Christian bodies have often been the cause of separation. We do so through our Common Prayer Book. However marked be our differences, they are not as strong as the unity we find when we come together humbly to acknowledge our sins before God, to hear His Word and sing His praise.

'Cornerstone Drive Drags' Board Hears

A great deal of hard work still remains to be done to realize the $150,000 objective of the "Cornerstone" Campaign reported the executive chairman of the effort, Archdeacon Bratt, to the Board of the Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society the end of last month. He expressed disappointment over the length of time taken "to get rolling to build the Church by building churches."

Progress was defined as "spotty." "Wherever we have been able to speak to the people and tell them our needs, the response has been wonderful," he said. "There is no question of the failure of this vital effort. We will keep going until we have reached our goal."

As illustrating some success, he cited especially achievements in the Bronx where Good Shepherd, Wakefield; St. Ann's, Morrisania; and St. David's exceeded their suggested goals. Grace, City Island, met its goal and promised to double it.

With these examples of consecrated giving, other Bronx parishes have stepped up their campaigns and reports indicate the Bronx will do its full share. St. James', Fordham reports it has passed the half-way mark; St. Simeon's, St. Paul's, St. Luke's, and St. Stephen's expect to meet their share; and Holy Nativity and Trinity, Morrisania, report they will exceed their suggested quotas.

Five Ramapo convocation parishes have already exceeded their goals. They are St. Mark's, Fort Montgomery; St. David's, Highland Mills; Grace, Monroe; Grace, Port Jervis; and St. John the Divine, Tomkins Cove. St. John's, Arden and St. John's, New City have paid their objectives in full. St. James, Goshen; Christ Church, Piermont; and Grace, Nyack, are past the half-way mark.

'One Great Hour' to Net $50,000 in the Diocese

On the basis of reports from approximately one-third of the churches, the Diocesan contribution to World Relief for 1949 will be about $50,000, Theodor Oxholm, assistant treasurer of the Diocese informed the National Council following the "One Great Hour" interdenominational appeal.

At press time, $27,000 had been tabulated .

"One Great Hour" was heard over all major networks the night of March 26. Following a dramatic presentation of the need in war-torn countries, and a commendation by the President of the United States, listeners were urged to contribute to world relief through their own churches the next day, Sunday, March 27.

Last year, when the Presiding Bishop broadcast an appeal especially to the Episcopal Church at service time, over $92,000 was contributed by the Diocese.

Annual G.F.S. Rally, April 30th

Conference Studies Week-time Programs

In response to the request of thirty-five diocesan clergymen a conference on released time classes was held March 31 at Holy Nativity, Bronx. The conference was planned on the basis of a survey questionnaire recently sent out, according to the Rev. J. Willard Yoder, director of religious education and youth work, who completed the work begun earlier by the Rev. James L. Whitcomb of Grace, Hastings, and Ethel G. Stringfellow of the Chapin School, New York City, members of the Diocesan Released Time Committee.

Rev. J. W. Yoder

Requests for the conference on released time came largely from those priests working in their own parish schools and desiring help on curriculum selections, and from those clergymen presently without released time classes but desiring to organize them either as parish or as interdenominational projects.

The conference began with a panel conference on Problems and Curriculum lead by the Rev. Mr. Whitcomb, the Rev. Howard D. Perkins, and the Rev. Richard L. Harbour. There was also an exhibit of Episcopal textbooks.

In the survey, reports were received from 156 parishes and missions, with 61 reporting some type of released time classes, 1,576 parish children enrolled. Those schools operated by the parishes themselves, largely for parish children, numbered 34 with 1,086 enrolled, an average of 32, while 27 reported cooperating in community-type schools with 400 Episcopal children enrolled, averaging 18. 95 reported no participation in released time classes of either type school.

The survey revealed that 49 of the 105 teachers working in the released time program of the Episcopal Church are professionally trained, while 26 receive salaries. 22 schools use motion pictures for instructional purposes, while 20 use filmstrips or slides. Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, in the afternoon, are the favorite meeting times for classes.

The survey also revealed that there are 7 parishes conducting regular full-time parochial schools with 550 enrolled, 5 Episcopal boarding schools with 525 enrolled, and 2 choir schools with 80 enrolled.

Curriculum Institutes Announced by Board

"Curriculum" is to be the main concern of the Church School Institutes to be held this Spring in each of the Convocations under the direction of the Church School Committee of the Board of Religious Education.

Mrs. Pierre Buhlmann, director of religious education, St. Bartholomew's, White Plains, will present the theme of curriculum except in Westchester, where Mrs. George W. Edwards of Hartsdale will serve. Adult education will be presented by the Rev. Robert R. P. Coombs, Heavenly Rest, Manhattan; but in Dutchess, the Rev. James A. Pike, J.S.D., chaplain-elect of Columbia University, will present that theme. The Rev. Charles J. Buck, Holy Nativity, Bronx, will discuss the correlation of church school instruction and confirmation instruction.

The parishes will provide supper at a nominal fee, after which the leaders will present a panel on how to correlate religious instruction with the sacraments, ministry, and liturgy of the Church.

The Rev. Messrs. Charles P. Deems, D.D., Gerwyn Morgan, Buck and Willard J. Yoder arranged the programs.

Institutes begin at 3:30 p.m. as follows:

April 24—Bronx—St. Paul's
May 1—Ramapo—Christ Church, Warwick
May 7—Hudson—St. Andrew's, New Paltz
May 8—Westchester—St. John's, Larchmont
May 15—Richmond—Place to be determined
May 22—Manhattan—Intercession
June 5—Dutchess—Zion, Wappingers Falls

Cathedral Close Gets Changing About a Bit

All Cathedral offices are now housed in "Cathedral House", the residence of the former Bishops. Diocesan officers are now housed in the former deaconesses' training school building.

All offices now use only one telephone number; MOnument 2-3100. The separate numbers of the Departments have been discontinued.

Evangelism Group Sets Future Plans

The Diocesan Committee on Evangelism met at Ogilvie House, Cathedral Close, March 25 under the chairmanship of Bishop Donegan.

The Committee announced that Tom Rees, a young layman of the Church of England will assist the Rev. Bryan Green at the Diocesan Youth Mission to be held at St. Bartholomew's, Manhattan, October 30 to November 6. Mr. Rees has just completed a successful youth mission in Winnipeg; and enjoys a reputation in England for being a most effective missioner with young people.

A Re-union Service for all who attended the 1948 Diocesan Mission has been planned for November 9 at the Cathedral.

It was determined to limit the number of persons to be invited to attend the School for Missioners to forty. The sessions are to be held June 13, 14, and 15 at St. Peter's School, Peekskill.

The Rev. Grieg Taber, D.D., and the Rev. John M. Mulligan were appointed co-chairmen of the arrangements committee for the Prayer Book of 1549 anniversary service at the Cathedral, 4:00 p.m., June 5. "The service will be sponsored by all organizations in the Diocese and will illustrate the unity and freedom of the Church which is bound together by the Prayer Book," said Bishop Donegan.

Convocations Meet Before Convention

Business meetings of the seven convocations of the Diocese will be held between Easter and Convention:

April 21—4:00 p.m. Ramapo Convocation, St. David's, Highland Mills.
April 25—4:00 p.m. Dutchess, St. Paul's, Poughkeepsie.
April 27—4:00 p.m. Westchester, St. John's Larchmont.
May 2—8:15 p.m. Richmond, Ascension, West New Brighton.
May 3—8:00 p.m. Manhattan, St. Ambrose, Manhattan.
May 4—7:00 p.m. Hudson, St. Andrew's, Walden (dinner meeting).
May 5—8:00 p.m. Bronx, Christ Church, Riverdale.

Most meetings will be confined to the election of members of the convocation council and representatives on the Board of Managers of the Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society, the Board of Religious Education and the Commission on Christian Social Relations. The Dutchess Convocation will elect a dean and Richardson Wright, editor of House and Garden magazine will speak after dinner. Archdeacon Bratt and the Rev. Dr. Almon R. Pepper, Director of the Department of Christian Social Relations of the National Council will be the speakers at Highland Mills.

In Westchester convocation a symposium and discussion on World Peace and World Government at the evening session will be led by representatives of the United World Federalists and Federal Union, Inc.

At the meeting of the Manhattan, Bronx and Westchester convocations the respective deans will present the matter of the Social Research Study to be undertaken beginning next fall.

These meetings are the annual meetings of the convocations and are attended by the clergy canonically resident and three lay delegates from each parish and mission. Bishop Donegan, who is one of the Archdeacons of the Diocese, will preside at all meetings.

'Cornerstone Drive Drags'

In Manhattan, only eighteen parishes have actually sent in contributions. Others report the campaign in progress and an optimistic response in view.

The Hudson Convocation reports about one-third of its goal in hand. Over the top are St. James', Callicoon; St. Andrew's in Montgomery, Walden and New Paltz; All Saints', Rosendale. St. John's, Ellenville; St. Peter's, Stone Ridge; St. John's, High Falls; Christ Church, Marlboro; St. Agnes', Balmville; St. George's, Newburgh and Holy Communion, Liberty, all report that they expect to meet their full shares.

Reports of progress and contributions from Westchester parishes have been slow coming in, but parish leaflets indicate the campaign is well under way and considerable improvement is expected within the next few weeks. Following St. Martha's, North White Plains, gift of $500, which was about twelve times its suggested goal, St. Francis of Assisi, Elmsford, St. Luke's, Tuckahoe; St. Simon's, New Rochelle, and St. Mark's, Yonkers, have all contributed their full shares. Trinity, New Rochelle and St. John's, Tuckahoe, report that they will meet their goals, and Christ Church, Tarrytown; St. John's, Wilmot; and Divine Love, Montrose, are well on their way.

The Convocation of Dutchess has been slow in reporting, with only five congregations heard from.

In the Richmond Convocation, only three parishes have as yet made contributions.

In discussing the type of structure chosen by the Missionary Society, Canon West, canon sacrist of the Cathedral and chairman of the Diocesan Commission on Church Building which has jurisdiction over all mission building construction, said, "The problem is not one of long range adequate building. It is rather that of meeting an emergency church housing situation.

"The Board will permit the missions themselves to expend their money only on permanent furnishings of the Church, built and designed by approved architects and craftsmen. The structures being built for them to meet this emergency need, are designed to give temporarily adequate enclosed space at minimum cost. In each instance, the choice is something or nothing. In most cases, the building will have to be used for parochial activities other than worship."

William J. Colyer Dies at 86,

William J. Colyer, for many years a faithful member and trustee of the Church of the Divine Love, Montrose, died March 23 at the age of 86. He also served as organist of the church.

St. Ann's Mission to Deaf Seeks Acceptance

The congregation of St. Ann's Church for the Deaf voted unanimously to apply for acceptance as an organized mission of the Diocese on March 21 at a meeting in the parish hall of St. Mark's-in-the-Bouwerie. Bishop Donegan, at the request of the Bishop, will act as vicar until a permanent appointment can be made.

Thirty-one members of the congregation signed the application which now awaits approval by the dean and Council of the Manhattan Convocation and the board of managers of the Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society.

Bishop Donegan, who presided at the meeting, made himself understood to the people through an interpreter, Elizabeth Gillen, the "hearing" daughter of deaf parents and the great granddaughter of the late Rev. Thomas Gallaudet, the founder of St. Ann's.

The Advisory Board, Alfred C. Stern, treasurer, Dr. Edwin W. Nies, clerk, Frank M. Nimmo, Charles B. Terry and Spencer G. Hoag, was elected from among eleven nominees.

The Rev. Dr. Louis W. Pitt, dean, the Rev. J. Stanley Light, missionary to the deaf, and Theodor Oxholm, assisted Bishop Donegan.

Bishop to Preside At "Garden Rally"

The Bishop will preside at "A Great World Mission Rally", Tuesday, May 10, 8:00 p.m., at Madison Square Garden. The meeting is sponsored by the Foreign Missions Conference of North America and is supported by sixteen Protestant bodies in the New York, Westchester, Nassau County and North Jersey area. Dr. John Sutherland Bonnell is chairman of the program committee.

The program will present Sarah Chakko, president of Isabella Thoburn College, India; Dr. Walter H. Judd, formerly a medical missionary to China and now U.S. Congressman from Minnesota; and a mass choir of different nationalities and races.

Representatives of the Church are the Rev. Messrs. Shelton H. Bishop; Henry Darlington, D.D.; John H. Fitzgerald, Christ Church, Long Island; and Samuel Shoemaker, D.D. Also Elsie C. Hutton, Mrs. James S. McCulloh, Mrs. William H. Norwood, and Eliot Ward.

The purpose of the rally is described as "to focus the attention of the churches in the Metropolitan Area on the world task of Protestant Christianity today and to launch a Christian World Recovery Program which will ultimately touch the heart of the Church."

Prominent Westchester Churchman Thomas Jansen Powers, Jr. Dies

Thomas Jansen Powers, Jr., vestryman of All Saints' Church, Briarcliff, died March 9th in the Peekskill Hospital. Bishop Donegan was assisted by Archdeacon Bratt and the Rev. Raymond M. O'Brien at the funeral service in St. Peter's, Peekskill, March 12th.

Well known in the Diocese, Mr. Powers had served for many years as vestryman of St. Peter's, Peekskill; warden of St. Mary's, Mohegan Lake; vestryman of St. Mary's, Chappaqua; and, more recently, vestryman at Briarcliff.

He is survived by four sons and three daughters.

Women Work to Beautify Worship in Institutions

Founded forty-six years ago to supply the chaplains of the Episcopal City Mission Society with appointments necessary to a reverent celebration of the Holy Eucharist, the New York Altar Guild now numbers more than 900 women members in the Diocese.

In many of the institutions, there were neither adequate altars nor proper vestments for the priests, and conditions generally were deplorable. In order that patients in hospitals, and the needy in institutions, might come to know the joy of worshipping in surroundings that, though they were simple, would give them a sense of the beauty of holiness, the Guild started to work. Their scope soon expanded far beyond its original aims, until today it serves not only throughout the Diocese, but sends gifts all over the world.

Its main support comes through annual dues, and the willingness of members to pray and to serve as chairmen for the many chapels and missions. Many men help by paying annual dues.

Meetings are held on the second Thursday of the month at 11:00 a.m., October to May, in St. James' Parish House, Manhattan. The guild publishes a small pamphlet, "For Love of God." Information about activities and classes of dues may be obtained from Mrs. William C. Dickey, president, 123 East 53rd Street, New York 22, N. Y.

Parishes Announce Registration for '49 Camping Season

Camps operated by parishes of the Diocese are now registering boys and girls for the summer season.

Incarnation Camp, at Ivoryton, Conn. operated by Incarnation, Manhattan, will take girls in July and boys in August. Rates are $80 for four weeks. The site includes 420 acres of woodland and a private lake. Ages are 8-15. Counsellors have American Camping Association qualifications. Applications are open to cutsiders.

The Chapel also operates a Vacation Home for adults, July 1 through Labor Day.

Grace, Manhattan, will open their boys' summer camp on its new lakeside site at Lake Kanawauke in Bear Mountain Park with the Rev. Hadley B. Williams directing the camp for the fourth consecutive season. Boys 8-15 are accepted. Rates are $23 weekly for a minimum of four weeks.

Limited reservations are open for boys not members of Grace. Applications should be addressed to the church.

Camp Pequot, Holy Trinity, St. James, situated on Lake Stahahe in Palisades Interstate Park, accommodates 100 boys 7-15. Board for outsiders, $182.00 for 8 weeks, $91.00 for 4 weeks. Campers are not accepted for less than a four week period.

St. George's, Manhattan, now operates its camps for boys and girls, 8-18, at Saugerties, on the shores of the Hudson River. While the camps are separate, program is identical, and there is opportunity for some co-educational activity. They accommodate 72 boys, 43 girls, and 25 midgets, boys and girls 4-8 years who have a separate program. They take non-parochial children. Fees are $85.00 for 3 weeks. $255 for 9 weeks.

Camp St. George, was established year before last by St. George's, Newburgh, for use by the entire Diocese. It takes organized groups, as the only charge is the amount necessary, on a pro-rata basis, to pay for light, gas, liability insurance and breakage. The camp can accommodate 36 persons in non-mixed groups.

THE BISHOP making his contribution to the Red Cross to Mrs. Renville McMann, last month. Collections were taken throughout the Diocese on Sunday, March 20th.

All Angels' Farm, Ramapo, New York, will take 25 boys and girls 4-6 this year. Board is $20.00 weekly for a minimum of four weeks.

The New York Protestant Episcopal City Mission Society will again operate its three camps this summer. About 1200 were served last year. The Elko Lake Camps for Boys and Girls at Parksville, will open June 30 and close August 26. Ages are 9-15, for two weeks or more depending upon need.

Younger children 4-8 are enrolled for the Edgewater Creche - Rethmore Home for 3 weeks.

St. Luke's Elects New President

Edwin S. S. Sunderland, attorney, and president of the University Club, has been elected to succeed Lincoln Cromwell as president of St. Luke's Hospital, it was announced March 28 by Dr. Lloyd H. Gaston, director.

See Record April 23 Youth Rally

Well attended Convocation youth meetings promise to make the Diocesan-wide Youth Rally at the Cathedral, Saturday after Easter, April 23, one of the most successful in years, the Board of Religious Education announced this month.

Clergy Notes

The Rev. Leicester Crosby Lewis, vicar of St. Luke's Chapel, of Trinity Parish, died March 19 in the vicarage of the chapel after a period of illness. He was 61 years old.

A graduate of Columbia University and General Theological Seminary, he studied at the Universities of Berlin, Teubingen and Freiburg. He received a Ph.D. degree from the University of Pennsylvania in 1925; an honorary S.T.D. from Columbia in 1936, and a D.C.L. from the Philadelphia Divinity School in 1944. He was also co-founder and editor of The Anglican Review

Dr. Lewis came into the Diocese on May 25, 1945 to serve St. Luke's. He was nominated an examining chaplain in 1947.

He is survived by his widow, two sons, Leicester Crosby, Jr., and Richard, and a daughter Virginia.

The Rev. Thomas McCandless, retired rector of St. Michael's, Manhattan, was elected Rector Emeritus of that parish at the February 28 meeting of the vestry.

The Rev. Frank M. Butler, resigned as rector of Ascension, West Park, and vicar of Holy Trinity, Highland, April 1, 1949. He has accepted appointment as vicar of the Church of the Redeemer, Avon Park, in the Diocese of South Florida.

The Rev. Gordon B. Wadhams. resigned as rector of the Church of the Resurrection, Manhattan, as of March 15, 1949.

Make the May 21 Pilgrimage

The children of the Diocese were urged to make the "inspiring pilgrimage" to the annual Presentation Service of the children's missionary offerings at the Cathedral, Saturday, May 21, 2:00 p.m., by the Rev. J. Willard Yoder this month.

He requested the clergy to make arrangements early.

"Supply" Serves Thirty Missions in the World

The Supply Department of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Diocese reports this month that they will contribute during the year 1948-1949 to the support of nine missions, three hospitals and three schools located outside the Diocese and to fifteen missions within the Diocese.

Missions assigned to supply are scattered from Japan to the Philippines, to Puerto Rico, the Dakotas, to the mountain regions of the South, New Orleans, and onto our own doorsteps in New York. Work done by this group constitutes one-fifth of the total amount asked by these mission stations, according to Supply.

"Supply" means — to furnish with what is needed — not only new and used clothes, but dispensary items, household furnishings, paper goods, etc. Supply says that while it deals chiefly with these physical needs, it is only through recognition of them that spiritual needs can be met.

Episcopal Women of the Bronx Hold Annual Corporate Communion

About 250 women attended a service of Holy Communion and luncheon at St. Peter's, Westchester, under the auspices of the Episcopal Women of the Bronx. The service was conducted by the Rev. Leslie J. A. Lang, rector of St. Peter's.

Convention 1949

Dear Brethren of the Clergy and Laity:

Again, as we assemble for this, the 167th Convention of our Diocese, grim and anxious forebodings press down upon our world. Men are thinking of the possibility of another war. Our nation, at fabulous cost to its people, is preparing itself for armed conflict. And that peace among nations and that good will among men for which we pray, and which should be the compelling concern of all of us, seems discouragingly remote.

Bishop Gilbert

We may not forget that our deliberations here, and all our endeavors, today, to carry on with the sacred task God has committed to us, have to be related to a world in which men's hearts are failing them for fear of what tomorrow may bring. Our faith and our loyalty are confronted with a challenge such as we have never had to face before. Pray God we may not be found wanting.

We know Him in whom we believe. As the Encyclical of the recent Lambeth Conference reminds us, "Whatever men may do, God is not defeated. God reigns. The world belongs to Him, and in it He is working out that purpose which He has revealed to us in Jesus Christ." It is for us, then, to carry on—to find our place and do our part in the fulfillment of that purpose and make proof of the faith that is in us. We can leave tomorrow with Him.

There is much that one might say of the critical issues that are now before us, but it is not my intention to dwell upon them here. This much however, I am constrained to say.

There is one fundamental conviction that should be kept alive within the heart and conscience of all of us.

History has made it clear that peace among nations can never be won by armed might. We may fight for the preservation of the liberties our forefathers have won for us. We will resist to the end the godless Marxian ideology that is now being so aggressively and ruthlessly thrust upon our world. But we stand committed to the fact—and the program that would implement the fact—that it is the Gospel of Jesus Christ and His Church that offer the one sure hope of peace and brotherhood among men. "There can be no peace that is not founded on justice," Lambeth tell us, "and there can be no justice unless men acknowledge the authority of God."

SERVICE of the Interracial Fellowship at the Cathedral last February, "friends with the friends of our common Lord and Master."

And ours is the task, we are reminded, to call men to the knowledge of God revealed in Jesus Christ. Every man, woman and child has his part in that task. "The Church in the Diocese and parish is the key to the whole situation. The local congregation is the place where we must find the life of the Great Church, which is God's instrument for the world's salvation."

Such is the carefully considered pronouncement that comes to us from our Bishops at Lambeth. Let us hope and pray that it may have the impact it ought to have upon Christian thought and action throughout the world in this time of great crisis.

A Call for Christian Unity

There is another timely word that comes to us from Lambeth that I would commend to your prayerful consideration. "Since the Cause of Christ in the world can never be served by a divided Church", it tells us, "we lay upon you the duty to take every opportunity of co-operating with Christians of other Churches."

I hope you will feel with me that in the face of the ominous situation with which we are confronted, when everything we hold dear is at stake, we must be ready and willing to join forces with all who will stand with us in opposing the evil influences that are now arrayed against the one common God and Father of us all.

We are officially affiliated with the Federal Council of Churches. We are one of the constituent bodies of the newly organized World Council of Churches, of which the Archbishop of Canterbury is one of the heads. It has been made clear that we can share in their program without compromising our loyalty to our own Church or its distinctive teaching. The same co-operation should be possible—as it would be tremendously helpful — not only in this great metropolitan community, but in every city and village of the Diocese. I leave it with you. I hope that in response to the appeal that comes to us from Lambeth, all of us will make it our business to be friends with the friends of our common Lord and Master, and try to work with them in the fulfillment of God's design for our troubled world.

But our special concern at this time is with the practical affairs of our Diocese. We are here to review the work of the past year and to take thought of the needs and opportunities of the year that lies ahead.

Our Domestic Affairs

You will let me say, first of all, that I have done my best to discharge the duties and responsibilities of the office committed to me. It has not been easy. There have been anxious problems and difficult situations that have had to be faced. But I think I may report to you that our work has continued to go forward.

You will share with me in recognizing our great indebtedness to Bishop Donegan for his loyal and devoted service. I am particularly grateful to him for all he has done in our Convocations and for his indispensable help in carrying out our heavy Confirmation schedule. Confirmation Visitations present a serious problem in this Diocese. That problem could not have been met without the generous assistance of Bishop Campbell and Bishop Littell upon whom I have had to call on frequent occasions. We are deeply indebted to them for their gracious and willing help.

Bishop Donegan

Diocesan Agencies

I wish there were time to place before you in adequate detail the work that has been maintained in your name by our various organizations. I know you would find new pride in your Church could you have a close-up view of the service being rendered by our Commission on Christian Social Relations, by our Board of Religious Education, the Youth Consultation Service, the Seamen's Church Institute, and by our City Mission Society. The year for that organization has been a particularly notable one because it has seen the completion of the desperately needed new St. Barnabas House, which has been made possible by the generous help of our parishes and missions, and many loyal friends.

The new St. Barnabas House

The Program of the Church

You will remember that it is the red side of your envelopes—your contributions to the Program of the Church—that enables these splendid organizations to carry on. And all of them could tell you that there are many urgent needs that have to go unmet because of the inadequate resources which the Diocese places at their disposal.

We can find encouragement in the fact that the total receipts for the program of the Church is some $6,000 more than last year. Since 1942 the missionary giving of the Diocese has increased by 58%. This has enabled us to pay to the National Council for work in the world field nearly 75% more than we gave in 1942; and there has been a similar increase in the amount made available for our diocesan agencies. Credit for this larger missionary giving must be given to the promotional work of Mr. Oxholm and our Treasurer's office.

Mr. Oxholm

But we are still falling short of the amount the Diocese is expected to pay toward the national program of the Church; and increases in the cost of maintaining our own missionary activities have made it impossible for us to meet the urgent need of new work in our diocesan field.

If the Church is to measure up to the task God has set for us we must find the way to enlist the support of all our people. To that end I appeal to all our parish clergy to see to it that every member of their congregation becomes a contributor to that program of the Church which is our common responsibility.

It has been demonstrated that there is no more effective method of accomplishing that end than an intensive, well-planned, thoroughly-executed Every Member Canvass. And I am confident that our people would be more generous in their giving if our clergy would take it upon themselves to see that they were better informed regarding the work that is being done in their name in the world field and within our own Diocese.

The Diocesan BULLETIN

In that connection may I remind you that we now have a diocesan publication, the BULLETIN, the sole purpose of which is to keep our people informed of the work of their Church and to enable our diocesan family to become better acquainted with itself. It comes to you every month in attractive and readable form. It could be a great asset in our diocesan life. At present this publication reaches only about 3% of our communicants. Obviously, it cannot serve its purpose unless our people read it. It costs a dollar a year. I hope you will all send in your subscription if you have not already done so, and persuade your fellow-parishioners to do likewise.

Of all our diocesan activities and obligations none is more vital to the life of our Church than the work of our Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society, and the maintenance of the seventy-three missions and assisted parishes under its care. In a very real sense, ours is a missionary Diocese; and there are many communities that would be deprived of the ministrations of the Church were it not for the support you provide. We can be grateful to our Board of Managers and to the deans and councils of our seven Convocations for the time and effort given to the needs and problems of our wide-spread missionary field. And I would pay tribute to Archdeacon Bratt for the highly efficient and untiring service he has given us during this past year. His is a new office, but it has meant much to our Board and to the strengthening of the work of our missionary stations.

Archdeacon Bratt

Our Board is not unmindful of the new opportunities—and the new problems and responsibilities that come to us out of shifting populations and new housing developments. Plans have been made for a careful, expert study during the coming year of the population trends in Manhattan and the Bronx and lower Westchester to learn how our Church can more effectively serve those areas. I may report that two new sites have been obtained where, it is hoped, suitable places of worship may soon be established. One is in a newly developed area in the Bronx, and the other just south of Poughkeepsie where ours will be the first Church in a new and rapidly growing community.

But, my brethren, there is one matter of vital bearing not only upon the work of our Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society but upon the welfare and good repute of our whole Diocese that I would lay upon your conscience at this time.

The "Cornerstone" Campaign

Last January, our Board of Managers instituted a campaign to raise a fund of $150,000 to provide more adequate and desperately needed facilities for seven of our thriving missionary congregations. The Board realized that under the prevailing high costs of construction the erection of buildings of the conventional type would be beyond our resources. Careful study was given to the so-called, pre-engineered structures that are now being set up in other near-by Dioceses. They are not unattractive. They are eminently practical. They are economical to maintain and they lend themselves to later adornment when the means are available. And the congregations for which they are intended are eager to have them.

I wish you could know the shocking conditions under which some of these congregations are now carrying on their work — some of them in the overcrowded cellars of incomplete buildings that were started years ago. One of them, a rapdly growing new mission, tries to crowd its people into the anteroom of the ladies' wash-room in the basement of a police station. These things are no credit to the Church we love or to the Diocese of which they are a part.

This campaign has had amazingly wide publicity through the secular press and in all our national Church papers. Our Church throughout the country, and other Churches also, are now watching to see what is going to happen in the Diocese of New York.

Progress Is Disappointing

I must say to you that I am disappointed and a good deal dismayed—and I think you should be dismayed—by the response that has thus far been made to this Campaign. I know the many demands now being made upon our people—the many parish and community drives that they are being asked to support. This Campaign may have come at an unfortunate time. And yet many of our parishes and missions have done or plan to do their fair share. Wherever the appeal has been presented with some real conviction and enthusiasm, our people have been generous in their giving.

But we have a long way to go.

I appeal to every parish and mission to find its rightful place in this great undertaking. I could wish that it might have the sincere endorsement of this Convention. It must not—and shall not fail. The good name of our Diocese is at stake.

Two New Projects

There are two important new projects that you will be asked to consider at this Convention. One is contained in the carefully prepared report of our Commission on Christian Social Relations. Under the sanction given at our last meeting, the Commission has made a thorough and expert study of the problem and responsibility of the Church in the care of the aged. I hope that report will have your careful consideration.

The Diocese may not be able at this time to provide the financial resources that are required for the service that is contemplated, but we can at least recognize the need and put ourselves in the way of entering upon the long-time program involved in meeting that need.

The second project is one to which I have given a good deal of careful thought and attention during the past year.

The last Convention authorized the Bishop to appoint a committee of interested clergy and faculty members to search out ways and means whereby the ministrations of the Church could be provided for the students in the colleges and universities within the Diocese. That committee has been appointed. I think we can be proud of its personnel and grateful for the time and effort that has been given to the task assigned to it.

Prominent Educators Lead

Provost Jacobs of Columbia is the chairman. Miss Stringfellow, head of the Chapin School, is secretary. Included in its membership are Dean Pollock of New York University, President Fuller of Bard College and certain outstanding representatives of the faculties of Barnard, Hunter and City College together with a number of our clergy who are directly concerned with student work. The interest and zeal and deep concern which this important group of loyal, Church members have shown in the undertaking they were asked to assume promise good things for the future.

There is much that could be said of the need and opportunity facing the Church in this important field. The Committee finds that there are thirty-one hundred Church students enrolled in the eleven institutions of higher learning within the Diocese, in most of which the Church is doing nothing. They are confident that where the Christian faith is presented to college students on a mature basis, much can be done to strengthen their Church allegiance; and many who are indifferent or hostile could be brought within its fellowship. And there are faculty members who could be made more appreciative of the place which religion should have in preparing our young people to deal with the problems of life.

College Work Canon Proposed

In order that this important service may have the continuing care and attention it ought to have, there is submitted to this Convention, on behalf of the Committee, a proposed Canon creating a Commission on College Work. I hope it will have your favorable consideration.

Election of Coadjutor Asked

I feel that the time has come when I must remind you that under the requirements of the General Canons my resignation as your Diocesan must shortly be submitted to the Presiding Bishop. In August of next year I will have reached retirement age. My resignation, I assume, will be formally accepted at the meeting of the House of Bishops to be held in the autumn of that year.

If God gives me strength, I will do my best to carry on with the task you have given me until that time. But, in view of the vacancy that will soon occur and in order that my successor may have opportunity to acquaint himself with the exacting administrative details the Bishop of this Diocese must assume, I would urge that steps be taken by this Convention to provide for the election of a Bishop Co-adjutor.

The work of the Diocese, I am persuaded, could be greatly strengthened if some younger man were able to take over some of the responsibilities which I have tried to fulfill. Therefore, I request that this Convention provide for the election of a Bishop Co-adjutor on the grounds, to use the words of the Canon, "that by reason of age and by reason of the extent of Diocesan work," I am no longer able fully to discharge the duties of my office. And I hereby give my consent thereto, pursuant to the provisions of General Convention Canon 39.

The Year Cause for Thanks

May I say in conclusion that I hope you will feel with me that we have much for which to be thankful as we look back over the work of our Diocese during the past year. There have been discouragements, perhaps. There are unhappy situations here and there which may give us deep concern. That is to be expected, I suppose, in a family as large as ours.

Largest group since the war ordained to the diaconate, November 27.

But these will not obscure all that has been accomplished through the faithful service of our consecrated, hard-working clergy, and by the devoted laymen who have given them their support and co-operation. After all, as Lambeth tells us, "the local congregation is the place where we must find the life of the Great Church which is God's instrument of the world's salvation."

Diocesan Mission Recalled

Much has happened in recent months which should give us new courage and new resolve for the anxious and difficult days that lie ahead. We will remember with grateful hearts all that God did for us through that Diocesan Mission which found its thrilling climax in that wonderful series of services at the Cathedral. Nothing like it has ever happened before in this Diocese or any other. It has had its impact upon the religious life of our whole community, and upon the whole Church. Through the amazingly effective service rendered by the Reverend Bryan Green multitudes of our people have found new life and new reality in their religion.

But that Mission could not have accomplished what it did had it not been for the whole-hearted co-operation of our clergy. They have worked together as never before. And we have today, I believe, a new spirit of fellowship and good will and understanding which is bound to have telling effect upon the morale of the whole Diocese.

Evangelism Program Continues

Our Program of Evangelism is not going to stop. This new life and new spiritual enthusiasm, please God, are not going to be allowed to fade out. A strong and representative committee is now engaged in making plans for the days ahead. And we are looking forward to the return of the Reverend Bryan Green in the Autumn to conduct a series of meetings especially designed for our young people.

The obvious deepening of the spiritual life of our diocesan family that has come to us—clergy and people alike—should give us new confidence and new zeal for the task God now lays upon us. And there is evidence on all sides of us that bewildered and frustrated and despairing people are looking to the Church with new eagerness and new concern As never before, men are seeking after something that can give meaning and purpose to their lives.

There is significance, too, in the fact that I now have on our lists the unprecedented number of eighty-nine candidates and postulants and others who aspire to enter the ministry of our Church—splendid men who are prayerfully looking to the Church as the means through which their lives can best be made to count for the salvation of the world in which they are living.

These, I believe, are signs of the time. Never have we been confronted with a more promising or compelling opportunity. It remains for us to make right use of it.

May God give us grace to undertake the service and make the sacrifice that will enable our Master's Church in this Diocese to go forward in the sacred mission He has entrusted to it. May the anxious forebodings amid which we are living give us new incentive to make proof of the faith that is ours, to bear our witness and show our loyalty to that Blessed One to whom we look as the one sure hope for the peace and security of our sorely-troubled world.

Convention Given Task of Electing Bishop Coadjutor

Against the background of the inspiration of the Diocesan Mission last Fall, the completion of St. Barnabas House, and the urgent need to achieve satisfactorily the $150,000 objective of the "Cornerstone" Campaign, the Bishop electrified the 167th Diocesan Convention on May 10th by calling for the election of a Bishop Coadjutor in preparation for his retirement in 1950 when he will reach the compulsory retirement age established by canon.

On motion of the secretary of the Standing Committee, Charles A. Houston, the Convention acceded to the Bishop's request and approved the holding of a special convention for the election of a Bishop Coadjutor who will succeed the Bishop as Diocesan upon his retirement.

The Convention began with a service of Holy Communion in the Cathedral at 8:15 a.m. with the Bishop celebrating, assisted by Bishop Donegan, Archdeacon Bratt, the Rev. Dr. Floyd Van Keuren, Registrar, and the Rev. Dr. F. S. Fleming.

The business session was called to order at 10:00 a.m. The secretary and the treasurer of the Convention were re-elected for one year terms and the Rev. Messrs. Lawrence B. Larsen, Orin A. Griesmyer, Bradford W. Ketchum and F. S. Danzoll were appointed assistant secretaries.

A telegram from Bishop Manning was greeted with applause and an acknowledgment ordered sent to him. Bishop Gilbert noted the absence of the Rev. Dr. Arthur H. Judge who has been attending convention regularly for more than fifty years. The Convention ordered a message of greeting sent.

In response to the Bishop's request for Convention support of the "Cornerstone" Campaign, the Rev. John M. Mulligan, rector of All Angels' Church, Manhattan, challenged the delegates to action and offered a resolution supporting the campaign. It was unanimously adopted.

Many reports of agencies and boards and commissions were presented by title.

The Rev. Harold F. Hohly presented the report of the Commission on Christian Social Relations emphasizing especially the study of the care of the aged made as a result of the action of the VOTING of lay and clerical delegates preceded lunch.

1948 convention. After first defeating motions designed to establish an Episcopal Service to the Aged because of fear that existing missionary work now not fully supported might be still more adversely affected, the delegates reversed their decision and voted for the adoption of a new canon authorizing the establishment of such a service.

Another new canon establishing a Diocesan Commission on College Work was enthusiastically adopted.

The Committee, besides the Bishop, will consist of 15 members, five of whom must be clergy and five faculty members, all communicants of the Church and resident in the Diocese.

After a resolution condemning "raffles" or "lotteries" on behalf of church groups had been defeated on the grounds that civil laws are adequate, the Bishop, citing the ban on gambling invoked by his predecessor and his own statement on the matter, said the ban was "still in effect" and that parishes which might question his authority in the matter might ponder the effect of being excluded from episcopal visitations. This statement was greeted with prolonged applause.

A new departure in the procedure for nominating candidates for the offices of Bishop, Bishop Coadjutor or Suffragan Bishop was adopted. A committee consisting of the members of the Standing Committee, the Deans of the Convocations, the chancellor and such others as the committee may elect will call for, receive and may itself propose, names of clergymen for nomination for Episcopal office. Not more than five names will be selected by the committee for presentation to the Convention, but nominations from the floor may still be made.

A budget of $431,600 for missionary work at home and abroad to be raised by designated giving, supplemented by assessment, and a budget of $68,000 for the support of the Episcopate and $30,500 for Diocesan expenses, were adopted.

The Bishop's message and Bishop Donegan's closing remarks were ordered printed in the BULLETIN and distributed to all delegates.

"The Episcopal Church is Commissioned To the Task of Christian Witness . . ."

Bishop Gilbert and members of Convention, I value this opportunity to speak for it gives me a chance to say that I am finding the work as Suffragan Bishop to which you elected me two years ago today increasingly interesting. It is a source of happiness to serve the Church in this capacity, assisting Bishop Gilbert who is beloved by us all for his goodness, his devoutness, his graciousness, and his loyalty to the Diocese of New York.

During the past year I have ordained to the Priesthood the Reverend Edward Chandler, acting for the Bishop of Massachusetts, and the Reverend John Hibbitts, acting for the Archbishop of Nova Scotia. Acting for the Bishop of the Diocese I have instituted the Reverend Reginald Moore as Rector of St. Paul's Church, Ossining, and the Reverend Constant Southworth as Rector of All Saint's Church, Briarcliff, and officiated at the opening of the new Church of the Ascension, New Brighton, and dedicated the new Parish House of St. Stephen's Church, Woodlawn.

In Episcopal visitations to 87 parishes and missions, and in 17 private services I have confirmed 1,345 candidates and received 74 adults from the Roman Communion.

Evangelism Program

A year and a half ago Bishop Gilbert asked me to serve as Chairman of the Committee to arouse interest in the Church's program of Evangelism. Since that time progress has been made but by far the most important accomplishment has beeen the Diocesan Mission to which Bishop Gilbert referred in his address. Everyone would agree that the Mission, and the Conferences for the clergy led by Father Taber and the Reverend Dr. Shoemaker deepened our spiritual lives and gaves us a new vision of our responsibilities as Christians and churchmen.

At the Bishop's request the Committee is planning a great service in the Cathedral on Whitsunday afternoon in commemoration of the 400th Anniversary of the Book of Common Prayer, when we shall assemble to thank God for the richest possession of the Anglican Communion. Every loyal Episcopalian ought to be present. The clergy are asked to give prominent notice of this service of Thanksgiving and to urge their people to attend.

This next month a three-day Clergy School for Missioners will be held at St. Peter's School, Peekskill, when 40 clergy will come together to learn the technique and methods of conducting teaching and preaching missions. As a result of this School for Missioners, it is hoped there will be a number of our own clergy ready and able to lead at least one mission a year in the Diocese, or elsewhere if invited.

Commencing June 14th, a week-end retreat for the laymen of Westchester will be conducted by the Reverend Frank Leeming, a member of the Committee on Evangelism and Headmaster of St. Peter's School.

Arthur L. Kinsolving, D.D., on appropriations.*

The Youth Mission

No one will deny that a large part of the youth population knows nothing about Christianity. We must make every effort to present the good news to the youth who know it not, and to bring into active membership in the church the young people whose interest is half-hearted and casual. Accordingly the Committee on Evangelism is sponsoring a Diocesan Youth Mission for young people and married couples between the ages of 15 and 35. The leader will be the Reverend Bryan Green, rector of Birmingham, England, who will be assisted by Mr. Tom Rees, a young layman of the Church of England. The theme of the Mission will be "Youth Can Change the World."

The Mission will be held in St. Bartholomew's Church, New York, commencing on Sunday night, October 30th, and continuing each evening until November 6th, with a service of Thanksgiving in St. Bartholomew's on Monday evening, November 7th.

During the week the Reverend Bryan Green will preach at noonday services in Trinity Church, Wall Street and St. Bartholomew's. He will also preach in the Cathedral on Sunday morning, October 30th, and on Wednesday evening, November 9th, when a service of reunion will be held for those who attended the mission last December.

Rev. Bryan Green

The evangelistic endeavor of the Church is dependent to a great extent on the interest and cooperation of the individual clergy. Yet it is a task that can never be done by the clergy alone. With all the demands made upon the clergy there can be no widespread evangelism unless the laity do their full part. The laity have more opportunities than the clergy to witness to those who have no contact with Christianity and the Church, for they are in close and daily contact with the secular world, and it is in those every day relationships that the layman's witness can be an evangelizing power. But the laity do not know how to communicate their faith. We are not training Christians and Churchmen to testify to what they believe and how to speak of it convincingly to others.

Some time ago an English Bishop was drawn into conversation with a Irish Army officer as they travelled together on a train journey. Recognizing the Bishop as an Anglican, the young man did not hesitate to engage in a discussion on religion and, as the officer expounded the doctrine of the Roman Church the Bishop wondered how far he would have to travel to find a young member of the Anglican Church who would have the courage to tackle a Roman Bishop on the validity of Anglican orders. Many of our people know very little about the teaching of the Church.

Looking ahead, the Committee on Evangelism anticipates a school for the training of lay evangelists, perhaps lay enthusiasts would be a better word. Certainly if our Church is to make any vital spiritual impact on the community and make any worthy and distinctive contribution we must produce men and women and young people who know the faith as this Church has received the same; men and women of prayer who regard public worship on Sunday and regular attendance at Holy Communion and support of the Chuch as their bounden duties; men and women who know what it means to follow Christ as Lord and Saviour in the fellowship of the Church.

Too often it is imagined that progress depends on organization and finances. They are necessary, of course, to carry on the work, but it should never be forgotten that these are only a means by which the good news may be made known to all men everywhere. The foremost function of the Church is the conversion of souls.

In these turbulent times of challenge and change, when hostile forces are working directly and indirectly against Christianity, we dare not be content merely to hold the line and be on the defensive. If the Church is to win the victory, it must be militant and aggressive, producing converted men and women whose lives are uncompromisingly Christian; proud of their religious heritage, and firm in the faith.

The Divine Commission

The Episcopal Church is commissioned to the task of Christian witness in the most strategic center in these United States of America. As living members of the body of Christ, let us press forward to our task with courage and with zeal, in loyalty to our Lord, and He will grant us all those things we most earnestly desire; namely, that He will receive us, release us from sin; sanctify us with the Holy Ghost, and give us the Kingdom of Heaven and Everlasting Life.

1549 Prayer Book Service, June 5th

The Diocesan Commemoration of the 400th Anniversary of the Book of Common Prayer will be held on Pentecost, commonly called Whitsunday, 4:00 p.m., June 5, at the Cathedral.

Evensong will be sung according to the rite of the 1549 Book of Common Prayer. There will be a ten minute address on "What the Prayer Book Demands" by Father Joseph, Superior of the Order of Poor Brethren of St. Francis, and the Rev. James A. Pike, J.S.D., rector of Christ Church, Poughkeepsie, and chaplain-elect of Columbia University, respectively.

The commemoration is sponsored by the Committee on Evangelism of which Bishop Donegan is chairman. He said, "This commemoration is sponsored by all groups within the Diocese. Bishop Gilbert expects the clergy and laity of the Diocese to make every effort to attend as an earnest expression of the gratitude for the Book of Common Prayer which is our common bond of unity.

"This service is a must for every loyal Episcopal churchman."

"Youth Can Change the World" Chosen as Slogan for Mission

"Youth can change the World" 'is the slogan under which the young people of the greater New York area are being rallied by the Committee on Evangelism for the fall youth mission, October 30 to November 6 at St. Bartholomew's, Manhattan.

As part of the mission, on the first Sunday afternoon, there will be twenty meetings in the various local parishes which will be visited by a team from the committee, the Rev. Bryan Green, the missioner, and Tom Rees, the young English layman assisting the missioner. A series of teas in the parishes has also been planned.

Admission to the mission will be by ticket which will be limited strictly to young people 15-35.

Convocations Meet In Annual Sessions; Elect '49 Officers

The urgent needs behind the "Cornerstone" Campaign dominated the spring meetings of the convocations of the Diocese, held in their respective localities, April 21 to May 5. Under the chairmanship of Bishop Donegan, officers were elected for 1949, reports of committees were rendered, and various programs of interest were presented.

In talking about the "Cornerstone" Campaign, Archdeacon Bratt emphasized the serious difficulties encountered in trying to raise the $150,000 required. However, together with some of the disappointments, he told of some bright spots, mentioning particularly that the boys of the Choir School of the Cathedral had voluntarily decided to take up a Lenten denial offering for the campaign. The $100 they saved from their ordinary small weekly allowances were presented to the Bishop after the 11:00 a.m. Easter service at the Cathedral. He also told of $1.50 received from Oniontown, an economically depressed and isolated community to which Sister Florence Nisco of the Church Army brings the light of the church. The $1.50 represented pennies of the church school, made up largely of the 26 children of two families, brothers.

The building fund drive was stressed in Manhattan by Theodor Oxholm, assistant treasurer. St. James', Manhattan, has designated the "Cornerstone" Campaign as the beneficiary of the receipts of the church's Annual Spring Fete held the first week in May. The St. James' effort was co-chaired by Mrs. George Emlen Roosevelt and Mrs. William Brady, Jr. A preliminary report indicates that an amount well over their goal of $8,500 will be given to the fund.

Manhattan also heard a report on the social research study being projected, and a report on the old age study.

Dr. Almon Pepper, of the National Council, spoke at Ramapo; and Hudson delegates were told about St. Peter's School, Peekskill. The Bronx and Richmond featured a discussion of evangelism efforts and programs around the 400th anniversary of the Prayer Book.

Reports Indicate World Relief Fund nears Goal

Incomplete reports reaching the National Council indicate that the Church will meet its $1,000,000 goal for the Presiding Bishop's Fund for World Relief from the offering taken as a result of the One Great Hour radio appeal.

As we go to press $760,000 has been reported with many dioceses not yet heard from. The share of the Diocese of New York is expected to be $50,000.

Presentation Preparations Ready

Preparations are now complete for the annual Presentation Service of the children's missionary offerings May 21, 2:00 p.m., at the Cathedral it was announced by the canon sacrist's office and the Board of Religious Education.

Last year, 100 schools were represented and there were over 1,000 choristers in the procession. The total offering as of June 5, 1948 was $37,345.11.

National Sponsors of GFS Meet

Bishop Gilbert addressed the first dinner meeting of the recently organized Sponsors of the Girls' Friendly Society representing various dioceses throughout the country, April 30 at the Prince George Hotel.

Dr. Arnold Purdie of the National Council also spoke on "Social Frontiers"; and the topic of Florence Newbold, former executive secretary of the G.F.S., and now headmistress of St. Mary's School, Burlington, N. J., was "The Tie that Binds."

Foreign Policy of U. S. is Discussed

The executive director of the Commission on Christian Social Relations represented the National Council at a recent Conference on Foreign Policy called by Washington. Official representatives of 103 national organizations — religious, educational, business, labor, professional, veterans, women's, and foreign policy groups—attended.

The State Department was represented by Dean Acheson, secretary of state; James E. Webb, under secretary of State; Willard L. Thorp, assistant Secretary for Economic Affairs and a score of other specialists.

"There was a real interchange of views, in small round table sessions. One has the feeling that democracy is really at work in the formulation of our Foreign Policy," said the Rev. Mr. Henry.

Church Notes 35th Anniversary

St. Mark's, Ft. Montgomery celebrated its 35th anniversary on April 24. Two former vicars, the Rev. Henry Loundes Drew and the Rev. Roland Bunten were present. The Rev. Mr. Bunten preached.

Diocesan Youths Urged to Hurry Summer Conference Registration

Registrations have already begun coming into the office of the Board of Religious Education, Diocesan House, Cathedral Close, for the two summer conferences at St. Peter's School, Peekskill. The first conference is June 26-July 2; and the second is July 3-9.

Four groups are eligible: Beginners, ages 6-8; juniors 9-11; junior highs 12-14; seniors 15-17, with room for a limited number over 17. Fee is $13. Last year, many had to be turned down because of the great number of registrations for the second week.

The Rev. J. Willard Yoder, director of the summer conference advises that a fine staff has been selected to present courses on The Prayer Book. He said there would be plenty of time for bathing and other forms of recreation.

Manhattan Chapel Sees 50 Years

During the month of May, the Church of the Holy Trinity, in the parish of St. James, Manhattan, is celebrating its fiftieth anniversary. The activities opened with a festival service of the Holy Communion on May 1 and will extend through May 27.

The Rev. Arthur Lee Kinsolving, D.D., is rector and the Rev. James A. Paul, S.T.B., is vicar.

Men and Women Paint Church To Prepare for Confirmation

The Rev. Joseph L. Germeck, rector of St. Mary's, Lake Mohegan, reported last month that the men and women of the church "ganged together" to paint the church in preparation for the visit of Bishop Donegan for confirmation.

Workers were: Vestrymen Richard Leo, Joseph E. Owen, and John D. Wubbe. Also, Mr. & Mrs. Clarence Varian. William Howell, Mr. & Mrs. Clifford Lent, George E. Phillips, Mrs. S. Varian, Jeanne Wagner, Stanley Connors, Jimmy and Billy Cuatt, Fred and Bill Baisley, Ruth Germeck, Billy Howell, Thelma Kurzhals, Diggy Trend, and George Varian.

To create deeper interest in evangelism, the motion picture, "Beyond Our Own," was shown at the final spring meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. Thomas', Manhattan, April 26. The showing was followed by a social hour and silver tea.

General Convention Opens September 26

The arrangements committee for the General Convention announced last month the opening events of the San Francisco meeting, September 26. A corporate communion for the bishops and deputies at Grace Cathedral, 7:30 a.m. precedes the first great service at the Civic Auditorium at 10:30 a.m. on that day. The first regular sessions of both Houses are called for 2:00 p.m.

Tuesday, 27th, a joint session will hear an address by the Convention's guest of honor, the Archbishop of York, the Most Rev. and Rt. Hon. Cyril Forster Garbett, Primate of England and Metropolitan. Another joint session is scheduled for Wednesday the 28th, and on that evening there will be a mass meeting in the Auditorium, commemorating the 400th anniversary of the Book of Common Prayer.

The U.T.O. presentation will be on Thursday, September 29, at 8:00 a.m. in the Auditorium, and on that evening dinners are scheduled for the Departments of Christian Education and Christian Social Relations, and the Division of College Work.

A mass meeting in the Auditorium, devoted to the World Council of Churches, will be on Friday, the 20th, at 8:00 p.m., and another mass meeting will be held in Grace Cathedral Sunday, October 2, at 8:00 p.m., this one devoted to the World Mission of the Church.

Provincial dinners are to be held Monday, October 3, and theological seminary dinners Wednesday, October 5.

Frederick B. Van Kleeck Dies

Mr. Frederick B. Van Kleeck, senior warden of Grace Church, White Plains for more than twenty-five years, died in Arizona on May 4th at the age of 77 years. He is survived by two daughters and one son. His father, the Rev. Dr. Frederick B. Van Kleeck was rector of Grace Church for fifty years.

Spring Youth Rally Draws Young People

A lively crowd of nearly 500 youngsters from all convocations of the Diocese enjoyed a full day of Christian fellowship at the annual rally of all the youth of the Diocese, April 23, Cathedral Close.

The session opened with a celebration of the Holy Communion at 11:00 a.m. The canon sacrist of the Cathedral, the Rev. Edward N. West was the celebrant and the Rev. Wilfred F. Penny, rector of St. Ignatius, Manhattan, as preacher, challenged the young people to live Christianity "dangerously." he urged them to make their "communionism" real.

At the business session, the Bishop underlined the significant part that young people play in the life of the Church. Bishop Donegan asked the group to accept the "challenge of Christianity."

A total of 625 young people attended Lenten Youth Rallies in the several convocations and elected convocational and diocesan youth council officers as preparation for the Cathedral rally.

THE PREFACE.

Here was neuer any thyng by the wit of man so well deuised, or so surely established, which (in continuãce of time) hath not been corrupted: as (emong other thinges) it may plainly appere by the common prayers in the Churche, commonlye called diuine seruice: the firste originall and grounde whereof, if a manne woulde searche out by the auncient fathers, he shall finde that thesame was not ordeyned, but of a good purpose, and for a great aduauncement of godlines: For they so ordred the matter, that all the whole Bible (or the greatest parte thereof) should be read ouer once in the yeare, intendyng thereby, that the Clergie, and specially suche as were Ministers of the congregacion, should (by often readyng and meditacion of Gods worde) be stirred vp to godlines themselues, and be moreable also to exhorte other by wholsome doctrine, and to confute them that were aduersaries to the trueth. And further, that the people (by daily hearyng of holy scripture read in the Churche) should continuallye profite more and more in the knowlege of God, and bee the more inflamed with the loue of his true religion. But these many yeares passed this Godly and decent order of the auncient fathers, hath bee so altered, broken, and neglected, by planting in vncertein stories, Legẽdes, Respondes, Uerses, vaine repeticions, Commemoracions and Synodalles, that commonly when any boke of the Bible was begon: before three or foure Chapiters were read out, all the rest were vnread. And in this sorte, the boke of Esaie was begon in Aduent, and the booke of Genesis in Septuagesima: but they were onely begon, and neuer read thorow. After a like sorte wer other bokes of holy scripture vsed. And moreouer, where as S. Paule would haue suche language spoken to the people in the churche, as they mighte vnderstande and haue profite by hearyng thesame: the seruice in this Churche of England (these many yeares) hath been read in Latin to the people, whiche they vnderstoode not, so that they haue heard with theyr eares onely: & their hartes, spirite and minde, haue not been edified thereby. And furthermore, notwithstandyng that the auncient fathers had deuided the psalmes into seuen portions: whereof euery one was called a nocturne: now of late tyme a fewe of them haue been dailye sayed (and ofte repeated) and the rest vtterly omitted. Moreouer, the nõbre & hardnes of the rules called the pie, and the manifolde chaunginges of the seruice, was the cause, ỹ to turne the boke onlye, was so hard and intricate a matter, that many times there was more busines to fynd out what should be read, then to read it when it was founde out.

These inconueniences therfore considered: here is set furth suche an order, whereby thesame shal be redressed. And for a readines in this matter, here is drawen out a Kalendar for that purpose, whiche is plaine and easy to be vnderstanded, wherin (so muche as maie be) the readyng of holy scripture is so set furthe, that all thynges shall bee doen in order, with-

Convention 1949

Dear Brethren of the Clergy and Laity:

It will be generally agreed that the high point in the year for our Diocesan family is the meeting of our Annual Convention. This great gathering of the clergy and lay delegates from all our parishes and missions is an impressive demonstration, not only of the numerical strength of our Diocese, but of the unity of purpose and the common concern that is ours in the task and mission of the Church we love. We are made to feel that we belong to something bigger than the local congregation with which we worship—that there are much larger interests and responsibilities in which we must share.

Bishop Gilbert

I wish that all our people could recognize that fact and its implication. Ours is a democratic church. It is the members of each congregation that elect the Vestry or the Advisory Board which manages the affairs of the parish or mission. They in turn choose the delegates to the Convention of the Diocese. So the action taken and the decisions made by that Convention are in a very real sense our own. What they do is done in our name and by the authority we have entrusted to them.

When our Convention, therefore, formally approves an amount to be raised by the Diocese for the National Council in its world field or for the work of our own diocesan organizations, or formally commends the Cornerstone Campaign in which we are engaged, their action becomes binding upon us all. We are all under obligation to do our full part in fulfilling the undertakings to which our representatives have committed us.

I have always been reluctant to stress the place which sacrificial giving should have in our spiritual discipline. There may be other more important considerations. But the fact stands that God measures the value we place upon our Church and the precious privileges it provides in terms of what we are willing to invest in them.

May God help us all to understand that it is our lives in terms of our earning capacity, of our material support, as well as in terms of prayerful and upright living, that our Church must have if it is to discharge the mission He has committed to it.

Charles Gilbert

Church's "Highest" Budget Goes Before General Convention

The largest budget in the history of the Church, $5,552,095, will be submitted for approval or alteration to General Convention which will open its sessions on Monday, September 26 in San Francisco and is expected to adjourn on Friday, October 7th. The amount requested by the National Council is $1,902,095 greater than its budget for 1949.

There are two houses of General Convention, the House of Bishops, including about 160 Bishops, and the House of Deputies, including 648 presbyters and communicant laymen equally divided. Every Diocese is entitled to four clerical and four lay deputies.

The following deputies were elected from this Diocese at the Diocesan Convention on May 10th:

Rear Admiral R. R. Belknap
C. P. Morehouse
C. G. Proffitt
Samuel Thorne

Of vital interest to every Diocese is the adoption of a program and budget for the years 1950, 1951 and 1952. The National Council, which is the operating agency of the Convention, submits a program to the Convention and a budget of appropriations to finance it. It also must submit a plan of apportionment to the several Dioceses of the sum needed to execute the program.

Each Diocese, when it has been advised of its share in this budget, must add to that its own missionary budget and then apportion the total among all parishes and missions in the Diocese. This amount apportioned to each parish and mission is commonly called the "quota" or "missionary quota" or "program of the church quota." It then becomes the obligation of each parish and

Bishop to Ordain 11 Trinity Sunday

Three deacons will be advanced to the priesthood and eight candidates for Holy Orders will be ordered deacon by the Bishop on Trinity Sunday, June 12, at the Cathedral.

The men to be advanced are the Rev. Irving Anthony, a former New York City school teacher, who will be an assistant minister at St. Philip's, Manhattan; the Rev. James C. Healey, Ph.D., who will continue to serve the Seamen's Church Institute; and the Rev. Roy E. Sommers who served his diaconate at All Saints', Beverly Hills, California. The ordinand expects to do missionary work in Alaska.

The candidates to be ordered deacon are Howard O. Bingley, Harold D. Chase, John C. Francis, Ernest E. Gayle, Paul Moore, Edwin W. Nies, William J. Potter and Robert M. Stevenson, Ph.D.

Mr. Gayle served the African Orthodox Church for 15 years as an ordained minister in charge of a congregation. He will be attached to the staff of St. Martin's, Manhattan, and will continue in St. George's, his present congregation of 150 persons, who will be brought into the Church with him. The building they now occupy will become a chapel of St. Martin's.

Missionary Offering Of Church Schools Presented May 21st

The Annual Service for the Presentation of the Children's Missionary Offerings was held in the Cathedral on Saturday, May 21, at two o'clock. The total offering on the books of the Treasurer of the Diocese at the time of the service was $35,977.26.

Vested choirs of children and young people from many of the parishes and missions of the diocese took part in the procession. They marched around the Cathedral Close where they were reviewed by the Bishop and other of the Clergy, then proceeded up Amsterdam Avenue to the front entrance of the Cathedral. About 1,000 choristers were in line. The Clergy and Bishop Gilbert followed the choirs into the Cathedral. The boys of the Cathedral Choir School were in the Chancel and the other choirs took their places in the Crossing.

Bishop Gilbert made the address to the congregation, estimated at about three thousand.

According to the Sunday School reports, filed with the Board of Religious Education before the service, there were 8 schools whose individual offerings were between $500 and $1,000:

Offerings $500 to $1,000

|---|---|
| St. John's Church, Larchmont | $500.00 |
| St. Paul's Church, Poughkeepsie | 521.02 |
| Church of St. Matthew & St. Timothy, New York City | 550.00 |
| St. Thomas's Church, Mamaroneck | 577.88 |
| St. Peter's Church, Westchester | 610.00 |
| Church of the Holy Trinity, St. James Parish, New York City | 831.96 |
| St. John's Church, Tuckahoe | 850.00 |
| Holy Trinity Church, Inwood | 828.02 |

Offerings over $1,000

Five schools had individual offerings over $1,000:

|---|---|
| Church of the Heavenly Rest, New York City | $1,259.70 |
| Church of St. James the Less, Scarsdale | 1,303.86 |
| Chapel of the Intercession, Trinity Parish, New York City | 1,319.20 |
| St. John's Church, Yonkers | 1,733.61 |
| St. Bartholomew's Church, New York City | 3,525.00 |

Attendance Records

A Certificate of Honor and a banner were presented to Grace Mission, Croton-ville, The Rev. Dr. Sidney T. Cooke, Vicar, for having the highest percentage of attendance (98.9%) in the Church School during the year 1948-49.

Certificates of Honor were also presented to the 10 schools who were runners-up for the Attendance Banner:

|---|---|
| St. John's Church, New City | 92.1% |
| Holy Cross Church, Kingston | 91.9% |
| Trinity Church, Fishkill | 91.5% |
| St. John's Church, High Falls | 91.1% |
| St. James' Church, Callicoon | 90% |
| St. John's Church, Clifton | 89.1% |
| St. Barnabas' Church, Irvington | 87.8% |
| St. Luke's Church, Williamsbridge | 87.4% |
| St. Luke's Chapel, Trinity Parish, New York City | 87.3% |
| St. Paul's and Trinity Parish, Tivoli | 86.9% |

The Church Schools of the Diocese are divided into five classes, according to the current expenses of their respective parishes. A banner was presented to the Church School having the largest offering in each class.

Class Offering Awards

Cornerstone Drive Takes Spurt Ahead

Considerable impetus was given to the "Cornerstone" Campaign by the Bishop's reference to it in his Convention address. After he had expressed his disappointment over the results up to that time, the Rev. John M. Mulligan, rector of All Angels' Church, Manhattan, urged the Convention to get behind the Bishop and the campaign and the Convention unanimously adopted the following resolution:

"WHEREAS The Board of Managers of the Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society has instituted a campaign to raise a fund of $150,000. to provide more appropriate and adequate buildings for seven of our rapidly growing Missions, and

WHEREAS: The united support of the Diocese will be necessary to insure the success of the campaign now under way, and

WHEREAS: The Bishop has expressed the wish that this undertaking might have the endorsement of the Convention, therefore

BE IT RESOLVED: That this Convention earnestly commends this campaign to the people of the Diocese and pledges its whole-hearted cooperation in securing the amount needed."

As we go to press $50,000 in cash is in the hands of the Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society. Another $25,000. is expected to be in hand within a few weeks so that it appears certain one-half of the goal of $150,000 is assured. To date only 60% of the parishes and missions have made remittances though many of those who have not remitted are known to have been actively soliciting gifts.

Every effort is being made to have the campaign completed before summer so that construction can be finished by fall.

To quote the Bishop in his message to the Convention:

> "I wish you could know the shocking conditions under which some of these congregations are now carrying on their work — some of them in the overcrowded cellars of incomplete buildings that were started years ago. One of them, a rapidly growing new mission, tries to crowd its people into the ante-room of the ladies' washroom in the basement of a police station. These things are no credit to the Church we love or to the Diocese of which they are a part.
> This campaign has had amazingly wide publicity through the secular press and in all our national Church papers. Our Church throughout the country, and other Churches also, are now watching to see what is going to happen in the Diocese of New York."

Last week one of the leading picture magazines asked for an opportunity to cover the construction of the seven buildings which are to be built and the office of the Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society is still being besieged with requests for plans from churches all over the United States. Interest has been so great that the designers of the pre-engineered buildings have had to resort to printing literature to reply to the many inquiries referred to them.

Readers of the BULLETIN are urged to make their gifts to the campaign through their parishes, and to enlist the support of their friends.

The Necessary Canonical St
Bishop's Request for a Coad

Convention Created Body Now Receiving Names of Persons to be Considered

When the Diocesan Convention on May 10th consented to the election of a Bishop Coadjutor for this Diocese, an intricate chain of events was set in motion. There may be only one Bishop Coadjutor in a Diocese and there may be no election of a Coadjutor without the consent of the Bishop of the Diocese. The Canon of the General Convention states that "when a Bishop of a Diocese is unable, by reason of age, or other permanent cause of infirmity, or by reason of the extent of Diocesan work, fully to discharge the duties of his office, a Bishop Coadjutor may be elected by and for said Diocese, who shall have right of succession."

The canon then states that before an election can be held "for the reason of the extent of Diocesan work," the General Convention must give its consent, or if it is not in session, then consent must be given by a majority of the Bishops and of the Standing Committees of the Dioceses which comprise the Church in the United States.

The duty to secure these consents now falls on the Standing Committee of this Diocese which is composed of

G. F. Butterworth
M. B. Candler
C. G. Michalis
C. P. Morehouse

When the necessary consents have been received, a date for the adjourned meeting of the Convention will be set, and at that meeting the Bishop will call for the election of a Coadjutor and will also state the duties which he will assign to him. The date has been set tentatively for October 25.

Under a resolution adopted at the 1949 Convention a new committee has been established to present nominations for the office of Bishop, Bishop Coadjutor or Suffragan Bishop as the case may be. This committee consists of the Chancellor, the Chairman, Mr. Butterworth, the members of the Standing Committee above named, the deans of the seven convocations, the Rev. Messrs Alexander A. Frier, Richmond; Louis W. Pitt, Manhattan; F. G. Garten, Bronx; L. E. May, III, Westchester; Gordon Kidd, Dutchess; F. L. Carruthers, Hudson; and George W. Dumbell, Ramapo, and such other persons as the committee may elect to its membership.

This committee will consider names suggested to it and may itself propose names and will mail a report of its recommendations to each parish and mission at least 30 days before the Convention and to all delegates not less than two weeks prior to the Convention. This report will include a biographical sketch of the person or persons to be nominated. Other nominations may be made from the floor of the Convention. A nominee for the office of Bishop Coadjutor may be a Suffragan Bishop or a duly ordained priest of the Church.

The last Bishop Coadjutor of this Diocese was the Right Rev. David H. Greer who was elected at the Diocesan Convention of 1903. He succeeded Bishop Henry Codman Potter as Diocesan in 1908.

mission to raise the sum apportioned to it as approved by the elected delegates to its own Diocesan Convention and its deputies to the General Convention.

The budget of the National Council for 1949 was $3,650,000 and of this amount $350,041 was apportioned to # ps to Meet the jutor Outlined

this Diocese. It is estimated that our parishes and missions will fail to meet this apportionment by nearly $150,000. Because General Convention is held so close to the time that most parishes use to raise their share of the budget, the National Council has already advised each Diocese as to the nature of its proposed recommendation to General Convention.

If this plan is adopted, the apportionment for this Diocese to be raised in the Every Member Canvass this Fall will be $349,894. An additional sum must also be raised in the Spring.

The Diocesan Committee on Quota and Allocation of Missionary Funds will soon make its recommendations to the Committee on Diocesan Finances and then parish and mission quotas will be assigned. Diocesan appropriations for 1949 were as follows:

|---|---|
| Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society | $73,000 |
| Board of Religious Education | 11,600 |
| Commission on Christian Social Relations | 10,000 |
| Church Periodical Club | 1,600 |
| Girls' Friendly Society | 3,000 |
| Youth Consultation Service | 15,000 |
| City Mission Society | 36,900 |
| Seamen's Church Institute | 7,500 |
| Financial Administration | 3,000 |
| Promotion | 9,500 |

The promotion department of the Diocese which is called The Committee on the Program of the Church, expects to work through Convocation committees of laymen in the seven convocations of the Diocese to inform every member of the Church of the Church's program in the Diocese and throughout the world. These committees will urge every parish to conduct a thorough Every Member Canvass so that every member of the Church will have an opportunity to give. A gift of 15c per week by every communicant member of the Church in this Diocese would raise the full sum required, including the amount to be raised next spring.

BULLETIN Maps Subscription Drive on Basis of Study of Circulation by Places

At the June meeting of the Editorial Board of the BULLETIN, a new plan to increase subscriptions was authorized. Convocation circulation managers are to be appointed in order to promote the magazine. The Rev. James C. Crosson, a member of the board, agreed to act as circulation manager for Westchester.

The plan grew out of consideration by the board of a breakdown of circulation figures by locality. The report, which used the figures on communicant strength as given in the 1949 Living Church Annual, is as follows:

Peekskill Summer Conference to Study Theme of the Prayer Book

The Book of Common Prayer is to be the theme of study for all ages in each session of the Diocesan Summer Conferences to be held at St. Peter's School, Peekskill, beginning June 26 and July 3, respectively. Reservations have been coming into the office of the Board of Religious Education for several weeks. Because some of the public schools in the Diocese do not close until June 29, those who can attend the first week of the Conference were asked to do so in order to equalize the two groups.

The Rev. J. Willard Yoder is director of the conference. The Rev. Frank C. Leeming is host and director of music; the Rev. Raymond M. O'Brien, chaplain and Dorothy G. Hasbrouck, registrar.

Reservations should be sent to the Diocesan House, 1047 Amsterdam Ave.

To Hear English Bishops in Fall

The American Church Union in the East will celebrate the 400th Anniversary of the Prayer Book at the Cathedral, Sept. 15. The Bishop of London will preach at an 11:00 a.m. Eucharist; and the Bishop of Oxford will present an afternoon paper.

College Commission Elects First Heads

Provost Jacobs

Dean Pollock

On May 17th the Diocesan Commission on College Work as appointed by the Bishop and confirmed by Convention, held its first meeting at the Columbia University Faculty Club to elect officers.

President Fuller

Professor Albert C. Jacobs, the Provost of Columbia University was elected chairman; Miss Ethel G. Stringfellow, headmistress of the Chapin School, secretary; and Dr. Edward C. Fuller, president of Bard College, Annandale, treasurer. Dean Thomas C. Pollock served on the preliminary committee.

Fall Diocesan Youth Mission Goes Forward

A preliminary rally for the Diocesan Youth Mission will be held June 11, 5:00 p.m. at St. Bartholomew's, Manhattan. Two youths and a young married couple have been invited from the Metropolitan area churches with similar representatives requested from the outlying convocations. This meeting will present the Youth Mission directly to the young people and enlist their active support in bringing word of the mission to other young people.

The mission is to be held October 30th to November 6th.

The Committee on Evangelism also reported that to date forty clergy have registered for the School for Missioners which is to be held at St. Peter's School, Peekskill, June 13, 14, and 15th.

Award Certificates For Vestry Service

Twenty-three vestrymen of parishes of the Diocese were honored at the 167th Convention, May 10, for having served their respective churches for twenty-years or over.

At St. Ambrose, Manhattan, five men were so recognized, and at St. Barnabas', Irvington, four men had achieved that record. Joseph S. Coates and John J. Van Vliet had both served St. James', Goshen, for forty years. This was the longest period of service honored.

The certificates awarded were:

CHRIST CHURCH, Tarrytown: Fred H. V. Peters, 25 years vestryman; and Lawrence C. Kederich, 25 years, vestryman.

ST. JAMES', Goshen: Joseph S. Coates, 40 years, warden and vestryman; John J. Van Vliet, 40 years, warden and vestryman.

ST. BARNABAS', Irvington: Harry S. Waterbury, 24 years, warden and vestryman; J. Wood Rutter, 31 years, warden and vestryman; Walter C. McBride, 23 years, vestryman; and Howard B. Morris, 28 years, warden and vestryman.

Protestant DP's Seek Sponsors

Church World Service has made an urgent appeal for sponsors for DP's, Displaced Persons, saying, "it is tough to be a Protestant." Sponsors must assure (1) housing, (2) a job, (3) inland transportation costs, and (4) that the DP will not become a public charge.

St. Luke's Hospital President Honors the Bishop at Dinner

Following the commencement and baccalaureate services of St. Luke's Hospital School of Nursing in the Cathedral, May 19, a dinner was given in honor of the Bishop and the Rev. Otis R. Rice, chaplain of St. Luke's, at the University Club by Edwin S. Sunderland, president of St. Luke's.

Among the guests were members of the clergy of the Diocese; Dr. Lloyd H. Gaston, director of the hospital, and representatives of the Board of Managers with some members of the attending staff.

Women Meet in Westchester

The annual Spring Meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the District of Westchester was held at Christ Church Parish House, Rye, May 25. The Diocesan officers, Mrs. James S. McCulloh, Mrs. Charles M. Baxter, Jr. and Mrs. James H. Michaeli, brought greetings.

Mrs. George W. Burpee reported on District activity; and the Right Rev. Charles Francis Boynton, Missionary Bishop of Puerto Rico spoke on "Puerto Rico Needs the Church."

A First Diocesan Auxiliary Meeting Bears Good Fruit

Five months ago a young woman attended her first diocesan meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary, and from that inspiration, St. Luke's Hospital, Tokyo, will receive this month 300 nurses' uniforms, together with Ivory soap, safety pins, and sewing materials requested with each garment.

At the January Auxiliary meeting she was moved by an appeal for used nurses uniforms for the hospital. She immediately approached the nurses of three Manhattan hospitals. The superintendent of nurses of one of the hospitals was a member of her parish, St. Stephen's, Manhattan, and became interested. Posters were put up and other women of the parish offered to collect and repair the uniforms.

"The vision caught by this one woman has brought to a group of Japanese women the reality of the interest that Christian women in America feel for them," said Mrs. James S. McCulloh, diocesan president of the Auxiliary.

Anniversary of Prayer Book is Celebrated

The Four Hundredth Anniversary of the issuance of the first Prayer Book in English was generally observed by most of the parishes and mission churches throughout the Diocese on Whitsunday, when the 1549 forms of service were used, having been authorized by the Bishop for use on that day or some other one day convenient. Simplified reprints of the Order of Holy Communion, Matins, and Evensong were made available for all those who cared to use them. Over fifteen thousand were applied for in the Diocese of New York.

To quote the Bishop: "In this Diocese we are seeking to remind ourselves, with grateful and understanding hearts, of all that God wrought for us through Archbishop Cranmer, in enabling us to worship God in our own language. That is the thing of supreme significance in this anniversary.

"There have been many revisions since, but, as has been pointed out, that first English Prayer Book of 1549 stands as the parent Book of all the Anglican Prayer Books and provided for us the precious possession that is ours in our American Book of Common Prayer."

At the Cathedral the special Diocesan service heard the Rev. James A. Pike, J.S.D., chaplain-elect of Columbia University say, "Lex orandi est lex credendi, i.e. people believe as they pray. The Prayer Book defines the shape of Anglican belief. It expresses the faith of a Church that is both Catholic and Reformed. And what the Prayer Book demands primarily is wholeness."

The Rev. Father Joseph, Superior of the Order of the Poor Brethren of St. Francis, speaking at that service, said, "It thus holds before us the doctrine, discipline and worship which proceeds from Christ, not as an Anglican invention, but as a matter ordered by the whole Church of God, the pillar and ground of the truth."

Clergy Notes

The Rev. Irving Anthony resigned as assistant minister at St. Andrew's, Manhattan, April 30. He accepted an assignment as assistant minister at St. Philip's, Manhattan, as of May 1.

The Rev. Arthur A. Bessey, formerly assistant minister at St. John's, Getty Square, Yonkers, resigned as of June 1.

The Rev. Floyd Hendricks, assistant minister at Christ Church, Poughkeepsie, has resigned to accept the rectorship of Good Shepherd, Scranton.

The Rev. Ellison F. Marvin began his duties as assistant minister of St. John's, Getty Square, Yonkers, June 1.

The Rev. Roy T. Strainge, Jr., recently ordained to the priesthood in the Diocese of New Jersey, comes to the Church of St. Mary the Virgin, Manhattan, as of May 16. A General Theological Seminary graduate, he served his diaconate at Holy Trinity, West Palm Beach, Florida.

The Rev. Floyd Van Keuren, D.D., rector of St. Barnabas, Irvington, since 1943, is resigning. Dr. Van Keuren is a former executive secretary of the Diocesan Commission on Christian Social Relations.

The Reverend Robert E. Terwilliger, Ph.D., tutor at General Theological Seminary and assistant at the Church of the Heavenly Rest, Manhattan, will become rector of Christ Church, Poughkeepsie, on September 1st.

Daughters of the King Head Dies

Mrs. Adelaid Trimble, for many years head of the parish chapter of The Daughters of the King of St. Mary's, Manhattan, died May 9 at St. Luke's Hospital.

The Rev. Charles B. Ackley, S.T.D., rector, said, "For many, many years Mrs. Trimble was the moving spirit in the Galahad Parish Guild, the Annual Dinners, and many other activities of the parish.

Over 300 Study the Church School Tasks

Although the Church School Institute for Dutchess Convocation is still to be held June 12, more than 300 teachers, rectors, and Church School officers have gathered in the several convocations to consider curriculum and related problems in their schools. Westchester had the highest attendance with 120 present.

The Rev. J. Williard Yoder, director of religious education and youth work, presided at all sessions. The Rev. Charles J. Buck, rector, Holy Nativity, Bronx, lectured on "Correlating of Church School Instruction and Confirmation Instruction." The Rev. Messrs R. Richard P. Coombs, Heavenly Rest Manhattan; G. W. Thompson, St. James', Manhattan; and James A. Pike, J.S.D., Christ Church, Poughkeepsie, presented "Adult Education," and Mrs. Pierre Buhlmann, director of religious education, St. Bartholomew's, White Plains, spoke on "Curriculum." Mrs. George W. Edwards, Hartsdale, substituted for her in two convocations.

The Morehouse-Gorham Company provided an exhibit of books and church school courses helpful to teachers and administrators.

Inspiration addresses were given by a clergyman in each convocation.

Pioneer Spirit Returns to Give Church Property a Refurbishing

The property of Holy Comforter, Eltingville, S. I., came in for a going over last month when, in a manner suggesting old-time backwoods community effort, some forty men, women and young people of the parish came together to trim hedges, reshingle bare spots in church and parish house roofs, wash windows, launder curtains, replace sash cords, police closets, and rake lawns.

Two cellars were cleared of rubbish and the stage in the parish house was jacked up for the pouring of concrete footings. A non-member loaned the jacks and also pitched in to work.

New Parish House Is Half Completed

St. Stephen's Church, Armonk, completed the first half of its parish house building program by the end of April. The Reverend Harold B. Thelin, rector, reports that in its semi-completed state the building will be useable, and that the completion will be carried forward as quickly as money is received.

Since the start of the campaign in April 1948, a total of $10,316.50 has been received in cash and pledges. Of this amount, $8,349.25 has been expended to date in construction.

The structure will be fully inclosed and weather-proofed, and will provide a room 38 ft. by 26 ft. upstairs and a second room of similar dimensions downstairs, with space available for the development of a kitchen, sacristy, choir locker rooms, a small stage and proper lavatory facilities. The exterior will flaunt black felt paper until it can be properly covered with clap-boards. The immediate aim is to find enough money to insure heating and plumbing facilities before the cold weather sets in this fall, said the rector.

Henry Winterling will be the chairman of the committee for the second half of the fund drive.

Early "Inquiries" Point to a Successful Westchester Retreat

Twenty-nine "inquiries" about the Westchester Convocation Retreat for Laymen, to be held June 17-19 at St. Peter's School, Peekskill, had been received by press time, Fred Kurz reported.

The notes came in response to a letter from Samuel Thorne urging county-wide participation in the retreat.

The Rev. Frank C. Leeming, headmaster of St. Peter's School, will conduct the retreat which will open with supper and registration at 7:00 p.m. on Friday, the 17th, and will close Sunday at 12:30 p.m. with a "Farewell" Dinner.

General S.T.D. to Bishop Donegan

Bishop Donegan received a degree of Doctor of Sacred Theology (S.T.D.) at the May 25 commencement exercises of the General Theological Seminary. He had received an S.T.D. from Hobart College, Geneva, N. Y., last June at their commencement.

St. Francis of Assisi Bar-Bee-Que Hits Again

The annual Decoration Day Bar-Be-Que of St. Francis of Assisi, Elmsford, surpassed its last year's record crowd, Beverly Griffin, church treasurer and affair chairman reported.

At press time, over $650 had been cleared which is to be used in furnishing the building which has been promised through the "Cornerstone" Campaign. Mrs. Katherine Barker chaired the pig cooking and food department.

The Bishop's Message

Dear Brethren of the Clergy and Laity:

As this issue of the BULLETIN comes to you our parishes and missions will have entered upon the activities of the new season. The vacation period has ended. I hope that all our clergy and church workers have had the benefit of needed rest and have found new zeal and enthusiasm for the tasks of the year before us.

Bishop Gilbert

It promises to be a year of unusually exacting demands. The Church is faced with opportunities and responsibilities more urgent and compelling than we have ever known before.

What does this mean for us as members of that Church? As we claim for ourselves the support and comforts which our religion provides for us we may not forget that we have been made partners and fellow-workers with our Lord in a divine enterprise. There is a service He expects each one of us to render. There is a sacrifice each of us is expected to make. What will be our response?

We belong to a parish. If that parish is to speak for God and be the influence He expects it to be in the life of its community, there is something which each of us must invest in it.

We belong to a Diocese. In our name and dependent upon our support it is seeking to maintain the Church's ministrations in neighboring areas that would otherwise be deprived of them. In our name and with the means you and I provide it brings relief to many forms of human need and helps men to know that there is a God who cares.

We belong to a Church that reaches across the world. We are all charged with the task of carrying its saving message to the uttermost parts of the earth. It is confronted with unprecedented needs and opportunities that can be met only as each one of us heeds the call our Master now makes to us.

As we enter upon the new season's work I pray that God will arouse us all to a keener sense of our own individual responsibility. The challenge now before our Church cannot be met with any "Let George do it" attitude. I commend to your prayerful consideration what is said on another page of this BULLETIN about the so-called "Every-Member Canvass." The matter presented should be the personal concern of each one of us.

Parish Gifts Only $67,423 in Drive To Build Churches

Parish contributions towards the Cornerstone Campaign have lagged far behind expectations the Treasurer's office reported Oct. 1. Forty-two parishes and missions have not yet made any contribution, but 168 have contributed $67,423 towards the $150,000 goal. Anonymous gifts and grants amounting to $21,519 bringing the total on hand to $88,942, have encouraged the Board of Managers to start construction and it is confidently expected that by Spring all of the projects will have been financed.

The projects which will be completed this fall are the addition to the church at New Paltz, the church and rectory at St. Simon's, New Rochelle, the parish house at St. Mark's, Yonkers, and the Church at St. Martha's, North White Plains.

The work at New Paltz is about half finished. The grading of the site at New Rochelle has been completed and the drawings and specifications are now ready for contractors to bid.

The Ramapo Convocation leads in the percentage of parishes and missions which have met their suggested goals. The Bronx Convocation comes next followed by Hudson, Westchester, Dutchess, Manhattan and Richmond in that order.

In commenting on the status of the campaign, Archdeacon Bratt said "while the Bishop, Bishop Donegan and all of us in the mission field are distressed that our people have not risen to this tremendous opportunity as quickly as we had hoped, we feel certain that, particularly in the Westchester Convocation where most of the buildings will be constructed and where we have the greatest potential growth and immediate need, Episcopalians will not fail to give themselves to the joy of extending Christ's Kingdom."

60% of the Missionary "Expectation" Is Paid

Sixty percent of the missionary "expectations" for the Program of the Church for 1949 was paid by September 1st, according to the Committee on the Program of the Church. Twenty-five parishes or missions have paid their full quotas for the year and only eight have made no payments.

"This record encourages us to feel that with four active months ahead of us, we will be able to meet the commitments to the missionary field approved by the Diocesan Convention" says the Committee report.

BISHOP DONEGAN blesses the ground upon which the new St. Simon's, New Rochelle, is to be built, at the ground-breaking service, September 12.

Diocesan Youth Mission at St. Bartholomew's Oct. 30

The Rev. Bryan Green Returns to Preach

The Diocesan Youth Mission, project of the Committee on Evangelism, will open October 30, 8:00 p.m. at St. Bartholomew's, Manhattan, Park Avenue at 50th Street. Services will continue thereafter every evening at that time through Sunday, November 6th. A final Thanksgiving Service will be held on the following Monday, Nov. 7 at 8:00 p.m.

Only young people between the ages of 15 and 35 will be admitted until 7:55 p.m. when the doors will be thrown open to the general public. A special block of seats also will be reserved for young married people (under 35).

The Rev. Bryan Green, rector of Birmingham of the parish church of St. Martin's-in-the-Bull-Ring, will be the missioner. Thomas B. Rees, a young English layman, will accompany him from England to assist. The missioner will be remembered for the crowds which packed the Cathedral last year at the time of the first Diocesan Preaching Mission sponsored by the Evangelism Committee.

Two types of posters, throw-aways, and other promotional material have been distributed. Additional copies are available from the chairman of the Evangelism Committee, Bishop Donegan. Tickets of admission will NOT be required as had been originally planned.

In addition to the youth services at night, during the week a half-hour noon day service will be held at St. Bartholomew's. A special meeting for women only will be held at that church on November 1 at 3:00 p.m. These services are not for young people only. A breakfast meeting will be held each morning at the mission church from 7:30 to 8:00 a.m.

Rev. Bryan Green

Committee Nominates Two For Election as Coadjutor

The Committee for the Nomination of Bishops, authorized by the 1949 Diocesan Convention has made its report to the parishes and missions of the Diocese.

The report states that upon its submission at the adjourned session of the Convention to be held on October 25th, the committee will place in nomination for the office of Bishop Coadjutor the names of the Rt. Rev. Horace W. B. Donegan, D.D., S.T.D., suffragan bishop of the Diocese and the Rev. Dudley S. Stark, D.D., rector of St. Chrysostom's Church, Chicago.

The adjourned meeting of the Diocesan Convention will open with a service of Holy Communion in the Cathedral at 8:15 a.m. and the business sessions will start at 10:00 a.m. in Synod Hall.

The Bishop Coadjutor who will be elected will succeed Bishop Gilbert as Diocesan upon his retirement in 1950.

The brief biographical sketch of each nominee as released by the Committee is as follows:

Announce Y. C. S. Luncheon

The Bishop and Bishop Donegan will sponsor a Youth Consultation Service luncheon to be held Thursday, November 10th, 1:00 p.m. at the Ritz Carlton Hotel in New York City. Dr. Smiley Blanton will speak on "Our Children's Needs," Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt on "The Young Have Problems." Mrs. Charles I. Morton of St. James', Manhattan, is chairman, CHelsea 2-2993.

Plans for the December 15th Theatre Benefit with Katharine Cornell were also announced.

New St. Barnabas House to Be Dedicated October 19th

The new St. Barnabas House at 38 Bleecker Street, will be formally dedicated by the Bishop on October 19th and will be followed by a 3-day open house. Others expected are the Presiding Bishop, Bishop Donegan, and the Mayor of the City of New York.

The new building, costing $738,998, replaces the former 86-year-old structure which was razed in 1947. St. Barnabas House provides emergency care to friendless children and women.

Among the hostesses for the open house are: Mrs. John McMaster, Mrs. Ernest R. Adee, Mrs. Henry W. de Forest, Mrs. William C. Dickey, Mrs. Frank L. Polk, Grace Scoville and Mrs. John B. Walker.

Clergy Conference Program Announced For October 26-27

Invitations to the Bishop's Annual Clergy Conference have been issued inviting the clergy to meet at the U. S. Hotel Thayer at West Point, on Oct. 26 and 27. More than 200 clergy are expected to be present for the sessions which begin with luncheon on Oct. 26 and close after luncheon on Oct. 27.

The Bishop has announced the program which will include addresses by the Presiding Bishop and Bishop Donegan on Wednesday afternoon and W. Ted Gannaway and Clifford Morehouse, L.L.D., on Thursday morning. The Rev. Bryan Green, rector of St. Martin's-in-the Bull Ring, Birmingham, England, who will conduct the Youth Mission at St. Bartholomew's Church, Manhattan from October 30th to November 6th will speak to the clergy at dinner; and the Rev. H. E. W. Fosbroke, D.D., will conduct a service of preparation for the corporate Communion which is always held the second morning.

The Presiding Bishop will speak on "The World's Need and the Church's Responsibility" and Bishop Donegan on "The Laymen's Responsibility in the Mission of the Church in the Diocese." Mr. Gannaway of Charleston, S. C., who has accepted Bishop Sherrill's invitation to serve on a temporary basis as consultant and leader to train more than 500 laymen throughout the Church to tell the story of the Church's missionary program to vestries, will speak on "Training the Laymen for Promoting the Church's Program." Mr. Morehouse, who is a deputy to General Convention from this Diocese, and also a member of the Committee on Program and Budget of the National Council, will address the conference on "Enlisting the Laity — What the Clergy Can Do."

Triennial Meeting of General Convention Passes Church's Highest 3-Year Budget

As we go to press, the General Convention of the Church is in its second week of deliberations. The Conventon was opened by Presiding Bisop Henry Knox Sherrill, Sept. 26, before 8,000 Bishops, clerical and lay delegates, representatives of the Woman's Auxiliary, and visitors in San Francisco's civic auditorium.

The Presiding Bishop expressed the hope that the Convention would not confine itself to passing resolutions and adopting a budget. In a convention with such a limited outlook, the Bishop said, ". . . there is no overwhelming and uplifting experience of God which unites us in a living fellowship and sends us out transformed and on fire to speak the wonderful works of God."

On the second day, the Convention was addressed by the Most Rev. Cyril Forster Garbett, Archbishop of York.

Russell Dill, treasurer of the National Council, in presenting the $5,552,000 budget for consideration, reminded delegates that of 47 large church bodies, the Episcopal Church stands 22nd in per capita giving, 20th in giving to support of division and general church program, and 37th in all giving beyond the parish.

Bishop Gilbert and Bishop Donegan are both in attendance at Convention, and in the House of Deputies.

The consent of the Convention to the election of a Coadjutor Bishop in the Diocese was voted on Oct. 3rd to prepare the way for the Oct. 25th adjourned Diocesan Convention for his election.

Effectiveness of an Every M

Preparations for the 1949 "Every Church Every Member Canvass" are already well under way the Promotion Department reports; and first indications are that an increasing number of churches are planning active Every Member Canvasses.

In discussing the organization and purpose of the Every Member Canvass, W.S.H. Hamilton, chairman of St. John's, Larchmont, 1948 canvass said, "The Every Member Canvass which has been used in St. John's for the last five years has increased substantially not only the total amount of money raised for the Church Budget but the number of people making pledges. It has been proved that many who will ignore an appeal by mail will give when a canvasser calls upon them. Also during these five years there has been an increase in the number of people actively working in the various parish organizations.

"In preparing for the Canvass, one of the members of the Vestry is appointed as chairman with the other thirteen members acting as captains. Early in the Fall each captain is given a list of men from which to secure canvassers.

"The canvass is held on a Sunday afternoon and at a dinner given during the preceding week, each canvasser is given the names of those on whom he is to call. On Sunday night he reports to his captain on the results of his calls, sends the pledges received into the church office and follows up during the week any cases where he failed to receive a definite answer on Sunday. Each captain in turn reports to the chairman who keeps in touch with the Church office where a duplicate file of all names and pledges is kept.

J. A. Collishaw, lay chairman of the effort last year at Christ Church, Suffern, said, "We formed a committee of three to organize our campaign. It was our feeling that every member of the Vestry should act on the canvass committee. In this way the Vestry became well acquainted with all the members of our Church.

In discussing results, Robert D. McCullough, Every Member Canvass chairman of St. Mary's, Staten Island said, "When a regular Every Member Canvass was begun in St. Mary's seven years ago only 15% of the people were pledging to the support of the church, the parish was burdened with debt. Today, 90% of the people are pledging to the support of the church, the Budget has been doubled, a 20-year old mortgage of $23,000 has been paid in full; and the church building, destroyed by fire in 1947, has been completely restored at a cost of $175,000.

W. E. Leigh, chairman of the Every Member Canvass, 1949-50 at St. James the Less, Scarsdale, listed six significant meanings of the drive as

1. Sound finance.
2. All members and friends of the parish have been informed of its financial needs and the work it has to do.
3. Every contributor feels he or she has a more definite continuing interest in the parish.
4. It provides an opportunity to revise the lists of members especially important in a suburban parish with large turnover.
5. It provides a means of finding out through each canvasser just what the individual parishioner thinks about the parish and its work.
6. It gives everyone an opportunity to work for the parish and have a part in it as a canvasser and contributor.

John W. Macauley, treasurer of St. Stephen's Woodlawn, said about the canvass, "Since we began conducting a thorough Every Member Canvass in our church eight years ago the envelope subscription has increased from $691 for the parish and $177 for the Program of the Church to $3,407 for the parish and $1,635 for the Program of the Church."

Paul R. Wiggins, of St. Bartholomew's, White Plains, said: "There are three things necessary to complete a successful Every Member Canvass:

1. A specific objective.
2. A small but hard-working committee.
3. Sufficient and willing man power."

Allan Leggett, chairman of the Every Member Canvass of Grace Church, Nyack said: "It is a certainty that without the Canvass we could neither meet our quota for the missionary work of the church, nor adequately provide for our own financial needs."

Robert E. Heintz, chairman of the canvass committee said the result of the Every Member Canvass conducted in November 1948 at St. James', Fordham, disclosed that "only eleven families, or 6% of the total, were definitely not interested; 17% could not be contacted or had moved and finally 77% of the calls resulted in pledges or promises to use the envelope supplied.

October-November Calendar For Every Member Canvass

1. Prepare parish budget and descriptive material.
2. Choose canvassers. (1 for each 4 or 5 calls).

Committee Nominates Two For Election as Coadjutor

THE RT. REV. HORACE WILLIAM BADEN DONEGAN, D.D., S.T.D. (Suffragan Bishop of the Diocese of New York).

Bishop Donegan was born on May 17, 1900, the son of Horace George Donegan and Pembroke Hand. He studied at St. Stephen's College and Oxford University, England, and received the degree of Bachelor of Divinity in 1927 from the Episcopal Theological School. The degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon him by New York University in 1940, and the degree of Doctor of Sacred Theology was given him by Hobart College in 1948, and by the General Theological Seminary in 1949. He was ordained Deacon in June of 1927, and Priest in May, 1928, by Bishop Slattery, and was consecrated Bishop on October 28, 1947.

He served as Assistant at All Saints Church, Worcester, Massachusetts from 1927 to 1929; as Rector of Christ Church, Baltimore from 1929 to 1933; and as Rector of St. James Church, New York City from 1933 to 1947. He was elected Suffragan Bishop of the Diocese of New York on May 13, 1947.

He has served as a Trustee of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine since 1939; and as a Trustee of the New York Protestant Episcopal Public School and of the New York City Mission Society since 1938. He is Vice-President of the Youth Consultation Service; the Episcopal Actor's Guild; the Seamen's Church Institute; and the New York Protestant Episcopal City Mission Society; and has been Interchange Preacher to Britain. He has served as a member of the Standing Committee of the Diocese of New York from 1944 to 1948; as Director of the American Red Cross since 1945; as a member of the National Council of the Protestant Episcopal Church since 1945; and as Deputy to the General Convention in 1946. He is a member of the Presiding Bishop's Committee for World Relief.

THE REV. DUDLEY SCOTT STARK, D.D. (Rector of St. Chrysostom's Church, Chicago).

Dr. Stark was born in Waverly, New York, in 1894, and attended Trinity College, from which he graduated in 1917 with the degree of Bachelor of Arts. He received the degree of Bachelor of Divinity from the Episcopal Theological Seminary, and holds honorary degrees of Doctor of Laws from Chicago Medical School conferred in 1939, and Doctor of Divinity from Kenyon conferred in 1940 and from Trinity College conferred in 1948.

He married Mary Addie Leith in 1920 and they have three children.

Upon his ordination to the Diaconate in 1920 by Bishop Talbot, Dr. Stark became Curate at St. Mark's Church, Mauch Chunk, Pennsylvania, and upon attaining the priesthood became its Rector, where he served until 1926, when he became Vicar of Holy Trinity Church, St. James Parish, New York City. In 1932 he was called to his present charge in Chicago. He was an Ensign in the Naval Reserve in 1918.

Church Clerk and Treasurer Dies

Henry Eifert, 73, former clerk and treasurer of St. Andrew's New Paltz, was buried from the church September 3. The vicar, the Rev. J. Marshall Wilson officiated.

St. George's, Williamsbridge, Vicar to Study Mission Field

The Bishop has appointed the Rev. Newell Lasher as vicar of St. George's Church, Williamsbridge, and in addition has given him the task of opening up a new field in the northeast section of the Bronx.

The field assignment in a rapidly developing area where no Episcopal church now exists centers around Eastchester Road, Mickle and Givan Avenues. A site for a new church was purchased there by the Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society this summer.

The work at St. George's for several years has been under the supervision of the rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Wakefield, the Rev. Herbert R. Stevenson, assisted by Mr. Albert Fredericksen and Mr. Victor Graham, Layreaders.

Announce New "One Great Hour"

Another concerted appeal for funds for overseas relief and reconstruction will be made on March 12, 1950, the Church World Service announced, pointing out that the "One Great Hour" appeal last March 26 netted over $3,000,000. The Episcopal Church contributed $1,000,243.23.

National Celebration Opens at Cathedral

The nationwide Eucharistic Congress of the American Church Union celebrating the 400th anniversary of the Book of Common Prayer began Sept. 15 with a solemn Eucharist in the presence of the Bishop in the Cathedral. Eight other services were held across the nation including one at the Robert Hune Shrine, Jamestown, Virginia, where the Prayer Book was first used in America. The Bishop of London preached there as well as at the Bruton Parish Church.

At the Cathedral, over 6,000 worshippers filled the nave and stood in the bays. Twenty-eight Bishops and over 700 dignitaries, including white-surpliced clergy, gray-habited monks, and black garbed sisters, made up the procession.

The line of clergy on each side of the procession moving toward the altar are deacons of honor proceeding to accompany the respective Bishops. Other Bishops, not shown, are still in their places on the North side of the sanctuary.

A large number, estimated at 1,400 by the N. Y. Times, heard papers by the Bishop of Oxford and others in the afternoon.

Flower Show and Bazaar Held

The Church of the Ascension, West Park, held its 20th Annual Flower Show and Bazaar on September 10th. The show was opened by Mrs. Alton Brooks Parker who twenty years ago was the first Flower Show chairman.

BULLETIN Launches Subscription Drive

In an effort to increase the circulation of the BULLETIN two volunteer circulation managers, E. Stuart Hubbard for Dutchess and Robert F. Royster for Richmond, were appointed last month by Bishop Donegan. The Rev. James C. Crosson, rector of Redeemer, Pelham, and a member of the Editorial Board, serves for Westchester.

The Annual Subscription contest which was won last season by Carolyn J. Nichols of Christ Church, Suffern, began Sept. 9. All young people, 18 years and under, in the Diocese are invited to participate. For every $1.00 subscription to the BULLETIN 10c may be retained toward the missionary quota of the contestant's parish. The young person in each convocation who secures the largest number of subscriptions in that convocation before May 1, 1950 will be awarded a free scholarship to the 1950 summer conference of Diocesan Youth, sponsored by the Board of Religious Education. For the past few years the Conference has been held at St. Peter's School, Peekskill.

Notices and information regarding the contest have been sent to each parish, so if you are interested in taking part in the contest please communicate with the rector or vicar of your parish, or with the BULLETIN office, MOnument 2-3100.

The Diocese of Rhode Island with approximately 46,000 communicants has 2211 subscribers to their magazine, The Rhode Island Churchman. In this Diocese of approximately 100,000 communicants there are 2500 paid subscribers. If every parish in this Diocese would appoint a BULLETIN chairman to solicit subscriptions it would not be long before we could double the number of subscribers. And if, in addition, each reader of the BULLETIN would get one new subscriber 10,000 subscribers would soon enjoy the magazine.

Won't you help?

Bazaar Features Photo Contest

Teen Agers in Larchmont and Mamaroneck are currently competing in a photographic contest being held as part of the Bazaar of St. John's, Larchmont, Nov. 15-16. $10 first prize and $5 second prize, are to be awarded for the best amateur photograph submitted.

Social Relations Commission Joins in Issuing New Report

Many reasonably well-informed churchmen may be surprised at the extent and variety of the social services within the Diocese which are largely the outgrowth of the services of churchmen. They are listed in the recently published Study and Action Program, 1949-1950, as follows:

|---|---|
| Aged | 7 |
| Child Health | 2 |
| Chronically Ill | 2 |
| Conference Centers | 1 |
| Clinics | 1 |
| Convalescent Care | 2 |
| Day Care of Children | 1 |
| Dependent Children | 3 |
| Guest Houses | 2 |
| Family Service | 1 |
| Foreign Born | 2 |
| Handicapped | 3 |
| Hospitals | 3 |
| Housing | 4 |
| Information Services | 1 |
| Mental Hygiene | 2 |
| Protective Care | 3 |
| Seamen | 1 |
| Temporary Shelter for Women and Children | 1 |
| Vacation Services | 10 |
| Youth Services | 2 |

The Study and Action Program was published jointly by the Board of Religious Education, the Woman's Auxiliary, and the Commission on Christian Social Relations.

In addition to the above, courses are listed in Religious Education, the Devotional Life, Missions and Christian Social Relations.

The Commission on Christian Social Relations has moved its office from the Old Diocesan House, 416 Lafayette Street, to the third floor of the Diocesan House, 1047 Amsterdam Avenue. The telephone number is MOnument 2-3100.

Woman's Auxiliary Opens Fall Program On October 29th

On Tuesday, October 25 at 10:30 A.M. there will be the first of the regular Diocesan Meetings of the Woman's Auxiliary this fall at St. Bartholomew's Church, Manhattan, at which the Rt. Rev. Theodore R. Ludlow, D.D., Suffragan Bishop of Newark, will be the speaker, and on October 29th at 12:30 p.m. there will be a Missionary Luncheon at the Park-Sheraton Hotel, Manhattan. The Bishop and Bishop Donegan will be present and the missionary speakers will be the Rt. Rev. Louis C. Melcher, D.D., Missionary Bishop Coadjutor of Southern Brazil and the Rt. Rev. Kenneth L. A. Viall, S.S.J.E., Suffragan Bishop of Tokyo.

Delegates to the Triennial Meeting of the W. A. held in San Francisco at the time of General Convention were Mrs. James S. McCulloh, Mrs. Bedell H. Harned, Mrs. Malcolm H. Tuttle, Mrs. Charles C. Walden, Jr., Mrs. Alice Smith and Mrs. George W. Burpee.

On September 29th, the United Thank Offering of $2,000,000 was presented. This is the largest single sum of money ever raised by the women of the church.

Mrs. Samuel M. Shoemaker, chairman of the Department for Devotional Life of the Woman's Auxiliary in the Diocese, reports that as a result of the Diocesan Mission in 1948 there has been "an increased interest in prayer and devotional life among the members of the Woman's Auxiliary in the Diocese. Many small groups for prayer have been formed in parishes throughout the Diocese, as well as schools of prayer in many churches. All this activity was pointed up in June in a prayer conference held at All Angels' Farm, Ramapo, the theme of which was 'Teach Us to Pray'." Eighty-five leaders of Devotional Life in the Woman's Auxiliary attended the conference.

PRAYER: Help Us . . . To Fulfill Our Duties

O Eternal God, help us as a family faithfully to fulfill our duties to thee and to each other. Put far from us all unkind thoughts, anger, and evil speaking. Give us tender hearts, full of affection and sympathy toward all. Preserve us from selfishness, and grant that day by day, walking together in love, we may grow up into the likeness of thy blessed Son, Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Christ Child Guild Calls for Help

Dorothy Hasbrouck, secretary of the Board of Religious Education, issued this month an urgent appeal for assistance with preparing the Guild of the Christ Child material. The Guild supplies religious education guidance for mothers of infants up to the age of four. Sets covering that period at 35c.

All Saints', Briarcliff, Raises 200% of Parish House Drive Goal

On August 4, the Rev. C. W. Southworth, rector of All Saints', Briarcliff Manor, announced that a drive for $10,000 toward the cost of a $25,000 Parish house had been oversubscribed to the extent that the building can be erected debt-free. The drive was launched June 5.

C. W. Southworth

Ground was broken on Sept. 4, and present plans call for holding the Christmas Bazaar, Dec. 2-3 in the finished building. The rector said, "The response of members and friends of the Church has been truly inspiring! The goal has been met by 200%."

The rector was called to All Saints' in January of this year. Previously, he had served as assistant minister at St. John's, Larchmont.

1949 Youth Conference Shows Need for Expanding Sessions

A maximum 230 enrollment, a superb faculty, and the highest missionary offering in the history of the annual two-week Diocesan Youth Summer Conference were cited at its close, July 9, by the Rev. J. Willard Yoder, director, as evidences of the need for expanding the sessions which were held at St. Peter's School, Peekskill.

Sixty applications were returned because of lack of space.

The offering, $510.20, given freely by the children in the course of morning and evening services, was contributed towards the tuition of a Chinese boy at St. Peter's School. The Rev. Frank C. Leeming, headmaster of St. Peter's, was in charge of courses. The Rev. Raymond M. O'Brien was chaplain.

A picture from the first week's session was used in the Every Member Canvass folder to dramatize the need for supporting the work of the Diocese.

Grace, City Island, Celebrates 100th Anniversary in October

During October, Grace Church, City Island is celebrating the 100th Anniversary of the founding of the parish in 1849.

One hundred years ago, the Rev. Cornelius W. Bolton, while curate to his father at Christ Church, Pelham, conducted the first services. The present church building was built in 1861-2 as a debt-free edifice. The parish was organized in 1865.

The present rector, the Rev. Henry R. Coleman, is eleventh in the line of rectors. There had also been several priests-in-charge. The celebrations will close on All Saints Day with a service commemorating the dead of the church.

Morgan Library Presents Exhibit

The Pierpont Morgan Library, 29 East 36th Street opened September 26th an exhibition commemorating the 400th Anniversary of the Book of Common Prayer, on which occasion the Bishop of London made an address. The exhibit will be open to the public from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily except Sunday and holidays, until January 21, 1950.

The Bishop's Message

Dear Brethren of the Clergy and Laity:

All of us, I am sure, will rejoice and take courage because of what was done at the adjourned session of the Diocesan Convention on October 25th and the splendid spirit that was manifested there. It promises good things for the future. Never before has this or any other Diocese shown such unanimity in the choice of a bishop as that which was manifested in the election of Bishop Donegan as our Coadjutor. It was a richly deserved tribute.

Since he was made Suffragan, Bishop Donegan and I have worked together in whole-hearted accord. His loyal support and splendid cooperation have meant to me more than I can say in my endeavors to fulfil the exacting duties that the Bishop of this Diocese must carry. I look forward to the closer association that will be ours in the year ahead. I shall hope that with his help, our Diocesan household may be in good order when he assumes the difficult office which I now hold. It is my earnest prayer that when that time comes he will receive from our clergy and people the same—and an even greater—measure of patient good will and support that I have received. He will need it. There are difficult days ahead.

One cannot get away from the feeling that the Church in this Diocese is facing an anxious test today. This was brought home to us by our great Presiding Bishop in the stirring address that he made to our Convention on October 25th. It found added emphasis in the notable addresses that were made to our clergy at our Conference in West Point.

We are confronted by what may seem a staggering increase in our financial budget. To think of the task before us in terms of money, however, is to lose sight of far more vital issues. It is the Church's mission to a distraught and suffering world that is now at stake. God is calling us to give proof of our faith.

Organized effort is being made to bring home to our people the real meaning of the challenge that is now before us. If they will accept that challenge we will not need to worry about budgets.

If Bishop Donegan is to be enabled to carry on with the task that he must shortly assume,—if the Diocese is to measure up to what the whole Church is now expecting of it, we shall need to dedicate ourselves with honest sacrifice to the service God is now expecting of us. I dare to believe that we will do so.

Bishop Coadjutor Elected By Unanimous Convention

Historic Act is Hailed by the Bishop

"The Church's one foundation is Jesus Christ her Lord; She is His new creation by water and the word."

The sonorous phrases of beloved hymn 464 swelled to the rafters from the throats of the six hundred or more delegates and was answered back from the full galleries to open the adjourned meeting of the Convention in the Synod House on the Cathedral Close on October 25, at 10:00 a.m. They had made their corporate Communion at the Cathedral. The Bishop celebrated, assisted by Bishop Donegan and the Rev. Roelif H. Brooks, D.D. The determined purpose of the convention surcharged the air as the Bishop, in the opening prayer, prayed "for the spread of Thy Gospel and the extension of Thy Kingdom."

Incidental Business Cleared

The consideration of incidental business proceeded after the Bishop had announced the purpose of the assembly. While three churches were readmitted into convention, the quiet tensity of waiting was exaggerated by the empty chair customarily occupied by Bishop Donegan during gatherings of the clergy. The Bishop, with telling solemnity, reported fulfilling the canonical requirements for the election of a Coadjutor, as required under canon 29. He designated the area of responsibility for the Bishop Coadjutor to be elected as being the supervision of the missions and aided parishes of the Diocese which are assisted, under Canon 28, through the Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society, and those which might become so.

The Bishop emphasized the weight of that responsibility by pointing out that at present this includes 52 missions and 21 assisted parishes, "larger than most Dioceses of our Church."

As the convention waited in uneasy expectancy, the Bishop suggested that there was another matter which should receive the attention of the body before they proceeded to the morning's election. E. K. Warren read a report from the Finance Committee recommending a salary schedule for the Coadjutor's office. The report was approved, but the diffidence of the assenting voices reflected a tacit impatience to seize the primary issue for which Convention had convened. The press and public were voted permission to remain for the election. The women in the galleries were leaning forward. The delegates' faces were stiff. There was no conversation, little movement.

Nominating Committee Reports

The Bishop with calm quiet dignity called for the report of the Nominating Committee. Although its findings were well known and had been thoroughly distributed to the delegates, a hush fell over the hall as the Chancellor, G. F. Butterworth, rose to walk to the rostrum. A truck rumbling up Amsterdam Avenue seemed inordinately loud. The Chancellor began the formalities.

Someone cried out that they couldn't hear. There was a nervous laugh when the Bishop advised that the public address system had just stopped working. The laugh was cut off. The Chancellor raised his voice. He announced then he had an amendment to make to the recommendations of the Nominating Committee. Faces were sharp with straining curiosity. He reported that on October 12th the Rev. Dudley S. Stark, D.D. had written to ask that his name be withdrawn and that the nominating committee having considered the request, had acceded. "Therefore," the Chancellor said, softly and dramatically, "one name is to be put into nomination, the Right Rev. Horace William Baden Donegan, S.T.D., Suffragan Bishop of the Diocese of New York."

There was a stiff second of silence. The Bishop asked for nominations from the floor. The Chancellor turned toward his seat.

No Seconding Speeches

"I move that the nominations be closed!", someone shouted from the back of the room. Someone else on the other side seemed to have cried out the

A Personal Portrait of the Newly Elected Coadjutor

The bare facts of the biography of the newly elected Bishop Coadjutor, Bishop Donegan, were published in October's BULLETIN, but to find the man behind the details we asked his brother. the Rev. Harold Hand Donegan, rector of St. John's, Hartford, Conn., to tell something about him as a person. Following is his story.

My brother and I spent our early childhood in England. As a young boy he attended Clifton School in Derbyshire, England, and completed the equivalent of grammar school. In Toledo, Ohio, he made himself part of the life of Morris Waite High School with the friendliness and serious-minded purpose which characterizes him.

He was a communicant of Trinity Church where he sang in the choir until his voice changed. Later he rejoined the choir as a soloist. He was president of the Y.P.F.

He was interested in public speaking, literature and singing and took a leading part in those high school societies. He was elected president of the Junior Class and graduated in due course. He went to St. Stephen's College, now Bard College, Annandale - on - Hudson where he was propelled into football and boxing in spite of his 120-odd

Clergy Meet with Bishops to Answer to Challenge of Gene

The Fall Conference of the clergy of the Diocese convened October 26 in the afterglow of what the Bishop called a remarkable demonstration of Christian unity and brotherhood, shown in the unanimous and unopposed election of a Bishop Coadjutor on the previous day. The two-day session at the Hotel Thayer, West Point, discussed the needs of the Church and the program to meet them.

The Presiding Bishop, the Right Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill, D.D., told of the challenges behind the new National Council hold-the-line budget. Bishop Donegan emphasized the role of the laymen who must be harnessed to that need. W. Ted Gannaway, industrial leader and prominent laymen reviewed the plan under which laymen will be trained to understand the missionary program of the Church. Clifford Morehouse, editor of THE LIVING CHURCH, and deputy to the General Convention from this Diocese, stressed the responsibility of laymen of the Diocese.

The Bishop's Challenge

The Bishop opened the conference after lunch on the 26th by citing the spirit of General Convention, saying, "Christ is looking at us to see if we measure up to the challenges that face us today." He said the Church's program would succeed, "If we can only persuade ourselves to persuade our people that this thing has got to be done."

The Presiding Bishop presented the broad problems of the $5,634,617 budget. He pointed out that, in terms of inflation and the increased communicant strength of the church, this budget proportionately is not as high as that of 1930. He said, "For the first time since the depression we have moved out of the doldrums toward the tasks which are ahead."

That budget represents the following expenditures:

Referring to these needs, the Presiding Bishop said, "The Diocese of New York is critical to the future. It should take the lead, for it sets the level for the rest of the country."

Dollars into Deeds

Among the urgent things to be accomplished by the above departments, he told of the dramatic growth of the Department of Religious Education under Bishop Angus Dun of the Diocese of Washington, and the Rev. John Heuss, D.D., and promised that the curriculum being developed will be "broad enough for all churches. A central core of truth and doctrine is being hammered out on which we can agree." In the foreign field, he listed problems made acute by questions of currency, rising costs, the growth of the Brazilian church, the open door of opportunity in Japan, China, Philippines, Liberia; but he said the mission field was under "the finest group of missionary Bishops."

He said the same crying needs were present in the home field where the

Youth Mission Draws Record Crowds

Introduces Young English Lay-Evangelist

In spite of a rainy Sunday night opening, and a Hallowe'en Monday, the Diocesan Youth Mission moved to a dramatic climax during the week of October 30 to November 6 at St. Bartholomew's, Manhattan. The Mission was conducted by the Rev. Bryan Green, rector of Birmingham, England, of the parish church of St. Martin's-in-the-Bull Ring. It was estimated that over 1,500 persons, mostly young people, attended the service.

In simple but hard-hitting preaching he effectively brought crowds of young people to a sharp awareness of the demands of God in Christ, that they should choose whether they would be for God or against Him. Not trying to make the choice easy, the missioner hammered home the sacrifices choosing Christ demanded.

An informal period of hymn singing, beginning about 7:30 p.m. preceded each service. The singing was led by Thomas B. Rees, of London, and director of Britain's First Permanent Young People's Holiday Conference Center at Hildenborough Hall, Kent. He is also well-known in England as a lay-evangelist, and has conducted eighteen Youth Meetings in the Royal Albert Hall, Britain's largest auditorium.

The Rev. Canon James Green, headmaster of the Cathedral Choir School, helped to lead the singing and sang several moving and effective solos.

For the first ten minutes of the service, the missioner answered questions sent up to him from the floor, such as "What is the age of discretion at which a child should be confirmed?" His answer was, "About the age of discretion, some people never seem to reach it, but follow the guidance of your priest, some people are ready, others are not. The important thing is, are you ready to accept Christ. I would rather think later is better than too early."

Following the preaching and service closing there was a half-hour instruction period. Clergy of the Diocese, and particularly of the Evangelism Committee, were on hand to greet those who attended the mission and to offer personal counselling. A body of laymen from churches throughout the Diocese acted as ushers under the supervision of the vestry of St. Bartholomew's.

In addition to the nightly mission services, there were noonday services during that week, open to all persons from 12 noon to 12:30 p.m. at St. Bartholomew's and Trinity, Wall Street. Every morning at 7:00 a.m. there was a corporate communion of the young people attending the mission, followed by a period of Bible reading and instruction from 7:30 a.m. to 8:00 a.m. Breakfast was served afterwards. Attendance was in the neighborhood of a hundred each morning.

There was a closing "Thanksgiving Service" for the Youth Mission on November 7th at St. Bartholomew's. A Reunion Mission Service was held at the Cathedral November 9th at 8:00 p.m. stipends and housing of rural clergy were described as "shameful" although the calibre of the men was high.

Bishop Sherrill expressed concern about meeting these needs "if there is going to be coldness of heart on the part of the parochial clergy." He noted that budgets for local support have "skyrocketed to $61,000,000 in the last year while giving to the National Church has remained static." A contrast to the giving of other denominations was made in which missionary work is supported on the basis of a dollar for missionary work for a dollar for local support.

In commenting upon Bishop Sherrill's presentation, the Bishop urged the clergy to "go out and harness the lay power to the task before us."

Our Diocesan Responsibility

Bishop Donegan, in detailing how the Diocese was to play its part in this broad program said, "We must awaken the laity to a sense of their responsibilities. Their sense of duty is unaroused. We must do this, and this must be the spiritual dynamic behind what we purpose to do."

He outlined the National Council laymen training plan under the direction of W. Ted Gannaway. About 60 men in each diocese will be selected and trained. They, in turn, will go to the churches and parishes of their district to stress the importance of the missionary program of the Church.

The organization of laymen will be directed toward a special Spring canvass about March 12, 1950 when the Presiding Bishop will go on the radio to speak to the whole National Church.

Bishop Donegan reported that two canvasses have been planned in the Diocese. The Fall effort must raise $349,-894. In the Spring, $241,587 must be raised which is about the amount of the increase. However, the moneys in both drives will be allocated proportionately to respective needs. The Diocesan budget together with the allocation to the work of the National Council was reported in the Every Member Canvass folder prepared for distribution to the churches by the Diocese.

Bishop Donegan urged that the best men of the parishes be presented for training to do the job. He expressed confidence in the ability of the Diocese to measure up to the challenge placed before the churches. "No good cause properly presented to the people fails," he said.

Bishop Manning Greeted

The following communication was addressed to Bishop Manning as the retired Bishop of the Diocese, "Affectionate greetings to you from all your clergy. We have just sung hymn No. 1 in thanksgiving to God for all you mean to us. Charles K. Gilbert, Bishop of New York."

The following reply was received: "Warmest thanks for your kind message just received. My love to you all now and always. Philippians, chapter I verses 2, 3, and 4. William T. Manning."

After evensong and dinner, the Rev. Hughell E. W. Fosbroke, D.D., dean emeritus of General Theological Seminary, lead a preparation for the next morning's Eucharist. The Bishop celebrated, assisted by Bishop Donegan, Archbishop Bratt, and the Rev. Alger L. Adams.

The Laymen Training Plan

Mr. Gannaway opened his talk to the morning session by saying, "One of the vital weaknesses of the Church has been that we laymen have been conspicuous by absence from the general church program." He cited the depression and the failure of two world wars to bring peace as the basis for laymen having a rekindled awareness of the need for the Church. He said, "by way of adversity we have learned that this which we have followed is false. We feel the essence of the solution of the problems of today lies in the Christian message. We must not have another thirty years like the last if Western Christianity is to survive." He declared that the dramatic challenge of the Church's world-wide program can give laymen "that needed sense of relevance of the awful demand to work for the Church." He added, "But you can't challenge laymen with ushering once a month. Parochial interest will not provide the challenge." He told of a hand-picked group of twenty laymen, top executives. They had been called together to take a two-and-a-half day course on the Church and her program. "They rose from it with the wildest enthusiasm. Called it' terrific'."

On the basis of this experience, over twenty-nine training conferences with similar groups have been planned. Over 1,100 men are already listed. During January and February these men will make a presentation to the 4,000 vestries and churches of our Communion.

Mr. Gannaway stirred the group with his confidence in the program. "There is no telling where we could go if we could clamber above the idiosyncrasies of the 20%." He said that he hoped the end result of the program would be "a great group of laymen, thoroughly convinced of what Christianity can mean to the world; so that there will be an outpouring of talent, time and money."

Of Colonel Caleb Heathcote

In the closing address, Mr. Morehouse, talked of the problems of working with the laymen within the Diocese.

He told the story of Colonel Caleb Heathcote who, under the encouragement of the governor, established Trinity Parish in 1697. The colonel was the brother of the Lord Mayor of London and became the Lord of the Manor, the Mayor of New York City, at the same time, one of the last to hold that office in the British empire. He was a surveyor, "and an enthusiastic churchman."

After settling the Rev. William Vyse as rector of Trinity, he built the first church in Westchester, and recorded that he found "only 6 persons inclined to the English church." In 1704 he established the church in Rye, and later in New Rochelle, Bedford, and Eastchester. He made a missionary journey into New England, "that hostile and benighted land." He told of how he and a clergyman journeyed on horseback, provided with food, and carefully armed against all dangers of the road.

"Times have changed," said Mr. Morehouse, "but we fail because we under-estimate our laymen. What would we do if we had Colonel Heathcote in our parish? Would we ride with him, or ask him to pass the plate on some convenient Sunday — when he wasn't playing golf."

In closing he said, "there was never a parish that had high missionary horizons that lacked for itself. Expect great things from your laymen and you will reap great rewards in their devotion."

pounds. He still found time and energy to be a member of the Debating Society, Dramatic Club, Glee Club, College Choir and to be a lay reader. He was pledged to Kappa Gamma Chi fraternity. During his college years he was a counsellor at a fresh air camp in summer.

Upon graduation from St. Stephen's, he matriculated at Oxford University where he was a member of the Oxford Union, a free forum debating society within which all shades of political opinion are given airing. This is thought to be the oldest continuous young men's debating society where Winston Churchill was first heard. My brother also went out for rowing. He was not on the first crew, however, and his activity there is distinguished only by the fact that the shell tipped over once and dumped him into the Thames.

He returned to this country and received his B.D. in 1927 from the Cambridge Episcopal Theological School. After ordination, the young clergyman served in Worcester, Mass., and Baltimore, Md. He was ordained deacon in June, 1927, and priest in May, 1928, same thing, but in a weaker voice. There was a chorus of "Second!" Someone called for the question. The Bishop put the question.

The call for the vote produced a thunderous ovation.

It was done, and after proper parliamentary procedure Bishop Donegan was declared duly elected the Bishop Coadjutor of the Diocese of New York, to succeed to the office of Bishop upon its vacancy. Visibly stirred by the tremendous demonstration of unity, the Bishop remarked that this was the first time to his knowledge that a Bishop had been unanimously and unopposedly elected to his seat in the Diocese of New York.

At the Bishop's request, Bishop Donegan was escorted into Convention by the Rev. Roelif H. Brooks, D.D., and the Rev. Francis J. Coffin. The delegates stood and applauded. The air was bright with the flashing of photographer's flashlight bulbs as he was congratulated by the Bishop. When the excitement broke for an instant, a photographer could be heard saying anxiously, "Shake hands again, Bishop." The Bishop did, and everyone laughed a laugh of satisfaction, relaxation and joy.

Moved by the tumultuous ovation, but speaking in a firm voice, the newly elected Bishop Coadjutor said that, "no man could approach this solemn and sacred trust without a sense of his own unworthiness." The convention gave another ovation as he cited what he "owed to the experienced, wise, conscientious and greatly beloved Bishop Gilbert."

The Bishop thereupon called for the election of a new Suffragan. He said he had consulted with Bishop Donegan on the matter. Dr. Brooks made the enabling resolution which called for the election of a new Suffragan at the May, 1950 Convention. At the close of Convention, Mr. Butterworth reminded the delegates that proposals for nomination for Suffragan must be made to the Nominating Committee before January 1, 1950.

The elected Coadjutor must now receive the approval of a majority of the standing committees and of the Bishops exercising jurisdiction in the United States.

The Presiding Bishop, who joined the convention after the election, spoke impressively on the "challenge" reported in the story of the Clergy Conference in this issue.

Clergy Notes

The Rev. Lawrence B. Larsen, rector, Christ Church, Pelham Manor, was appointed registrar of the Diocese last month by the Bishop. He succeeds the Rev. Floyd Van Keuren, D.D., rector emeritus, St. Barnabas; Irvington. The new registrar has been serving as assistant secretary of Convention since 1937.

Rev. Lawrence Larsen

The Rev. Edward Clowes Chorley, D.D., L.H.D., rector emeritus of St. John's-in-the Highlands, Historiographer of the Diocese since 1912, died at the age of 84 at his home November 2 after a short illness. He was the first Historiographer to be appointed in the Diocese.

Dr. Chorley, a native of Manchester, England, was ordained priest in the Diocese, May, 1902. His first charge was as assistant at St. John's, Getty Square, Yonkers. In 1908 he was called to be rector of St. John's-in-the-Highlands where he served until his retirement in 1940. He was subsequently elected Rector Emeritus.

As well as being Historiographer, he served as Trustee of the Cathedral, Trustee of the Church Historical Society, Examining Chaplain in History, and Custodian of the Archives of the Church. He was a deputy to General Convention 1919-34, and a provisional deputy to General Convention 1937-40. He was a noted authority and writer on American Episcopal Church History.

by Bishop Slattery. He was consecrated Bishop, October 28, 1947.

Today, Bishop Donegan still retains his interest in music, and for relaxation plays the piano. He enjoys the theatre when he can go. An inspection of the music on the piano rack at his home revealed Gilbert and Sullivan operas, hymnals and other church music. Travel is his great diversion, and he has made some twenty trips to Europe, from Denmark to Italy. Switzerland and cross-country America are his favorite trips. He enjoys swimming and golf. While he is not an "80" player, when he had more opportunity to play, he was on the New York team of the Diocesan Golf Tourney, and won the cup in 1944.

His hobbies include collecting biographies. "The Lord didn't create them great" is his explanation for his taste in these, which includes persons in all walks of life. He has also a small collection of interesting old book bindings, including some priceless old prayer books. His most recently acquired interest is oil painting. His first picture, reproduced on page 12, was painted in 1946 in Manchester, Vermont.

Organize Committee For Spring Canvass

Seven top-flight executives and professional men have accepted appointment by the Bishop to organize the new Spring Canvass to meet the Diocesan share of the Church's program as expressed in the $5,634,617 budget approved by General Convention, the treasurer's office announced November 1. Groups of laymen will be recruited by these leaders in each convocation to present this challenge to vestries and advisory boards.

Louis F. Stauss, banker, will represent the Bronx: Colonel Clinton G. Harris, advertising executive, Hudson; Charles Garside, attorney and former chairman of the New York State Commission Against Discrimination, Manhattan; Frank W. Conkling, chemical company executive, Ramapo; Robert F. Royster, assistant to the director of operations of the Port of New York Authority, Richmond; and George W. Burpee, consulting engineer, Westchester.

Under the leadership of these laymen, the new group, approximately fifty, will spend the weekend of March 19th at Seabury House in Greenwich, Connecticut. There they will confer on plans for the Spring parish visitation with W. Ted Gannaway, the Presiding Bishop's special representative

The Diocese is to raise $417,487 in this Spring canvass. The Fall Canvass figure is $520,994, to make a total of $938,481 to be raised by the Diocese

Woman's Auxiliary "Supply" in New Quarters Needs More Help

The Supply Department Headquarters and Cutting Room of the Woman's Auxiliary opened their new quarters in Diocesan House on the Cathedral Close last month. Mrs. Walton R. Wolf, who is in charge Tuesdays and Thursdays from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. when the room is open, said they could now use ten more dependable assistants.

At present there are only two steady workers and two assistants.

The Bishop's Message

Dear Brethren of the Clergy and Laity:

Our hearts have been saddened by a great loss. The death of Bishop Manning has taken from us one whose service to his country and to his Church is widely recognized and appreciated. This has been evident not only in the newspaper comments but in the vast number of communications that have come from important public officials, from various religious bodies and from individuals of every walk of life.

Bishop Gilbert

But for those of us who claimed him as our Bishop his death comes as a great personal bereavement. What the twenty-five years of his Episcopate meant to this Diocese cannot be put into words. All he accomplished in the building of our great Cathedral stands as an enduring symbol of a constructive service that has left its impact upon all our parishes and missions. His voice and example through these many years have given us a deeper loyalty to our Lord and His Church and a clearer vision of its divine mission. And those of us who were privileged to be associated with him will always cherish the memory of his unfailing kindness and helpfulness. He was not only our Bishop, he was a friend whom we deeply loved.

But while we grieve for ourselves we may not grieve for him. We can rejoice in the valiant fight he fought. He has finished his course. He has kept the faith. And we know that henceforth there is laid up for him a crown of righteousness.

It is for us to carry on now with deepened love and more wholehearted devotion to the divine Cause to which Bishop Manning consecrated himself, thankful for the life he lived and the service he rendered. There are anxious and difficult tasks before us. The Church and the world with which it must deal are faced with critical needs and problems. There is a service which God is now demanding of us which can be made effective only as our clergy and laity recognize the great responsibility committed to us and find the way to work together.

I would to God that all of us could possess something of the vital faith, the self-sacrificing zeal, the unfaltering courage which characterized the life of our lamented Bishop. Then, I know, our Diocese would rise to the challenge which is now before us.

Charles C. Gilbert

Burial Service for Bishop
The Cathedral which he L

At the close of the burial office and the order for Holy Communion appointed for use with that service, a solemn paced procession of over 500 clerics and dignitaries wound its way to the great bronze doors of the Cathedral November 22nd to pay last respect to the late Right Reverend William Thomas Manning, D.D., D.C.L., LL.D., retired Bishop of New York, the tenth to hold that office.

Bishop Manning died at 5:10 p.m, November 18, at the age of 83. He had lingered near death for days. He had entered St. Luke's Hospital for a routine check-up on November 1st and had been found in a critical condition.

Bishop Donegan opened the service and read the lesson from the fifteenth chapter of I Corinthians. The Bishop read the prayers and was the celebrant. The Rev. Thomas A. Sparks, S.T.D., canon pastor of the Cathedral, read the Epistle. Bishop Donegan read the Gospel. Over 6,000 persons attended.

Mourners Pay Last Respect

After Bishop Gilbert recited the committal, the body, preceded by the procession, was taken down the long center aisle of the great Cathedral which Bishop Manning had had such a large part in building. At the doors, the Bishops, clergy, and Eastern Orthodox clergy lined up as the pallbearers. carried the purple draped coffin out and down the steps to the waiting hearse in the street.

Cremation was at Ferncliff Cemetery near Ardsley. The ashes will eventually be entombed in the Cathedral.

Order of Procession

The order of procession was: Cross, Choir, Honorary Pall Bearers, Cross, Clergy, General Seminary (Faculty and Students), Cross, Oriental Bishops, Cross, Episcopal Bishops, Mace Bearer, Bishop Donegan, Chaplain, and the Bishop with the Canon Precentor of the Cathedral and the Canon Pastor of the Cathedral.

The Rev. Edward N. West, D.D., canon sacrist of the Cathedral was Master of Ceremonies and received high praise for the dignity and dispatch with which the service was conducted.

The obituary of Bishop Manning which was prepared for release to the press by Canon Sparks, reads as follows:

His Life

Born, Northampton, England, May 12, 1866. Educated, University of the South. Ordained Deacon 1889, and Priest 1891.

Rector of Trinity Church, Redlands, California, 1891-1893; Professor, Dogmatic Theology, University of the South, 1893-1895; Rector, St. John's Church, Lansdowne, Pa. 1896-1898; Rector of Christ Church, Nashville, Tenn., 1898-1903; Vicar, St. Agnes Chapel (of Trinity Parish), New York City, 1903-1908; Assistant Rector, Trinity Parish, New York City, 1904-1908; Rector, Trinity Parish, 1908-1921; Bishop of New York, May 11, 1921—December 31, 1946, when he resigned.

When he first became Rector of Trinity Parish a serious situation existed concerning tenement houses and other dwelling property owned by that Parish. The buildings had not been erected by the Parish, but on the expiration of leaseholds on the land, these buildings had been turned back to the Church. Many of them were in a dilapidated condition, which caused much public criticism. The new rector of Trinity at once took the situation in hand, called to his aid trained social workers, had many of the buildings torn down, and those that remained he had put into first class condition.

Champion of Small Nations

During World War I he was an outspoken champion of the small nations which had been unjustly violated by Germany, and insistently raised his voice that this form of aggression must stop. He was a Chaplain at Camp Upton.

When he became Bishop in 1921 only a portion of the present Cathedral building was in existence. He organized a great campaign and succeeded in raising over ten million dollars, the result being the building of the great nave and west front, and other portions of the structure as it is at present, and all without debt. Total gifts to the Cathedral during his episcopate were about $15,000,000.

But he was not only interested in the material building of the Cathedral. He was also interested in housing conditions of the underprivileged citizens of New York. With the cooperation of the then Tenement House Commissioner, he caused to be erected in the unfinished Nave of the Cathedral a complete and authentic tenement house apartment. This brought thousands of visitors to the Cathedral to see it, and greatly accelerated the enactment of better housing laws in the city.

Throughout his episcopate he had given approbation to, and frequently raised his voice in behalf of, great civic causes. In such matters he never hesitated. If the thing were right, then he was for it and said so!

He led in all matters affecting family life, insisting upon high moral, ethical and religious standards as the essential foundations of the good life.

From the very first threat of impending World War II he insisted that America and her citizens must play their full part, in order to preserve the rights, dignity and freedom of all men everywhere, no matter what their nationality, race, language, or religion might be. During and since the War he has given leadership in the matter of feeding and clothing war sufferers, everywhere.

His interest in ecclesiastical matters far transcended his own Church, for he had always insisted that the whole of Christendom must some day be reunited.

He was a Sub-prelate of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem (English), Grand Officer of the Order of Orange-Nassau; Grand Officer of the Legion of Honor; Knight Commander of the Order of the Phoenix; Officer of the Order of the Crown of Belgium. He received the Panagia from the Russian Orthodox Church and a Relic of the True Cross from the Orthodox Patriarch of Jerusalem.

He had enjoyed personal correspondence with King George V and King George VI of England, King Albert of Belgium, Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands, King Paul of Greece; King George II of Greece made a state call upon him, and former King Peter II of Yugoslavia called upon him at the Bishop's Residence.

He married Miss Florence van Antwerp of Cincinnati in 1895, who survives him, together with two daughters, Miss Frances van Antwerp Manning, and Mrs. Griffith Bailey Coale, wife of the well-known muralist and painter of naval war scenes.

After his retirement the Bishop lived at 8 Washington Mews, New York, and in summer at Mt. Desert, Maine.

He became one of New York's first citizens, to whom a multitude throughout the country looked for inspiration and leadership in all that pertains to the highest affairs of life. His influence extended to many foreign countries.

Diocese to Be Host To Provincial Synod

The Council of the Synod of the Second Province will meet in Cathedral House on January 11th with Bishop Malcolm Peabody of the Diocese of Central New York presiding as president. The Council is the group charged with the administration of the work of the Synod between meetings. Its present officers are:

The Rt. Rev. Malcolm Peabody, D.D., President; The Rev. Fenimore E. Cooper, Secretary; Mr. Theodor Oxholm, Treasurer; The Rev. A. Stewart Hogenauer, Asst. Secretary and Asst. Treasurer.

New Mission Opened for East Bronx

All Saints' Mission, Eastchester, was opened on the First Sunday in Advent, November 27th at 9:30 A.M. in a rented store at 3491-3 Boston Road. Archdeacon Bratt, the Rev. F. Gray Garten, dean of the Bronx convocation and rector of St. Stephen's, Woodlawn, and the Rev. Newell Lasher, vicar of the new Mission officiated. The service was attended by 83 persons.

Thirty-five families had previously indicated their interest. Calls on several hundred families in the neighborhood have been made by Goldthwaite Sherrill, son of the Presiding Bishop and a student at Union Theological Seminary. When a family showed interest in the Mission the vicar followed through.

The store has been furnished as a church under the direction of the Rev. Canon Edward N. West, D.D.

A group of acolytes and a church school of 20 children had already been organized. This does not yet include the new housing development where only 50 families are now in residence.

Meeting of Manhattan Convocation Discusses Social Research Study

The Manhattan Convocation held its fall meeting at All Angels' on the evening of October 19th. Evening Prayer was read by the rector, the Rev. John M. Mulligan, with Bishop Y. Y. Tsu, General Secretary of the Church in China and Bishop of Yun-Kwei, as preacher.

At a short session following the service, the Rev. Joseph G. Moore, director of the Social Research Study now being conducted in Manhattan, Bronx and lower Westchester outlined briefly the purposes and methods of the study. The dean, the Rev. Louis W. Pitt, D.D., urged the clergy present to cooperate fully in furnishing material.

African Orthodox Church Received to Heal Schism

A minor schism was healed Nov. 16 when the Bishop received the congregation of the former St. George's African Orthodox Church, at the building which they own at 101 West 127th Street. About 25 were confirmed and 25 formerly confirmed persons were reconciled. 11 persons were received from the Roman Catholic Church.

The Rev. Ernest E. Gayle, who had pastored there for eight years previously, was ordained deacon last June after two years of study. He will continue in charge of the congregation which will be known as St. George's Episcopal Chapel, St. Martin's parish.

Also last month St. Mark's, Yonkers, received 3 from the Roman communion in their last confirmation class; and 9 were received from the Romans at Intercession, Manhattan.

Bronx Women to Meet January 11

On Wednesday, January 11th, the Committee on Women's Work of the Bronx, Mrs. John R. Newman, chairman, will have a luncheon at Mayer's Parkway Restaurant, 613 East 233rd Street. One of the speakers will be the Rev. William J. Chase.

Train Laymen to Face Church's Challenge

Convocation Leaders Meet at Seabury House

Sixty of the leading laymen from the seven convocations of the Diocese gathered for a two-day conference at Seabury House, Round Hill Road, Greenwich, Conn., Dec. 19-20. W. Ted Gannaway, National Council leader of the Laymen's Training Program, conducted the training sessions to equip the men to make a factual and hard-hitting presentation of how the Church plans to meet the missionary challenges of today.

Included in the group were lawyers, architects, business men, advertising men, salesmen, engineers, business executives, and others, representing a cross-section of the best ability and intelligence in secular work in this area.

The sessions not only covered the need for and content of the $5,000,000 budget approved by General Convention; but also dealt with the "selling" aspects of presenting that program. Such concrete minutia as "where to stand," "how to turn a chart," "the use of the hands," "pulling down shades," "how to read," "how to use a blackboard," etc. were discussed.

These men are now pledged to go to the various vestries and Advisory Boards in January and February to tell of the Church's expanding Missionary Program in preparation for the Spring Canvass, March 12, 1950.

In explaining the need for a Spring Canvass, the National Council said that there was not time for "proper preparation between General Convention's adoption of the 1950 increased budget and the dates of the Fall's Every Member Canvass." They asked parishes to work for at least their 1949 goals in the Fall, and then to prepare for the second campaign in the Spring.

"This second Campaign, ONE WORLD IN CHRIST, will be climaxed on March 12, 1950, when Presiding Bishop Henry K. Sherrill will speak by radio to all the people of the Church as they are attending Sunday morning Church services all over the land, just as he did on February 29, 1948, an behalf of world relief," the National Council said. Churches are asked to designate the period from January 1 to March 12, 1950 to an educational program to prepare for the broadcast.

During the preceding weeks, literature will be distributed. In January, the study theme is to be Our Work Overseas; in February, Our Work at

INSIGNIA to be used in the Spring Campaign, "One World in Christ."

Home; and in the first part of March, Our Work in Christian Education.

At the same time, posters will be distributed, special source material for missionary sermons will be released to the clergy, a program has been prepared for the Woman's Auxiliary for each period, layreader's sermons will deal with missionary needs, FORTH will feature the program, and general news releases will be sent out continuously, both to the Church papers and the secular press. Special envelopes and pledge cards will be available for the nationwide service on March 12th.

The National Council offered the services of a Speakers Bureau for which some of their best people have been called in from the field. The possibility of a great Cathedral Missionary Service as preparation for the Presiding Bishop's broadcast was discussed.

It was strongly recommended that Bishop Block's presentation to General Convention be used before parish groups. St. James', Fordham, heard the 40-minute address November 27. The Rev. Arthur V. Litchfield, rector, said, "Bishop Sherrill was so moved by the report, and the brief speech that followed, that he was, for a short time, unable to speak."

The National Council said, in closing, "ONE WORLD IN CHRIST" is not a campaign of the National Council. It expresses, rather, a deep conviction of the whole Church as expressed through General Convention. By real enthusiasm and by a spirit of true evangelism we can make it a great Christian triumph."

W. TED GANNAWAY talks to the laymen on "selling the Church."

Fifteen Blanket Assurances Given By Diocese for Displaced Persons

The Bishop has given the National Council 15 blanket assurances for Displaced Persons as the minimum goal of the Diocese toward meeting the 1,200 assurances given by the National Council to Church World Service.

Six assurances are already in from the following parishes: Christ Church, Pierpont; Christ Church, Red Hook; St. Paul's and Trinity, Tivoli; Grace Church, Nyack; St. Paul's, Spring Valley, and Christ Church, Suffern.

The Archbishop of Jerusalem Pays a Call upon the Bishop

The Bishop met the Archbishop of Jerusalem, the Metropolitan of the Old Syrian Orthodox Church (in union with the Copts and not with the Greeks) at the doors of the Cathedral Nov. 29. His Church in Jerusalem is St. Mark's where traditionally it is believed the Last Supper was held.

Dutchess Urged to Help Self

The Fall Meeting of the Convocation of Dutchess was held on Nov. 28 at St. Paul's, Poughkeepsie, the Rev. Roland J. Bunten, rector. Bishop Donegan presided. Bishop Campbell spoke and the Archdeacon urged Dutchess missions and assisted parishes to make more effort toward self-help.

Hudson Convocation Has History Lesson

One hundred and fifty men of the Convocation of the Hudson dined at St. George's, Newburgh, Nov. 17, for the Fall meeting.

The principal speakers of the evening were the Hon. Charles S. Colden, Justice of the Supreme Court, vestryman of Grace, Whitestone, L. I., and Bishop Donegan. Judge Colden reminded his listeners of the missionary zeal of the first Episcopalians and noted that more than half of the signers of the Declaration of Independence were Episcopalians.

Bishop Donegan held the rapt attention of the laymen in telling about the great harmony and unanimity of General Convention, especially on the Program and Budget for 1950.

GFS 1948 Heifer Now in Germany

The 1948 Christmas project of the Girls' Friendly Society is now one of the 260 heads of cattle distributed among the refugee farmers of Western Germany.

The 1949 Christmas project is "World Friendship Among Children," through gifts of toys, candy and clothing.

Diagnostic Training Schools for Church School Workers Arranged

Diagnostic Training Schools for parish church school workers are being arranged by request, it was announced last month by the Department of Religious Education.

The interested parish is to choose the leader, in consultation with the Rev. J. Willard Yoder, Director of Religious Education and Youth Work. The leader chosen will make a diagnostic visit to the church school, will meet with the staff to evaluate the present program, and then will discuss his findings with the faculty on four consecutive weeks. The aim is to make the training clinical in nature.

"Information Please" Tells Westchester Church's Job

The first cold snap of the winter did not prevent over 300 vestrymen, wardens, advisory board members and clergy from attending the Fall meeting of the Convocation of Westchester, called "Information Please." They convened November 22nd at the Church of St. James the Less, Scarsdale.

In opening, Bishop Donegan, as moderator, defined their purpose as to find out ways "to have this Church become what you think it ought to be."

"No simple parishioners permitted" is the sign which should be hung on the front door of our churches, W. Ted Gannaway, National Council Laymen training leader, told the body.

Walter "Red" Barber called the Diocesan program a "well-balanced offensive."

H. Wynn Bussman, a vestryman of Zion, Dobbs Ferry, stressed the importance of bringing people to church. He said, "Next to the Blessed Sacrament, your neighbor is the holiest thing in God's creation."

Record Enrollment for School

One hundred and sixty enrollments in the Diocesan Central School of Religion set a new record for recent years, the Board of Religious Education announced last month. The school is held annually for six consecutive Monday evenings in October and November at the General Theological Seminary.

Mansion is Given for Retreats

On November 26, the Bishop formally received the deed to the five-story, thirty-five room residence of Mrs. Shepard Fabbri at 7 East 95th Street. He received the property as President of the House of the Redeemer for a retreat house. This had been a favorite project of Bishop Manning.

The interiors of the first two floors came from the ducal palace in Urbina, Italy, which include a great library, a vaulted dining room, and a drawing room, made into a chapel.

The remaining twenty-three bedrooms have been divided for the use of persons attending retreats. The upper floor will be used as a convent by the Sisters of the Community of St. Mary.

The Rev. Dr. Edward H. Schleuter, retired, will be resident chaplain, and the Rev. Dr. Gregory Mabry, warden.

The first retreat was scheduled for early December for the nuns working in parishes and institutions in New York City. In January, the house will be used by the Bishop for the training of groups of laymen.

BULLETIN Subscriptions Received

In the Fall drive for new BULLETIN readers, the first returns, 11 subscriptions, were from the Rev. Herbert H. Hill, rector of St. John's, Monticello.

Advent Meeting of Woman's Auxiliary Presents U. T. O.

The Advent Meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary at the Cathedral for the presentation of the United Thank Offering, heard the Rev. Arthur C. Lichtenberger, D.D., professor of pastoral theology, General Theological Seminary, December 6.

In the afternoon, Colonel Paul Rush spoke on the needs and opportunities of the Church in Japan. Col. Rush, a missionary in Japan before the war, was attached to General MacArthur's staff in Tokyo. It was also announced that on January 3, the Right Rev. John I. Blair Larned, Bishop of the Churches in Europe, would speak on displaced persons.

Asks Aid for Bible Societies

As part of the celebration of "Bible Sunday," the Second Sunday in Advent, the Bishop commended the support of The American Bible Society to the Diocese. He cited the action of General Convention in passing a resolution making "it a primary concern to support The American Bible Society."

The Bishop also commended the New York Bible and Common Prayer Book Society for support.

Bronx Convocation Hears Lay Leader

St. Martha's was host to the Bronx Convocation, the evening of Nov. 14. About 200 attended. Bishop Donegan presided.

Louis F. Stauss, Convocation Chairman of the Program of the Church spoke of plans of his committee for raising the 1950 budget. He stressed the universality of the Church's program, pointing out that while much of it represented giving to bring Christ to far away places, a considerable portion of the program was involved with such matters as Christian Education right in our own parishes.

The Rev. F. Gray Garten, dean of the Convocation, spoke of the work at St. George's, Williamsbridge.

Arrangements for the meeting were in charge of the men of St. Martha's, and the women of the parish provided and served refreshments.

Youth Consultation Service Is Praised for Giving, "New Hope"

The Bishop praised the Youth Consultation Service for giving "new hope, courage and confidence" to girls in need of help, when he spoke at the luncheon attended by 400 persons at the Ritz-Carlton November 10.

Bishop Donegan explained the work of the agency, which serves girls of all social and economic levels and of every race, creed and color. He said the girls received "help and confidence but never criticism."

Seamen's Church Institute Entertains Woman's Auxiliary

At the November 16th meeting of the Diocesan Board of the Woman's Auxiliary, the ladies were guests of the Seamen's Church Institute. The director, the Rev. Raymond S. Hall, D.D. and Mrs. Grafton Burke spoke on the work of the Institute.

MOTHER AUDREY, O.S.A. and "Bunker", of the Convent of St. Anne, Kingston, which celebrated its 24th anniversary on St. Andrew's Day, Nov. 30. The convent can accommodate guests in the new guest house which has hot and cold running water in each room for $40-$50 weekly.

Ramapo Reviews the Convocations Needs

About 100 people attended a round table discussion led by Archdeacon Bratt at Grace Church, Nyack, on the afternoon of November 13th under the auspices of the Convocation of Ramapo. The discussion, participated in by the clergy and laity of the Convocation, was directed around the following subjects:

1. Are we adequately covering the religious needs of all the people in our area?
2. Have there been enough preaching missions following the Diocesan Mission of 1948; are others planned and are they effective?
3. What can be done corporately to encourage the E.Y.P.F. in each Ramapo church; and is a Sunday School Convention for the Convocation feasible?
4. Is the distance between parishes and missions in the Convocation a real problem and if so how can it be overcome?
5. Have we an effective educational program in the Convocation in our Woman's Auxiliary: in confirmation instruction, Bible classes, visual education, and released time classes?

Men and Boys Advent Corporate Communions Held

The Advent Corporate Communion of Men and Boys was celebrated throughout the Diocese on Advent Sunday, Nov. 27, in keeping with the nationwide observance.

At Christ Church, Poughkeepsie, the service was the first celebration of the Rev. Carleton J. Sweetser who was ordained to the priesthood Nov. 25 at the parish church by the Bishop of San Joaquin, for that Diocese.

The Rev. Lawrence B. Larsen reported that at Christ Church, Pelham Manor, there was the largest participation in the history of the parish. 78 men, many accompanied by their wives made their communions at an 8:15 a.m. Eucharist. Later at breakfast, they heard that the parish had fully subscribed its missionary quota and that the Every Member Canvass was only a $1,000 away from the total parish budget.

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew sponsored the 9:00 a.m. service at Christ Church, Riverdale. The Rev. Gerald V. Barry, rector, was celebrant. Edgar F. Caddy heads the Brotherhood and saw to the hot breakfast afterwards.

The Rev. James A. Pike, J.S.D., chaplain of Columbia University, was the speaker at the breakfast following the early Eucharist for men and boys at the Church of the Heavenly Rest, Manhattan.

Other services of note were at St. Mark's, Yonkers and Holy Apostles, Manhattan. Grace, Manhattan, held their service on Nov. 20.

Bronx Women Hold Fall Meeting

The Episcopal Women of the Bronx held their Fall Evening Service at St. Stephen's, Woodlawn, Nov. 1. Clifford Morehouse, editor of the Living Church, spoke on "The General Convention and the Forward March of the Episcopal Church." Mrs. John R. Newman is chairman.

Clergy Notes

The Rev. Shirley Carter Hughson, O.H.C., died Nov. 16 at Holy Cross Monastery, at the age of eighty-two. Fr. Hughson had served as a missionary to Liberia, and as Superior of the Order for two terms. He entered the order in 1902 and enjoyed a long and fruitful career of teaching, religious writing and missionary work.

Fr. Hughson

The Right Rev. S. Harrington Littell who is so well known to the Diocese, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood Nov. 30, at St. Luke's, Cambridge, Diocese of Albany. His sons assisted him.

Appoint Chaplain for NYC College Students

The Bishop appointed the Rev. Norman Spicer as the first Chaplain to Episcopal college students in the Diocese, October 1st. The new chaplain served in that capacity for college students in Boston for the past four years.

Rev. Norman Spicer

In discussing first steps, he said, "The plan is a "worship centered" program at the Cathedral at which students attend the 4:00 p.m. service in a body. Supper is served in the Synod House at six and is followed by a speaker who talks on some topic related to the Christian life.

"Afterwards, we say Evening Prayer and break up into "special interest" groups which include a Bible study group, a Discussion group, a Drama Workshop and a Student Choir."

Board of Religious Education Asks Birthday Thank Offering

Birthday Thank Offerings for 1949 (received from September 1, 1948 to September 1, 1949) are still receivable. Checks should be made payable to Russell A. Dill, treasurer, and mailed to Mrs. Leonora R. Harris, Birthday Thank Offering, 281 Fouth Avenue, New York 10, N. Y.

The 1950 Birthday Thank Offering will buy "Bricks for Liberia." The offering is to be used to help build and repair Church School buildings at Dia, Mamba, Bendaja, and Balonah.

Free materials on the Birthday Thank Offering now available at "281" are "Better Schools for Liberia," a leader's guide; "Bricks for Balomah," a picture folder intended for distribution to all boys and girls in the parish; Birthday Prayer Card; and Birthday Thank Offering Envelopes.

Memorial to War Dead Dedicated At St. Andrew's, Poughkeepsie

On the occasion of the 60th Anniversary of St. Andrew's, Poughkeepsie, Bishop Campbell visited the Church for the Bishop, on St. Andrew's Day, November 30th, to bless the War Memorial Rood given by the Church School in memory of the six young men of the parish who were killed in World War II. The Rood was carved by John George Huber of Rosendale, a retired stone carver. The Rev. H. R. Thompson is the rector.

Couple Retire after 48 - Years Service to Organ and Choir

William Neidlinger and his wife, Alvira Regina Neidlinger, were once pupils together in the church school of St. Michael's, Manhattan. Last month, as the church's organist and choir director respectively, they retired after forty-eight years of service. Three hundred attended the reception in their honor including the Rev. Thomas McCandless, rector emeritus.

Pre-Lenten Youth Rallies Planned

The Bishop's Message:

Dear Friends of the Clergy and Laity:

Another Christmas Season has come to make us glad with the remembrance of the wondrous Gift God made to men. We stand now at the beginning of a new year. We should be grateful that New Year's Day follows so closely upon Christmas. I wish our Prayer Book made some appropriate provision for its observance as it does for Thanksgiving Day and Independence Day. It would help us to face the demands and uncertainties of the new year with surer confidence and hope.

Bishop Gilbert

Looking back as a Diocese over the year that is behind us, we cannot but recognize the many ways in which we have fallen short of the urgent demands God makes upon His Church in these anxious and difficult times. We must confess that as clergy and people we have not accepted our responsibilities with that readiness of mind and heart that should have been ours.

But there is much for which we can be thankful. On another page of this BULLETIN you will find brief notation of some of the outstanding attainments of the past year. There are others which might be mentioned. But the more important achievements perhaps, are those which only God can appraise—all that devoted and consecrated clergy have enabled the Church to do for His children in their dealings with life. It is upon this service that the real strength and vitality of the Church depends.

And now a new year is before us. It brings to the Diocese and to the whole Church a supreme test. Our faith and loyalty as clergy and people are faced with a challenge. It is to be regretted, perhaps, that that challenge is presented to us in terms of dollars. But it should be obvious that our financial support of the Church and its task stands as the outward and material sign and manifestation of our spiritual loyalty and devotion. Were that more clearly recognized we would not need to worry about budgets.

I am confident that, if our clergy and people will give their whole-hearted support to the plans now under way to bring the Diocese to the support of the program which General Convention has outlined, we shall do what is expected of us.

These are crucial days for our Church, for our nation and the world. The dictionary tells us that "crucial" means "having the form of a cross."

The Story of a Child, Tom

"Hey, Pop! What is that red part of the envelope for?" The small fry nudged the preoccupied vestryman.

He stopped sorting out the nickels from the pennies. "That's for missionaries and things . . . "

"Missionaries . . . ?" His boyish lips were puckered with puzzlement.

The father looked up quickly towards the head of St. Mary's long vestryroom table where the rector usually sat. The chair was vacant. His eyes stopped on Ed Porter who had been away at a conference somewhere last week. Ed was looking at them, seemingly interested. "Say Ed," the father-vestryman called out, "what about all these missionaries and things the red side pays for?"

Ed waited a moment. The other vestrymen stopped counting and rolling the money. The room was silent as the group of men looked at him. "You want to know something about the red side of our envelopes?"

The youngster said, "Yes!" in a determined way. The men smiled at his childish seriousness.

"Then," said Jim, "let me tell you about a few people, missionaries.

ing of Dan McGrew . . . Or in our time, the Alcan Highway, that means Alaska to most people, who picture a foreboding, frozen wasteland of tundra and glacier locked mountains.

"But to the Church, Alaska has meant the dog team and sled to Bishop Peter Trimble Rowe, the heroic years of John W. Chapman at Anvik and Hudson Stuck of the Yukon. These men brought the light of Christ to those who live in darkness under the midnight sun, healing the sick, and preaching God's love in a harsh, coldly cruel land.

"Today, Bishop Gordon, piloting his own Piper Cub plane, covers his See from the salmon waters of Ketchikan to the piled-up jagged, frozen Arctic seas of Point Hope. Seventeen clergy and twenty other medical, education and evangelistic workers labor tirelessly with him. And yet, we need more missionaries.

"For instance, at St. Elizabeth's, Ketchikan, a large Indian parish has been without a full-time priest for almost ten years. Many small sects are coming in where we pioneered, taking over stations we have been able to serve only once in a while. Here, the full gospel of Christ is losing ground.

Tropical Brazil

"Or to switch from Alaska's 72,524 chilly population to the teeming 47-millions of tropical Brazil. Only 50 clergy and 5 educators are available to keep the light of Catholic witness and freedom of conscience alive. The problem, of course, is training a native clergy.

"For several years Bishop Thomas has had to discourage prospective Postulants for Holy Orders because of lack of funds. The Presbyterian Church Seminary in Sao Paulo has today 70 candidates for Orders, while we have in our seminary only four young men. Yet they are going ahead and have created two new Dioceses.

"There are many difficulties. For instance, the trip of the Bishop of Mexico to General Convention was interrupted because an attempt was made to usurp his Mexico City Cathedral in his absence. And yet progress is limited even more by our facilities. St. Andrew's School, in arid Guadalajaro, Jalisco, cannot grow because its shallow well is drying up and its blooded herd of Holstein cattle and potentially rich farm land are in danger. Dean Jose Flores and his scores of boys who are learning of Christ as they are taught to farm have started a deep well. At 120 feet water rose in the shaft. They need $2,000 to finish the project.

"That well is a symbol of all that could be done in Mexico, for while Mexico is a land of evening promenades through poinsettia decked village squares and of guitar and fiesta music; the noisesome clang of conquering swords, the death rattle of impoverished peons also is heard. Fostered superstition and abysmal ignorance reign. The land thirsts for the free living waters of Christ which bring light and peace.

Central America

"Below Mexico, on the narrow neck of land through which runs the canal known as the jugular vein of America, the Ven. Arthur F. Nightengale, a native of Barbados, ministers to the 6,000 baptized members of St. Paul's, Panama City, Republic of Panama. Archdeacon Nightengale shows the fruit of the promise open to us in the Missionary District of the Panama Canal Zone, which includes Panama, Colombia, S. A.; Costa Rica and Nicaragua. And yet only 2 clergy minister to all of Colombia. 16 others serve this entire heavily populated area, which was relinquished to us as our responsibility by the Church of England.

Spanish Literature Needed

"One of our greatest material needs throughout this Carribbean area is educational and propaganda material in the language of the people. We have been in Puerto Rico for fifty years and are little known. While the Prayer Book is in Spanish, there are no tracts in Spanish, no devotional manuals, no religious education material, other than that produced locally.

"Everywhere in the islands, Haiti, Cuba, revolt-torn Dominican Republic, and the Virgin Islands, the story is the same. The people are waiting.

A 1900-Year-Old-Battle

"Perhaps this is more true in Liberia than in any other field. Here the Christian message not only wrestles with disease and poverty, but it battles against pagan sacrifice and the hidden horrors of the back bush country, in a life and death issue. The lead editorial of the last issue of the Liberian Churchman is against eating pagan wedding sacrifices, an echo of Paul's first letter to the Corinthians, (Chapter 8) almost 1900 years ago.

"Our Church is fighting the good fight, and as a commentary on the practicality of our missionaries, an agricultural curriculum is part of the Theological School of Cuttington College, re-established in the highlands. Bishop Bravid Harris, the Rev. Seth Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hughes, Mr. Sands, these are only a few across whose lives was written, "Our souls are in Liberia, please send our bodies after them.'

"And out of their labor will come poultry, cattle for meat production, trucking and tree crops, palm kernels, cocoa and citrus fruits, and even more, human beings released from fear and superstitious sin into life in Christ.

"Robert Wood shows the dependence of the Church upon the self-sacrifice of our missionaries. Forty years ago, he went to China to Wuchang across the Yangtze River from Hankow. There he built St. Michael's Church, as much school and clinic, as thriving parish.

Rev. Robert Wood

"Just as he retired to enjoy a well-earned rest on his pension, the Japanese came. He was evacuated, but went around the other way and flew over the hump back into the heart of the country at Chungking. At the war's end, he returned to St. Michael's, Wuchang. Today, as he faces the turmoil of the rolling Communist revolution, he still ministers to his people, and in preparation for the new regime learns a trade to be self-supporting. The new government may send foreigners out of China, but his people will say, 'No, not Father Wood, he is one of us.' And so the Church's work remains firmly rooted.

Unchanging in Midst of Change

"His story is repeated wherever missionaries put forth the Church's healing hands in China. If we served before, need is now multiplied. War-time destruction, governmental chaos, civil strife cry out to us to keep the Church's gentle, loving arms open wide to embrace the bloody war-torn fragments that will return.

INSIGNIA of the Spring Missionary Every Member Canvass.

The Bishop, 1949: "We Ha
But There is Much for which

The editors of the BULLETIN respectfully submit the following summary of 1949's events:

The year's opening bore the indelible imprint of the dramatic Diocesan Preaching Mission, completed in 1948. Clergy and laity were fired with a determination to drive awakened religious fervor toward worthy objectives.

That rekindled spirit received its severest test from the challenging Missionary Program set by General Convention which met September 26th to October 7th in San Francisco. At the West Point clergy conference, October 26th, the Presiding Bishop, the Diocesan, and the newly elected Bishop Coadjutor urged meeting the challenge of that $5,634,617 budget, of which 10% is a Diocesan responsibility. The Presiding Bishop said, "The Diocese of New York is critical to the future . . . for it sets the level for the rest of the country."

A group of sixty laymen responded to that challenge. This cadre met at Seabury House, November 19-20, to be trained to tell the Diocese about the Church's missionary program in preparation for the great Spring Canvass.

The first response to the Diocesan Preaching Mission was the "Cornerstone" Campaign, launched January 1. In his message that month, the Bishop said, "Here is a very appropriate next step in our Program of Evangelism—an opportunity to give tangible expression to the new vision and the new fervor that our Mission has brought to us."

As the campaign opened, support was pledged and wide-spread publicity was given to what the Bishop called "the shocking conditions under which some of our congregations are now carrying on their work," and to Diocesan plans to meet them. But by April, the executive chairman of the effort, Archdeacon Bratt defined progress as "spotty." There was response to the Bishop's plea to Convention May 10, when a resolution was passed urging the drive's necessity; but by October, gifts from parishes totaled only $67,423.

First ground was broken for St. Simon's, New Rochelle, September 12, and St. Andrew's, New Paltz, addition was completed and dedicated December 1. At the year's end foundations have been laid for St. Martha's, North White Plains, St. Mark's, Yonkers, as well as St. Simon's, New Rochelle.

The most dramatic single incident during the year was the unanimous and unopposed enthusiastic election of Bishop Donegan as Bishop Coadjutor by the adjourned Convention, October 25. The Bishop said, "Never before has this or any other Diocese shown such unanimity in the choice of a Bishop as that which was manifested in the election of Bishop Donegan as our Coadjutor. It was a richly deserved tribute."

The 400th Anniversary of the Book of Common Prayer dominated the Diocesan liturgical scene in 1949. On February 1, the Bishop authorized the use of excerpts from the First Prayer Book of Edward VI for Whitsunday, June 5, or some other single appropriate day. A Cathedral celebration was held at that time. Parishes, church schools, study groups, devotional bodies, the Diocesan Summer Youth Conference, and the BULLETIN took the Prayer Book as a theme.

The closing Diocesan celebration was a Solemn Eucharist in the presence of the Bishop, September 15. Bishops from far and near attended to open a nation-wide Eucharistic Congress of the American Church Union.

One of the most important bodies created by the Bishop last year was the Diocesan Committee on Evangelism, appointed in January with Bishop Donegan as chairman. They promoted the Diocesan Youth Mission, held October 30, at St. Bartholomew's, Manhattan. But even more, they supplied the spiritual undergirding of the fall and spring clergy conferences. A School for Missioners was organized which forty clergy attended at St. Peter's School, Peekskill, June 13, 14 and 15. Through that effort, personnel was supplied to continue the impetus of the 1948 Diocesan Preaching Mission through parochial missions.

The Diocesan Commission on College Work, authorized by 1948 Convention completed its formal organization in January. Professor Albert C. Jacobs, the then Provost of Columbia University, was elected chairman. At the May 10 meeting of Convention, this work was established, at the Bishop's insistence, by canon. On October 1, the Rev. Norman Spicer was appointed as the first chaplain to Episcopal college students in the Diocese. Later in October, Provost Jacobs resigned the chairmanship and Thomas C. Pollock, a dean of New York University was elected to that office.

Another forward step in human service was projected March 15 when the Commission on Christian Social Relations accepted in principle the findings of an Old Age Study. Convention sub-

Rye Opens Missionary Fund Drive

The first of more than 150 special vestry meetings to be held throughout the Diocese during the next two months heard George W. Burpee at Christ Church, Rye, December 12. Mr. Burpee, chairman of the Westchester contingent of the 60 laymen making a presentation of the Church's 1950 Missionary Program, dramatized the strategic importance of that effort.

Quoting Arnold Toynbee, Mr. Burpee said, "the United States and the Soviet Union are alternative embodiments of contemporary man's tremendous material power" but that "in the mouths of these loud speakers one does not hear the still small voice" and that "our cue may still be given us by the message of Christianity; and the saving words and deeds may come from unexpected quarters." The speaker said, "We may be those 'unexpected quarters'."

He cited Brazil, the Dominican Republic, Haiti, Puerto Rico, the Canal Zone, Mexico, Hawaii, Okinawa the Philippines, Japan, China and Alaska as being strategic spots where the Church has a foothold and where with support we can become a great force in building the peace for which we all pray.

Turning to our missionary work in this country, Mr. Burpee pointed to the 30,000,000 unchurched in the United States and the approximately one-third of the country which is still so sparsely populated that its churches cannot be self-supporting.

In making the closing remarks, Theodor Oxholm, assistant treasurer of the Diocese, said that the Diocese faces problems identical with those of the National Church. "Living cost increases have made it impossible to fill important missionary posts at prevailing stipends, influxes of people into certain areas have overtaxed the ability of local parishes to minister to them, college students are exposed to most everything except the teachings of Christ," he said, and that "to do the job that stands before us we can no longer rely on the legacies of the deceased. The fate of the future depends on the present. It is up to every vestryman to tell this story with conviction to every member of his parish."

The rector, the Rev. Wendell Phillips, D.D., and the vestry promised support in meeting the full parish quota for 1950.

Twenty-three Churches See Goal Of Missionary Fund Drive Met

Twenty-three parishes and missions of the Diocese have already indicated to the Committee on the Program of the Church that they expect to meet their full missionary quotas for 1950, including the new increase. The Bishop recently appointed Bishop Donegan chairman of the drive to accomplish this purpose. The churches are:

Trinity Church and St. Thomas in Manhattan; St. Andrew's in Richmond; Church of the Good Shepherd, St. Andrew's St. George's, St. James' and St. Stephen's in the Bronx; St. James, Dover Plains; St. Philip's, Garrison and St. Paul's, Pleasant Valley in Dutchess; St. Stephen's, Armonk; St. Matthew's, Bedford; Good Shepherd, Granite Springs; St. Mary's, Mohegan Lake; St. John's, Tuckahoe; and St. Mark's, Yonkers, in Westchester; St. Paul's, Chester; House of Prayer, Jones Point; Grace Church, Monroe; Grace Church, Nyack; and St. Stephen's, Pearl River, in Ramapo.

January 22 Set as Day to "Keep Doors of Our Seminaries Open"

Urging generous giving on January 22 which has been designated as Theological Education Sunday by the Presiding Bishop, the Rev. Thomas A. Sparks, S.T.D., canon pastor of the Cathedral said, 'Keep the doors of our theological seminaries open. This costs money." He noted that every clergyman had been urged to preach on the necessity of theological education and to take an offering for it. This offering may be sent directly to the seminary chosen by the parish.

sequently approved the setting up of an Episcopal Service to the Aged. Since then, the Commission has been assembling the members of the Board. An item of $8,500 is included in the 1950 budget to effect this work.

The year also saw the consolidation of the work among the deaf under the Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society in January. St. Ann's Church for the Deaf was organized as a mission March 21 and housed temporarily at St. Marks-in-the-Bouwerie. Edwin W. Nies, D.D.S., who has served as lay-reader was ordered deacon June 12 and advanced to the priesthood January 8.

One new church was established. On October 1, the Rev. Newell Lasher was assigned to explore a new field in the Eastchester section of the Bronx where a site had been purchased during the summer. On November 27, All Saints' Mission was opened in a rented store at 3491-A Boston Road with a congregation of 83.

Ascension, Staten Island, the first new church building built since the war, was opened March 20.

ARCHITECTURAL unity and overall harmonious design were achieved through the ten new memorials dedicated by the Bishop, December 18, at Christ Church, Pelham Manor. They virtually transform the choir of the historic church. Most memorials are of richly carved and polychromed oak, executed by Thorsten Sigstedt, formerly woodcarver by appointment to the Royal House of Sweden. The memorials include a new altar rail, pulpit, pulpit canopy, clergy chairs and prie-dieux, lectern and lectern enclosure, two hymn boards, liturgical hangings for pulpit and lectern, the Holy Bible, pulpit and lectern lamps and carpet runners.

Most Noteworthy Events

The completion and dedication of the $789,980 ST. BARNABAS HOUSE, October 19th. The triennium offering of the Diocesan Woman's Auxiliary UNITED THANK OFFERING of $100,527. The completed and paid for PARISH HOUSE of All Saints' Briarcliff, which began its drive May 16th this year. The opening of the NEW LABOR SCHOOL inspired by the Bishop. The ORDINATION of eleven men June 6. $70,000 debt liquidation and CONSECRATION of St. Paul's, Yonkers, November 20. Healing of minor SCHISM with St. George's African Orthodox Church, December 17. The depositing of $1,000 by St. Augustine's, Yonkers, in a NEW BUILDING FUND. The services of ST. PETER'S SCHOOL, Peekskill, throughout the year.

Most Noteworthy Gifts

The FABBRI MANSION as a retreat house, November 26. The $200,000 WILKS' gift to St. George's, Manhattan, in November. The $500 contribution to the "Cornerstone" Campaign by ST. MARTHA'S, North White Plains. in February.

Appointments

The Rev. JAMES A. PIKE, J.S.D., as chaplain of Columbia University, September 1. The Rev. RAYMOND S. HALL, D.D., as director of the Seamen's Church Institute, January 27. The Rev. NORMAN SPICER, a chaplain to Episcopal College students, October 1. The Rev. LAWRENCE B. LARSEN as registrar of the Diocese, December 1. THE BISHOP made an honorary deputy fire chief NYC, with badge and car plates, Nov. 26.

Deaths

"Or I could tell you about Jack Morrett. He fought it out during the hopeless days of Bataan. He was imprisoned, and tortpedoed, but when peace finally came, Lt. Morrett attended and graduated from Seminary.

"And yet today in Honolulu, because of inflation, the yard man who rakes the leaves about the Cathedral is paid more than Jack Morrett receives, because Jack, like the other clergy, is working for love of Christ.

Hatred Lost in Christ

"On Okinawa, during the war, the sun took another amazed look through the July early morning mist. In a tent at Nokoshi, with the artillery grumbling in the background, American Marines knelt together at Holy Communion with the soldiers of the Imperial Japanese Army. The Americans were in charge of the military government hospital and the Japanese were a unit of medics captured as prisoners of war.

"Now, four years later, from Tokyo, the captain of the Japanese unit writes to an American friend, 'The old pastor's son and I were called into military service at the same time. He was killed on Iwo Jima when I was captured. When I got home in 1945, I attended Easter worship at the old Church with twenty members. Soon a young, active and able rector came to our Church, and now every Sunday our Church is full of pious people'."

Ed Porter seemed to have forgotten the boy and was talking to the listening vestrymen.

"Throughout the turbulent East, India, the Philippines, Okinawa, China, Japan, the world's hope for the future is that there are thousands of other Christians like that captured Japanese captain, men for whom Christ can blot out the memory of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, men who can learn through Christ to forget the hatred and fear of war, Christian men who in His name again can call all men brothers."

Porter stopped a moment and took a paper from his pocket and said, "I heard a phrase at the conference that stuck in my mind. It's 'The red ball of Japan must be made the blazing symbol of the power of the Holy Spirit.' If we don't do that, . . . " He shook his head and was silent. He looked up and grinned sheepishly. "Guess I made quite a speech."

"But where in the world will the money come from?" one of the vestrymen blurted out.

"From the red side of the envelope. $1.31 a year from every communicant of our Church would get the most pressing things done. Less than 3c a week. That's why we're having a spring canvass. This fall we have already . . ."

"Did you say $1.31? Why I spent that much for tickets for movies . . ."

"No," said Ed Porter, "it's not much for you and for me; but think what it will mean to Jack Morrett, Dean Flores, Bishop Harris, Bishop Gordon, Robert Wood, Archdeacon Nightengale, and to the peace of the world." He spoke more softly, "and think what it would mean to Jesus Christ, our Lord."

"Amen," said the rector who had slipped into the room unnoticed. He wiped at one of his eyes. "Amen."

Finish First Cornerstone Drive Task

The first construction completed through the "Cornerstone" Campaign was dedicated at St. Andrew's, New Paltz, by Bishop Donegan, December 1. The project consisted of a fifteen foot extension to the east end of the church building and basement.

This will provide, on the church level floor, a small room for a side chapel for weekday services; and another 12 x 15 foot room for a sacristry and study for the vicar for consultation with students. Beneath the previously existing church building, the kitchen and general recreation and dining room were remodeled, and another large room and two lavatories built in the new wing. Decorating and furnishing will be the church's responsibility.

The vicar, the Rev. J. Marshall Wilson said that the enlarged plant will serve admirably in the Church's work with the students of New Paltz State Teachers' Training College, nearby, which is expecting an enrollment of 1,500.

Other gifts received and dedicated at that time were a new altar from St. George's, Newburgh, an exquisite frontal from Canon Edward N. West, and a large crucifix of the reigning Christ from the chapel at the former Loomis Sanatorium, Liberty. Among those attending were the Rev. Frank L. Carruthers, dean of Hudson, who spoke briefly; Archdeacon Bratt; the Rev. George F. Hann, and the Rev. Alan H. Tongue, rector of St. Andrew's, Walden, who designed the addition.

Firemen Make a $1,000 Gift

The St. George Association of the New York City Fire Department has made a $1,000 gift to St. Barnabas' Hospital, in the Bronx, it was announced last month by the Rev. Edward C. Russell, D.D., rector of St. Ann's, Bronx, and chaplain of the Association.

Brotherhood of St. Andrew Holds 3rd Annual Meeting

About 52 men from 11 chapters of the New York Assembly of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew met at St. Martin's, Manhattan, for the annual Communion and breakfast, November 27.

George E. Heerwagen, in addressing the body, stressed the responsibilities involved in becoming a member of The Brotherhood, and the fact that it should not be considered an ordinary "men's club of the 'ashes and dishes' variety." He noted that upon taking The Brotherhood oath members are set apart for the work of evangelists.

"The Brotherhood is that little cake of yeast which shall leaven the whole lump," said Mr. Heerwagen. "You have received the Holy Ghost at the laying on of hands. What are you waiting for?"

The Bishop inducted the officers elected. They are:

George E. Herrwagen, president; the Rev. F. Gray Garten, chaplain; and for the executive committee, William Donawa, H. I. Moore, Fred Williams, John Stricker. Richard Doty chaired the meeting.

Clergy Notes

The Rev. Edward S. Gray was elected rector of St. Mary's, Cold Spring, as of January 1st. He was formerly curate of St. George's, Flushing, Long Island. He was ordained priest in 1944 and is married.

The Rev. William J. Good is leaving for the Diocese of Maine as of January 15. He has served on the staff of St. Luke's Chapel, Trinity parish, since 1941.

The Rev. Robert M. Stevenson, Ph.D., was advanced to the priesthood Dec. 15, at St. James' Church, South Pasadena, Diocese of Los Angeles.

The Rev. Edwin Nies, D.D.S., was advanced to the priesthood, January 8, at St. Mark's-in-the-Bouwerie by Bishop Donegan for the Bishop. The service was translated into sign language for the deaf congregation of St. Ann's, whom the newly ordained priest will serve.

The Rev. Allan B. Grayson has resigned as rector of Christ Church, Marlborough. He has accepted a new assignment in the Diocese of Newark as of December 8.

The Rev. Lucius A. Edelblute has resigned as rector of Holy Apostles as of January 16, 1950.

Woman's Auxiliary Advent Meeting Opens Triennium

The Advent meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary, at a celebration of the Holy Communion, December 6, at the Cathedral, presented a $16,108.15 United Thank Offering to begin the new triennium. This was $1,609.90 more than for the first period in the last triennium. The Rev. Arthur C. Lichtenberger, professor of pastoral theology at the General Theological Seminary preached.

Professor Lichtenberger urged that now is the time for women to do the most they can to the best of their abilities, in "our hearts, lives, diocese, and world." All must worship and serve, he said; and having done our best we should leave the issue to God."

In the afternoon after a sit-down box luncheon, which won praise of all the women for its attractiveness and convenience, Colonel Paul Rusch spoke dynamically on conditions facing the Church of Japan. He stressed the strategic fact that there are there, 80,500,000 persons, crowded on 4 islands smaller than California. He said, "It is very important that they are on our side if we have another war." He warned of the progress made by the Communists and Soviet propaganda, and of the danger to the future in the low level of public morals, health and comfort.

Woman's Auxiliary Asks Aid for DP's

The Woman's Auxiliary throughout the Diocese was urged last month to seek assurances for European displaced persons, D.P.'s, by Mrs. Malcolm Tuttle, chairman of the W. A. Christian Social Relations department. She reported that through W.A. action two assurances already had been given by Mrs. James McCulloh, and that a board on Staten Island had voted sponsorship of two D.P. children. Mrs. Tuttle said this was evidence of "a great desire on the part of all to over-subscribe the fifteen blanket assurances taken by the Bishop for the Diocese."

In backing up Mrs. Tuttle's appeal, the Rev. Leland B. Henry, executive secretary of the Commission on Christian Social Relations of the Diocese said, although the Diocese had passed the half-way mark "our fair share, based on the number of communicants, is seventy-five.

"The displaced persons program is a rescue operation," he said. "People are not dying from starvation and exposure in the displaced persons camps, but they are existing under conditions that threaten all social and moral values—the lack of privacy, the lack of incentive caused by the impossibility of attaining self-support, the feeling of frustration."

Tiny Mission Begins Building Fund

On December 12, St. Augustine's, Yonkers, deposited $1,000 with the treasurer of the Diocese to begin a New Building Fund for the Small Mission. The money was part of the proceeds of their December 9-10 Christmas Bazaar which is expected to net about $1,200.

The chairman, Mrs. Esther Sanchez, was particularly happy over the fact that not a lottery, raffle, door prize, or chance ticket was sold. Last year the congregation numbered 53.

St. Hilda's School Nursery to be First Step Toward Grammar School

The new St. Hilda's School for Boys and Girls will open at 621 W. 113th Street, New York 25, February, 1950, it was announced last month by the Bishop. Sister Ruth, of the Sisters of the Order of St. John the Divine, a Canadian order, will be in charge. She is a graduate of St. Hilda's College in the University of Toronto.

A nursery for children 3-4 will be the first class and, in September, Kindergarten and Grade One will be started. A grade will be added yearly until Grade Six. Initial rates are $300 and $375, per year.

Episcopal Actors' Guild Selects T.S. Eliot Play for 26th Benefit

The 26th Benefit of the Episcopal Actors' Guild will be held at the Henry Miller Theatre on Friday evening, January 20th, to preview T. S. Eliot's new play "The Cocktail Party." The play is being brought to New York with the original cast.

Tickets are from $1.20 to $25., obtainable at Guild Office, 1 East 29th Street. Telephone, Murray Hill 5-2927.

Last Mortgage on Church Building

On December 18, St. Mark's, Nepera Park, Yonkers, announced in their Parish Bulletin that the final payment on the 10-year church mortgage had been made and that the building is now free and clear of debt.

Theodor Oxholm, assistant treasurer of the Diocese, in commenting observed that the achievement marked the end of any mortgage indebtedness on church buildings owned by the Missionary Society. At one time this debt topped $150,000.

BISHOP MANNING
In Memoriam

Strong vital leader in the realm of faith,
Intrepid soldier in the cause of right,
Crusader for the truth, wherever found,
Shepherd of souls who seek the folds of Light—
True to your priestly vows until the end,
Great prelate and beloved, unfailing friend.
Builder of vast Cathedral aisles, but more,
Builder of altars in the hearts of men—
Long will that deep reverbrating voice
Down memory's echoing halls resound again.
Mitre and pastoral staff now laid aside,
Your ringing words of faith alone abide.
Not in the vaults of time your spirit lies
But marches onward through Eternal skies.

Nov. 19, 1949—Margaret Ridgely Partridge.

The Bishop's Message:

It is now two years since our Diocesan BULLETIN began coming to you in its present form. We have tried to make it a publication through which the people of the Diocese could keep themselves informed of those activities and developments within our Diocesan field which should be of common interest and concern, and help to promote that "togetherness" which is so essential to the life and service of the Church to which we belong. It has met with encouraging response.

Bishop Gilbert

The Editorial Board is conscious of the BULLETIN'S defects and shortcomings. We mean to do our best to overcome them. We are fortunate in having the faithful and highly efficient service of the Reverend Alger Adams who devotes himself to the exacting editorial work that is required. We are confident that with his help much improvement could be made if only we could have more cooperation on the part of the clergy and representatives of our Diocesan organizations. It is to them that we must look for the items of news that would be of interest to our Diocesan family.

But my great disappointment has been in our failure to obtain the number of subscribers we ought to have. The usefulness and influence of the BULLETIN depends, of course, upon the number of its readers. And we need subscriptions to provide for the expense involved in getting out the publication.

The total number of subscribers at the end of 1949 was 2,821, which represents an increase of 398 during the year. The present total is more than four times larger than two years ago when its present form was adopted. But it ought to be much larger. And it could be if the clergy and our regular readers would bring it to the attention of the members of their congregations. It is shocking to me to learn that there are many of our people who never heard of the BULLETIN. With a Diocese of 100,000 communicants and a subscription price of only $1.00 per year, it would not seem unreasonable to hope for at least 10,000 names on our mailing list.

They could be obtained if all our clergy and friends would give us their help, and if we could have in every parish some really interested person to solicit new subscriptions.

To make the BULLETIN the influence it ought to be in our Diocesan life I earnestly appeal to all our readers to help us build up our subscription list.

Charles C Gilbert

Field Officers Report Enthusiastic Response To Story of Church's Missionary Needs

Eighty Visits Show Unanimous Accord

The group of sixty laymen appointed by the Bishop as District Field Officers to carry the story of the Church's missionary work to all parishes and missions in the Diocese, made some eighty visits in January. Typical of the feeling of these men themselves is the following statement of John Jenkins, a district field officer for Manhattan.

John Jenkins

"It was my privilege and pleasure to meet with the vestries of three Manhattan parishes over the last two weeks in connection with the Laymen's Training Program sponsored by the National Council. The discussion which outlines in detail the work and program of the Church, covers some two hours. It is forcibly illustrated by the use of charts supplemented by description from a note book.

"The reception was noteworthy in many respects. The vestry meetings were specifically called in each case, taking an entire evening. The attendance was full and in one parish the vestry was joined by the vestry of its chapel.

"The interest shown was evidenced by the number of questions asked, and each meeting continued some hour longer after the formal presentation had been completed. The questions ranged from how the parish quotas were fixed to the method employed in evaluating the missionary work in the domestic and foreign fields.

"Enthusiasm was shown in each group. An effort to arrive at a successful method to meet their parish quota was pledged. Appreciation was expressed to the Church for its attempt to make better known to its laymen the many problems confronting it."

About fifty parishes and missions have already indicated that they will subscribe their full quotas. Many others have promised to conduct an active campaign culminating in the radio reception of the Presiding Bishop's broadcast on March 12th. In many instances the district field officers have been invited to return to the parishes they have visited to present the program to other parish groups such as men's clubs, junior vestries, women's groups, etc. Such invitations have all been encouraged and accepted.

The field officers of the Hudson Convocation have adopted a unique method of informing Bishop Donegan, who is heading the campaign, of the result of each visit. Each vestry is asked to authorize a telegram to Bishop Donegan stating the vestry's action. Typical of these messages are two recently received from field officer Walter E. Byrnes:

"Following presentation of Presiding Bishop's Program the rector, wardens and vestry of Churches of St. Peter Stone Ridge and St. John High Falls have authorized me to send you their unconditional pledge to meet the increased missionary quotas."

"The Vicar and Advisory Board of St. Andrew's New Paltz have authorized me to send you their unconditional pledge to meet the increased missionary quota."

The Bishop's Ball on February 10

THE BISHOP'S BALL, Feb. 10th bids fair to be a great success as we go to press, the Board of Religious Education announced. A 300 capacity crowd is expected.

To be held in the undercroft of the Synod House, the dance is from 9-1. Dress is optional. The Bishop and Bishop Donegan will be in the receiving line.

Bp. Manning Tomb to be In Cathedral

Plans for the building of a tomb in the Cathedral to contain the ashes of the late Bishop Manning were announced Sunday evening, Jan. 29th, by the Bishop at a Memorial Service for the former Diocesan in the Cathedral. Bishop Manning had served for 25 years until he resigned Dec. 31, 1946.

The Bishop presided and made the address. Bishop Donegan read excerpts from "The Turning of the Tide", written by Bishop Manning last summer, his last words to the people.

The choir of the Russian Orthodox Cathedral of the Holy Virgin Protection led by the Right Rev. Bishop John of Brooklyn, assisted by the Protodeacon Vsevolod, sang the Russian Service called Panikhida, (Requiem for the Departed).

The tomb will be located in one of the bays on the North side of the nave where there had been a temporary altar when only the nave was in use and where Bishop Manning had celebrated.

Many unsolicited gifts have already been received by the Bishop. The Cathedral Trustees are now considering designs.

Interracial Fellowship Comes to The Cathedral on February 12th

On February 12th, the Cathedral will be host to the Interracial Fellowship of New York which is sponsoring its "seventh annual city-wide fellowship service for all peoples," with the cooperation of the Protestant Council of the City of New York.

Bishop Walls

Bishop W. J. Walls, of the Second Episcopal District of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church will be the speaker.

. . . Pass through this Coming Year with Faithful Hearts

Eternal Father, who makest all things new, yet abidest forever the same, grant us so to pass through this coming year with faithful hearts, that we may spend all our days in service, and in all things do thy loving will; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Missionary Mass Meeting To Be Held February 24

A Missionary Mass Meeting to share "in a great service of prayer and praise; to hear the challenge of the Church's world-wide opportunities; and to make a new consecration of ourselves to our Lord and his Church" was announced last month by the Bishop for Friday, February 24th, 8:00 p.m., at the Cathedral.

Emphasizing the need there is for prayer as well as giving money in the current missionary educational program, the service will hear the Right Rev. Stephen Charles Neil, assistant to the Archbishop of Canterbury and associate general secretary of the World Council of Churches.

Prior to the Cathedral Service, at 5:00 p.m. Bishop Neil will lead a Lenten Conference for the clergy. Supper is to be served at 6:30 p.m.

Twelve of Fifteen Assurances For D.P.'s Reported Received

At press time, the Diocese had procured twelve of the fifteen assurances for displaced persons promised the National Council, it was announced by the Rev. Leland Henry, executive director of the Commission on Christian Social Relatiions.

Parishes are Piermont; Red Hook; Tivoli; Nyack; Spring Valley; Suffern; Rye; St. Luke's Chapel, Trinity; St. John's, Kingston (2); Garrison; and Wappingers Falls.

Calvary '49ers Show a 2400% Profit on a $205 Investment

Last May, 205 parishoners of Calvary received $1.00 each, advanced by the Calvary W. A. Calling themselves the "Forty-Niners," and with Matthew xxv, 14-30 as guide, this group put its 205 "talents" to retire the church debt.

On Jan. 11th, the returns were presented to the Rector, the Rev. Samuel M. Shoemaker, D.D.: $5709.82. Since then $225 has come in.

Each '49er commercialized whatever special ability he or she had to raise his quota. They sold home made goodies and other gadgets, did baby sitting, used their private cars as taxis, darned, mended, sewed and typed.

The Bishop Reports Coadjutor "Consents" Received January 20

"Bishop Donegan is now formally and officially our Bishop Coadjutor. The necessary canonical procedure which required our Standing Committee to secure from all the Bishops and Standing Committees of the Church their consent to his election have been carried out and their favorable responses are now in hand.

"The Secretary of the House of Bishops certifies that on January 20, 1950, in accordance with the instructions of the Presiding Bishop, Bishop Donegan's status was changed from that of Suffragan to that of Bishop Coadjutor of the Diocese of New York.

"Since his election as Coadjutor Bishop Donegan has been rendering invaluable service as Bishop in charge of all Missions and Assisted Parishes but the Diocese will be grateful to know that his new status has been formally approved."

Auxiliary Reports '49 Receipts

The total giving of the Woman's Auxiliary in 1949 was $48,450. This represented $45,005 to the National Council, $3,185 for the work on Ellis Island and $260 for specials.

Auxiliary Quiet Day Held Feb. 7

A Quiet Day for the Women of Manhattan and environs, sponsored by the Woman's Auxiliary, was held at St. Bartholomew's, Man., February 7th.

The Day began with the Holy Communion at 10:00 a.m. Three meditation periods were conducted by the Rev. James A. Pike, J.S.D., chaplain of Columbia University.

Canterbury Choir to Sing March 26

On March 26, in the Synod House, on the Cathedral Close, the newly organized Canterbury Choir of college students will present its first program. Dr. George Volkel, organist of All Angel's, Man., and faculty member of Union Seminary, is director.

All college students are invited to join the Choir which rehearses Sundays in the Synod House at 8:30 p.m.

Hold Follow-up Meeting on Mission

A follow-up meeting of 200 young people who signed "witness" cards at the Diocesan Youth Mission was held at St. Bartholomew's, Man., the evening of January 24th, with the Rev. Bryan Green, who had been the missioner.

Auxiliary Head Tells Of Educational Goals

Last month Mrs. George W. Burpee, diocesan vice-president in charge of education offered a statement, "What a Member of the Woman's Auxiliary Ought to Know" as a message to the women of the church at large.

She said, "The education program of the Woman's Auxiliary is broad in scope, since its purpose is to increase among its members an understanding of the whole program of the Church."

She said, "We are convinced that a knowledge of the teachings of our Church is the foundation of any good we can hope to accomplish through our varied activities, and, together with the Worship and Sacraments, is the rock upon which our faith and Christian character must be built."

Church members were urged to study especially the National Council pamphlet courses: "Successful Marriage and the Christian Family," "The Prayer Book Speaks in Our Uncertain Age," and "Creative Choices in Life." Diocesan officers and all Auxiliary members were urged to read "The Holy Scripture" by Robert C. Denton, available through the National Council. The literature now being mailed in connection with the March 12th Spring Canvass was recommended as excellent study material.

Citing the Diocesan part of the Interdenominational Mission Study, Mrs. Burpee said, "Our objective in Japan is the Elizabeth Saunders Home at Oiso in South Tokyo, an orphanage for 53 abandoned babies. In the home field our objective is Okolona College at Okolona, Mississippi, an Industrial High School and Junior College for Negroes."

In closing, Mrs. Burpee said, "The sooner we open our books with faith and courage, the sooner we shall take our places as informed Christian women in our Church and in the world."

Disquietude in Red

Time: Eternity Place: Eternity

Characters: You and an Invisible Voice

(You awake and find yourself in a place suffused in golden light. Ambrosial perfume wafts through the air, distant celestial music is heard. The stars and universes wheel slowly beneath your feet. You face the blinding center of the light, squint and try to see who is speaking.)

Voice: Well - - - ? Who are you? What are you doing over here?

You: Why - - - - I'm a Christian. They told me Christians came over here.

Voice: Everybody says that. What makes you think you're a Christian?

You: Well, I was raised in the Church. I was always careful - - - .

Voice: Being careful is selfish. It's usually doing too little. Christians do what Christ said to do. Let's look at the record and see what you did. (There is a noise of pages being turned.) Let's see - - - . Christ said, "Go ye, therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost." Humpf! Where did you go?

You: Well, I never traveled much. You see - - - .

Voice: (Impatiently) You didn't? Why, I see that right here in your own country in about 60% of the land, people see a clergyman less than once a month. Why didn't you do something about it?

You: But I am not a clergyman - - - .

Voice: I know that. There's a separate division for clergy. They're special problems.

You: Then, how can you expect me to go way out there? My brother who's a priest in Salmon, Idaho, said there're fewer than 5 people to a mile out there.

Voice: What's that got to do with it?

You: Salmon is at the foot of the Bitterroot Mountains near the Idaho-Montana border. It's 150-miles from the nearest railroad. It grew overnight. Out that way, California, Oregon, Washington, the population has jumped fifty percent. My brother says there're not enough priests to keep up with it. Let me tell you something happened to him.

Voice: (Testily) Keep talking.

You: He was eating supper one night and the telephone rang. Somebody on the other end said, "We got a mighty sick young man here. You're the only minister he really knows. Can you come see him?" That call came from 300-miles away.

Voice: So your brother went. But he's not being judged. Why didn't you help?

You: I couldn't leave my business and family. (Getting up a little heat.) I give to missions. I do what I can; and I don't see - - - .

Voice: That's the trouble. You people don't see. Why didn't you tell me you gave to missions?

You: (A bit stiffly.) You didn't ask me. I've always given, and - - - .

Voice: Oh, come down a bit. Don't get so all-fired self-righteous. Sending your money is sending yourself. Any church school pupil would know enough not to stumble over that. (There is a sound of more pages turning.) You're Episcopalian aren't you?

You: Yes. Why?

Voice: I thought I was asking the questions. But how does it go? "The Baptists go by foot, the Methodists by car, and the Episcopalians wait for the Pullman."

You: That's not fair. One-third of America is still frontier country. Our 13 missionary districts have an area of over a million square miles, with less population than Ohio. That's no Westchester suburb.

Voice: Yes, but you've only got 234 missionaries to serve 97 parishes, over 400 organized missions, and numberless preaching stations. Why, one Bishop had to travel 24,000 miles last year.

You: We get as many men as we can - - - .

Voice: And, brother, are they "got". If any American businessman tried to run his business on such a bargain-basement personnel system, he'd bust.

You: What do you mean?

Voice: Plenty fine young men, self-sacrificing, God-loving priests, go out. But with wives and children, they soon end up accepting the higher salary they are worth when offered by some city parish.

You: You blame them for that?

Voice: No, I blame you; and your fellow church members. Why don't you pay more money? You can't demand four years in college and three years in seminary for $2,200. A bus driver gets more than that. It's only the Lord's doing that you have any missionaries at all.

You: I know it; but we're trying to do better. We're having a great Spring Canvass. The Presiding Bishop is speaking March 12th. I've been one of the specially trained laymen telling vestries about the missionary needs of our Church. Our parish pledged to meet its quota. I raised my pledge 15%. (You hesitate a moment, remembering your whereabouts.) But, of course, now - - - . (You make a helpless gesture.)

Voice: (Somewhat subdued and pensive.) Yes. Now, here you are. (A moment of silence.) Let's get on with the business. Christ said, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me." Got anything to say to that?

You: Our Church has always ministered to those in need. The American Church Institute for Negroes supports seven schools, one hospital, and one college. We believe - - - .

Voice: (Cutting in) Don't tell me you think that's enough?

You: No. I'm just trying to say that the spirit of our church is right. Myself, I'll let you say whether I've done my part.

Voice: (Softly) All right. Go ahead. Anything else?

You: There are a lot of things. For instance, the Rev. "Bob" Davis and Nurse Turnbull from San Juan Mission Hospital are my hands in New Mexico. Christ said to heal the sick. We help 20 Dioceses that have large racial minority groups.

Voice: That's right. Go on.

You: Captain William Paddock of the Church Army is only one of the missionaries working in the rural field. We have over our quota of chaplains serving the 1,500,000 young men in the armed forces. Almost 85% of them are under twenty-five years of age. Oh, I can't list it all. Besides I don't know it all. I just wish we could do more.

Voice: You meant to say something about college work?

You: Well, college work is something we are just getting our teeth into. Priests like Jim Sterling, Tom Barrett at Kenyon, organize Canterbury Clubs and student centers. Faculties are finally waking up to the vital importance of Christianity as part of an education. We're in 600 schools and have 60 full-time college chaplains. In the Diocese of New York we've just organized a college work commission and appointed a special chaplain. There are 100,000 students in New York. (Continued on Page 12)

Voice: New York. That's quite a mission field by itself.

You: You betcha. We like to say that we have more missions and aided parishes in our diocese than there are in many missionary districts. We support them through the Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society. We support 28 chaplains in the Episcopal City Mission Society and the Seamen's Church Institute. We built St. Barnabas House - - - .

Voice: You're proud of your diocese?

You: We're not doing as much as we ought to, but we have a special service for young girls, the Youth Consultation Service. The Church Periodical club, the Girls' Friendly Society, opening new works, raising our own missionaries' stipends and allowances, - - - .

Voice: You have so many ways to serve the Lord. (Sighing wistfully) Now, when I came along - - - .

You: But you're a Saint!

Voice: Only a minor one. I didn't even get into the calendar. (Distant sound of a bell ringing is heard.) You have to get up now. There goes the clock.

You: You mean I'm going to wake up?

Voice: You're awake. You know what Christ's commands mean. You give to the missionary red side of the envelope and you are forwarding Christ's kingdom, not only far across the seas, but here at home. Rural work, Negro work, Indian work, college work, social work, by your support of these, your hands are busy at Christ's tasks. Do more. Give more. And above all, tell others that they may do, too, and so share in your joy. Begin at the Jerusalem which is your parish, look out into your Diocese and stretch forth your healing, helping hands to the world. (Bell rings louder. The voice and light fade.) You really must go now. God bless you.

Address Canterbury Club Session

On Sunday evening, Jan. 8th, the Cathedral Chapter of the Canterbury Club sponsored a Student Rally in the Synod House. 200 college students ate supper and heard Bishop Donegan and stage and screen star Basil Rathbone.

GFS Offers Filmstrip Detailing Activity for Young Church Girls

The Girls' Friendly Society, has secured a 51-frame film strip called "Focus on Friendliness" which tells the work of the society in the parish, family and community.

It is available for 50c rental from G.F.S., Diocesan House, Cathedral Close, New York, 25.

Presiding Bishop's Lenten Book

The Atoning Life by the late Rev. Henry Sylvester Nash, D.D. (New York, Harper, $1.) has been chosen by Bishop Sherrill as the Presiding Bishop's Book for Lent. The Presiding Bishop describes the book as one in which he has found a source of inspiration since 1912.

POSTER from National Council emphasizing the need for knowing about and supporting Domestic Missions.

THE BISHOP receives plates for his car as an honorary deputy fire commissioner from Fireman Harry Garrison, president of the St. George Association of the NYC Firemen. The Bishop was made an honorary deputy fire commissioner last month by the mayor. The Rev. Edward C. Russell, D.D., rector of St. Ann's, Bronx, and a chaplain of the City Fire Department is at Garrison's right.

Richmond and Manhattan Hold Acolyte Services

The season for Acolyte Festivals opened January 22nd with evening prayer at Ascension, Richmond, as host to the clergy and acolytes of Staten Islan. The Rev. William Orrick, spoke.

On February 13th, St. Mary the Virgin, Man., will celebrate the Eucharist at their annual acolyte service. The Rev. James Harry Price, rector of St. James the Less, Scarsdale, is to deliver the charge to the acolytes.

The acolyte service at Crucifixion, Man., February 18th, will hear Bishop Donegan.

Prayer Circles Globe Feb. 24th

On February 24th, 90 countries around the globe will join in a World Day of Prayer. The chain of prayer, following the sun, begins with Fijian Christians to pass through national and racial walls until the prayers of Eskimos and Tongans close the day.

Episcopal City Mission Elects 1950's Officers

The Board of Managers of the Episcopal City Mission Society at the annual meeting at St. Barnabas House elected the following officers for the year 1950:

President, The Rt. Rev. Charles K. Gilbert, D.D.; vice-presidents, The Rt. Rev. Horace W.B. Donegan, D.D., the Rev. Roelif H. Brooks, D.D., Walter L. Barber; secretary, Charles W. Ogden; treasurer, Thomas M. Peters; assistant treasurer, Robert H. Thayer; assistant secretary, Miss Vivan E. Zeiger.

The Rev. William E. Sprenger, director, reported that through the Chaplaincy Department, which serves 40 institutions, the Family Service Department, social work at Ellis Island, three summer camps, and St. Barnabas House, the Society ministered to over 35,000 different people in 1949.

Seek Centralized College Gifts

At a recent meeting, the Diocesan College Work Commission adopted a resolution "that it is the policy of this Commission that donors in the Diocese make their contributions for college work through this Commission, and that the Commission transmitting the funds state that the gift is made possible by the parish from which it comes."

Handbook for Auxiliary Leaders Outlines Duties of Departments

The parish presidents of the Woman's Auxiliary were presented recently with a president's handbook which gives concise information about the organization and purpose of the Auxiliary.

The mimeographed loose-leaves are bound in a stiff black 7" by 10" cover. The officers' sections are carefully indexed by colored loose-leaf indexes. Mrs. William E. Leidt is credited with the idea. Additional copies are available from the Supply Department in Diocesan House.

PROGRESS in constructing St. Simon's, New Rochelle, was noted last month by the vicar, the Rev. Samuel Walcott, M.D., Dr. N. D. Gunthorpe, M.D., and the church's sexton John M. Thomas.

The BULLETIN is Growing — but Slow

The circulation department of the BULLETIN reported to the Editorial Board at its meeting last month that during 1949 it received 893 new subscriptions. Losses during 1949 due to non-renewal, removal, etc., amounted to 495, leaving a net gain of 398 subscribers and a total of 2,821 subscribers as of December 31, 1949.

As this report was being prepared we felt somewhat discouraged. 2,821 subscribers — where, oh where are the 7,000 additional subscribers we would like to have? Then by the end of January the future began to look a bit brighter. We counted up the Christmas gift subscriptions and found that we had received 221, a gain of 15 over the previous year and there were several interesting gifts among them. The Rev. Dr. Arthur G. Best of St. David's, Bronx, gave 20 gift subscriptions; the Rev. J. L. Whitcomb of Grace Church, Hastings and the Rev. Basil G. Law of St. Andrew's, Brewster, presented each of their vestrymen with a gift subscription for 1950. Incarnation Chapel gave its twelve church school teachers each a subscription.

St. James', Man., sent in 50 additional subscriptions. They have the largest number of subscribers of any parish in the Diocese. 36 subscriptions came from the Rev. E. E. Gayle, vicar of St. George's Chapel of St. Martin's parish, who said he would carry copies of the BULLETIN in his brief case and when ever he made a parochial call he would leave a copy of the magazine — wonderful idea! Mrs. A. H. Kendrick of Ascension, S. I., the new chairman of Church publications for the Woman's Auxiliary in Richmond on her first assignment got 15 subscribers — congratulations! 5 subscriptions from Mr. J. L. Coates of St. James', Goshen, who promised more although "getting around on foot is difficult." 8 from Christ Church, Yonkers; 7 new subscribers from St. Andrew's, Poughkeepsie; 5 from the Rev. A. A. Chambers, rector of Resurrection, Man., and 5 from the Woman's Auxiliary of Trinity Church, Man., through Mrs. John Facey. Now we are really beginning to feel optimistic! And if, as the Bishop suggests, "we could have in every parish some really interested person to solicit new subscriptions", we should end this year with at least 5,000 subscribers. Are YOU the one who will solicit subscriptions in your parish?

The Bishop's Message

Dear Friends of the Clergy and Laity:

In "one great hour" as we assembled in our accustomed places of worship we heard the voice of our Presiding Bishop coming to us over the radio. It is thrilling to realize that at the same time, congregations large and small in a vast number of cities and villages across the nation and in many places over the seas were hearing that same message. It enables us to feel that the Church to which we belong is something bigger than our own parish—that in places we have never seen or even heard of, there are others under the same loyalty we profess and concerned with the same divine Cause we are pledged to serve.

"There are powerful and sinister forces of evil around us and within. Yet millions of people are longing with pathetic eagerness for a better way. Men of vision through the inexorable pressure of events have come to understand that the ultimate answer to the crisis of our times is not to be found in diplomatic manoeuvering or in force of arms, but in character built upon the spiritual foundation of faith in God and His Christ. We need today a Church strong in the sacrificial devotion of her people if we are to meet the tremendous issues of our day."

Those are the words of our great Presiding Bishop that came to us over the air. I hope our people take them to heart.

We are in the midst of the holy Season of Lent. It is a time when the Church requires "such a measure of abstinence as is especially suited to extra-ordinary acts and exercises of devotion," as our Prayer Book tells us. The message to which we listened has direct and vital bearing upon our Lenten devotions. We are bidden, of course, to take stock of our own inner lives – to seek out our personal failures and shortcomings. But this will be of little avail unless sincere penitence leads us to a more complete dedication of ourselves to our Master's service and produces that "sacrificial devotion" that will enable the church to meet the challenge with which it is now confronted. There are unprecedented needs and opportunities that can be met only as each one of us heeds the call our Master now makes to us.

I earnestly hope and pray that our people will respond to that call. With their whole-hearted support of the efforts now under way, I am confident our Diocese will find its rightful place in the compelling task God has laid upon His Church.

Charles C Gilbert

. . . that Men everywhere may See in His Face the Light

O GOD, who hast called us out of darkness into thy marvellous light and hast set before us an open door; give us the will to bear our part in preaching among the nations the unsearchable riches of Christ. Grant that all men everywhere may see in his face the light of the knowledge of thy glory, and being drawn unto thee, may become one world through the power of him who is the Way, the Truth, and the Life, now and forever. Amen. Prayer for One World in Christ

Clergy and Cathedral Hear Missionary Speak

As spiritual background for the great Spring Canvass launched March 12, by the Presiding Bishop's nation-wide radio address, a clergy conference and a Missionary Mass Meeting were held at the Cathedral, February 24th.

In speaking to the clergy, and later, in addressing the mass meeting, the Right Reverend Stephen Charles Neill, M.A., assistant to the Archbishop of Canterbury and associate general secretary of the World Council of Churches, emphasized the "ecumenical" aspect of the challenge facing Christianity.

Bishop Neill said,

"We are driven back to fellowship with those Christians from whom we are divided. It is not until you face a non-Christian world that you see the tragedy of our divisions. The differences between Christians and (say for example) Hindus is so great, our differences one from the other lose significance."

The clergy conference at 5:00 p.m. in the Synod House was followed by supper for the clergy, in the undercroft of the Synod House. The mass meeting in the Cathedral was at 8:00 p.m. Before the service, Bishop Neill inspected the missionary exhibit which had been borrowed from the National Council and

Bishop Sherrill Starts Spring

On the Third Sunday in Lent, March 12, the 260 congregations of the Diocese joined with the Church throughout the nation in launching a great Spring Missionary Canvass. They heard the Presiding Bishop, the Right Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill speak over a nation-wide radio hookup at 11:30 a.m. Radio receivers had been arranged in the churches for the occasion.

Appealing for "sacrificial support of the Program of the Church," Bishop Sherrill said, "You and I are worshipping in our parish churches today because of Calvary, Easter morning, and because a noble line of the faithful disciples of Jesus Christ have not counted their lives dear. This Gospel brought to us at such a price cannot be patronized. Let the Church member who repeats carelessly the all too familiar statement, 'I do not believe in missions,' realize that the blessings of the Gospel have come to us through missionaries, not that Christianity should die with us. There is at the very least a noblesse oblige that the Good News should pass to our children and our children's children and throughout the world."

A "Family" Talk

The address was made as to the Christian family, and the people were challenged to judge whether, in the face of the needs and demands of today, they "sincerely tried to understand what discipleship really demands and means." The willingness of missionaries to go out on inadequate salaries was praised. "They give their lives, surely we can give of our means," he urged.

In speaking of the recent visitation to the vestries and advisory boards of the Diocesan churches during January, February and March, the Presiding Bishop said, "I am greatly enheartened by the large group of laymen, who have carried out splendidly the task of telling the story of the work of our Church."

Program Launched in October

Seven top-flight executives and professional men were appointed by the Bishop last October to organize and to direct the educational program pointing to the Spring Canvass in the Diocese. Under the direction of Bishop Donegan, who chairs the Diocesan effort, this group which represents the seven Convocations recruited a corps of 60 additional laymen to serve as associate field directors to go to every congregation to tell of the missionary challenges and needs of the Church.

Louis F. Stauss, banker, represented the Bronx: Colonel Clinton G. Harris, advertising executive, Hudson; Frank W. Conkling, chemical company executive, Ramapo; Robert F. Royster, assistant to the director of operations of the Port of New York Authority, Richmond; and George W. Burpee, consulting engineer, Westchester, and Eliot L. Ward, Real Estate Executive, Manhattan.

This group assembled for a conference at Seabury House, Greenwich, Conn., Nov. 19-20, where they were trained to "sell" the Church's missionary opportunities, and to ask the churches to pledge their pro-rata share of the Missionary Quota. At press time, 90% of the congregations had been visited, in all cases, there was enthusiastic response to the forwardlookingness of the Church's attempt to educate her laity.

Theodor Oxholm, assistant treasurer of the Diocese, who served as executive officer of the Canvass effort, said, "The offering and pledges of March 12th will be the beginning of a Diocesan wide effort which will continue until we have met our full quota. The $5,634,617 budget necessary for the missionary program of the national church must be raised. Those who have told the story of the opportunities and challenges of our time are convinced of that. We hope those who have heard will also be convinced and translate their conviction into consecrated giving."

Mr. Oxholm pointed out that the Diocese must raise a total of $938,481 "if we are to meet the basic needs in the Diocese and to shoulder our fair share of the Church's national burden. To do this," he said, "the regular 'red-side' giving must total $520,994 and we must realize $417,487 in this spring Canvass. Our work must go on until we realize that goal."

Interracial Service at Ascension

The first of two Interracial Fellowship services was held Sunday, Feb. 26, at 8:00 p.m. in Ascension, Man. Vespers of the Old Catholic Rite were sung by the choir of Holy Cross National Catholic Church.

The Rev. Eugene Magyar, rector of the Church of the Holy Name of Jesus, Passaic, N. J., preached.

The Bishop Opens New Retreat House

On February 4, at 4:00 p.m., the former Mansion of Mrs. Shepard Fabbri became the Retreat House of the Redeemer when the chapel was consecrated and the house was blessed by the Bishop. He was assisted by Bishop Donegan, and the Right Rev. Jonathon G. Sherman, S.T.D., suffragan bishop of Long Island.

The address was made by the Rev. Grieg Taber, D.D.

The gift was inspired by a sermon by the Right Rev. Austin Pardue, Bishop of Pittsburgh, on St. Mark 6:31; and Mrs. Fabbri credits the Bishop, Bishop Manning, and the Right Rev. James P. DeWolfe, Bishop of Long Island, with encouraging her in that regard. The Bishop as president received the deed for the trustees on November 20, 1949.

Reproduction of My Christian Commitment folder.

The house is under the direction of the Reverend Mother General Celestine and a complement of the Sisters of St. Mary, whose Mother House is in Peekskill. The Rev. Dr. Gregory Mabry is Warden; the Rev. Dr. Edwin H. Schlueter, resident chaplain.

The prospectus released by the house emphasizes that while the institution is Episcopalian, it is open to all persons, "regardless of creed, or lack of creed." Except when organized retreats are in progress groups of two, three or more are welcome for private retreats.

Arrangements may be made by addressing The Warden, House of the Redeemer, 7 East 95th Street, New York 28, N. Y.

Retreats now scheduled are:

WOMEN—March 24-27, conductor, the Rev. Lincoln Taylor, O.H.C.

CLERGY—"Quiet Day"—March 28, conductor, the resident chaplain.

WOMEN—"Heart of the Passion"—April 5-8, self conducted.

"Search me O God and Know my Heart . . . And See if there be any Wicked way in me"

By BISHOP DONEGAN

The season of Lent is dedicated to penitence and humility, and self-examination is one of the spiritual disciplines that the Church requires of us all. In the light of God's judgment we are to find out what our sins are and acknowledge them before God that we may experience His healing and transforming forgiveness. "Search me O God and know my heart, try me, and know my thoughts. And see if there be any wicked way in me."

Self examination, the psychologists notwithstanding, is a needful and healthful discipline. To be sure we think of our sins and temptations but more of God in Christ who forgives our sins and enables us to triumph over temptation.

The real cause of much misery and inner disharmony is unrecognized, unacknowledged, unforgiven sin that people carry in their hearts and minds. "If we say that we have no sin we deceive ourselves and the truth is not in us. But when we confess our sins, God is faithful and just to forgive us our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness." We stand judged as sinners before God but the good news of Lent is that through the Cross a mighty deliverance has been wrought for us through true repentance and faith in Jesus Christ.

Another discipline of Lent is self-denial. The Church expects us to be strict with ourselves. But we shall miss the spiritual value if our self-denials are concentrated on ourselves and not on God. We undertake self-denial that we may learn that the way to union with God is through sacrifice and unselfishness. Our Lord was never interested in self-denial for its own sake or for selfish reasons. In His call to His disciples He placed self-denial at the center. "If any man will come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily and follow Me." A true Lent is a time of searching self-examination and self-denial.

Let us follow the rule of life and suggestions set forth in "My Christian Commitment".Let us kneel at the Cross in humility and penitence on Good Friday. Then we shall know the deeper meaning and blessing of this sacred season. And may our merciful God give us grace to rise with Christ to a new life on Easter Day.

erected at the rear of the Cathedral. In the service, Bishop Donegan read the introductory litany and the Bishop introduced the speaker.

In the Cathedral pulpit, he took the fifth verse of the twenty-first chapter of the Gospel according to St. John to stress the new opportunities, the new perils, and the new responsibilities facing all who use the name of Christ. "Behold I make all things new."

"The Church is facing greater danger than at any time in the last 1,000 years," he said. The greatest dangers were listed as Communism abroad and materialism at home. He said the answer to Communism is the answer being made in China where "our friends are standing for the necessity of a Christian witness." He described this as out-thinking with a sounder philosophy; out-living in zeal for justice and social reform; and out-dying, in greater devotion to Christ.

He called for clergy and laity together to answer the "adventuresome challenge" of the world-wide mission of Christ.

Church Challenged to Overdo Mission Quota

In preparation for the Presiding Bishop's Broadcast March 12th, the Rev. Harold F. Hohly, rector, Christ Church, Bronxville, on February 26th, challenged his people to oversubscribe the parish missionary quota of $9,239.

"We dare not, we cannot fail to raise this sum," he said. "In any pledge system there is always a certain percentage of 'shrinkage'. We must therefor pledge a little more than our quota in order to take case of that 'shrinkage.' Also there are a number of Parishes, I know of at least four in Westchester, that simply cannot meet their quotas; they are barely able to raise their budgets for Parish expenses. Therefore we must be prepared to 'take up the slack.'

"I know that if we really meet the challenge of the Presiding Bishop's Appeal on March 12th it will drastically effect our Easter Offering. I know that will mean that we cannot make as large a payment this year on the mortgage. But I believe under God we must do this thing. We cannot let the Presiding Bishop, we cannot let the Church down!"

Social Relations Dinner April 19

The Commission on Christian Social Relations dinner, April 19, will hear the Rev. Arnold Purdie, associate secretary of the Division of Institutions of the National Council department of Christian Social Relations. He will speak on "Episcopal Social Welfare Today." Place and price to be announced.

Interracial Fellowship Service Draws 5,000 Crowd to Cathedral

The fifth annual service of the Interracial Fellowship in the Cathedral, Feb. 12, drew an estimated 5,000 congregation. Bishop William J. Walls of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church, and a member of the central committee of the World Council of Churches preached.

Bishop Walls said, "The church will free its soul and hands only if it removes from itself the stigma that it is the most segrated institution in the United States."

Y.P.F., Rally Called "Bang-up!"

The Pre-Lenten Rally of Young Churchmen of the Island (Richmond) Feb. 22, was pronounced a success by the rector of the host church, St. Mary's, the Rev. Orin A. Griesmyer. The affair was sponsored by the Y.P.F. of St. Mary's.

The rector noted that his and Bill Johnson's cakes took top honors. "Bang-up!" he says to Douglas Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Barrett, Jean Kershner, Janice Vaughn and Bob Waller.

Bronx Rectors Elected to Boards Of the Protestant Council

More than twelve hundred Protestants of Greater New York attended meetings in the Bronx, Brooklyn and Staten Island Divisions of the Protestant Council last month.

Among those elected to serve on the Board of the Bronx Division was the Rev. F. Gray Garten, rector of St. Stephen's, Woodlawn.

The Rev. Edward C. Russell, D.D., rector of St. Ann's, was elected as one of six representatives of the Bronx to the City-wide Council.

Swan Song of a Landmark To Note Something New

For those who would note the passing of the solidly familiar, the demolition of the old exhibit hall next to the Cathedral is reported.

The old Synod House is being "cut in two", half torn down, and a new inner wall built. When completely remodeled it will take back the exhibits which gladden the hearts of tourists and occasional visiting Church people.

Men and Boys Join in Communion Services

Washington's birthday was the occasion of holding Communion-Breakfasts for Men and Boys in Richmond, the Bronx, and Nyack-on-Hudson.

The celebration in Staten Island, was held Feb. 18, at St. John's, Rosebank. St. Stephen's, Tottenville, was host parish. Two hundred and twenty-three men and boys attended.

The Rev. Raymond E. Brock celebrated assisted by the Rev. Messrs. Bernard A. Hemsley, Andrew C. Long, and Donald S. Cheetham. At breakfast, Horace L. Varian of Baltimore was the guest speaker. Carl F. Rossell was toastmaster and Roger Roughton, chairman.

The offering at the service was devoted to the "Cornerstone" Campaign.

In the Bronx, the Episcopal Men of the Bronx sponsored the service and breakfast which was held also on Feb. 18, at St. Peter's, Westchester. W. Ted Gannaway was the guest speaker.

The Men's Communion-Breakfast at Grace Church, Nyack-on-Hudson, Feb. 22, heard Frank W. Conkling speak on the Spring Missionary Campaign, "One World in Christ."

Japanese Diet Visit Cathedral

The delegation from the Japanese Diet, now touring the U.S.A., paid a visit to the Cathedral, Feb. 13. They were officially received and taken on a tour of the building by Canon Sparks.

Seek College Women For Church Work

The Missions Promotion Department of the Woman's Auxiliary is taking part in the 1950 Conference on Church Vocations for College Women, being held at Windham House, 326 West 108th St., March 10-12, it was announced this month by Mrs. William E. Leidt.

Stressing the need for trained Church workers, Mrs. Leidt reported many parishes and districts holding special conferences for High School students on the Christian vocation and vocations in the Church. She noted that through the provincial pledge which helps to pay the provincial college work secretary, the Auxiliary works to keep in touch with such young people.

It was reported that three students are now in training at Windham House for Church vocations; Mary Gowen, Margaret Pearson, and Shirley Worcester. Miss Gowen will receive her certificate and M.A. in May. Part of her scholarship was provided through the Missions Promotion Department.

Mrs. Leidt urged individuals and W.A. branches to use the Calendar of Prayer for Missions "in their intercessions for the many fine people who serve our church as missionaries in college communities, overseas, and in many places in our own country."

Manhattan Quiet Day Considers Spiritual and Physical Unity

The Rev. James S. Pike, J.S.D. chaplain of Columbia University, spoke on the development of the whole man in the meditations he conducted for women at St. Bartholomew's, Feb. 7. The meeting was sponsored by the Manhattan Woman's Auxiliary.

He stressed the unity of man, spiritual and physical, citing the healing mission of the Church. Challenging the women to "searching self-examination," he warned against the systematic teaching of secularism.

At this time last year, the offering was $534.33.

St. Andrew's Uses New Organ

St. Andrew's, Richmond, used their newly repaired organ for the first time February 12th at the Sunday services.

"Cornerstone" Campaign Report Out Next Month

On January 1, 1950, the Board of Managers of the Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society launched a campaign for $150,000 to build churches and a parish house in the mission field.

Next month, in April, the BULLETIN will present a pictorial and statistical report of progress to date. A tabulation of giving, parish by parish, will be made.

Diocesan Youth Conference To Hold 3 Weekly Sessions

The Diocesan Youth Conference this summer will be held again at St. Peter's School, Peekskill, through the invitation of the Rev. Frank C. Leeming, headmaster. Three one-week sessions will be held, starting June 25 for 6-13-year-olds; the second week, July 2 for 14-18's; and the third week, July 9 for 6-13's.

Cost for the one week is still $13.00.

Youth Consultation Service Demonstrates Case Handling

The annual meeting of the diocesan Youth Consultation Service for young girls was presented a unique dramatization of the work of the agency. The session was held at St. Bartholomew's Community House, Feb. 27, 3:30 p.m.

A panel of staff members discussed three cases in terms of what the agency could do for the girls concerned.

St. John's, Yonkers, Mens' Club Presents Army Intelligence Man

The Men's Club of St. John's, Yonkers, presented Major Leland Skyler Nestle as speaker at its meeting, Feb. 13.

Major Nestle, official representative of the War and Military Man Power Commission and of the United States Army showed Army Intelligence released movies on World War II.

The Men's Club also announced their annual dinner on March 13.

Heavenly Rest, Man. Elects New Rector

The Rev. John Ellis Large, D.D., rector of St. Andrew's, Wilmington, Del., has accepted a call to come as rector of the Church of Heavenly Rest, Man., it was announced Sunday morning, February 26th to the congregation by the Senior Warden, Clarence G. Michalis.

Dr. Large

The 44-year-old rector-elect was born in New York City. He received a B.S. from Trinity, a M.A. from Columbia, and graduated from the Virginia Theological Seminary with a B.D. in 1934. He has been rector of St. Andrew's since 1940, member of Diocesan Youth Commision, 1939, Chairman Diocesan Family Relations Commission, 1940, deputy to General Convention, 1943, 1946 and 1949. President of the Diocesan Standing Committee, 1944-46. Most recently on the executive committee of the Diocesan Advance Fund to raise $250,000.

He is married and has a 12-year-old daughter.

Plans are not set yet, but it is expected he will be in New York City by June 1st. He is to be in residence as of the first of October.

Richmond Woman's Auxiliary Meets for Quiet Day March 16

On March 16 the Richmond District of the Woman's Auxiliary will hold a Quiet Day for women at St. Mary's, Richmond, under the leadership of Mrs. Orin A. Griesmyer, devotional chairman for the district.

Canon James Green, headmaster of the Cathedral Choir School, will conduct the meditations which will begin after a 10:30 celebration of the Eucharist. A box luncheon will be served; and there will be two meditations conducted in the afternoon.

BISHOP DONEGAN speaks to the acolytes before the service at the Acolyte Festival held at the Church of the Crucifixion, Man. on Feb. 18.

St. Augustine's, Yonkers, Building Closed by City

On February 24, St. Augustine's, Yonkers, was advised by the City Department of Buildings, that their building had been listed for condemnation proceedings. A formal inspection was made on March 1, and the structure was ordered closed as "unsafe" for church service purposes.

The congregation is being housed temporarily at St. John's, Getty Square, where an afternoon service will be held.

The vicar, the Rev. Alger L. Adams, said, "This is quite a blow. We all knew the old house was inadequate, but the people had labored diligently to make it into as attractive a place of worship as possible. The $1,000 we deposited last December with the treasurer for our New Building Fund, the increased pledges, the tripled income, the missionary quota increased six-times plus, and the rise in membership from 53 to 110, were all healthy signs of a growing congregation.

"The $57.35 for the building fund the ladies raised at our Shrove Tuesday Pancake supper doesn't look like very much now," he said, "but we are going ahead with our plans to raise at least $15,000 for a new building."

The Rev. Roelif H. Brooks, rector of St. Thomas, Man., announced March 7 that he would contribute "a substantial amount" toward the new building "provided additional funds can be raised."

First services at the 322 Warburton site were held on February 24, 1946.

St. Mark's, Yonkers, Celebrates One Hundredth Anniversary

Herman A. Goetz, chairman of the Golden Jubilee of St. Mark's, Yonkers, reported this month that he had completed the organization of the chairmen for the activities to be featured during the June 1-10 festivities.

The vicar, the Rev. Bertram J. Mortlock reports that he expects that the parishhouse constructed with the help of the "Cornerstone" Campaign will be finished by that date.

Clergy Notes

The Rev. Carmelo DiSano, S.T.D., vicar of the Church of the Holy Redeemer, Port Richmond was feted by congregation and friends upon the occasion of his 75th birthday, February 5. Greetings were read from the Bishop, Bishop Donegan, the Borough President of Richmond, and many others. He founded the present work in 1912.

The Rev. Walter Frederick Hoffman, fifty-eight, rector of St. Luke's, Haverstraw since 1928, died at his home Feb. 5. He was known to thousands of outdoor enthusiasts from the metropolitan area as the "hikers' chaplain" because he conducted annually a Palm Sunday service at the Chapel of St. John's-in-the Wildnerness, near Bear Mountain Park.

The Rev. Frederic H. Meisel was elected rector of Atonement, Bronx, as of March 1.

Rev. F. H. Meisel

The Rev. George Keith will resign as rector of All Saints', Harrison, as of June 30.

The Rev. Percy L. Urban, Jr., has been named curate at St. Peter's, Chelsea. He will fill his cure as of July 1st.

St. Peter's Glee Club Concert At Town Hall Set for April 29

The Annual Concert of the Glee Club of St. Peter's School, Peekskill, was announced last month for Saturday, April 29 by the Rev. Frank C. Leeming.

The concert is to be given at Town Hall, Manhattan, at 8:00 p.m.

In asking support of the concert, the headmaster pointed to statements made recently at an Advertising Club Luncheon in NYC where the Rev. Colin Lee, D.D., Fred Gehle of the Greater New York Fund, Clifford Morehouse, the Rev. Henry Darlington, D.D., and Bishop Donegan, praised the school's program.

Lent Brings "Quiet Days" for Women and Girls of Diocese

At Trinity Mission House, 213 Fulton Street, a Quiet Day for Girls from ten to fifteen years of age, was conducted on Saturday, Feb. 25, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. The Sisters of St. John, who recently took residence at 90 Barrow Street to aid St. Luke's Chapel, assisted.

The Annual Quiet Day for the Women of Christ Church, Bronxville, was held Feb. 15, beginning with a Eucharist at 9:00 a.m. Father Gunn of the Order of the Holy Cross conducted the three meditations at 10:30 a.m., 12, and 2:00 p.m. A strict rule of silence was observed.

"Droppers-in" were discouraged.

Diocesan Clergy to Attend D. C. College of Preachers

The Diocese will be represented among the specially selected groups of ministers expected to attend Washington Cathedral's College of Preachers for one of the weekly refresher courses offered during the Spring term April 17, June 3.

Those who have been invited to attend one of the five day sessions are: The Rev. Messrs. Shelton Hale Bishop, Fessenden A. Nichols, Raymond M. O'Brien, Robert C. W. Ward and J. Marshall Wilson.

The clergy come from every section of the nation, having been specially selected by their Bishops for the privilege. 25-30 attend each week during the fall, winter, and spring terms.

Workroom on Twelve Hour Shift

The Bishop's Message

Dear Friends of the Clergy and Laity:

The glorious Easter Festival will have passed before this issue of the BULLETIN reaches its readers. I earnestly hope that the people of all our parishes and missions found in their observance of Lent and Holy Week that which gave them some new understanding and new appreciation of what that great Day means for us. Had we the faith to make our own the true significance of that wondrous Victory that has been won for us we could live with Him now in the joy of His resurrection in spite of all the anxious misgivings that come to us out of the sorely troubled times through which our world is passing.

Bishop Gilbert

The cross on Calvary and the empty tomb of Easter Day have demonstrated that there is power with God to bring triumphant achievement out of what the world calls "failure" and "death." It could be so today, had we the faith to possess the power that He makes available and the courage to use it. But we feel so helpless when we measure our resources and our influence against the overwhelming problems and needs with which our world is confronted. And it is hard to resolve those needs and problems into terms of personal service and responsibility.

Easter gives us the assurance that there can be no futility or failure for the life that links itself with God's purpose. With confidence in the capacities wherewith He has endowed us and with faith in that love wherewith "God so loved the world" we can take our place by the side of our crucified Lord in the confidence that no honest effort, no consecrated service can ever fail. They are all gathered up in the perfect service of the cross on Calvary—the sign by which we conquer.

God asks us only to do what we can. If we will but avail ourselves of the grace which He ever waits to provide and do our best we can leave the results with Him.

I hope our people will think of this as they face the compelling challenge which our Church is now seeking to meet. The response that our parishes and missions have made to the "One World in Christ" appeal of our Presiding Bishop has been most encouraging. It gives us reason to believe that if all of us will only do what we can, the goal assigned to our Diocese will be met.

The Bishop: "Cornerstone" Building Finished 1950

Draws on Other Funds to Meet Deficit

GOAL: $150,000 PAID: $86,672

While total donations to the "Cornerstone" Campaign were $63,328 short of the goal set, Bishop Gilbert has announced that all of the projects contemplated by the campaign are expected to be completed by the end of 1950. This will be made possible by the use of funds which were being held for future needs and by savings in construction cost through the use of new materials and the elimination of some construction features. Here is what has been accomplished to date:

1. The addition to St. Andrew's, New Paltz, has been completed.

2. St. Simon's Church at New Rochelle is about two-thirds completed.

3. St. Martha's Church, North White Plains is two-thirds completed.

4. St. Marks' Parish House in North Yonkers is two-thirds completed.

5. Plans for St. Luke's Church, Williamsbridge, have been filed and contracts will be let shortly.

6. Purchase of the site for St. Francis of Assisi, Elmsford, is under contract and the church will be erected this summer.

7. Site for the new church on Eastchester Road in the Bronx has been purchased.

8. The small parish hall to be built as an addition to St. Andrew's, Montgomery, has been given priority on the first funds available. $3,000. is needed and is expected to be forthcoming within a few months.

St. Peter's Glee Club Concert

The Glee Club of St. Peter's School, Peekskill, will give their final concert of the year April 29 at Town Hall, N. Y. C.

"This concert will spearhead the St. Peter's Campaign to raise $200,000, the sum needed to build," said the Rev. Frank C. Leeming, headmaster.

Committee to Nominate Bi
Names to be Placed Befo

The request of the Bishop of the Diocese for the election of a Suffragan Bishop having been approved at a special session of the Diocesan Convention held October 25, 1949, your Committee issued an invitation in November, 1949, to the Clergy and Clerks of Vestries of Parishes and of Advisory Boards of Missions in the Diocese to submit names of Clergymen whom they might wish the Committee to consider in preparing its report to the Annual Diocesan Convention to be held May 9, 1950.

Many names have been submitted, the Committee has on its own motion added further names, and a number of those under consideration have been withdrawn by the Clergymen themselves or by their proposers. As a result of its deliberations, which have extended over a period of several months, the Committee begs leave to report to the Convention that it deems the following qualified for the office of Suffragan Bishop and intends upon the submission of this report at the Annual Diocesan Convention to be held May 9, 1950, to place their names in nomination for said office:

The Rt. Rev. Charles Francis Boynton, STD (Bishop of Puerto Rico)
The Ven. George Frederick Bratt
The Rev. Fenimore Edgar Cooper
The Rev. Canon Bernard Cromley Newman

Pursuant to the direction of the Convention, the Committee submits herewith a brief biographical sketch of each nominee as follows:

The Rt. Rev. Charles Francis Boynton, S.T.D.

Bishop Boynton was born in Geneso, New York, April 19, 1906. He attended Public Schools in Englewood, New Jersey, and also the Trinity Episcopal School, New York City. He graduated from Williams in 1928, receiving the degree of B.A., and was graduated with the degree of S.T.B. from the General Theological Seminary in 1932. He was a Fellow of that Seminary from 1932 to 1933, and was awarded the degree of S.T.D. in 1945.

Bishop Boynton was ordained Deacon in May, 1932, and Priest in April, 1933, and was consecrated Bishop Coadjutor of the Missionary District of Puerto Rico on January 2, 1944. He became Bishop of Puerto Rico on the retirement of Bishop Colmore in 1947.

He is married and has two children.

He served as Chaplain of Christ's School, Arden, North Carolina, from 1933 to 1939, and Student Chaplain at the University of Wisconsin from 1939 to 1941. He was Priest-in-Charge of St. Andrew's Church, Mayaguez, Puerto Rico, from 1941 to 1943.

The Venerable George Frederick Bratt

Archdeacon Bratt was born in England September 25, 1903. He attended Grammar and High Schools in Worcester, Massachusetts, the Colorado State Teachers College and St. John's College. He received the degree of B.A. from Greeley in 1928, and is a graduate of the General Theological Seminary. He was ordained Deacon in June, 1928, and Priest in February, 1929.

He is married and has two children.

He served as Vicar of Holy Trinity Church, Raton, New Mexico, from 1928 to 1929; as Assistant of St. Peter's Church, Peekskill, New York, from 1929 to 1932, and Priest-in-Charge of St. Mary's Church, Mohegan Lake, New York, from 1930 to 1933. He became Rector of St. Paul's Church, Ossining, New York, in 1934, and Priest-in-Charge of All Saints Church, Briarcliff, New York, in 1935. He was appointed Archdeacon of the Diocese of New York in 1949.

Archdeacon Bratt served as a member of the Committee on the Program of the Church in the Diocese of New York from 1937 to 1940, and was elected Dean of the Convocation of Westchester in 1942, and was twice reelected. He served as a member of the Board of Managers of the Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society from 1943 to 1948.

The Rev. Fenimore Edgar Cooper

Mr. Cooper was born July 3, 1901, in Delmar, New York. He graduated from the Edmeston High School in 1919, and from Columbia College in 1923. He was of the Class of 1928 at the General Theological Seminary, and received the degree of S.T.B. in 1936. He was ordained Deacon in April, 1928, and Priest in October, 1928.

He is married and has two children.

His ministry began in the Diocese of Central New York, where he served as Rector of Emmanuel Church, Elmira, from 1928 to 1934, and as Rector of All Saints Church, Syracuse, from 1934 to 1945. He then entered this Diocese, becoming Rector of Trinity Church, Mount Vernon.

While in the Diocese of Central New York he served for one year as a member and two years as the Chairman of the Department of Christian Education; as a delegate to the Provincial Synod from 1941 to 1945, and as a delegate to the General Convention in 1943. He was a member of the Diocesan Council of Central New York from 1943 to 1945.

In this Diocese he was a member of the Board of Managers of the Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society from 1946 to 1947, elected from the Convocation of Westchester. He was appointed by the Bishop a member of the Board of Religious Education in 1947 and 1948, and was elected to that Board in 1949, at which time he became its President. He served from 1944 to 1947 as Chairman of the Commission of Religious Education of the Second Province, and has been a member of the Council of the Synod of the Second Province, and its Secretary since 1948.

The Rev. Canon Bernard Cromley Newman

Canon Newman was born in Philadelphia on October 26, 1900. He attended the High School at Indiana, Pennsylvania, received the degree of B.A. from Harvard in 1922, and graduated from the General Theological Seminary in 1925. He was ordained Deacon in April, 1925, and Priest in November of that year.

He is married and has two children.

Canon Newman served as Vicar of St. Mary's Church, Braddock, and St. Margaret's Church, Wilmerding, Pennsylvania, from 1925 to 1926; as Vicar of Trinity Church, Monessen, Pennsylvania, from 1926 to 1929; as Rector of St. Mary's Church, Charleroi, Pennsylvania, from 1926 to 1936; as Rector of St. John's Church-in-the-Wilderness, Dunbar, Pennsylvania, from 1930 to 1936; as Rector of Trinity Church, Connellsville, Pennsylvania, from 1931 to 1936; and as Rector of St. Paul's Church, Kittanning, Pennsylvania, from 1936 to 1940. He became Rector of St. Peter's Church, Uniontown, Pennsylvania, in 1940, and Canon of Trinity Cathedral, Pittsburgh, in 1945. He entered the Diocese of New York as Vicar of Trinity Church, New York City, on April 1, 1948. In 1949 he was appointed as a member of the Diocesan Committee on Miscellaneous Business.

The Rev. Samuel Moor Shoemaker, D.D.

Dr. Shoemaker was born in Baltimore December 27, 1893. He attended the Union School, of Baltimore; St. George's School, Newport; and received the degree of B.A. in 1916 from Princeton University. From 1917 to 1919 he served in Pekin, China. He was a special student at the General Theological Seminary in 1920-21, and at the Union Theological Seminary in 1921-22. In 1948 he received the degrees of Doctor of Divinity from Virginia Seminary and Doctor of Sacred Theology from Berkeley Divinity School.

He was ordained a Deacon in June, 1920, and Priest in June, 1921.

He is married and has two children.

From 1922 to 1924 he directed the work of the Philadelphian Society, Y.M.C.A., of which he was Secretary, at Princeton, N. J.

He has served as Rector of Calvary Church, New York City, since 1925.

Dr. Shoemaker is the author of many books,

Mrs. Fannie J. Wood Dies

Mrs. Fannie J. Wood of Grace, Port Jervis, died March 3 at the age of ninety-one years. The Rev. Robert Gay, rector of Port Jervis, said, "She was one of our staunchest suporters of the Woman's Auxiliary and Missionary Work within our own Diocese."

St. Augustine's, Yonkers, Women Plan to Hold Tag Day on May 6

The women of St. Augustine's (in-the-Street), Yonkers, have planned a city-wide tag day for Saturday, May 6th under the leadership of Mrs. Estelle Holst and Mrs. Marion Lambert.

The effort is part of $1,500 pledged to be raised before June 30.

"One World in Christ" Missionary Drive Seen Achieving Goal by First Returns

The "One World in Christ" campaign reached its climax on March 12th with the Presiding Bishop's broadcast. From all reports the message was heard in nearly every parish and mission in the Diocese. As we go to press reports of the financial result of the campaign are meagre but a definite upward trend in giving is evident. Almost sixty parishes and missions have already indicated that their full quotas will be met and many others indicate greatly increased giving with a distinct possibility of the quota being reached through further activity during the balance of the year.

The final vestry visitations of the 51 district field officers were completed early in March and many of these laymen accepted speaking engagements before other parish groups. "The enthusiasm and devotion of these laymen to their task of telling the story of the Church's mission to their fellow laymen has been most heartening," said Theodor Oxholm, secretary of the Committee on the Program of the Church.

"Every man participating wants to carry this program forward. As a result we are planning a series of meetings immediately after Easter. At these meetings every layman who participated in these visitations will be asked to give his views on the merits of the program and his ideas on how it should be continued."

St. Barnabas House Holds Open House for Manhattan Churches

The following is the schedule of tea dates and churches in the Diocese coming to St. Barnabas House:

APRIL 15th: a Saturday Tea at 2:30 for business and professional women's groups and any other interested people who cannot come on a week day.

APRIL 25th: Epiphany, St. Bartholomew's, St. Ambrose, St. Michael's, St. Jude's.

MAY 10th: All Angels', St. Stephen's, St. Martin's, St. Luke's (Convent Ave.), St. George's Chapel, Transfiguration, St. Mary's (Manhattanville), and Calvary Church.

"Parochialism is the isolationism of the Christian Faith—a Parish that does not give to missions is a dying parish. It is a spiritual law running through lifea that one must give to live, and to find life most richly.

"It is also true that as a parish begins to grow in its vision of the world-community of Faith, it grows itself, because it has learned this deep lesson of the spiritual life."

Convention to Elect a Suffragan; Fix Budget

The 168th Convention of the Diocese will be held in the Synod Hall on May 9, 1950 to elect a Suffragan Bishop.

Another important matter to come before the Convention will be a proposal by the Diocesan Finance Committee to change the timing of the submission of a budget for Diocesan missionary work.

At the present time, the Convention in May approves a budget for Diocesan agencies for the calendar year in which the Convention is held. Consequently the canvass in the fall previous and the operation of the agencies for four months prior to the Convention are based on a budget which has not had the approval of Convention. This Convention will be asked to amend the canons so that the missionary budget for the following calendar year will be adopted by each Convention. If approval of the plan is given, the Convention this May will adopt two missionary budgets, one for the calendar year 1950 and one for 1951. Then the canvass in the fall of 1950 will be made with the assurance that the program has had Convention approval and a method will be proposed to adjust the budget later to reflect actual receipts.

CONDEMNED as a place for "public assembly" March 1 by the City of Yonkers, the former place of worship of St. Augustine's congregation is locked by the vicar, the Rev. Alger L. Adams while children of the church school watch.

"At Cost" Workers Refurbishing Church at Trinity, Garnerville

The Rev. Claude F. Stent, rector, reports that Trinity, Garnerville, is being rehabilitated "at cost."

Mr. Burr and Mr. Degner put new radiators in the parish house. A new church-parish house switchboard for lights was installed by Winfield Baisley. Norman Weaver painted the kitchen (Woman's Auxiliary paid for the paint and a new steam table). Wallace Abrams, Norman Weaver and John W. Conlin made new kneeling hassocks.

College Faculties to Study Theology at Hamilton College

"The Institute in Theology for College and University Faculty Members" will be held at Hamilton College, Clinton, N. Y., June 18-25.

The institute is being conducted under the auspices of the Provincial Committees for College Work of the Provinces of New England; of New York and New Jersey; and of Washington; together with the Division of College Work of the National Council, and the Church Society for College Work.

The plan is to give teachers in non-theological disciplines an introduction to the principles of theology and their application to the contemporary concerns of scholarship.

Commission Wins New City Service

The Rev. Leland B. Henry, executive director of the Commission on Christian Social Relations, reported last month that as a result of the Commission's intercession, the N.Y.C. Department of Welfare has decided to establish a center for the rehabilitation of homeless and unemployed men on Harts Island.

"Supply" Supplies Love with Its Work

In discussing the Supply Department of the Woman's Auxiliary last month, Mrs. Arthur J. Simpson said she was once asked why the Auxiliary didn't buy ready made clothes instead of cutting and sewing.

"Anyone who saw the exhibit of the garments made in our parish workrooms, at the March 7 meeting of the Auxiliary in St. Bartholomew's, will need no answer," she said. "The garments shown were cut in one cutting room but the trimmings and finishing were left to the individual and it was amazing to see the differences between them.

"There was nothing about them which suggested the word 'institution,' but much that spoke of love and concern for the recipient. It is by this work of their hands that every woman here at home feels she has a definite part in the Mission for which she is working. Could you create any such interest simply by drawing a check?"

S.I. Auxiliary Gives Square Dance

A Convocation Square Dance sponsored by the Woman's Auxiliary of Richmond will be given April 15th at St. John's, Rosebank, for the benefit of the General Theological Seminary. Donation is $1, and costume optional.

Convention 1950

Dear Brethren of the Clergy and Laity:

As we assemble for this One Hundred and Sixty-eighth Convention of our Diocese I cannot but be mindful of the fact that this is the last Convention at which I will preside. My resignation as Bishop of New York will be in the hands of the Presiding Bishop by August 6th, when I shall have attained the age of Seventy-two. I am told that under the provisions of the general Canons as recently amended that resignation will automatically and arbitrarily become effective three months from that date. On November sixth, therefore, I shall cease to be your Diocesan.

Bishop Gilbert

October 28th will mark the twentieth anniversary of my consecration as a Bishop in the Church of God. By that time I will have completed forty-five years in the ministry of the Church, all of which has been spent in the Diocese of New York. The Diocese has been very good to me. I have much for which to be thankful. There are associations which I will always cherish.

Since this is my last Convention report I would take this occasion to express to you of the Clergy and Laity my grateful appreciation of the kindly forbearance and good will which you have shown me over the years—to say how deeply grateful I am to those who, regardless of differences in Churchmanship, have given me their confidence and support. I could not have carried on without it. The task assigned to the Bishop of New York is a formidable one. And it was for me an exceedingly anxious undertaking to assume the burdens and responsibilities which our beloved Bishop Manning had bravely carried for so many years. May he rest in peace and may light perpetual shine upon him. We all know what his very able and consecrated, self-giving service meant to this Diocese.

I am well aware that much has been left undone—much that could have been better done—but I hope you will feel with me that some progress has been made over these recent years. There is reason to believe that the morale of our Diocesan family has been strengthened. We have more of that spirit of "togetherness" that is so essential in our effort to deal with the great task that God lays upon the Church in these anxious and critical days. The records show that there has been gratifying increase in the support given to the Program of the Church, in its world field as well as in our own Diocese. And Bishop Donegan will tell you of the very heartening response that is being made to the effort now under way to enlist our people—especially our laymen—for the great undertaking committed to us by the recent General Convention.

In this connection may I urge that you give your favorable consideration to that part of the report of the Committee on Diocesan Finances, now in your hands, which deals with the Program of the Church, and the allocation of our missionary funds. I earnestly hope that the proposed changes in the Canons recommended by the Committee will have your approval. They will do much, I believe, to improve the method of our financial operations; and those responsible will be able to exercise greater discrimination in dealing with the needs of the several beneficiary organizations that must look to the Diocese for its support in carrying on their work.

New Building Accomplished

Any review of the recent activities of the Diocese must take note of the gratifying and encouraging significance of what has been accomplished in providing for the urgent needs of some of our very promising missions. A new structure is now nearing completion at St. Simon's, New Rochelle. An imposing new building is being set up over the very unattractive and inadequate crypt in which St. Martha's, North White Plains has carried on its work for several years and which is now surrounded by extensive new housing developments. A parish house is now nearly finished for our important mission at Nepera Park in Yonkers. Plans have been filed and construction will shortly begin on a new church building for St. Luke's, Williamsbridge in the Bronx. A much needed addition to the church has been provided for the important work that is being done at St. Andrew's, New Paltz. It is expected that a parish hall will shortly be added to the church in Montgomery. Negotiations are now under way for the purchase of a site for a church for our new mission in Elmsford and a building will be placed upon it during the summer. A site has also been purchased for a newly organized mission on Eastchester Road in the Bronx, convenient to the new housing developments that are taking place in that area.

These accomplishments mark an extension of the missionary work of the Diocese during the past year such as we have never known before in so short a time. It has been made possible by the so-called Cornerstone Campaign. This Campaign has not attained its goal. I could wish that those parishes and missions that have failed to find their proper place in it may still endeavor to do so. Their help is needed. But the Diocese can be grateful to those clergy and their congregations that have given their generous support to this very important undertaking.

Praise for Archdeacon and Agencies

I wish there were time to bring to your attention the splendid service that is being rendered by our Archdeacon and by the various organizations and institutions which look to the Diocese for support. I can only say that if our people could know and understand more of the work being done in their name by these organizations they would find new pride in their Church and they would be more willing to give them their help.

It is with restraint that I present to you this last Convention address. There is much that might be said of the compelling needs and opportunities with which our Diocese is confronted. There is consideration that ought to be given to the relation of the Church and its divine mission to the critical and anxious issues which now beset our sorely troubled world. We should be concerned with measures whereby the interest and influence of all our people could be effectively marshalled against the influences that would destroy those cherished freedoms where with God has made men free and which our founding fathers built into the life of our nation.

But there is pressing business before us here to-day. We are here to concern ourselves with the affairs of our own Diocesan household. I feel that they should have the right of way. Let us pray that God will so order our deliberations and decisions that His Church in this Diocese may find its proper place in the critical world task with which His Church is now faced.

Tribute to Bishop Manning

There is one matter, however, which I would commend to your attention at this time. Since our last Convention this Diocese and the whole Church have suffered a great loss. One of the most eminent figures in the recent history of this Church and of the Christian world has gone to his well-earned reward. The courageous leadership which Bishop Manning gave us and his consecrated devotion to the service of this Diocese have endeared him to all of us. I am sure you will feel with me that the people of this Diocese would welcome the opportunity to share in setting up some appropriate memorial to his name as an expression of their gratitude and affection. We have under consideration the erection of a tomb for the repose of his ashes in the Cathedral which he did so much to build and which will always be identified with his name. It may cost $30,000 or more. That, I am confident, will be readily forth coming. Already a number of unsolicited gifts have come to me. But it is my hope that a way may be devised whereby all our people may be permitted to have a part, however small, in providing this tribute to one we loved. I am sure their response would be a spontaneous one. The Trustees of the Cathedral are prepared to give their approval and co-operation. I would urge that this Convention give its formal endorsement to this undertaking.

Tribute to the Laymen

In concluding this my final Convention Address I would pay grateful tribute, on my own behalf and yours, to the able and busy laymen of this Diocese who give so generously of their time to the work of the various Committees and Boards that are responsible for the administration of our business affairs. Their service does not always receive the recognition it deserves.

And I want to acknowledge my own great indebtedness to the Chancellor. Few are aware, I fear, of the amount of time Mr. Butterworth gives to this Diocese. I know I could not have done my work without him; and it has been a great comfort to me to know that he was always ready, regardless of the demands of his own busy office, to come to my assistance in dealing with the many intricate legal and canonical problems that find their way to the Bishop of this Diocese. And I feel that I should make grateful mention of the assistance I have had from the very efficient and helpful secretary who has been with me for over 20 years and who has been a devoted servant of the whole Diocese.

And finally I want to pay my heart-felt tribute to Bishop Donegan for the loyal support and co-operation which he has given me. I shall remember with deep appreciation and affection the relationship that has been ours during the years that we have worked together. As Suffragan and later as Co-adjutor he has given himself to the service of the Diocese in a way that has brought new strength and zeal to every department of our Diocesan life.

Call for Loyalty to New Bishop

I can only plead with you all to give him the support of your prayers and your united and whole-hearted backing when he takes over the heavy responsibilities which will shortly be his. And I pray God that this Convention may provide him with an assistant who will be ready and competent to stand along side of him and share the burdens which the Bishop of this Diocese has to carry.

In God's scheme of things no man is indispensable, but every loyal servant of His must regard himself as expendable. Certainly that is true of a Bishop in the Church of God. He gives himself to the people under his care. He is the always available pastor of his clergy, ready to hearten and strengthen them in their work. And his must be the vision and inspiration, and his the wise direction that will make the Master's Church the instrument through which He may get His will done among men.

The Diocese can rejoice and take courage in the new leadership that it will soon have. We are all mindful of the anxious and uncertain days that are ahead. The Church we love is faced with a challenge, a test, such as it has never faced before. But we need not despair. With faith in Him to whom we have given our allegiance, with prayerful determination to maintain our loyalties and subordinate our differences and work together, we can be sure that our Master's Church in this great Diocese will find its place and do its part to enable that Church to bear its witness to that One Name under Heaven in whom this world may find that peace and security for which we pray.

May God's blessing be upon this great Diocese and its Bishops and clergy and people in the years ahead and give to you all wisdom and guidance and courage for the service that is yours to render.

Charles K. Gilbert

Bishop Donegan's Address to the 168th Convention

Bishop Gilbert and members of Convention:

Three years ago today through your election God called me to the office of Suffragan Bishop. Then last October you entrusted me with further responsibilities when by the harmonious action of the Special Convention I became Bishop Coadjutor of this great Diocese.

As I recall the past three years in the Episcopate I give thanks that I have come to know all of you better and that we have grown closer together in mutual trust and understanding.

Throughout this far-flung family of ours there is clear evidence of increasing devotion and a general awakening of zeal for the Church's interests. This is due to the leadership of our clergy, the cooperation of the laity and other factors too numerous to mention but in a large measure this spiritual renewal is the result of the patient, wise, and consecrated leadership of Bishop Gilbert.

No Diocesan Bishop has been more generally and genuinely beloved, and we are glad that after his retirement he will continue to reside in New York so that we shall still be able to draw upon his experience and enjoy the fellowship of his kindly presence and gracious spirit.

I am sure you will agree with me that there should be an opportunity for the Diocese and the community to pay tribute to Bishop Gilbert and to express our affection and appreciation of his many years of faithful service to the Church as Priest, Suffragan and Diocesan Bishop. Accordingly, there will be in the Cathedral on Saturday, October 28th a great service of thanksgiving in recognition of the 20th anniversary of Bishop Gilbert's consecration. On the following Monday evening, in the Hotel Commodore, there will be a public dinner in Bishop Gilbert's honor. The arrangements for both these occasions will be in charge of a Diocesan Committee. When the final plans are completed notice will be given to the

Diocese and I am sure that all of you will join in thus honoring our Bishop and our friend.

Reports Episcopal Acts

As you know, the number of people confirmed and received from the Roman Catholic Church has increased. During my visitations in the past year I have confirmed 1773 candidates and received 80 adults from the Roman Communion. Acting for the Bishop I have ordained to the Priesthood the Rev. Dr. Edwin Neis who is now Vicar of St. Ann's Mission for the Deaf. I have Instituted the Rev. Richard A. Cartmell as Rector of the Church of the Messiah, Rhinebeck; the Rev. Frederic H. Meisel as Rector of the Church of the Atonement in the Bronx; the Rev. Richard L. Harbour as Rector of St. Barnabas, Irvington and the Rev. Bradford W. Ketchum as Rector of St. John's, Pleasantville.

The evangelistic program of the Diocese has been carried forward effectively. In June there was held at St. Peter's School, Peekskill, a School for Missioners sponsored by the Committee on Evangelism. When a group of 45 clergy met together to learn the techniques and methods of teaching and preaching missions. As a result of that Conference ten parochial missions have been held in the Diocese during the year. The Rev. John Mulligan, Father Taber, the Rev. Dr. Pike, Father Leeming, Canon Green, the Rev. Dr. Shoemaker, the Rev. Claxton Monro, the Rev. Dr. Bishop and the Rev. Dr. Lee have been leaders of parochial missions in the Diocese and elsewhere. Next month a similar conference will be held to plan retreats and missions for the coming year.

The Committee also arranged for the Diocesan Youth Mission conducted by the Rev. Bryan Green last fall in St. Bartholomew's, Manhattan. The Mission Reunion Service at the Cathedral last November, and the Service in the interests of missions with Bishop Stephen Neill as preacher also in the Cathedral were sponsored by the Committee on Evangelism. It is clear to me that if we are to evangelize and spiritualize the Diocese we must make more use of our glorious Cathedral which is the natural center of our Diocesan life.

Work in the Mission Field

Last October Bishop Gilbert assigned to me jurisdiction over the 72 aided Parishes and Missions and asked me to preside at the monthly meetings of the Board of Managers of the Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society which is the agency responsible for the missionary and advance work in the Diocese.

I am glad to report that the condition of the aided Parishes and Missions is for the most part good. A new Mission All Saint's, located in the northeast section of the Bronx, was opened last November. The congregation now numbers 108 members with a growing Church School. A few weeks ago I made the first Episcopal Visitation and confirmed 10 adults. At present All Saint's Mission is holding services in a store which is crowded with worshippers Sunday by Sunday. Soon we must consider the erection of a Church on land purchased by the Board of Managers a year ago.

Missions Assume Full Self Support

St. Anne's, Great Kills and the Church of the Holy Comforter, Eltingville have assumed full support. The same is true of St. Luke's Church, Edgecombe Avenue. St. Luke's is now actively engaged in a campaign for a new church building to accommodate the steadily and rapidly growing congregation.

Before the year is over it is expected that St. Augustine's, Croton; the Chapel of the Good Shepherd, Granite Springs; St. Andrew's, Hartsdale; St. Luke's, Katonah; and St. Luke's, Tuckahoe will no longer require financial aid from the Diocese. When this happens funds will be released to develop new opportunities in other fields.

Mission Debits

Two congregations are without permanent places of worship—St. Ann's Mission for the Deaf, Manhattan and St. Augustine's, Yonkers. Through the kindness of the respective Rectors the people of St. Ann's are presently worshipping at St. Mark's-in-the-Bouwerie while the congregation of St. Augustine's holds services in St. John's, Yonkers. As soon as possible the Board must find permanent church homes for these loyal and devoted people.

Before very long we must erect churches in the Bronx and Dutchess county on land already acquired for this purpose and we must plan for buildings in other strategic areas which are without an Episcopal Church.

Bishop Gilbert has already spoken of what has been accomplished by the Cornerstone Campaign. In October I had the privilege of breaking ground for the new St. Simon's Church in New Rochelle, and on St. Andrew's Day I dedicated the new additions at St. Andrew's, New Paltz. In all this problem of building I hope the time will come when there will be sufficient Diocesan Funds available so that without special campaigns we shall be able to be of greater service than we are now to our missions and growing congregations.

Careful consideration has been given to the problems raised by the increased number of very large apartment developments in Manhattan and the Bronx. In these areas parishes have banded together in a common effort to bring the Church to the people in these tremendous concentrations of population.

The meetings of the Convocations just held were a great joy to me as I believe they were to all who attended them. Each of the seven Convocations has been made aware of its own particular opportunities and the Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society is prepared to give guidance to parishes and missions as the work progresses.

Praises Archdeacon and Oxholm

I am grateful to the Archdeacon for his able and energetic leadership and to Mr. Theodor Oxholm for the many tasks he accepts above and beyond the requirements of his official position and to his office staff for the excellence of their work; and to the Deans of Convocation for their wholehearted cooperation at all times.

You will remember that early last summer the National Council of our Church called on every Diocese to evaluate the Missionary Program of the Church and to support a greatly increased Budget at the General Convention held in San Francisco in September. There were many who felt that the Church could not rise to the challenge presented and a number of delegates went to General Convention with the announced intention of voting to reduce the Budget. But, as you all know upon learning of the real needs of the Missionary Field and of the shamefully inadequate missionary stipends and allowances the Convention enthusiastically adopted a Budget some $86,000.00 above that proposed by the National Council.

The situation in our own Diocesan Missionary work was closely analagous to the situation facing the National Council. Clergy salaries and allowances had not kept pace with living costs, increased pensions were needed, new agencies established by the Convention required funds and the cost of carrying out every existing phase of the Church's work had outstripped contributions.

Bishop Gilbert and I were convinced that our people would respond if they understood the need. As members of the Committee on Quota and Allocations of Missionary Funds we supported the Committee's recommendations that a Budget for Diocesan purposes represent standards that we need not be ashamed of and which would attract clergymen and young men considering the Christian ministry as their vocation.

The Budget for Missionary work for the Program of the Church which appears in the Calendar of Business has had the approval of the Committee on Quota and Allocations of Missionary Funds formed the basis for the Every Member Canvass last Fall and the One World in Christ campaign this Spring and will be presented by the Committee on Diocesan Finances for adoption at this Convention.

Budget Firmly Supported

I stand firmly behind this Budget. It contains no surplus appropriations, no appropriations for work not now in effect or ready to be put in effect.

This budget fully subscribed will mean that we can more nearly approach a respectable living standard for our missionary clergy; we can more quickly fill vacancies with first-rate clergy and we can begin to look forward and give our attention to new fields in the Diocese where our Church is faced with opportunities.

It will mean the elimination of the deficit of the City Mission Society. It will mean we can meet the Chaplaincy Budget of the Seaman's Church Institute. It will mean that our College work Commission, the Commission on Christian Social Relations and the Youth Consultation Service can continue to function and that our new Episcopal Commission for the Aged can begin to serve the Diocese.

Our Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society has never been in sounder financial condition. The Society has no indebedness, having this past year retired the last existing mortgages, on any of its more than fifty properties.

But it cannot maintain its ministry to the people of the seventy-two aided parishes and missions unless it can improve the living standards of its clergy. Neither can it move into new areas of opportunity, where population growth and movement are creating such new areas rapidly.

Social Study Research

In recognition of this and also with the realization that many of our city parishes are facing new problems owing to changes in their neighborhoods we have instituted a Social Study Research covering Manhattan, the Bronx and lower Westchester County. The purpose of the Study is to aid the Diocese and every parish in the area studied to meet the present needs and the requirements of the future. The results of the Study will be kept in the Diocesan House and will be currently maintained in the years to come and will be available for use by any interested parish.

The Study will include population analysis by census tracts for the years 1920-1930-1940 and 1950. This section will include nationality backgrounds, age, sex, work, classification, education, and other data obtainable through the United States Census material and such other studies as have been made.

It will cover social institutions in the areas to be studied; schools, social service, both private and public, projected planning as to housing, roads, transportation, health, and other factors. Intensive studies will be directed for each parish and mission in these areas, also material will be gathered as to the location of the churches of the various denominations. Our own churches will be studied through the vital statistics of the last 50 years. Present congregations will be analyzed and compared to community population patterns.

Obviously the Study will not give us all the answers to all of our problems but it will assist us in determining some of the important situations that face us. It will be of great assistance in future planning. It will be accumulative in its value as it is continued on a permanent basis over the next few decades. I bespeak the cooperation of the parishes concerned.

General Convention's Budget

The chief undertaking of this past year in the Diocese as throughout the Church has been the raising of the greatly increased Budget as ordered by General Convention. I am sorry that I cannot tell you that at this time the goal has been reached. But the reports from many parishes and missions is encouraging and there is no question but that we shall exceed last year's contributions by more than 48% and last years giving to the National Council by more than 70%. A number of parishes have not yet sent in their estimate and some are still engaged in their campaigns.

Enheartening as the final result will be it is apparent that we will not meet our full quota this year. Yet I am convinced from what has happened and the definite progress that we have made this past year that we can eventually reach the goal if we put to full use the great latent power of our fine body of laymen. We are rich in laymen of ability who ought to be given opportunity to participate in the strengthening of the life and work of the Diocese.

I am glad to say that we have made a start in this direction. For the first time in 30 years we have educated a group of laymen in the work of the Church. Last September 51 laymen representing every Convocation assembled at Seabury House for training under Mr. Ted Gannaway.

During the following months they came together many times with their Convocation chairmen and Mr. Gannaway for further study and to arrange the heavy schedule of visitations. In February and March they presented the program to the vestries and advisory boards of 167 parishes and missions. The number of churches visited was well above the average achieved by the Dioceses throughout the country and represents a determined effort by New York to cooperate in full, and wholeheartedly, with the National Council.

Praise for Laymen's Work

As Chairman of the Committee on the Program of the Church responsible for the presentations I wish to express my gratitude to the Convocation Chairmen; Mr. George W. Burpee of Westchester, Mr. Robert F. Royster of Richmond, Mr. Frank W. Conkling of Ramapo, Mr. Louis F. Stauss of the Bronx, Col. Clinton G. Harris of Hudson and Mr. Eliot Ward of Manhattan. I wish it were possible to name and honor here all of the 51 men who volunteered to undertake this task for the Church.

W. TED GANNAWAY, who has been named secretary of the Commitee on the Program of the Church and in charge of laymen's work, being "shown the ropes" by Theodor Oxholm, the former secretary.

It was our first experience in a project of this kind and mistakes were inevitable. Some thought that the presentation was too long but we had an obligation to follow out in its entirety the plan as set forth by the National Council.

The enthusiasm of the laymen at the evaluation meetings we have been holding these past few weeks demonstrates that this Laymen's Training Program has captured the imagination of those who were engaged in the project and won the approval of the majority of the clergy and vestries who have participated; its continuance has been widely requested. It is clear that to carry the program forward and expand the training will require the fulltime services of an executive and the Budget contemplates the employment of such a person for this purpose.

Laymen's Conference May 27

Our next step will be to gather together a minimum of 110 carefully selected laymen from all over the Diocese who will be trained in a series of conferences beginning with an all day session here in the Synod House on May 27th.

By September 18th these men will be properly equipped to make two or more presentations in each parish and mission in order that the greatest number of parishioners shall have heard the story and understand the needs prior to the raising of the Diocesan and National Church Budgets for the coming year. On invitation of the clergy they will speak at meetings that will insure the greatest attendance and to Every Member Canvass groups in order to bring to the communicants of the Diocese a knowledge of the Program of the Church.

In addition to what is furnished by 281 we shall use our own specially prepared material related to our work in the Diocese and with effective visual aids. Presentations will range from thirty minutes to an hour in length. The project will be under the direction of the Bishops and the Committee on the Program of the Church.

It is my hope that, using the 110 men as a nucleus, we can establish a vigorous Diocesan Laymen's Movement. At present laymen's groups are confined to certain parishes and the Convocations of the Bronx and Richmond. Our ultimate goal will be the active enlistment of all male communicants in support of the Parish, Diocesan and National Program of the Church.

In recognition of the fact that a successful Laymen's Movement must originate in a specific program of worship, education and service definite recommendations and suggestions will be made at the Clergy Conference at West Point in the Fall. Will you give thought and prayer to this new endeavor and cooperate fully so that we may have in June 1951 our first Diocesan Laymen's Conference.

Diocesan Agencies

I shall not speak of the work of the many agencies which so effectively represent the Episcopal Church throughout the Diocese but we want them to know that we take pride in what they are doing in their service to humanity in the name of Our Lord.

Episcopal City Mission Does Christ's Work

Continuing to do Christ's work throughout the Diocese of New York, the City Mission Society in 1949 served 38,726 people. With a budget of $288,918.29 ($36,900 of which was provided from the Program of the Church), it served more men, women and children than live in the combined towns of Larchmont, Mamaroneck, Harrison and Rye, at an average annual cost of only $7.46 per person.

Chaplaincy

Its 24 trained and consecrated chaplains ministered to 33,984 human beings — to the sick, the troubled and the aged in hospitals and homes, and to the rebellious and disturbed in prisons and other corrective institutions. To improve the quality of its chaplaincy and to help many young clergymen and seminarians become more effective pastors, its Bellevue Hospital Clinical Pastoral Training Center offered courses based on sound religious principles and on tested psychological techniques.

St. Barnabas House

Although the physical appearance of St. Barnabas House changed remarkably from the old stone houses of the 1800's to the modern brick and glass building completed during the year, it has meant no change in its kindly care. Open both night and day, it offered refuge in 1949 to 601 women and children— transient women who had no place to go and no friends to whom to turn, to unwed mothers, and to children— survivors of such daily tragedies as fires, desertions and other unhappy predicaments in which their parents had been involved.

Family Service

Vital to the heart and strength of the church is the home and family. More and more women employed outside the home, inadequate housing, a longer lifespan, mean weaker family ties. In 1949 Family Service helped 703 young women and old, and men, to find the best possible solution to their individual and family problems.

Ellis Island

On Ellis Island, where immigrants inadmissible for health reasons, passport irregularities, illegal entry or other violations of the U. S. Immigration Laws are detained, the Society provided material as well as spiritual aid. Given in the name of the Church, it meant much in 1949 to the 1,993 newcomers, apprehensive and in a strange new land. This is the only such program in the country maintained by our Church.

Summer Camps

With the warm days of spring, applications to Elko Lake Camps for Boys and Girls and to Edgewater Creche and Rethmore Home come in. At Elko Lake, one thousand acres of field and woodland and a 54-acre lake afforded a wide range of activities for nine to fifteen year old boys and girls. Well-organized and efficiently run, these camps and a program motivated by deep religious convictions, gave to 1,278 children who needed it most, a valuable experience in group living, playing, and planning that they will not soon forget.

Westfield State Farm

To find employment and even a place in which to live on finishing a term in a state reformatory or prison like Westfield State Farm is a difficult experience to face and plan for. In 1949 our worker there gave friendly service and counsel to 227 girls and women who had neither friends nor family to help them.

Thus, the City Mission Society, through its several programs serve His own — the aged, the sick and disturbed, the homeless, "the stranger within our gates" — and little children.

As a Diocesan responsibility, it is well that we "If there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things."

Bishop Donegan's Address to the 168th Convention

with Budget and program but I wish you would try to see beyond the surface of the figures the faithful priests, laymen and women of the Episcopal Church giving their thought and skill and time to bring mankind into fellowship with Him Who is the Way, the Truth and the Life.

We have been called upon to give an upward lift to the work of the Church. This call does not come from Diocesan Headquarters or 281, or General Convention. It comes from the Head of the Church, Our Divine and Living Lord and we are answerable not to one another but to Him!

If we imagine that the General Church and the Diocese is asking too much of us we ought to remember that even if we gave to the point of sacrifice our giving would be as nothing compared with what God through the life of His Only Begotten Son has done for us. Out of gratitude for His mercies let us prove our love not only in words but in sacrificial giving and living. When priests and people shirk their obligations to spread the good news it is the Kingdom of God and the Mystical Body of Christ that suffers. As we give ourselves with unremitting zeal to the proclamation of the Gospel the Church will be inwardly strengthened and it will have greater power for the fulfillment of its task.

A Challenge to Our Faith

Surely with conditions as they are today; with secularism strongly entrenched; with communism as a growing menace to the faith we ought to see clearly the importance of our responsibilities. If we allow religion to be weakened either by attacks from without or by indifference from within there will be no new and better world for Christianity is the very foundation stone of true democracy and the Church is the chief agency for the day by day cultivation of Christian living.

Let us consecrate ourselves anew to Our Lord's service and with greater devotion and enthusiasm work faithfully for the Church for which He gave His life, and may God the Father, God the Son and God the Holy Ghost draw us closer together that we may be one in Him with one intent to do His will.

Horace W. B. Donegan

168th Convention Meets May 2 And Elects Suffragan Bishop

The Bishop's "Last Convention" Pays Him Tribute

A shadow of sadness overcast the 168th Diocesan Convention convened May 9, at 10:00 a.m., as though the delegates who crowded the Synod House, standing four deep at the rear, each felt personally the realization that the Bishop was calling together the highest authority in the Diocese for the last time. And the unity which he brought to the Diocese was typified by the election of the Right Rev. Francis Charles Boynton, Bishop of the missionary district of Puerto Rico, as Suffragan Bishop of New York. His election on the second ballot was evidence of what Bishop Donegan, in his address, termed, "the result of the patient, wise, and consecrated leadership of Bishop Gilbert," saying, "No Diocesan Bishop has been more generally and genuinely beloved."

In recognition of the Bishop's 20th anniversary of consecration, it was announced that "a great service of thanksgiving for his leadership" will be held at the Cathedral, on Saturday, October 28th.

A diocesan committee, in charge of arrangements, has also planned a testimonial dinner to the Bishop the following Monday, October 30.

The ultimate demonstration of diocesan unity shown by the overwhelming victory of Bishop Boynton was not evident as the preliminary business was disposed of and the nominating speeches were made.

Bishop Boynton's name had been among five reported to Convention by the diocesan nominating committee. The Rev. Roelif H. Brooks, D.D., rector of St. Thomas, Man., formally placed the name in nomination. The nomination was seconded by the Rev. E. Elliott Durant, D.D., LLD., rector of St. Ambrose, Man.; the Rev. Harry Price, rector of St. James the Less, Scarsdale; Clifford Morehouse, editor of The Living Church, Col. Clinton G. Harris, St. George's, Newburg; the Rev. Frederic S. Fleming, DD., LLD., rector of Trinity Church; and the Rev. Frank L. Carruthers, rector of St. George's, Newburgh.

After the five persons named by the nominating committee had been nominated, the Rev. Nathan A. Segal nominated the Rev. James A. Paul, vicar of Holy Trinity Chapel in St. James' parish, Man., The Rev. Mr. Paul asked that his name not be considered.

The first ballot tally:

ARCHDEACON BRATT—clerical vote, 27; lay vote 30.

THE REV. MR. COOPER — clerical vote 12; lay vote 10.

257 clerical and 164 lay votes were cast. To be elected a candidate had to receive at least 129 clerical and 84 lay votes. A second ballot was ordered.

On the second ballot, the secretary reported 241 clerical and 149½ lay votes.

To be elected a candidate had to receive 121 clerical and 75 lay votes.

The second ballot tally:

BISHOP BOYNTON — clerical votes, 128; lay votes, 80.

ARCHDEACON BRATT—clerical votes, 11; lay votes, 8½.

Accordingly the Bishop declared that Bishop Boynton had been elected Suffragan Bishop of the Diocese. By subsequent unopposed motion it was declared that the election be made unanimous.

Convention approved a resolution by Dr. Fleming implementing the Bishop's request for Bishop Manning's Memorial Tomb. Convention also directed the Bishop to appoint a committee to study and act upon a resolution calling for "a living memorial" to honor the Bishop.

The project proposed would be to raise $25,000 for a field house for St. Peter's School, Peekskill, to be known as the Charles Kendell Gilbert Memorial Building. It was suggested that during the summertime, the building could be used to house the Diocesan Summer Youth Conference.

Spring Meeting of Convocations Feature Inspiration-Education

W. Ted Ganaway, Rev. Joseph G. Moore Speak

Six of the seven convocations of the Diocese included inspirational and educational programs as part of their annual business meetings, held as usual immediately after Easter.

Three of the convocations, Hudson, Richmond and Ramapo had as their guest speaker, W. Ted Gannaway, member of the National Council and formerly in charge of the Laymen's Training Program of that body. Taking as his theme the hunger of all men today for a solution to the world's problems, Mr. Gannaway said that laymen by offering their services to their rectors, could make the Church a greater influence in bringing about a peaceful world. He outlined 150 services which laymen could perform.

In the Manhattan and Westchester meetings the program featured discussions of the Social Research Study now being conducted under the aegis of the Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society. At Irvington, the Rev. Joseph G. Moore of the Unit of Social Research of the National Council gave an illustrated lecture of the methods used in conducting a similar study in Louisville, Kentucky, and outlined how the New York study would benefit every parish and mission in the area by furnishing a basis for planning for the future. At the Manhattan meeting the Rev. John Bell reported on two conferences regarding the urban church which he attended as a representative of the Bishop in Chicago, and Columbus. He stated that the future of the urban church might well hinge on the willingness of city parishes to eliminate "specialization" and to take advantage of the opportunity to minister to every available resident in the community.

Auxiliary U.T.O. $16,775 Offered

The Annual Meeting of the Diocesan Woman's auxiliary was held May 2, preceded by a Holy Eucharist in the Cathedral at which the Bishop celebrated. The United Thank Offering, presented, at press time, amounted to $16,775.

Clifford Morehouse, editor of The Living Church, addressed the meeting in the Synod House on "The Challenge of the On-Going Program of the Church." He announced that it is expected that the budget of the National Council will be $750,000 short, and that this failure would mean cuts in proposed salary increases for missionaries, reduction of the budget for the Department of Christian Education and curtailment of proposed missionary extension.

The report of the treasurer, Mrs. Charles M. Baxter, Jr., as of April 30 showed moneys received: Social Service $2,141.06; Budget of the National Council, $16,662.38. 117 of the 197 branches in the Diocese pledged their full 20% increase.

At the election of officers, Mrs. George W. Burpee was elected president. Previously Mrs. Burpee had served as vice-president of the District of Westchester and as vice-president in charge of Education. She is a communicant of Christ Church, Bronxville, where her husband is the junior warden. He is also chairman of the laymen's group for the Westchester missionary program. Mrs. Burpee has two daughters and one son. Her daughter, Louise, is Field Consultant for the National Girls' Friendly Society.

The Bishop's Message

Dear Friends of the Clergy and Laity:

The Diocese of New York is shortly to enter upon a new era in its long history. In a few months Bishop Donegan will become our Diocesan. And our recent convention has provided him with a young and able and experienced assistant. I am confident that our clergy and people will rally to their support with renewed zeal and devotion and with the same spirit of harmony and generous good will that has characterized our work together in the past.

Bishop Gilbert

The Church we love is faced with a challenge such as it has never faced before. The world situation with which it has to deal present unprecedented needs and problems. God is calling us to make proof of our faith. The task before us can be met only as we find the way to join our forces in whole-hearted cooperation and with sacrificial devotion.

We can look forward with high expectation to the assistance which Bishop Boynton will bring to us. His coming may be somewhat delayed by his present responsibilities in Puerto Rico. But it is hoped that he may officially become our Suffragan Bishop shortly after his election is formally approved by the Bishops and Standing Committees of the Church, and that he will take up his residence in the Diocese by the end of the year. We can know that he will provide Bishop Donegan with the loyal support that the head of our great Diocese must have in meeting the very exacting demands that will be made upon him.

As I think of my own withdrawal from the office that I have held there is one special project that I would commend to the attention of all our clargy and the people of their congregations. Our recent convention gave its approval to the placing of a memorial tomb in the Cathedral as a grateful and affectionate tribute to Bishop Manning. Under the authority given me, I am appointing a committee representing all of our seven convocations to promote this undertaking. There will be no financial drive. I am sure it will not be needed. But we want every member of the Diocese to have opportunity to give tangible expression to our appreciation and thankfulness of all that Bishop Manning's many years of devoted service meant to this Diocese. I will be writing our clergy soon regarding this matter and look to them for their cooperation in presenting it to their people.

G.T.S. Student Body to Attend Liturgical "Day"

A holiday has been declared for the men of the General Theological Seminary to permit them to attend the Liturgical Day being held at St. George's, Man., Oct. 12, Columbus Day, it was announced last month by the sponsoring rectors, the Rev. Wilfred F. Penny, St. Ignatius', and the Rev. Edward O. Miller, St. George's.

The 180-voice male choir of the Seminary will be directed by Ray Brown, seminary organist and music instructor.

The announcement was made at a luncheon, May 19, of the advisory committee which also includes the Rev. Cuthbert Simpson, Th.D., D.D., of General; the Rev. Cyril Richardson, Th.D., D.D., of Union Theological Seminary; and the Rev. C. K. Myers, vicar of Grace, Van Vorst, N. J., the G.T.S. associate mission.

C. C. Burlingham and Frank Woodbridge, wardens of the respective parishes reported both vestries passed resolutions supporting the "Day."

The Bishop Ordains Seven to Diaconate

Seven candidates for Holy Orders were ordained deacon by the Bishop and one advanced to the priesthood on Trinity Sunday, June 4, at the Cathedral.

The newly ordered deacons and their presenting presbyters are: The Rev. Raymond W. Barnes, Jr., presented by the Rev. Louis W. Pitt, D.D., rector, Grace, Man. The Rev. Brewster Y. Beach and the Rev. John A. Bosman by the Rev. Samuel M. Shoemaker, D.D., rector, Calvary, Man. The Rev. Charles R. Fisher by the Rev. Edward O. Miller, rector, St. George's, Man. The Rev. Donald J. Gardner by the Rev. Henry Darlington, D.D., former rector, Heavenly Rest, Man. And the Rev. Harold M. M. Nicholas by the Rev. Frederic S. Fleming, D.D., rector of Trinity. The Rev. Dudley de C. Cobham presented by the Rev. Shelton H. Bishop, rector, St. Philip's, Man. was advanced to the priesthood.

All of the presenting presbyters are the clergy who have sponsored the new deacons as Candidates for Holy Orders.

The Rev. M. Moran Weston, Jr., was presented by his father, the Rev. Milton Moran Weston, rector, St. Luke's, Tarboro, N. C. to be ordained for the Bishop of Vermont.

The preacher at the service was the Rev. Edward Nason West, D.D., O.B.E.

Make Plans for Fall Thanksgiving For the Bishop's Years of Service

Recommend Living Memorial at St. Peter's School

At press time plans were being formulated for a tremendous demonstration of the Diocese "to express our affection and appreciation of his many years of faithful service to the Church as Priest, Suffragan and Diocesan Bishop," as it was first suggested by Bishop Donegan at the 168th Convention, May 9.

The service of thanksgiving has been set for the Cathedral, Saturday, October 28, 4 p.m. The order of service and preacher have not yet been announced.

On the following Monday, there is to be "The Bishop's Dinner" at the Hotel Commodore, October 30, to provide an opportunity for the many friends of the Bishop to pay tribute to him.

Also: Mrs. Walker DeWaters, Mrs. E. Stuart Hubbard, Mrs. William H. Hulick, Jr., Mrs. Edwin F. Hussa, Mrs. J. R. Newman, and Mrs. Charles C. Walden, who are the chairmen of their respective Woman's Auxiliary convocation districts.

While plans for the October 28 celebration were under way, progress was reported on Bishop Donegan's suggestion to convention that "a living memorial be built to honor Bishop Gilbert during his lifetime."

On May 16, the committee empowered by convention approved, by unanimous action, the plan to build a Charles K. Gilbert Field House at St. Peter's School, Peekskill.

Ordinands Honor 45th Anniversary Of Bishop's Ordination as Deacon

After the ordination service June 4 in the Cathedral, the new deacons presented a gift book to the Bishop inscribed, "Given, on the occasion of the forty-fifth anniversary of his ordination to the diaconate, to the Right Reverend Charles Kendall Gilbert, Bishop of New York, with affectionate regard from the candidates whom he ordained to the diaconate on Trinity Sunday, 1950."

Other tokens of affection received by the Bishop recently are: A metal cutting lathe from Grace, Millbrook, May 14; books from St. John the Divine, Mt. Vernon, May 21; and a brief case from Mediator, Bronx, while at their May 25 parish dinner.

Clergy Conference to be Held October 10-11 at West Point

The Fall clergy conference has been called for October 10-11, at the Hotel Thayer, West Point, the Bishop announced last month.

Speakers for the Tuesday session have not been announced. Speakers for the Wednesday sessions include Bishop Donegan, The Right Rev. Charles F. Boynton, Suffragan Bishop-elect, the Rev. John Heuss, D.D., and W. Ted Gannaway.

Miss Pratt Goes to Seabury House

Miss Alice M. Pratt, secretary to the Bishop for over twenty-five years, has accepted an appointment as administrator of Seabury House, the National Council meeting place and conference center for the whole Church at Greenwich, Conn., it was announced last month. She will take up her new duties after the first of the year.

In his convention address, the Bishop said, "I feel that I should make grateful mention of the assistance I have had from the very efficient and helpful secretary who has been with me for over 20 years and who has been a devoted servant of the whole Diocese."

The Rev. Richard E. McEvoy Is Named Diocesan Historiographer

The Rev. Richard E. McEvoy was appointed Historiographer of the Diocese by the Bishop as of May 10. He succeeds the Rev. Dr. Edward C. Chorley who died November 2.

Rev. R. E. McEvoy

The new historiographer has been rector of St. Mark's-in-the-Bouwerie, since 1943. His duties, under Canon 9, are "to collect, preserve, arrange and edit historical and biographical matter pertaining to the Diocese, its parishes, institutions, and activities; and to submit to the Convention an annual report."

"Help Us to Rise above . . . Small and Petty Things"

ALMIGHTY GOD who knowest so well the weaknesses of human nature, help us to rise above the small and petty things of life and to gird ourselves for every task at hand by remembering that Thou canst give us redeeming love. Help us to extend that same forgiving love towards others, that all may find the highest talents for Christian endeavor. We ask it in the name of Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen

Diocese Host to Oct. 17 Provincial Synod Meeting

The Diocese of New York will be host to the Synod of the Second Province at its regular meeting, October 17-18.

According to tentative plans the president, the Rt. Rev. Malcolm E. Peabody, D.D., will address the opening meeting at 10 a.m. in the Synod Hall. This will be followed by separate meetings of the two houses, and a joint session to hear the report of the Synod Council. Luncheon will be followed by a joint session between 2:30 and 4:30 p.m. which will be devoted to an inspirational and devotional program, probably built around the Church's work in colleges. At this time the Woman's Auxiliary also will report.

Time will be allowed for tea and fellowship before dinner.

Woman's Auxiliary Holds Prayer Conference at All Angels' Farm

A Prayer Conference under the auspices of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Diocese was held at All Angels' Farm, Ramapo, June 1.

Sessions began at 10:30 a.m. with a meditation conducted by Sister Mary Josephine. Lunch was at 12:30. There were two discussions in the afternoon lead by Mrs. Helen Shoemaker.

There was a capacity attendance of approximately 75.

Thirty-Two Laymen Plan Launching of Fall Canvassing

Thirty-two laymen of the Diocese that were trained in the presentation of the program of the Church in the Laymen's Training Program last fall, met in Cathedral House, June 3, to complete final plans for the continuance of the program in October.

A series of meetings with the parishes and missions of the Diocese to present the program to the entire communicant strength were planned. The fifty-one men that made the vestry presentations last fall will be assisted by at least sixty more who will be trained in a special conference to be held at St. Peter's School, Peekskill, Sept. 16.

Robert Jordan, director of promotion of the National Council, described the plan of parish presentations proposed by the National Council. Ted Gannaway offered demonstration presentations covering the Diocesan programs. Theodor Oxholm reported on the outcome of the "One World in Christ" campaign in which the laymen participated this spring, and lead a discussion of the assistance the Diocese proposes to render to parishes in the Every Member Canvass scheduled this fall.

The substantial results obtained in the Spring Campaign indicate the latent strength that is ours," said Mr. Gannaway. "One of the most useful listings of effective aids to parish programs is the publication that was mailed to all the clergy June 1, entitled 'Parish Helps.' Its use by clergy and laity alike is strongly recommended."

Bishop Donegan thanked the men for their outstanding work last Spring and outlined plans for greater service contemplated for the future, laying particular stress on the important part the laymen were called upon to play in these peculiarly significant times.

He urged that the clergy and laymen join hands in making an all-out effort to acquaint parishioners with the national, diocesan and parochial programs which the Church seeks to carry out so that all might understand and liberally support its work.

Bishop Boynton Accepts Election; To Take Office after January 1st

The Rt. Rev. Charles Francis Boynton has accepted election to the office of Suffragan Bishop in the Diocese, the Bishop announced last month.

However, Bishop Boynton will not take office until after January 1, 1951 by which time the National Council will have been able to make plans for the Missionary District of Puerto Rico.

W. Ted Gannaway Takes On Our Laymen's Work

The first assignment of the newly appointed secretary of the Committee on the Program of the Church, W. Ted Gannaway, was to attend the annual meeting of the Diocesan Chairmen of Laymen's Work of the Second Province, at Seabury House, May 13-14. Walter Potts accompanied him.

W. Ted Gannaway

Mr. Gannaway has just completed his assignment with the National Council where he originated and developed the Laymen's Training Program used throughout the Church last Spring.

He was educated at Iowa College and Columbia. He served as a relief worker and government advisor in the Near East. He was a sales manager and personnel director with the Chevrolet Division of General Motors, Atlantic Life Insurance Co. and the Berger Division of Republic Steel Corp.

He was confirmed at Good Shepherd, Columbia, S. C. and was provincial chairman of Laymen's Work for the Fourth Province for five years. For two years he represented that province on the National Council.

Three Rectors Celebrate 25th Anniversaries during June

The Rev. Samuel M. Shoemaker, D.D., rector, Calvary, Man., since 1925, was honored at a parish party given by the wardens and vestry of the parish June 1.

The Rev. Wilbur Caswell celebrated the 25th anniversary of his institution as rector of St. Paul's, Yonkers, June 4. The parish held a reception after the morning service.

A service commemorating the 25th anniversary of the ordination of the Rev. Richard A. D. Beaty, to the Sacred Ministry was held at St. Peter's, Chelsea, June 4, at 11 a.m.

Children of the D
Present the Miss

Ceremony, Has Approxi

The Annual Service for the Presentation of the Missionary Offerings of the children of the Diocese took place May 27, at the Cathedral in the presence of the Bishop and the Bishop Co-adjutor. There were approximately 1,000 marchers in the procession of choir and clergy. It was estimated that about 3,000 were present.

The Bishop made the address, announced the awards, and personally presented the certificates of honor and the banners. The Rev. J. Willard Yoder assisted the Bishop in making the awards.

The 11 Schools of the Diocese whose Church School attendance records show the highest percentage of attendance during the year 1949-1950 are entitled to receive Certificates of Honor.

Buy New Home for Aged Infirm Deaf

The Church Mission to Deaf Mutes entered into a contract last month to purchase St. Andrew's Convalescent Hospital, Poughkeepsie, for the Gallaudet Home for Aged and Infirm Deaf Mutes. The former home in Wappingers Falls was sold several years ago.

The new home is located on an attractive site on Bancroft Road in the outskirts of Poughkeepsie. Nearer to transportation facilities, less pretentious in area and more compact in size, there will be considerable savings in the cost of operation and greater accessibility to visitors.

The Mission is supported by contributions and has received grants from the Program of the Church upon occasions. The Bishop is president. Trustees are: The Rev. Richard L. Harbour, vice president; Charles A. Bradford, secretary; Theodor Oxholm, treasurer; Rufus T. Bush, Marsden B. Candler, Frederic D. H. Gilbert, the Rev. Leland B. Henry, the Rev. Edwin W. Nies, D.D.S., Frank S. Roberts, Jr., and Miss Helen Troy.

Mrs. Edgar B. Taylor, of Poughkeepsie, is president of the Lady Board of Managers. The Home needs support. Donations are tax exempt.

St. James', Man., Gets New Spire

A new Gothic tower and spire is being constructed on St. James', Man. It is being given by Mr. and Mrs. Dunlevy Milbank in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Fowler, the parents of Mrs. Milbank.

The old tower had to be removed because it was unsafe. The new tower will be twice as high as the old, and will give a more impressive exterior to the church.

Westchester Committee of Youth Consultation Has Spring Meeting

Bishop Donegan addressed the annual spring luncheon of the Youth Consultation Service, Westchester Committee, May 22, at the Hotel Roger Smith in White Plains.

Mrs. Richard W. Wilson, chairman of the Westchester Committee presided. Mrs. Emily Briggs Gold reported the agency's year's work. Mrs. C. K. Stone chaired arrangements and Mrs. John Pershing was responsible for the flowers.

Board members who came as guests were Mrs. William C. Dickey and Mrs. Roland F. Elliman.

Bishop Manning Memorial Proceeds

Bishop Gilbert says that he feels sure that all members of the Diocese will welcome the opportunity to share in setting up some appropriate memorial to Bishop Manning as an expression of their gratitude and affection. "We have," he says, "under consideration the erection of a tomb for the repose of his ashes in the Cathedral which he did so much to build and which will always be identified with his name." The total cost of a chantry chapel and the tomb in it will be as much as $40,000. "That, I am confident, will be readily forthcoming. Already unsolicited gifts have come to me. But it is my hope that a way may be devised whereby all our people may be permitted to have an opportunity, however small, to provide this just tribute. I am sure the response would be a spontaneous one. The Trustees of the Cathedral are prepared to give their approval and cooperation."

Hudson-Ramapo District Auxiliary Annual Spring Meeting Held May 25

The annual spring meeting and presentation of the United Thank Offering of the Woman's Auxiliary, Hudson and Ramapo District, was held at Christ Church, Suffern, May 25.

Bishop Donegan was the preacher and celebrant at the 11 a.m. corporate communion of the women.

After lunch and the business of the occasion the Rev. William Kan of St. Margaret's School, Tokyo, spoke.

Bishop Boynton Preaches at Bronx

The Suffragan Bishop-elect, the Right Rev. Charles F. Boynton, preached at the 50th anniversary celebration of St. Margaret's, Bronx, June 4, his first public appearance in the Diocese since his election.

The Rev. L. L. Twinem, vicar, extended a special invitation to Puerto Ricans and "Spanish, West Indians, and Virgin Islanders."

ST. SIIMON'S, S. I. was consecrated, May 28th by the Bishop. The Rev. Arthur J. Torrey, vicar is standing in the doorway.

Start "Cornerstone" Campaign Project #6, St. Luke's, Bronx

On June 10, at 4 p.m., ground will be blessed and broken for the new St. Luke's, Williamsbridge, by the Bishop. This step puts under way the sixth of the eight projects of the "Cornerstone" Campaign".

The addition to St. Andrew's, New Paltz has been built. Construction is nearing completion at St. Martha's, North White Plains and St. Simon's, New Rochelle. St. Mark's, Nepera Park, Yonkers, parish house was used for the first time May 28.

St. Luke's was allocated $35,000 by the "Cornerstone" Campaign. However, the congregation wished a basement, and raised $5,500 toward the additional cost of $20,000.

The Rev. Hugh H. Henry, vicar, said, "We are very happy to have this thing given to us, and are very grateful to Bishop Gilbert for assisting in securing our basement by providing $10,000."

The service began in the old church building and proceeded to the new site next door for the ceremony.

Correction and Addenda

The president of the Diocesan Auxiliary to the Cathedral, which held its 40th annual meeting April 19, is Mrs. E. Victor Loew. Miss Emie S. Day is treasurer. Total expenditures for the Cathedral and Diocesan agencies were $8,924.16.

G.F.S. States Racial Policy for Branches

A re-statement of policy in race relations was issued by the national Girls' Friendly Society at a meeting of their board of directors last month. The board said, "This restatement does not in any way alter previous policy but expresses it in terms of the organization's present day program for girls; as well as the Church's stand on human rights." It provides:

Within the G.F.S.

"Full participation of all members in all activities of the Society, such as summer camps and conferences, holiday houses, diocesan, provincial and national meetings.

"Including in the membership of one branch representatives of different races.

"When, however, a parish made up of one racial group asks to organize a GFS branch on the basis of segregation, that privilege shall be granted. Such a branch should be given every opportunity for full cooperation with other branches in the diocese.

"Using qualified inter-racial leadership in the planning and carrying out of all activities (branch, diocese, nat'l)."

In Communities

"We work for a fuller understanding of human rights. We learn to know and to work with individuals and groups of different races and to stand against race prejudice."

Ham & Bean Dinner Hears Gannaway

Seventy-five men, women and children turned up for a baked bean and ham supper at St. Luke's, Haverstraw, May 16. Goldthwaite Sherrill, seminarian (the Presiding Bishop's son) is in charge of the mission. W. Ted Gannaway was the evening speaker.

Bronx to Play at Playland

The Bronx Convocation will hold a "Picnic and Field Day" June 17 at Playland, Rye. George Schlett, Holy Nativity, is in charge of events. Medals are to be awarded and the parish with the highest score will receive the Parish Plaque now held by Trinity, Morrisania.

Church Saves "Christmas Tree"

When the "Christmas Tree" of Suffern was pronounced a traffic hazard by the city fathers last month, the Rev. Fessenden Nicholas, rector of Christ Church, and Ralph Yeaple of the church's Committee on House Grounds rushed to the rescue.

Now the 15-foot Ilexauriferous Noeliensis (fir tree) rests peacefully on the rectory grounds. At press time, Christ Church was still negotiating for the village's Christmas lights.

BULLETIN Subscriptions Show Rise Of 585 over Totals Reported in 1949

Editorial Board Seeks Local Parish Agents

The figures on circulation given below tell their own story. In the last few months several parishes have had subscription drives which have met with considerable success.

Through the efforts of Mrs. Ben Sheldon of St. Mark's, Fort Montgomery, we received 12 new subscribers; from the Episcopal Men of the Bronx through Mr. George Heerwagen, 21; 10 from Mrs. Warren Wilson of St. Paul's, Spring Valley; 9 from Mr. Carl F. Petri of Christ Church, Tarrytown; 9 from Mrs. Flagler Matthews for the Woman's Auxiliary and Guild of All Saints', Harrison; and four from Mrs. Arnold de Groes of St. Bartholomew's, Manhattan.

If but one person in each parish would undertake the job of subscription agent we feel sure we could easily reach 10,000.

New WA Devotional Dept. Makes Gains

In discussing the Devotional Life Program of the Woman's Auxiliary during the past year, Mrs. Helen S. Shoemaker, devotional chairman, listed seven general objectives toward which the women of the Auxiliary directed themselves:

Noting that the devotion department was only three years old, Mrs. Shoemaker said, "We are making really significant and exciting progress." She credited the year's successes to "the fellowship and leadership of the District Devotional Chairmen. We have met together four times this year for all day at my home, to pool our wisdom, share our problems, correlate our plans, and pray together. The result is a heartwarming spirit of fellowship and togetherness among us, which has spilled over like a chain reaction into the Districts. My deep love and gratitude go out to Mrs. Bratt of Westchester, and her two able Division Chairmen, Mrs. Haff and Mrs. Oliver; Mrs. Capers of Dutchess; Mrs. Belboder of the Bronx; Mrs. Carr of Ramapo; Mrs. Griesmyer of Richmond and Mrs. Wiley of New York, for their matchless teamwork."

In counting progress, it was reported that Westchester had 55 devotional chairmen in 60 branches, Ramapo had 14 devotional chairmen in 18 branches, and that "every other district has at least doubled the number of devotional chairmen." Ramapo also formed eight small prayer groups.

Diocesan College Work Program Closes First Year's Activities

Dean Thomas Pollock, chairman of the Diocesan Commission on College Work, stressed the challenge of Christian living before the Cathedral Chapter of the Canterbury Club at their closing supper session, May 21, in the undercroft of the Synod House.

The Bishop preached at 7:30 p.m. evening prayer in the general assembly hall. The Canterbury Choir sang. The Rev. Norman Spicer, college work chaplain, conducted the service.

Chaplain Spicer reports "Plans are under way for the establishment next Fall of additional campus Canterbury Clubs. There are now active Clubs at Columbia-Barnard, New York University and Hunter College. The new clubs will be for students at Briarcliff Junior College, Cooper Union, Katharine Gibbs and Julliard Institute of Musical Arts."

Clergy Meeting Opens Sessions At Hotel Thayer

The annual fall Conference of the Clergy of the Diocese will be held at the U. S. Hotel Thayer, West Point, N. Y. Oct. 10 and 11.

After the opening luncheon Tuesday, the Rt. Rev. Malcolm E. Peabody, D.D., Bishop of Central New York, will speak on "The Church's Responsibility in the Present Crisis."

Spencer Miller, Jr., LLD., president of the American International College, Springfield, Mass., will treat the same subject as a layman.

The Rt. Rev. Charles F. Boynton, S.T.D., Suffragan Bishop-elect of New York will speak at dinner. The evening preparation for Wednesday's corporate communion will be conducted by the Rt. Rev. Robert E. Campbell, O.H.C.

The Wednesday session will hear Bishop Donegan, the presiding officer, tell of "Enlisting Our People for the Church's Present World Task."

W. Ted Gannaway, secretary of the Program of the Church, will talk on "Training and Organizing Our Laity." The Rev. John Heuss, D.D., director of the Department of Christian Education of the National Council, will describe "The Church's Program in Education."

The session will close at noon with luncheon.

Install Bishop Donegan Diocesan At the Cathedral November 18th

The installation of Bishop Donegan as Bishop of New York will be held in the Cathedral, Saturday, November 18, at 3 p.m., with the Presiding Bishop and the Bishop Officiating.

The new Bishop will be the twelfth Bishop of New York since the Diocese was organized in 1785.

Bishop Donegan was consecrated Suffragan Bishop of New York, Oct. 28, 1947. He was elected Bishop Coadjutor Oct. 25, 1949 by unanimous acclaim, the first time in the history of the Diocese.

New Gallaudet Home Opened September 6

The Gallaudet Home for Aged and Infirm Deaf moved its twenty-three residents to its new quarters on Bancroft Road in Poughkeepsie, on Sept. 6. Purchased from St. Andrew's Convalescent Hospital, the new building and grounds are expected to furnish a more economical and accessible place of residence for these aged deaf men and women. The home had been located in Wappingers Falls for nearly 40 years.

The Gallaudet Home is the only institution of its kind in this part of the country. It was founded in 1885 by the late Rev. Thomas Gallaudet, D.D. who had founded the Church Mission of Deaf Mutes 13 years previously. The latter corporation is owner of the home and responsible for its maintenance. The present members of the Board of Trustees are:

The Bishop, ex officio, president; The Rev. Richard L. Harbour, vice pres.; Theodor Oxholm, Treasurer; Charles A. Bradford, secretary; Rufus T. Bush; Marsden B. Candler; Frederic D. H. Gilbert; The Rev. Leland B. Henry; The Rev. Dr. Edwin W. Nies; Frank S. Roberts, Jr.; Miss Helen Troy.

The operation of the home is undertaken by a Lady Board of Managers all living in the vicinity. Mrs. Edgar B. Taylor of Poughkeepsie is president.

The Bishop's Message

Dear Brethren of the Clergy and Laity:

We stand at the beginning of a new season's activities. We may hope that the summer surcease has given our clergy and people new zeal and determination for the work of the year now before us. There are anxious and critical days ahead, and the hearts of men are filled with fear. What can the Church do — what can the members of the Church do — to bring the will and purpose of God to bear upon the solution of the problems which now threaten another world war?

The present world situation confronts the Church with the most urgent and compelling challenge it has ever been called to face. That must be clear to us all when we consider what an atomic war could mean not only to God's children everywhere but what it would do to our own dear ones, to our American way of life, to the institutions we cherish.

What can the Church do? What will be the response of its people to the call God now makes upon them?

Obviously, our first concern should be with the deepening of our personal faith — to make God real in our own lives and seek that conscious fellowship with Him which we find in diligent use of the Sacraments and worship of the Church.

But we may not stop there. If our lives are to speak for Him we must find our rightful place and share not only in the life and work of our own parishes but in the Church's world program. If only we could honestly persuade ourselves that God has the answer to our world's problems — if only those who call themselves followers of Christ and members of His Church would give Him a chance to show what He could make their lives do for Him — there would be nothing to fear.

This, my last "MESSAGE" for the Bulletin, is written in the prayerful confidence that our Diocese will bravely accept the anxious challenge now before it. Under the leadership and vision of Bishop Donegan and with the loyal support that will be given him I am sure our parishes and missions will go forward to that more effective service that God is now demanding. We already have evidence of that in the response our laymen are making to the efforts of Mr. Ted Gannaway, now the full-time secretary of the Program of the Church, to organize our forces for more effective service.

But there is a hard task ahead. May God give to the Bishops, clergy and people of our Diocese faith, strength, and courage for the service that is needed.

Service of Thanks for the Bishop To Be Followed by Dinner Oct. 30

Prominent Churchmen Head Sponsoring Committee

A Service of Thanksgiving for the Leadership of the Bishop will be held in the Cathedral Saturday, Oct. 28, at 4 p.m. This date marks the 20th anniversary of his consecration to the Episcopate.

Bishop Donegan described the service as a demonstration "to express our affection and appreciation of his many years of faithful service to the Church as priest, Suffragan and Diocesan Bishop." The service was originally suggested by Bishop Donegan at the 168th Convention, May 9.

On the following Monday, there is to be "The Bishop's Dinner" at the Hotel Commodore, October 30, at 7 p.m. to provide an opportunity for the many friends of the Bishop to pay tribute to him.

Also: Mrs. Walker DeWaters, Mrs. E. Stuart Hubbard, Mrs. William H. Hulick, Jr., Mrs. Edwin F. Hussa, Mrs. J. R. Newman, and Mrs. Charles C. Walden, who are the chairmen of their respective Woman's Auxiliary convocation districts.

Columbia Awards S.T.D. to the Bishop, "A Devout . . . Churchman"

The Bishop received an S.T.D. at the last commencement of Columbia University on June 8, 1950.

The Citation reads as follows: Charles Kendall Gilbert, Bishop of New York, native of New York State and graduate of Hamilton College and the General Theological Seminary, editor of "The Churchman", executive secretary of the Social Service Commission of the Diocese of New York, and for sixteen years Suffragan Bishop of New York since 1947, eleventh in a distinguished line, able administrator, spiritual leader, devout and kindly churchman.

Work on Bishop Gilbert Field House Is Reported Under Way

Work on the Bishop Gilbert Field House began at St. Peter's School, Peekskill, early in July.

The new building is an annex to St. Peter's gymnasium and provides locker rooms and showers.

The Rev. Frank Leeming, headmaster of the school, has promised that, when completed, the Field House will accommodate an additional fifty boys and girls at the Diocesan Summer Conferences, heretofore held at St. Peter's.

However, at the present time, the builders have had to stop work because of lack of funds.

Mr. Robert Lee, who is heading the drive, said that this was to be expected during the summer vacation, but that it is hoped that construction can be resumed very soon. The building is scheduled for dedication, All Saints' Day, Nov. 1.

Additional promotional material is available from Mr. Lee, Suite 1303, 347 Madison Ave., N. Y. C., LExington 2-5147.

Synod Sessions Study Problems of Collegians

The Twenty-ninth Synod of the Province of New York and New Jersey, the Second Province, will meet on the Cathedral Close, Oct. 17 and 18, as guests of the Diocese.

The Diocese is host, at home, for the first time since before World War II. During the war, the Synod was entertained in Albany because of lack of hotel accommodations in New York City.

In addition to the transaction of regular business, there is to be a special discussion of college work in the Province led by the Rev. Robert N. Rodenmayer and Miss Katharine Duffield.

A panel of Dean Mildred de Barritt, President Alan W. Brown, Professor Hoxie N. Fairchild and Dean Thomas Clark Pollock, moderated by Dr. Virginia D. Harrington, will discuss "The Colleges' Answer" to students' religious needs.

Mrs. Reinhold Niebuhr and the Rev. Vesper O. Ward will give "The Church's Answer."

This session, beginning at 2:30 p.m. in the Synod Hall, Tuesday, is open to the clergy and laity. Visitors will also be welcome after the Wednesday luncheon to hear the Rt. Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill, S.T.D., Presiding Bishop of the Church.

Woman's Auxiliary Holds Open House for Province

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Diocese will hold open house for the Oct. 17-18 meeting of the Provincial Synod which has scheduled its fall session in the Synod House on the Cathedral Close.

The newly decorated and newly furnished quarters in Diocesan House will be open from 1:00 to 6:00 p.m. while the conference is in session.

Hobart College Lunch Oct. 4

The clergy of the Diocese were the guests of the Bishop and Bishop Donegan in the interest of Hobart College, Geneva, N. Y., Oct. 4 at the Hotel Ambassador, Man.

Train 30 New Laymen as Associate Field Officers for Fall Canvass

Eighty-Six Now Equipped to Tell of Church's Mission

Thirty carefully selected laymen were added to the roster of the fifty-six Associate Field Officers for the Diocese at a special training conference on the Program of the Church conducted at St. Peter's School, Peekskill, September 16 and 17.

Representing parishes from every part of the Diocese these men, together with those who served in a similar capacity last year, will be available to make effective presentations of the entire program of the Church to parish meetings and special parish groups in support of the Every Member Canvass this fall.

These eighty-five laymen, giving freely of their time and ability, are a part of more than 2300 specially trained laymen who are leading the Episcopal educational campaign that is now going on throughout the Church. This plan, originated last year, has proven so successful that it is the purpose of the program to inform every Episcopal churchmember of the plans, the needs and the opportunities which face the Church today both at home and overseas.

The parish, the diocese and the national mission work of the Church are included in the presentations.

The latest techniques of visual presentation gave the old and new Field Officers who attended the Peekskill conference a comprehensive view of every aspect of the Church's program. Also they were trained in the techniques of presenting it effectively to parish groups.

The training conference was under the sponsorship of the Committee on the Program of the Church led by the secretary, W. Ted Gannaway, and assisted by the seven convocation chairmen who are members of the Committee. These men are:

Ernest P. Meyer.....Dutchess
Louis F. Stauss.....Bronx
Clinton G. Harris.....Hudson
Eliot L. Ward.....Manhattan
Frank W. Conkling.....Ramapo
Van Lear Woodward.....Richmond
George W. Burpee.....Westchester

The entire group which will number more than 100 men will meet for their final training and to receive the presentation materials that will be used this fall in parish presentations, at a special one-day conference which will be held Sunday, October 1st in the Synod House on the Cathedral grounds.

At this time a special instructor, Mr. William T. Kirk, trained for this purpose by the National Church will be in charge.

Rev. Bryan Green to Preach at St. Bartholomew's, October 24

The Rev. Bryan Green, who conducted the Diocesan Youth Mission last year and the Mission at the Cathedral the preceding year, will preach at a special service in St. Bartholomew's, Man., Tuesday, Oct. 24 at 8 p.m.

This service is open to all and it is thought that this will probably be the only opportunity to hear him in New York this fall.

T FOR 1950

ranslating Christ's Commandment, "Go ye is your doing — doing for Christ and His bility, it is a way of Life.

National Church

Diocese

Parish

Your parish budget has been prepared and made known to you. It includes salaries, repairs, insurance, indebtedness, and other essentials.

Among those essentials is your parish missionary quota.

For every $2 you spend for yourself, on certain items, you are asked to spend $1 for the support of the Church's work in the Diocese and in the world. The expenditures on which the quota is based are:

Salaries of lay workers (except Church School Teachers)
Organist, music and choir
Heat and light in parish buildings
Other miscellaneous operating expenses.

Clergy salaries, pension or insurance premiums, taxes, interest, repairs, or special parochial expenses are not included in the expenditures upon which the quota is computed.

In other words, the smaller church whose primary expense is the clergyman's salary has a much smaller quota proportionately than the large institutional church with an elaborate music program, several lay workers on staff and a tremendous plant.

On this basis, for every $65 you spend for yourself on quota items, you are asked to spend $35 for the work of the Church in the Diocese and in the world.

Reproduced to the right is a breakdown of how your expenditures for parochial expenses compare with what you are asked to give for the total work of the church.

The parish budget is drawn up to represent a typical church, as near as such can be conceived in a Diocese as diverse as New York.

Youth Fashion Tea To Aid St. Hilda's

A "fashion show" tea for the benefit of St. Hilda's School has been planned for Nov. 4, it was announced by Miss Agnes Gould, chairman of the sponsoring committee.

The young St. Hildians wear uniforms in school, but they are delighted at the opportunity to "dress up" in George Jensen's models for sports, parties or street wear.

Proceeds are to aid in completing the reconstruction of the school building at 621 West 113th St. as ordered by the NYC Fire Dept.

St. Hilda's School which is operated by the Sisters of the Order of St. John the Divine, a Canadian order, offers a nursery for children 3-4 and Kindergarten and Grade One were started this Fall. Rates are $300 and $375 yearly.

Members of the benefit committee are: Mrs. Sheila Chapline, Mrs. Eberhard Faber, Mrs. Edward T. Hayes, Mrs. Norman H. Johnson, Mrs. M. Marx, Mrs. Richard McEvoy, Miss Lilla Mews, Mrs. Charles H. Morgan, Jr., Mrs. James H. Morgan, Mrs. Charles F. Schetlin, Mrs. Joseph P. Smyth, Jr., Mrs. Russell H. Tandy, Jr., and Mrs. Harry R. White.

Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Scheltin, RIverside 9-2094.

Brother to Ambassador to USSR To Meet with N. Y. Men on E.M.C.

William T. Kirk, whose brother is ambassador to the U.S.S.R., and who is an active churchman in New Jersey has been designated by the National Council to discuss national plans for the Every Member Canvass with the more than 100 volunteer Associate Field Officers of the Diocese.

Woman's Auxiliary Meets On the Cathedral Close

The October 31st meeting of the Diocesan Woman's Auxiliary will be held at 10:30 a.m. in the Synod House on the Cathedral Close to initiate a new meeting-place policy.

Previously, monthly meetings have been held as the guests of St. Bartholomew's, Man.

As a feature of the meeting, Canon West wil conduct a tour of the Cathedral immediately following the disposition of business.

Mrs. Robertson Cleveland, vice-president in charge of meetings, will be in charge of the women of the Convocation of Ramapo-Hudson; with Mrs. Frederick Gude in charge of the distribution of Forecast, the Woman's Auxiliary monthly publication; and Mrs. James Douglas Collins, offering.

The ladies of Hudson-Ramapo are: Mrs. Robert C. Ward, St. John's, Cornwall; Mrs. H. D. Langbraw, St. John's, Kingston; Mrs. Peter Cantline, St. George's, Newburgh; Mrs. Lewis Carr, St. George's, Newburgh; Mrs. Walter Klinck, Christ, Suffern; Mrs. John Bishop, Christ Church, Suffern; Mrs. Charles R. Carroll, Grace, Nyack; and Mrs. Charles C. Walden, Jr., St. Peter's, Stone Ridge.

CHAPLAIN, the Rev. Kenneth R. Terry, O.H.C., is greeted by some "Beginners" at the Diocesan Summer Youth Conference. 250 youngsters, aged 8-18 attended the three weekly sessions June 25-July 15. The $506 offering, contributed to the Bishop Gilbert Field House, was the largest in Conference history. Recordings of chapel singing are available for meetings through the Board of Religious Education.

School of Religion Opens October 16th

The Central School of Religion, sponsored by the Diocesan Board of Religious Education, will be held at the General Theological Seminary, 175 Ninth Avenue, on six Monday evenings beginning Oct. 16. Two class periods will be held each night—8:00-9:00 p.m. and 9:00-9:50 p.m.

Bishop Donegan to Institute Four Rectors Oct. 1-Nov. 12

This fall will see Bishop Donegan induct four rectors into new parishes.

On October 1, at 4 p.m. the Rev. Harold Benjamin Thelin was installed as rector of Grace, Nyack. He was formerly in charge of St. Stephen's, Armonk.

The Rev. E. Walter Chater will be instituted rector of All Saints', Harrison, on Oct. 15, at 11 a.m. He comes from the Diocese of Central New York.

Redeemer, Pelham, will receive the Rev. Frederick J. Vincent as rector on the same day at 4 p.m.

On Nov. 12, the Rev. Anson Phelps Stokes, Jr., will be instituted rector of St. Bartholomew's, Man. He is in the Diocese of Honolulu.

Return to God in Christ — Theme Of Mission by Dom Gregory Dix

Dom Gregory Dix is to conduct a week-long Mission at Saint Ignatius' Church, Man., Oct. 8-15, at 8:00 p.m. on the theme "Return to God in Christ."

Bishop Mallett of Northern Indiana will be the celebrant of the 10:30 Eucharist at the "Liturgical Day", Oct. 12, in Saint George's Church. A box luncheon will be served immediately following the Eucharist and at 2:00 p.m., Dom Gregory Dix will present his "Liturgical Demonstration" —dramatization of the Eucharist as it was in the first three centuries of the Christian Church.

50th Consecration Anniversary

St. Andrew's, Yonkers, on St. Barnabas Day, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of the consecration of their present edifice.

It was noted that St. Andrew's present warden, John K. Lovell was a member of the confirmation class which was presented to the Bishop, the Right Rev. Henry Codman Potter at the celebration service, made possible by the gift of Mrs. William Francis Cochran in 1900.

Dr. Dawley Gives Five Talks on Church History for Larchmont

Dr. Powel M. Dawley, Ph.D., General Theological Seminary professor of history will present the following lectures at St. John's, Larchmont:

Oct. 19 — The Origins of the Reformation
Oct. 26 — Luther, Calvin and the Protestant Reformers
Nev. 1 — Reform in the Church of England
Nov. 8 — The Anglican Tradition
Nov.15 — Christianity Since the Reformation

College Program Opens Sessions

The Cathedral Chapter of the Canterbury Club will begin its second year of Sunday evening programs for college students in the Synod House, Oct. 8.

Special events planned include a fall reception and dance and the presentation of a Christmas pageant.

At the opening meeting, the speaker will be the Rev. Roger W. Blanchard, executive director of the Division of College Work for the National Council.

CAMP ST. GEORGE, Parksville, will have a new recreation hall when the above is completed. The camp is operated by St. George's, Newburgh.

Last "Old" Poorly Housed Mission to Build New Church

The last of the poorly housed old congregations in the Diocese, St. Augustine's, Yonkers, is to be adequately churched it was announced last month by Theodor Oxholm, assistant treasurer of the Diocese.

As a first step, land has been purchased at 81 Locust Hill Ave., Yonkers. Plans call for a new church of the same general type as has been built under the "Cornerstone" Campaign.

The previous place of worship of St. Augustine's, a house at 322 Warburton Ave., was sold at the same time. The congregation had been ordered to cease using it as a place of public assembly by the Yonkers Building Department because of the recent growth of the congregation.

Present plans call for beginning construction this Fall.

Set Dates for Youth Agency Luncheon and Theatre Party

The Annual Fall Luncheon of the Youth Consultation Service, sponsored by the Bishop and Bishop Donegan, is to be held at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, Oct. 26, 1 p.m.

In addition to the Bishops, Dr. John A. P. Millet will speak. Mrs. Charles I. Morton is chairman of the arrangements committee.

YCS also announces their fall theatre benefit, "Black Chiffon," starring Flora Robson, Nov. 1, at the 48th St. Theatre. Mrs. Roland F. Elliman is chairman.

Reservations for both events may be made through YCS, CHelsea 2-2993.

Names New Head of St. Barbabas House

The appointment of Dorothy Baxter Greer as executive director of St. Barnabas House was announced Sept. 11 by the Bishop, as president of the Episcopal City Mission Society, under whose auspices the famous shelter operates.

Dorothy Greer

She was recently Senior Education Supervisor for the New York State Education Department. Prior to that, she was Director of the Nursery School and Child Care Center at the Church of All Nations.

St. Barnabas House, located at 304 Mulberry Street, was founded 86 years ago. It has facilities in its new and modern building for 62 children, 16 unwed, expectant mothers, and 8 friendless women.

Dr. Russell Celebrates 25-Years

The Rev. Dr. Edward Charles Russell, rector of St. Ann's, Morrisania, celebrated his 25 years of service as rector of this historic Parish, June 9th.

The celebration, held in the Parish Hall was attended by over 500 people and was under the chairmanship of Warden Arthur W. Traub assisted by Warden Charles L. Wessbecher and members of the vestry.

Report U. T. O. Shows A Steady Increase

The UNITED THANK OFFERING of the women of the Diocese is showing a steady increase according to the last report released by Mrs. Carolyn Whiteley, diocesan treasurer. The total spring offering was $20,804.92—an increase of $5,627.15 over the corresponding offering of the last triennium. This offering was made by approximately 6,000 women.

The total offering for the triennium to date is $39,490.31—which also is an increase of $9,814.20 over the same period of the previous triennium.

Mrs. Whiteley said, "With the increasing anti-Christian influences throughout the world, it is imperative that the work of our Church be maintained and strengthened. This can be done by sending more missionaries into the areas where their particular services are most needed. And, this can be accomplished to a large extent through the United Thank Offering of the women of our Church. Rectors are urged to encourage all the women of their parishes to assist in this missionary work of the Church."

The Advent Offering will be presented at a Service of Holy Communion at the Cathedral on Tuesday, December 5th at 10:30 o'clock, to which every woman in the Diocese is invited.

The Bishop's Message

In this first message I wish to pay my personal tribute to Bishop Gilbert and to say how deeply I appreciate the privilege that is mine in being called to succeed him as Bishop of our great Diocese. Bishop Gilbert's entire ministry has been spent in the Diocese of New York. He studied for Holy Orders at the General Theological Seminary, and was ordained to the Priesthood by Bishop Greer. After ordination he became Rector of Trinity Church, New Dorp, Staten Island, and later Rector of Grace Church, Millbrook; Editor of the Churchman; Rector of St. James' the Less, Scarsdale; and Executive Secretary of the Diocesan Social Service Commission.

Bishop Donegan

This wide experience gave him a unique preparation for the next task to which he was called as Suffragan Bishop. For seventeen years Bishop Gilbert served in this capacity unfailingly helpful to Bishop Manning. Three years ago when Bishop Manning retired Bishop Gilbert was elected our Chief Pastor and became the eleventh Bishop of New York.

Throughout this varied ministry of forty years Bishop Gilbert's kindness, courage, simplicity and self-forgetful service have won for him not only the respect but also the affection of all who have known him. He is greatly beloved in the Diocese, Community and throughout the Church.

One of the major notes of his ministry at all times has been his witness for social righteousness. Always he has been the champion of the under-privileged and the oppressed. Without any regard to creed or race he has been ready to work with all people who shared his concern for the common human good.

The fine spirit of unity that characterizes the Diocese today is the result of the wise and kindly leadership during the years Bishop Gilbert has been the Diocesan. He has maintained his Evangelical convictions without compromise, and expressed his beliefs without acrimony. But he has always sought to appreciate the truth contained in other traditions that he might be a Father-in-God to the whole Diocese, the servant of all the people.

He has been loyal to the faith and order of the Book of Common Prayer and to the doctrine and laws of the Church. Yet his loyalty to the Episcopal Church has not prevented him from cooperating with churchmen of other denominations. As did Bishop Manning he has sponsored great services in the Cathedral. These services have brought together people of all churches, and of no church.

The mother church of the Diocese has thus continued as it was in Bishop Manning's day, an instrument in furthering the ecumenical spirit and a witness for Christ in this unconverted world.

When one contemplates Bishop Gilbert's Episcopate the words from the Consecration Service are brought to mind. He has conformed his life to those promises that he made "to maintain and set forward quietness, love, and peace among all men; to be merciful for Christ's sake to poor and needy people and to all strangers destitute of help; to be to the flock of Christ a shepherd."

With thanksgiving for all that God has bestowed upon the Church through Bishop Gilbert's ministry and Episcopate we rejoice, and we will rejoice, in our every remembrance of him. We pray that in the days ahead he may have health and happiness, and that the peace of God which passeth all understanding may guide his heart and mind, through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Faithfully your Bishop,

Horace W. B. Donegan

The Tributes to the Retiring Dioc

The end of October saw the retiring Bishop of New York, the Right Reverend Charles Kendall Gilbert, D.D., S.T.D. bidding farewell to his far-flung diocesan pastorate. And in response, tribute was paid him by the churchmen and Christians with whom he had labored.

Bishop Gilbert became head of the Diocese on March 25, 1947, succeeding the late Right Reverend William T. Manning.

He was born in Bainbridge, N. Y. and received A.B., Master's and Doctor of Divinity degrees from Hamilton College. He was ordained a deacon in 1905, and a priest in 1906.

He was rector of Diocesan churches for nine years, editor of "The Churchman" for five years, and from 1920-1930 was executive secretary of the Social Service Commission when he was elected Suffragan Bishop. He became the eleventh Bishop of New York in 1947.

His last sermon was preached to his clergy and the people Oct. 28th at 3:30 p.m. in the Cathedral. The congregation which almost filled the nave of the Cathedral had come together for "A Service of Thanksgiving to Almighty God for the Leadership of Charles Kendall Gilbert."

Bishops, prominent laymen and the trustees of the Cathedral made up the Bishop's solemn procession which entered the nave of the Cathedral from the epistle side of the ambulatory. A procession of clergy and seminarians proceeded from the gospel side.

Bishop Donegan set the purpose of the service, to pray for Christ's Holy Catholic Church, to pray that Bishop Gilbert might have "the joy of knowing fully the extent of the love and esteem with which his brother Bishops, his clergy and his people regard him." And lastly, to "yield unto God, most high praise and hearty thanks for the leadership which this his servant has given to our great Diocese, and for his godly example of gentleness."

The Bishop, in speaking, noted the objectives toward which his ministry had striven, especially the need for Christian unity.

He prayed that the Church would continue to grow in "that mutual respect and understanding that will enable Christian people to work together." He said, "I would be proud if my ministry has contributed to that spirit of brotherhood so desperately needed in these critical times."

He thanked the Diocese "for the opportunity you have given me . . . the

e, a Christian" Are san, Bishop Gilbert

privilege of serving as your Father in God."

Turning from personal matters, he said, "Our concern is not the past. We must face the future. The peace of the world hangs in the balance. But men of faith may not despair. This is God's world."

Turning to the immediate future of the Diocese, Bishop Gilbert said, "When Bishop Donegan becomes your Bishop, I plead with you to give him your support—and your kindness.

"Though I am no longer the Bishop, the Diocese will be close to my heart as long as I live.

"I pray that God's blessing be upon this Church and the people of this Diocese to give you strength for the task put in your trust."

Tribute was paid to Bishop Gilbert at a dinner in his honor, Monday evening, Oct. 30th, at the Hotel Commodore.

Bishop Donegan, as master of ceremonies told the over one thousand guests that they had gathered to honor "his kindness, modesty, courage, self-effacing service which has won the respect and affection of all who know him throughout the Church."

Recalling Bishop Gilbert's service to the Diocese of New York from candidate for Holy Orders to Diocesan, Bishop Donegan credited the spirit of unity within the Diocese to "his fine Christian spirit. A constant source of strength." Noting that through Bishop Gilbert's contribution a "great Diocese greater for his consecrated service."

The Presiding Bishop, as the first speaker, set the note of cheerful lightness which made the evening a joyful occasion. "I come not to weep for you," he said, "but to envy."

Speaking on behalf of his brethren in the House of Bishops he said that Bishop Gilbert has for "forty years carried a message of the Gospel that has moved and deeply moves all who come in contact with him."

The Rev. Louis W. Pitt, rector of Grace, Man., trustee of the Cathedral, and dean of the Convocation of Manhattan spoke on behalf of the clergy of the Diocese.

He praised the spirit of unity in the Diocese, saying, "he created it. He has brought us together. He has made us see that the things that bind us together are more important than the things that divide us."

Dr. Pitt recalled the Monday morning prayer sessions at the Church of St. Mary the Virgin, Man., in preparation for the great historic Diocesan Preaching Mission in December of 1948, as the beginning of a new spirit in the Diocese.

In introducing the next speaker, the Honorable G. Forrest Butterworth, Diocesan Chancellor, who spoke for the laymen of the Diocese, Bishop Donegan announced that after a confirmation service, his first official act as Diocesan had been to reappoint the Chancellor who serves at the Bishop's pleasure.

The Chancellor said that the laity regarded Bishop Gilbert with deep affection, profound respect and gratitude for his example, "In the dignity of his high office no arrogance or undue familiarity. He met us with unfailing kindness."

The Rev. Theodore F. Savage, D.D., Stated Clerk of the New York Presbytery brought greetings from the Churches of the City.

Bishop Gilbert leaves the choir of the Cathedral at the end of his last service there as Diocesan

Bishop Gilbert spoke briefly at the close. Twitting the speakers for the "pleasant things" they had said, he remarked that he couldn't identify the person they were talking about.

But in a note of seriousness, he again urged the clergy and laity to live true to their great heritage and "to make of this Church something God can use."

Home for Chronically Ill Celebrates Seventy Years

On Dec. 18, the Board of Managers of the House of the Holy Comforter, an institution for chronically ill women, will celebrate the 70th Anniversary of the home with a tea and open house. It is located at 196th St. and Grand Concourse, Bronx.

The House was established Sept. 15, 1879, by a deaconess of the Church, Sister Louise. It was incorporated in 1880 as the Free Church Home for Incurables, its former name. During the past year $90,000 was given in free care.

It is a 4-story fireproof building, adequately equipped. A large garden provides a restful outlook from spacious porches.

Rectors of 3 Yonkers Parishes Announce Their Resignations

The Rev. Wilbur L. Caswell, rector of St. Paul's, notified his vestry of his intention to retire from the active ministry June 1, 1951. St. Paul's was consecrated, debt-free, during his ministry.

The Rev. Llewellyn O. Diplock resigned from Christ Church. He had served since 1939. He goes to Harrisburgh, Pa.

The Rev. Lynde E. May, III, has resigned St. Andrew's as of Nov. 15. He was ordered into service when the naval reserve was activated. He is a lieutenant commander.

St. Peter's School Field House Is Dedicated by Bishop Donegan

With appropriate ceremonies, Bishop Donegan dedicated the Bishop Gilbert Field House as a living memorial to the Rt. Rev. Charles K. Gilbert, Bishop of New York at St. Peter's School, Peekskill, on All Saints' Day afternoon, Nov. 1.

The cornerstone of the new building was laid by Louis E. McFadden, president of the Board of Trustees of St. Peter's, in the presence of a number of distinguished clergy and lay people.

Funds to erect the field house were raised among Episcopalians throughout the Diocese who purchased bricks from $1 up.

The idea of a field house as a tribute to Bishop Gilbert came about because a committee, authorized by the last convention, knew of his profound interest in youth work and education.

$400 proceeds from the 1950 Bishop's ball had been voted to the project by the Diocesan Youth Council. In all, they pledged $1,000 toward the field house. Previously, $506 had been given by the Diocesan Summer Youth Conference, so that youth, altogether, expects to give more than $1,500.

Clergy of the Dioc To Make "Effectiv

Pall of World Affairs Over-

A heavy pall of world anxiety overshadowed the Fall Clergy Conference held at the Hotel Thayer, West Point, Oct. 10-11. Each speaker, citing the challenges of war and Communism, reminded the clergy of the great need for effective working unity among Christians, for the strengthening of personal devotion, and of the programmatic attack which must be made upon secular lethargy and ignorance.

In introducing the theme, "The Church's Responsibility in the Present World Crisis", the Bishop set the tone of the Tuesday opening session in saying, "There has never been a time when our nation has been confronted with such grave dangers . . . a devastation of all which we hold dear."

He listed "the good things" to be counted in facing up to our times as the promise of Bishop Donegan's leadership, the efforts of W. Ted Gannaway in recruiting the interest and energy of laymen, and the progress made in the field of education.

The Bishop said the conference should help the clergy answer, "What are we prepared to do about it? Now."

The Rt. Rev. Malcolm E. Peabody, D.D., Bishop of Central New York, in the first address, reminded the assemblage that many conferences are like an ancient Indian's comment on a sermon, "Big noise. Big wind. No rain."

He stressed the urgency of the times, as impelled by the break-up of old patterns.

He asked, "Can the Church embrace evangelical truth and apostolic order? Can we recognize the validity of every personal experience of Jesus Christ?" He noted that revelation comes in many ways and asked if we, as Christians, really know Christ.

"When we know him in the world," he said, "we will know it. In the sunset of life, the vividness of Christ's light is brighter — Thy morning pledge that evening time it shall be light."

Secondly, he stressed the "functional" distinctiveness of Anglican orders; but warned against "clericalism".

Lastly, he saw the test of our faith in the breadth of our fellowship. "We each contribute that which we have."

Spencer Miller, Jr., LL.D., president of the American International College, Springfield, Mass., also discussed the struggle with Communism. He saw unity at an international level, hopefully through the United Nations, as requiring the inspiration of Christ's united Church.

At dinner, the Rev. Leland B. Henry asked the clergy for their opinion on a winter workshop on social problems. A questionnaire was distributed.

After the clergy newly come to the Diocese had been introduced, the Rt. Rev. Charles F. Boynton, S.T.D., Suffragan Bishop-elect, warned "God has lifted the lid of the atom. And he has said, 'Chose life or death. But chose.' Man as well as Christ can hold this orb in the palm of his hand." Bishop Boynton said that the only analo-

He cited the World Council of Churches as "God's implement that must have authority to make binding pronouncements." Stressing the urgent need for unity, he called for "Unity of common things, rather than emphasis of difference."

After the Wednesday morning Eucharist and breakfast, Bishop Donegan gave concrete and diocesan direction to the previous day's discussions.

He stressed the need for Christian Education and unity. "We are united, thanks to the leadership of our Diocesan," he said. "Points of difference are important, but what are they beside our great heritage."

Recognizing the difficulties to be faced, he challenged the clergy, "Let us be spiritual. The way may be difficult, but if we are truly dedicated, we can go forward with confidence and courage."

He cited the church construction completed, noting St. Augustine's, Yonkers, as the newest building responsibility accepted. For this work he paid tribute to Theodor Oxholm and to the energy of the archdeacon, the Ven. George F. Bratt.

Bishop Donegan brought world problems, diocesan needs and projects to bear on the Fall Every Member Canvass, saying, "When we fail, it is because the story has never been told. Last year, we partially told the story, and there was an increase in giving."

He then introduced W. Ted Gannaway who demonstrated the presentation and slides to be used in the educational visits to parishes by trained laymen this fall.

At the close, the Rev. John Huess, D.D., director of the Department of Christian Education of the National Council told of the Church's program in education.

Clergy in Pre-Advent Quiet Day

Bishop Donegan will meet with the clergy as their Diocesan for the first time at a pre-Advent Quiet Day to be held Nov. 27, on the Cathedral Close.

The Bishop of Ely, England, will conduct the meditations. The Day will begin with a 10:30 a.m. celebration of the Holy Communion at the Cathedral.

MISS ALICE M. PRATT is presented a gold wrist watch by the Bishop and Bishop Donegan, Oct. 27, on behalf of the Diocesan staff at a tea in her honor at the Cathedral House. Miss Pratt is leaving the Diocese after twenty-two years as secretary to the Bishop. She is becoming administrator of Seabury House, the National Council conference center in Connecticut.

Set St. Barnabas' House Benefit

St. Barnabas House will be the beneficiary of the performance of "Il Trovatore" with Zinka Milanov as soprano, Kurt Baum as tenor, and Margaret Harshaw as contralto, on the evening of Tuesday, January 23rd, at the Metropolitan Opera House.

Tickets for the opera may be obtained from Mrs. Bedell Holmes Harned at St. Barnabas House, 304 Mulberry Street, DIgby 9-0633.

Rector of St. Bartholomew's Resigns. Institute Successor

On Nov. 1, the Rev. George Paull T. Sargent, closed his rectorship at St. Bartholomew's, Man. with a celebration of the All Saints' Day Holy Communion at 8 a.m.

On the previous Sunday, at a 4 p.m. service of thanksgiving for his years of service, Bishop Donegan paid tribute to Dr. Sargent's work, noting especially that throughout his ministry the "parish has made full payment of the missionary quotas assigned."

The Rev. Anson Phelps Stokes, Jr., who succeeds Dr. Sargent, will be installed Nov. 12, at 11 a.m. Dr. Sargent will become rector emeritus.

Laymen Corp Gives Presentations To Parishes of Church's Program

Daily Presentations Being Made Throughout Diocese

Almost 100 fully trained and well equipped laymen are making daily presentations of the Program of the Church in the Diocese, in the nation and in the world. These presentations have been created primarily for parish congregations gathered together in parish meetings and are approximately forty minutes in length.

They carry as their principal theme the slogan used for the Every Member Canvass this fall, "For a Christian Nation in a Christian World." Illustrated with colored slides and enlivened by the recorded voices of missionary Bishops, the presentations are of great interest to all ages.

Though not primarily designed for this purpose, the presentations, nevertheless, are expected to give great impetus to the Every Member Canvass this fall, for it is the firm conviction of the men involved that when our people know, they will share liberally of their means in support of the Church's Program.

Each Field Officer has been given assignments of parishes not too distant from his home and is available on dates scheduled by each parish or mission when such meetings can be most conveniently held.

Parishes desiring to obtain the services of these laymen should get in touch with the Convocation Chairman for Layman's Work in his convocation or call the office of the Committee on the Program of the Church at the Diocesan House.

POSTER for the Advent Corporate Communion of Men and Boys to be celebrated throughout the Church, Dec. 3, has been distributed to every Church for display.

Theodore Roosevelt's 6 Reasons For Going to Church Are Cited

In discussing preparation for the Advent Communion for Men and Boys, December 3, W. Ted. Gannaway cited nine reasons, credited to the late Theodore Roosevelt, for going to church:

1. In this actual world, a churchless community, a community where men have abandoned and scoffed at or ignored their religious needs, is a community on the rapid down grade.

2. Church work and church attendance means the cultivation of the habit of feeling some responsibility for others.

3. There are enough holidays for most of us. Sundays differ from other holidays in the fact that there are fifty-two of them every year — therefore on Sundays go to church.

4. Yes, I know all the excuses. I know that one can worship the Creator in a grove of trees, or by a running brook, or in a man's own house just as well as in church. But I also know as a matter of cold fact that the average man does not thus worship.

5. He may not hear a good sermon at church. He will hear a sermon by a good man who is engaged all the week in making hard lives a little easier.

6. He will listen to and take part in reading some beautiful passages from the Bible. And if he is not familiar with the Bible, he has suffered a loss.

Work Shop on Social Problems Jan. 29th

"The Church and the Social Order" will be the general subject of a "workshop" which will be held in New York City on Monday, January 29, and Tuesday, January 30, 1951, under the sponsorship of the Commission on Christian Social Relations. The workshop was first proposed by the Rev. Leland B. Henry, Executive Director of the Commission, at the Clergy Conference at West Point. The response was so favorable that the Commission voted unanimously to proceed with the plan.

The program will begin with a consideration of "The Direction of Social and Economic Change", and "The Problem of Peace and Freedom." That evening the subject will be "The Theology of Social Action," and on Tuesday morning the conference will take up a consideration of "The Techniques of the Church for Social Education and Social Action."

In each session there will be a speaker who will introduce the subject, followed by a discussion period led by a chairman and one or more discussants, with participation from the floor. The names of participants will be announced as promptly as possible.

Reports Episcopal Service To Aged a Going Concern

The Episcopal Service to the Aged is now functioning on a full time basis from the agency office on the third floor of Diocesan House, Cathedral Close, Miss Elizabeth Evans, director, reported last month.

The director said she would be "glad to talk with elderly persons who wish help either with present emergencies or in making future plans, as well as with members of the clergy, relatives, and others who are concerned with the care of the aged."

Home visits are arranged for those unable to come to the Diocesan House. The director warned, however, that they must "have indicated a wish for service."

It was requested that all who wish to consult with Miss Evans telephone or write for an appointment as part of her activity is in the field.

Give the BULLETIN As a Christmas Present

All subscribers to the BULLETIN are reminded to let us know when they change their address. The magazine is mailed under a periodical permit (3rd Class Mail) and is not forwarded.

Now is the time to renew your subscription and every parish is requested to appoint an agent to take subscriptions. Remember the BULLETIN is an excellent Christmas present.

You cannot know what your Diocese is doing if you don't read the BULLETIN.

W.A. Diocesan Devotional Troupe To Help Organize Prayer Schools

The Diocesan Devotional Committee of the Woman's Auxiliary has organized a Diocesan Devotional Troupe, to be known as the D.D.T., Mrs. Marjorie Porter announced last month.

The D.D.T. will emphasize Schools of Prayer, together with general devotional guidance.

Their schedule is as follows:

WESTCHESTER: November 9th, 11:00-3:00 p.m.

MANHATTAN: November 15th, Calvary Church, 11:00-3:00 p.m.

RICHMOND: December 11th, 6:30-10:00 p.m.

DIOCESAN QUIET DAY, January 9th, The Rev. Theodore P. Ferris, Church of Incarnation, 10:30-3:00 p.m.

RAMAPO: March 14th, St. George's, Newburgh, 11:00-3:00 p.m.

BRONX: April 11th, Church of Holy Nativity, 1:00-3:00 p.m.

EVENING BRANCHES

WESTCHESTER: March 7th, 6:30-10:00 p.m.

Discuss Westside Laymen's Group

The Men's Club of All Angels, Man., have invited all laymen of the west side to attend a meeting at the Synod Hall, Cathedral Close, Nov. 21, at 8:15 p.m., to discuss forming a Westside Episcopal Laymen's Club.

"Red" Barber, sportswriter, and James E. Craig, editorial writer of the Telegram-Sun, will be the speakers.

Fall Meetings of Seven Convocations Are Well Attended

The regular fall meetings of the seven convocations of the Diocese were completed last month with a record of fine representation from the parishes and missions of each convocation. Bishop Donegan presided at each of the meetings.

He also spoke on the vital necessity of spreading the Gospel "Good News" aggressively throughout the Diocese, the nation and the world if the challenge of the times be met. He called upon every parishioner to step forth boldly in support of the entire program our Church seeks to follow.

Miss Elizabeth Evans, executive director of the Episcopal Service to the Aged, reported that many of the clergy and laity have already been in touch with her and made use of the facilities now offered.

She stressed the necessity for full cooperation on the part of the elderly people to be assisted, pointing out that one must be sure the service is actually desired by those older people who are referred.

Miss Evans said that "Episcopal Service to the Aged", is a more accurate title since there is no admission on the part of anyone that he or she is aged. "Old age," said Miss Evans, "seems to be just five years from whatever you are at present."

W. Ted Gannaway, secretary to the Committee on the Program of the Church, talked of the responsibilities facing the laymen in the Church. He urged every parish and mission to make full use of the Associate Field Officers by inviting them to speak.

"If we are to obtain the amount of time, talent, and money immediately necessary for the Church through its program to meet the critical situation now faced," Mr. Gannaway said, "then the loyal 30 per cent who usually carry 75 per cent of the burden of the parish must go out aggressively and obtain the interest and support of the reluctant 70 per cent who have been resting complacently on the outer fringe of every parish."

Liturgical Demonstration Held at St. George's Man.

On Oct. 12 the parishes of St. Ignatius and St. George of Manhattan joined together in a Liturgiual Day held at St. George's.

At 10:30 a.m. the Service of Holy Communion was celebrated according to the Book of Common Prayer with emphasis on certain ceremonials which were universal in the ancient Christian Church. Dom Gregory Dix preached.

After luncheon, at 2 p.m., Dom Gregory Dix presented "A Demonstration of the Early Christian Liturgy." One of its most distinctive features was the presenting of bread and wine by the communicants as part of their offering, and the absence of Eucharistic vestments.

SCK's Celebrate Their Feast Day

The Rev. Grieg Taber, D.D., addressed the Youth Rally of the Servants of Christ the King on their Feast Day, Sunday afternoon, October 29th, at St. Ignatius', Man.

Grace, Hastings, Refurbished

Eighty-eight floor beams, a new rubber tile floor in the nave, chancel and sanctuary have been completed at Grace, Hastings-on-Hudson. The rector, the Rev. James L. Whitcomb, announced $4,000 "debt notes" bought by the congregation, paid for the work.

Also, a St. Cecelia window, in memory of Minerva Spencer Handy given by Mr. and Mrs. Reginald H. Eagles, was installed.

THIS new addition to St. John's, Wilmot, New Rochelle, will be dedicated by Bishop Donegan Nov. 19 at 4 P.M. The parish raised and pledged $33,000 toward the $55,000 rectory-church school-parish-hall.

Diocese is Host to 29th Synod Meeting

The 29th Synod of the Second Province met on the Cathedral Close, Oct. 17-18.

Fourteen Bishops, fifty clerical deputies, and forty lay deputies represented the 400,000 churchmen of the 8 Dioceses of New York and New Jersey, with the Missionary Districts of Panama Canal Zone, Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands, Dominican Republic and Haiti. The Woman's Auxiliary of the Province met at the same time, on the Close.

The Rt. Rev. Malcolm E. Peabody, Bishop of Central New York, presided at the sessions and outlined the purposes of the province to the morning meeting as the prosecution of measures designed to strengthen inter-diocesan fellowship, the re-establishing of our faith in the colleges, the "making of common cause" with other Christian groups, and the "praise of God in great acts of worship."

The Tuesday afternoon session heard the Rev. Robert N. Rodenmayer, chaplain to Episcopal students at Smith College, and rector of St. John's, Northampton, Mass., on "Questions College Students Most Often Ask Their Chaplain."

Taking a dim view of the Christianity of the average student, he created a Dorothy Doe as a typical product of "Christian" homes where religion is merely a "garnish" and a "side-line" and where the family goes to church only sporadically.

As a consequence, he said "Dorothy" is probably familiar with the Lord's Prayer and the parable of the Good Samaritan, but knows Christmas only as a time for exchanging presents.

The sessions closed Wednesday with an address by the Presiding Bishop. We were warned that the crucial question for our times is whether "we are to have a Christian era or are to descend into paganism."

Among the officers elected to office were the Rev. Charles J. Buck, Holy Nativity, Bronx, chairman of the House of Deputies; The Rev. Fenimore E. Cooper, Trinity, Mt. Vernon, secretary; and Theodor Oxholm, treasurer.

Install Bishop Donegan Diocesan At the Cathedral November 18th

The installation of Bishop Donegan as Bishop of New York will be held in the Cathedral, Saturday, November 18, at 3 p.m., with the Presiding Bishop and the Bishop Officiating.

The new Bishop will be the twelfth Bishop of New York since the Diocese was organized in 1785.

Bishop Donegan was consecrated Suffragan Bishop of New York, Oct. 28, 1947. He was elected Bishop Coadjutor Oct. 25, 1949 by unanimous acclaim, the first time in the history of the Diocese.

Board Plans Spring Conference To Discuss Parish Day Schools

The Board of Religious Education at the October meeting, voted to send the director, the Rev. J. Willard Yoder, to the First Annual Conference of the Episcopal Parish School Association, Chicago, Jan. 9-11. He will bring back ideas for the first Diocesan Conference on "Parish Day Schools" to be held shortly after Easter.

The Rev. James A. Pike, J.S.D., chairman of the Board's Committee on Released Time, Day Schools, and Institutions, reported that there are 24 schools in the Diocese. Of these, 11 are nursery schools and the other 13 go beyond the nursery age.

The Rev. Canon B. I. Bell will address the Chicago Conference on "What is the Parish Day School For?" Mrs. Dora Chaplin of the Episcopal Editorial Board will discuss "What Do We Want for Our Children?"

Completed New Guild Hall Promised by December 1st

The newly remodeled Guild Hall on the Cathedral Close should be ready for use by Dec. 1, the architect, Frederick King, said early this month.

The first floor will provide a laymen's clubroom, a choir superior's room, laundry, workshop, and garage for 8-10 cars.

The second floor will house robing-rooms for clergy and choir, connected by a bridge with the Cathedral. The remodeled exhibit hall will have a large Easternly window.

Mr. King noted that when the work on the Guild Hall is completed, remodeling will begin on Diocesan House to create two floors of offices and two floors of apartments.

Ogilvie House will continue to be the residence of the Bishop.

Diocesan Historiographer Asks Historical Material

The Historiographer of the Diocese is seeking historical source material on the Diocese and its Churches.

Parish histories, writings of clergy, notable events, sermons, other material and especially the proceedings of the Diocesan Convention from 1785 until 1900 are sought. There has been no published history of the Diocese since 1885.

Old Hymnals Available on Call

The Church Periodical Club of the Diocese of New York has on hand a large number of hymnals which have been sent to us by parishes which have purchased the new hymnal for their use. They would be glad to know of any parish or mission which would like to receive these hymnals which were discarded for the new hymnal.

"We Are Workers Together with

MY BROTHERS, RIGHT REVEREND AND REVEREND BRETHREN, AND PEOPLE OF THE HOUSEHOLD OF GOD:

It is with deep emotion that I speak to you at this solemn moment as I formally and officially take up the responsibilities which must claim all my powers and faculties of body, soul and spirit from this day onward. To give adequate expression to one's thoughts and feelings on such an occasion as this is a difficult undertaking. I know that I shall have your sympathy and understanding. I thank you with all my heart for the encouragement of your prayers and presence today.

Throughout this memorable service I have realized afresh the magnitude of the t: sks that are now mine. I cannot but feel a deeper sense of my dependence upon God and my need of the support of every member of our Diocesan family in carrying out the duties of this sacred office, to which God through you has called me.

Yet though the burden is overwhelmingly great one takes courage and hope in the conviction that one is not left to bear it alone. God does give strength and wisdom to all who strive faithfully to exercise the duties of the Christian ministry.

Praise for Predecessors

At this time it is natural for us all, and inevitable for me, to remember with gratitude those who have inspired and guided the Diocese of New York. We think of Samuel Provoost the first Bishop who went to England for Consecration; of Benjamin Moore; of John Henry Hobart who stirred the Church to new zeal with his watchwords "Evangelical Truth and Apostolic order"; of Benjamin Treadwell Onderdonk; of Jonathan Mayhew Wainwright and Horatio Potter devoted leaders of the Church. We think of Henry Codman Potter whose civic-minded statesmanship made him known as the citizen Bishop; of David Hummell Greer who was glad to have his own leadership forgotten that Christ might be all in all; of the dedicated ministry of Charles Sumner Burch. Nor do we forget that valiant soldier of Christ Herbert Shipman, or Arthur Selden Lloyd of whom it is true to say he walked in daily companionship with God.

We remember particularly William Thomas Manning, known personally to us all, who entered the Church Triumphant one year ago today.

No one ever doubted his unflinching courage, his unfaltering love for the Church, his fidelity to its traditions, his personal devotion to our crucified, risen and ascended Lord. A resolute contender for the Faith, cathedral builder, the name of William Thomas Manning will always claim the respectful and affectionate remembrance of this Diocese.

It is not necessary for me to speak of my immediate predecessor who is happily present with us today. Bishop Gilbert is known to this vast assembly as a man of God, an Apostle of Jesus Christ, beloved in this city, this Diocese, and throughout the Church. That he may enjoy many years of health and happiness and that the peace of God which passeth all understanding may guide and guard him in the days ahead, is the sincere prayer of us all.

The Vistas of Church History

By means of this varied leadership across the years the Episcopate has contributed to the spiritual heritage of this Diocese and greatly enriched the traditions of the whole Church. One is profoundly humbled and challenged to stand as the latest in such a succession.

This stately service reminds us today of the long history of our Church. As part of the world-wide fellowship we call the Anglican Communion our life goes back beyond the establishment of the Church on this continent; back beyond the turbulent times of the Reformation; back beyond the middle ages; back beyond the ancient British and Celtic churches; back through the years to the moment when our Lord chose twelve men that they might be with Him. Through the succeeding centuries the Church has steadfastly witnessed to the reality of the living Lord. We recall our inheritance, not in pride but in humility and gratitude, mindful that with such a heritage goes a great responsibility.

We are workers together with God in a Church which gives us the Faith, Sacraments, and Ministry as they have come down to us from Apostolic days; a truly democratic Church in which there is intellectual and spiritual freedom; a Church which requires of its members to accept as necessary to salvation only those doctrines that may be concluded and proved by the Scripture. Our highest loyalty, from which all other loyalties derive their validity, is to our Lord as the Word of God, the only Saviour of mankind. It is by His message that we authenticate the truth of our doctrine; it is in His name we offer our prayer, praise and service; it is Him we exalt as the center of our life.

The Church Faces Today

We belong to a Church that has held fast to the historic faith and traditions, yet our Church has ever been ready to face new perceptions of truth interpreting them in the spirit of Christ that the eternal Gospel may be understood in every age and generation. The belief that the Holy Spirit has guided and will guide His Church to greater understanding of God's truth is one of our fundamental and most cherished doctrines. Trusting in this guidance which has provided us with our rich tradition, and having the roots of our faith firmly held in Holy Scripture we believe it is the God-given destiny of our Church to hold together the essential and vital truths of Catholicism and Protestantism.

The comprehensive character of our Church has been well stated by that distinguished Christian leader, the late William Temple, Archbishop of Canterbury, highly esteemed by churchmen of all communions, "Our inclusiveness enables us to hold out a hand both to the ancient churches of the East and to Rome on the one side, and to all who with us are heirs of the Reformation on the other. And in that we have a position unique in Christendom, the full value of which can only be realized for the Universal church so far as we are true to both sides of our own tradition." Being both Catholic and Protestant makes for tensions at times but when the stresses are the result of honest searching to understand better God's will for His Church, such tensions are signs of the spiritual vitality which has always characterized the Anglican Communion.

It is good to see here members of churches other than our own; most welcome and honored representatives of the Orthodox Churches of the East and the Reformed churches of the West whose presence this afternoon symbolizes the ecumenical spirit of our times. We rejoice in this visible manifestation of our oneness in Christ.

The Hope of Christian Unity

As workers together with God we deplore the divisions which sorely handicap the influence of Christianity and blunt the Christian appeal. Unable to speak with a corporate voice; unable to give a united testimony, a divided society cannot do its true work or meet the deep need of the world. The need for the drawing together of all Christian forces is clearly evident today.

Whatever are our differences we are all brothers in Christ. It is obvious, therefore, that we must seek that unity for which our Lord prayed.

I believe we may best prepare for the Reunion of Christendom by prayer; by the cultivation of friendship; by study, in a spirit of charity, that we may better understand the principles that divide us; by cooperation in the many areas in which we can work together for the advancement of the Kingdom of God; by the recognition of the vital truths we hold in common, ever remembering our common loyalty to our common Lord. In this way, without any surrender of principle, without disloyalty to our particular inheritance, we shall come eventually to that unity of spirit which must precede unity of organibation and method.

We must be realistic however and not have any superficial optimism about the immediate achievement of this great objective. There are genuine differences of conviction within and without the Church which will not be easily or quickly resolved. But the difficulties must not deter us from continuous prayer and study, until we reach that day when the prayer of our Redeemer is fully realized, "That they all may be one, as Thou, Father, art in Me and I in Thee that they also may be one in Us."

Our Primary Objective

Important as is this objective of unity among the Churches as workers together with God, we know that the primary duty and immediate task of the Church today is the salvation of souls; the conversion of men and women to Christ. Too often the Church gives so much attention to other matters that it loses sight of its divinely appointed task.

The present times offer a unique opportunity to bring to people the living word of the living Christ. The ideologies are failing. People are ready to listen to the message of the transforming power of God. Thoughtful men and women want to find a meaning and purpose in life other than gratifying their material and transient satisfactions. They want to know if there is a personal and present God. They want to know if this is God's world; they want to know if life ends at the grave.

Here is opportunity!

The Church alone has the answer to these questions, for it enables us to understand the meaning of our present life against the background of eternity.

Challenge of the Unchurched

If we are to be faithful to our Lord's command to be ever going forth winning new disciples, commending our Lord to the world, we cannot be content to minister only to those who are already converted. In every city, in every town, and in every village in this Diocese a large part of the population is completely detached from any form of organized religion and completely ignorant as to what Christianity is all about. These people think of the Church as a harmless institution concerned with matters that are quite unimportant. To them Christianity has no relevance to their problems and lives.

To these we must go in the name of the Lord and His Church presenting the Gospel with conviction and simplicity. Moreover we shall have to discover new methods of approach, and be willing to adventure, if we are to reach the indifferent, uninformed people of our society.

We must teach carefully and consistently the sovereignty of God; the Christian doctrine of man; the necessity of membership in the Church for salvation; the sacraments as divinely appointed means of Grace; the certainty of everlasting life to all who receive Christ as Lord and Saviour. Our teaching and preaching must be in language that ordinary men and women can understand.

Our Social Responsibility

While the primary task of the Church is to reach individuals with the words and promises of the Eternal Gospel, the Church has also a social responsibility.

It is not the function of the Church to advocate particular economic and political systems, but it is the duty of the people of the Church to apply the teachings of Christ to every human relationship and in every circumstance of life. As her people follow the Lord in the ordinary ways of public life, holding absolutely and without compromise to clear-cut Christian principles the Church will make her best contribution to the better social order for which all men long, and hasten the day when God's will is done on earth as it is in heaven.

Out beyond the west doors of this Cathedral, in this great city, are to be found the age-old factors which separate man from man in the spirit of Christ; class consciousness, racial prejudice, ignorance, greed, jealousy, self-interest. These divisions can only be healed by the saving power of God in Christ. Redemption in Christ is the message which the Church must proclaim with renewed zeal and vigor. God sent His Son to unite a broken world, to secure for every race and nation brotherhood and peace. Only the redeeming love of our Lord can unite men with their fellowmen and at the same time unite the life of mankind to the life of God.

The Danger of Communism

There is a philosophy in the world which professes a concern for the well-being of the common man. But we know what is going on behind the iron curtain in Russia and the countries controlled by Communism. We know the men of the Kremlin have crushed all liberty of thought and action. We know the subtle and persistent opposition of Communism to the international instrument of world peace and order. We know the people of Russia, most of whom probably want peace, are kept in ignorance of the true intentions of the Western world by the false, artful propaganda of their leaders. We know that Communism is atheistic in its denial of God, and materialistic in its view of man and his destiny. Most of all we know the hatred all Communists have for Christianity as it finds expression in all the Churches.

Our Church, let no one mistake it, is aware of the menace of Communism to religion and its threat to our American way of life. The General Convention of 1949 condemned Communism in clear, unmistakable terms, as did the Bishops of the Anglican Communion at Lambeth in 1948. The Church, along with all who believe in human freedom, must support the firm measures being taken by the United States to resist aggression that all who love liberty may be secure in a free world. But it will take more than armed force, more than argument, to make society impregnable to the threats and temptations of Communism. Individually and corporately we must translate into facts our ideals of brotherhood, economic justice, peace and good will.

Communism's concern for the common man is to make him a more efficient vassal of the State. The Church has a deep concern for the common man, and every man, because he is a child of God for whom Christ died. And let us not forget it is the Christian faith, not Communism, that has been the instigator of every present institution for the amelioration of human misery, the fore-runner of every effort for the improvement of the welfare of the common man and of all humanity. It is through Christianity, under whatever form of government it is allowed to function freely, that man rises to his full stature as a child of God and an inheritor of the Kingdom of Heaven.

The Charge to the Diocese

Now may I address these final words to my brethren of the clergy and laity of the Diocese, and most of all to myself:

In the Book of Common Prayer the Bishop is called A Father-in-God, implying the essentially pastoral nature of the office. A Bishop in these days has responsibilities, numerous and complex, claiming his time and attention. But I wish to make clear that it is my earnest desire to be first and foremost a pastor to the clergy. I want our relationship with one another to be friendly, not merely official and ecclesiastical, for we are workers together with God in the common cause He has entrusted to us. I bespeak your patience in the fulfillment of the tasks that God through you has laid upon me and always I ask your prayers before the Throne of Grace.

I shall count on your loyalty and understanding as I administer the Diocese according to the canons and constitution of the Church and the rubrics of the Book of Common Prayer. If I am to be faithful to my consecration vow I can do no other. As every Bishop is required, I promised conformity and obedience to the doctrine, discipline and worship of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America. Ours is a disciplined Church and we must be guided by the specific rules and directions that are laid down for us in the constitution, canons and Book of Common Prayer.

Let us always stand firmly together on the fundamental and essential loyalties. The matters on which there is disagreement are indeed important, but what are they in comparison with the common life which we share, the common faith we possess, the common discipleship which unites us to our common Lord and to one another. Our fellowship with Christ is deeper and stronger than our differences.

Call for Dedication to Christ

Lastly, and most important of all, let us be dedicated Christians. Unless we are dedicated men and women our worship and work will be of little value. For it is not by its long history; it is not by its numerous and efficient organizations, but by the dedicated lives of its clergy and laity that the Church can discharge its mission. We shall be people of power just in proportion as we are people of God. This service ought to be not only a dedication of the individual concerned but also a dedication of the whole Diocese.

We have a common allegiance to our Lord Jesus Christ, the divine Head of the Church. It is to Him we offer our worship and praise; it is from Him and most of all in the sacramental life of His Church that we receive strength to carry out our respective tasks in these momentous days.

"We are workers together with God." It is His Church. It is His world. It is His victory that we seek. In the spirit of this faith let us go forward together!

O God our help in ages past
Our hope for years to come
Be Thou our strength while life shall last
And our eternal home.

Now unto the King, eternal, immortal, invisible, the only wise God, be honor and glory for ever and ever. AMEN.

The 12 Bishops Having Held the See of New York

Following are the biographies of the twelve Bishops of New York as reported in "Church Facts", prepared by the office of the Program of the Church for use in training laymen to know about the Church.

The Diocesan Convention of 1786 elected Samuel Provoost the first Bishop of New York. He was known as a great scholar, and among his contemporaries had the reputation for bringing the highest order of eloquence to his pulpit.

The second Bishop of New York, 1815-1816, was Benjamin Moore. During his administration there were twenty-two parishes and three chapels in the entire state of New York. It was Bishop Moore's son who provided the site which was later to be used for the General Theological School.

Bishop John Henry Hobart, 1816-1830, was one of the few epoch-making bishops in our history. He had a kind of missionary or evangelical spirit by which he revitalized the Church and made it a power in the nation. He is largely responsible for the establishment of General Theological Seminary and Hobart College, Geneva, N. Y.

The Right Reverend Benjamin Tredwell Onderdonk was not only Bishop of the whole state of New York 1830-1845, and rector of Trinity Church, but also was the Professor of Nature, Ministry and Polity of the Church (now, Ecclesiastical Polity and Law) at General Theological Seminary.

Although his father took an active part in opposing the establishment of the Episcopacy in this country, Jonathan Mayhew Wainwright, when he became Bishop, 1852-1854, more than made up for his father's indiscretion. He was the first Bishop consecrated in this country to have an English Bishop participate in the Consecration. This was an outward sign of the union and peace to be enjoyed thereafter by the Church of England and the Episcopal Church in this country. It was during his administration that the first Negro congregation was admitted to the Diocese.

Horatio Potter became Bishop of New York in 1861 and served his office during the tumultuous days of the Civil War. It was he who, at the General Convention in 1865, welcomed the Bishops of North Carolina and Arkansas back into the House of Bishops.

Henry Codman Potter is the first and only Bishop of New York, 1887-1908, who was the son of a Bishop (of Pennsylvania). As rector at Grace Church, he enlarged the properties during his period there, acquiring most of the memorial windows, the Chantry, the Chancel Organ, Grace House (the administrative center), the Memorial House, (present East Side Settlement) and Grace-House-by-the-Sea (a summer home for children). During his Bishopric the Cornerstone of the Cathedral was laid. It was then a temporary wooden structure with a canvas roof and seated 1,000 people. On his anniversary of his tenth year as Bishop the clergy gave him a personal gift of $500, but with this money he chose to purchase the Bishop's Cathedra (Chair) for the Cathedral. Bishop Potter was extremely interested in the outlying churches. After the appointment of Bishop Greer as Suffragan, Bishop Potter turned most of the city work over to him and devoted himself to the outlying districts.

David Hummell Greer was the eighth Bishop of New York, 1908-1919, and he continued Bishop Potter's interest in the outlying churches.

The situation was becoming quite critical for people had begun to move out of Manhattan in great numbers to the fringe of the city where the existent churches did not have adequate facilities for the increased numbers. Bishop Greer saw a crying need for a community center in the Bronx and raised funds for the building of such a place for the use of all Episcopal Churches in the area and for other Protestant churches if open dates still remained on the calendar.

Bishop Greer was the first Bishop to live in the Cathedral Close, and during his administration the Choir, the Crossings and the seven Chapels of the Cathedral were completed. The gift for the Choir School from Mrs. J. Jarrett Blodgett was given at this time, as were the Bishop's House, the Deanery and the Synod House.

Charles Sumner Burch had one of the shortest administrations of any Bishop of the Diocese of New York. He became the ninth Bishop in 1919 and he died in 1920.

It is difficult to write about Bishop William Thomas Manning, who held office 1921-1946, because he is still so much with us. But perhaps we might mention two of his most far-reaching interests. On the one hand, he was interested in housing. As rector of Trinity Church he made many improvements in the properties owned by the Church, had dilapidated properties torn down and had the remaining buildings put in first class condition. As Bishop he had an authentic tenement house apartment built in the Unfinished nave of the Cathedral. This act greatly accelerated the enactment of better housing laws in the city.

On the other hand, one of his greatest contributions was his fund-raising efforts for the Cathedral. During his episcopate about $15,000,000 was given in gifts to the Cathedral enabling the building of the Great Nave and west front and other portions, all without incurring debt.

The Right Reverend Charles K. Gilbert became head of the Diocese, March 25, 1947. He had been editor of "The Churchman" for five years, and from 1920-1930 was executive secretary of the Social Service Commission until elected Suffragan.

St. Barnabas House, a shelter for homeless children and mothers, the only one of its kind in the City, and a model of modern building, was completed during his administration.

Also, plans were realized for housing all of the five inadequately housed missions in the Diocese.

The Right Reverend Horace W. B. Donegan was installed as the twelfth Bishop of New York, November 18, 1950. He had been elected Coadjutor, October 25, 1949.

The Articles Used In the Installment of The New Diocesan

The great silver bound Dutch Bible known as the Staten Bijbel is an authentic copy of the original edition of 1686. It was given to the Cathedral by Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands together with the Netherlands Government. The Bishop's oath is taken on this Bible in tribute to the Dutch founders of the City of New York.

The Ordinal a first edition of the first ordinal of 1793 is the one used by the first Bishop of New York, the Rt. Rev. Samuel Provoost. It was Bishop Provoost who presided in St. Paul's Chapel when George Washington went there on the day of taking his oath of office as President of the United States. This Ordinal was used at the consecration of Bishop Hobart.

In 1852 it was presented by Mr. Rapelye to Bishop Wainwright. The book was acquired by the New York Churchmen's Association in 1921 and presented to Bishop Manning at his Consecration.

The outside cover in which the book is preserved is considered one of the finest specimens of the binder's art ever produced in this country.

The Pastoral Staff was presented to Bishop Manning as a personal gift by the Bishop and Diocese of London in 1923. It is modelled on one given by Bishop Foxe to Corpus Christi College, Oxford, about the year 1490.

Installation of 12th Bishop Held in Cathedral Nov. 18th

"Good people, we are gathered to induct, invest and install our well beloved Father in God, Horace William Baden Donegan in the Bishopric of this Diocese of New York."

These words, read by the Rev. Louis W. Pitt, D.D., president of the Standing Committee, hushed the 5,000 persons crowding the Cathedral nave to witness the installation of the new Bishop of New York, Saturday afternoon, November 18th.

Previously, the choir, the civic and religious dignitaries and the attending Bishops of the Church had proceeded from the South ambulatory to the Great Choir by way of the crossing. The Presiding Bishop sat in the midst of the choir to await the Bishop.

At the same time the center aisle had filled with a procession from the crypt facing back to the Great Bronze Doors, in the following order, the clergy of other Dioceses, the faculty and students of the General Theological Seminary, the clergy of the Diocese in their order of seniority, the deans of the convocations, the officers of the Diocese, the trustees of the Cathedral, the Canons, the Archdeacon of New York, the Standing Committee, and lastly, the Chancellor and the President of the Standing Committee.

The President of the Standing Committee then said, "Let the Bishop of New York be informed that a representative body of his clergy and laity await his pleasure in this weighty matter of his Induction, Investiture, and Installation."

There was a moment of expectancy as the congregation and the procession stretching back to the length of the Cathedral faced the Northernmost of the Great Bronze Doors.

Three knocks reverberated against the vibrating bronze doors, echoing through the vaulted silence.

To a fanfare of trumpets, the doors swung open.

The Bishop approached and made his petition, "I Horace William Baden, by Divine Permission, Bishop of New York, petition to be Inducted and Invested into real, actual and corporeal possession of the Bishopric of New York and to be Installed in the Chair of this Cathedral Church of St. John the Divine, accustomed and used to be assigned by right to the Bishop of the Diocese, and to do and despatch all other things which may be necessary or convenient to this end."

The members of the Standing Committee and the Trustees of the Cathedral answered they were so willing, and the procession, led by the Bishop, moved toward the Great Choir, reversing its original order. (Picture on page 4.)

When all had come to their proper places, the Bishop of New York stood before the seated Presiding Bishop. The members of the Standing Committee petitioned the Presiding Bishop to induct "our Bishop into the Bishopric of this See of New York."

The Presiding Bishop then admitted the Bishop "to all the Rights, Honours, Privileges, Dignities and Prerogatives of the Bishopric of New York, acknowledging you Right Reverend Father in God in your own person as Bishop of the said See of New York," by presenting him, in token of prerogative, the Ordinal of the First Bishop of New York. (Picture on page 5.)

The congregation then knelt in prayer for the Bishop, led by the Presiding Bishop.

Following an anthem, during which the Canon Sacrist, the Rev. Edward N. West, D.D., O.B.E., master of ceremonies, seated the Presiding Bishop and the members of the Standing Committee, the Bishop was conducted to the sanctuary to the high altar before the retired Bishop.

After requiring the Bishop to take the customary oath on a copy of the Holy Scriptures, the Staten Bijbel, the retired Bishop gave the Pastoral Staff into the left hand of the Bishop as a sign that he had been invested. (Picture o npage 6.)

Trumpets blew a fanfare, and during the singing of the Doxology, the Bishop was led to the Cathedra and placed therein by the Canons. (Picture on page 7.)

As a hymn of praise and thanksgiving, the choir sang Stanford's Te Deum laudamus in B flat.

The Bishop of New York then preached (pages 2-8) and prayed for the church and the people.

Another fanfare of trumpets, while the congregation stood in reverent silence, the National Anthem was played.

The Bishop, then, the congregation kneeling, took his pastoral staff from his chaplain, and blessed his clergy and people for the first time as Diocesan, saying:

"The Almighty Trinity and one true God, the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost, grant you to desire him wholly, to know him truly and to live him sincerely; and bestow upon you such perseverance in his faith and love that he may bring you hereafter to himself and his unchangeable glory, world without end. Amen."

The processions retired as they had entered, except that the Bishop paused outside the Great Bronze Doors to give his blessing to the City and to the Diocese. (Picture on Cover.)

Bishop of Ely Conducts Quiet Day for Clergy of the Diocese

Pre-Advent Session Considers Christian Vocation

On November 27th the Bishop met with the clergy of the Diocese, the first time as their diocesan, for a pre-Advent quiet day at the Cathedral.

Bishop of Ely

The meditations were led by the Bishop of Ely, the Right Rev. Harold Edward Wynn, D.D., who is visiting this country as English Lecturer and Visiting Professor of Modern Church History at the Berkley Divinity School for the 1950-1950 Fall Term.

The session consisted of three meditations, broken by a light lunch in the Synod House undercroft.

In his opening address, Bishop Wynn began by reminding "we are busy men; never abiding in one stay." But he offered the "refreshment of God speaking to us" by being quiet.

He urged examination of Christian vocation. "God has called us," he said. "We can't understand it. He hasn't called others, better than we are; but still knowing our weaknesses and short comings he has chosen us."

He pointed out that the world demands "adjustments"; and cautioned lest "adjustments" end in denial of vocation. He stressed that vocation is not in the past, having happened once, but is a continuous process.

After a period of silence for meditation and prayer, he asked, "Is it our vocation to penetrate this land with quiet?"

He urged prayer as the greatest need for the church and world.

"When we know God, we come to know ourselves. "But he urged penitence, "the natural result of seeing ourselves, should not be 'formalized' or 'over-long', so that we make friends with ourselves." He said man should say "I've sinned," and then asking God to forgive, take it for granted. "This is the beginning or humility."

Seeing sin in one's self is not self-destructive, he said, as "we have this treasure in earthen vessels." He stressed God's ability to use our weaknesses that His Glory might be made manifest.

He warned, however, that because man is but an earthen vessel for God's Grace, there is need for discipline.

The day closed with an exhortation to "faint not . . . the things not seen are eternal. There are times we get tired," he said. "It is not the pace but the distance."

And in the end, he reminded, man must look constantly for "the refreshing gift", the Holy Ghost.

FALL RALLY of the Manhattan, Y.P.F., Nov. 12th at All Angels', Man., was crowded, as shown above. And a good time was had by all.

BRIEFLY SPEAKING

THE BIG BLOW BLEW the corner from the top of the roof of the east end of the Cathedral. We cannot report either what it will cost to repair it, or what Canon West said . . . Chaplain Snyder entertained 41 delegates at the first Diocesan Intercollegiate Conference of Canterbury Clubs, Nov. 17-18, Seabury House. Columbia, Hunter, New Paltz State Teachers, N.Y.U., Sarah Lawrence, and Vassar heard the Rev. James A. Pike, J.S.D., challenge Canterbury Clubs to witness for Christ on their campuses.

Kuddoes to Bert Riess, Audrey Clarke, June Denham, and June Burke for the best meeting of the Manhattan Convocation Y.P.F. to date Nov. 12 . . . Did you hear and see the Rev. Jimmie Morgan with Alma Schelle, Jim Yoder and Kent DeGraff guesting on the CBS-TV show "Lamp unto My Feet"? They did a discussion of a play based on a Bible text. Nice show. Catch it next, Dec. 31st, 4 p.m., same channel.

Men of the Hudson, Westchester, inspired hearing W. Ted Gannaway outline the "2 by 2" visitation program of Samuel Thorne, chairman of the Westchester Committee on Evangelism at GRACE, Hastings-on-Hudson, Nov. 11. The "How to Do and How Not to Do" playlets were excellent as was also the baked ham.

Apologies along with our congratulations to ST. PETER'S, Westchester, on their 250th anniversary. The parish which is older than the Diocese deserves better notice, but that old demon space! Maybe we can run a before and after picture next month.

The Light of the World

"The Lights of The World are going out one by one." Those ominous words have a more solemn significance today than when they were spoken by Earl Gray in August 1914, as a world tragedy loomed ahead. The future is indeed darker than at any other moment in history, for a dangerous situation confronts the free world.

This is not the first time that darkness has swept over the earth. Through the centuries, despite wars and rumors of wars, the Light of the Christian faith has guided men's steps to a better world. Therefore, as Christians, we must not give way to hopeless despair. The Great Light of the World cannot be put out. No matter how persistently the Nations try to extinguish it, the Light shineth in the darkness. At this Epiphany Season, our Church reminds us of this abiding truth.

We do not know what will happen to us in the days ahead. Our wisdom, our courage and our faith will be severely tested. Events will take place which will have a far-reaching bearing on our national life. We shall be called upon to make sacrifices greater than we have ever made before. This we cannot do of ourselves. Only by faith in Him who described Himself as "The Light that Lighteneth every man that cometh into the world" shall we be spiritually equal to what the future may bring. It is when we refuse to follow the guiding Light of the world that we falter and fail.

We are weak but He is mighty; and our sufficiency can be only of Him. In the spirit of that faith and with prayer that we may persevere unto the end, whatever trials and tribulations may come to us, let us face the future calmly and unafraid.

A Brief Review of 1950 Events

New Diocesan, Churches Built, Laymen's Movement

THE YEAR 1950 closed upon a note of high expectation. The spiritual stirring inspired by Diocesan and parochial missions, the heightened sense of the Church's responsibility to Christ underlined by the far-flung education program of the laymen's movement, the solid accomplishment of the Churches built and revived under the "Cornerstone" Campaign, the addition of a Suffragan Bishop to our Episcopal family — these signs of renewed dedication to Christ were concretely symbolized in the installation of the twelfth Bishop of New York, November 18, 1950.

The new Diocesan, the Right Reverend Horace William Baden Donegan, D. D., the Bishop of New York, was consecrated Suffragan Bishop of New York, Oct. 28, 1947. He was elected Bishop Coadjutor, Oct. 25, 1949 by unanimous acclaim, the first time in the history of the Diocese.

He was inducted, invested and installed into the Bishopric, in the Cathedral, the most dramatic and significant event of the year.

THE COVER: The first ordination of the new Diocesan, Dec. 23, in the Cathedral, when the Rev. Messrs. Donald J. Gardner, Raymond Whitney Barnes, Jr., and M. Moran Weston (for the Bishop of Vermont) were advanced to the priesthood.

A solemn prelude to the drama of the coming of a new Diocesan, was the departure of the retired Bishop of New York, the Right Reverend Charles Kendall Gilbert, D. D. As one of his last acts upon retiring, he spoke to the people of his Diocese for the last time as Diocesan, Oct. 28, at a "Service of Thanksgiving to Almighty God for the Leadership of Charles Kendall Gilbert." This was also, the occasion of the twentieth anniversary of his consecration to the Episcopate.

On the following Monday, Oct. 30, at 7 p.m., "The Bishop's Dinner" was held at the Hotel Commodore where his many friends in and out of the Church paid him tribute.

Before his retirement, the 168th Convention, meeting May 9th, appointed a committee to study and act upon a resolution calling for "a living memorial" to honor the Bishop. The committee recommended that $25,000 be raised for a field house for St. Peter's School, Peekskill, to be known as the Charles Kendell Gilbert Field House.

On Nov. 1, with appropriate ceremonies, Bishop Donegan dedicated the field house. As of press time, a total of $17,000 had been contributed.

1950 Year of Building

Last year saw the greatest program of building missionary churches in the history of the Diocese.

The accomplishments are:

1. St. Martha's, North White Plains. A new church built. Building in use.

2. St. Luke's, Williamsbridge. A new church built. Construction almost completed.

3. St. Simon's, New Rochelle, A new church biult. Building in use.

4. St. Mark's, Yonkers. Parish house. Building completed and dedicated.

5. St. Andrew's, Montgomery. Parish hall addition to existing structure. Completed and dedicated.

6. St. Francis of Assisi, Elmsford. A new church. Money allocated, site secured, building planned for spring.

7. All Saints', Bronx. A new site purchased, contemplating building in future.

8. St. Andrew's, New Paltz. A new addition to existing structure. Completed and dedicated.

During this same time three assisted missions assumed full self-support: St. Augustine's, Croton, St. Luke's, Edgcombe Ave., and St. Luke's, Tuckahoe.

The total sum received by the "Cornerstone" Campaign, at press time was $86,892.

As the year closed, St. Augustine's, Yonkers, was accepted as an additional responsibility to build by the Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society. A site was purchased at 81 Locust Hill Ave.; and the congregation report $12,283.33 as their contribution, in sight, for the project.

Arise, O Men of God

An energetic and effective layman's educational program developed effective strength and organization, during 1950, as one of the great surprises of the year.

Just before the year opened, under the leadership of seven convocation chairmen, sixty laymen had been trained to make a factual presentation of how the Church must meet the missionary challenge of the world, in preparation for a Spring Canvass. Included in the group of men were lawyers, architects, businessmen, advertising men, salesmen, engineers, business executives, and others representing a cross-section of the best ability and intelligence in secular work in the Diocese.

The first months of the year, these men visited approximately 150 vestries and advisory boards to tell of the missionary needs of the Church.

On Feb. 24 a Missionary Mass Meeting was held in the Cathedral to hear the Right Rev. Stephen C. Neil, assistant to the Archbishop of Canterbury and associate general secretary of the World Council of Churches, as spiritaul background for launching the canvass for the increased sionary budget, March 12, at which time the Presiding Bishop, over a nationwide radio hook-up, made an appeal for support of the Church's program.

Convention, moved by the demonstration of the latent power in lay education, voted appropriation for a full-time Secretary of the Program of the Church to continue the movement.

W. Ted Gannaway, who had developed the laymen's training program for the National Council, accepted the post, and immediately responded to the desire of the laymen for a conference on how they could continue the work they had begun. Additional training along with new men culminated at an Oct. 1 meeting, by which time, the group numbered one hundred men.

This group, this fall, visited over one hundred and fifty congregations, telling of the missionary program of the Church, as reported in this issue.

New Workers in the Vineyard

The most important appointment of the year was the election of a Suffragan Bishop at the 168th Convention, May 9.

The names of the Right Rev. Charles F. Boynton, S.T.D., the Ven. George F. Bratt, the Rev. Fenimore E. Cooper, the Rev. Canon Bernard C. Newman, and the Rev. Samuel M. Shoemaker, D.D., were placed in nomination by the Nominating Committee ordered to act by the adjourned meeting of convention, Oct. 25, which authorized the election of a Suffragan.

The Rev. James A. Paul, D.D., was nominated but asked that his name be withdrawn.

Bishop Boynton was elected on the second ballot. He accepted election; and the date of his taking office was set as Jan. 1, 1951.

On Feb. 23, the newly appointed board of the newly authorized Episcopal Service to the Aged held its first meeting. Officers are, Kingsley Kunhardt, president; Vice-presidents, the Rev. John A. Bell and Mrs. J. Harper Skillin; Secretary, the Rev. Richard L. Harbour; and Treasurer, Prof. Margaret Benz.

Elizabeth Evans was appointed executive director, as of June 16.

The Rev. Richard E. McEvoy was named Historiographer, May 10. He succeeded the late Dr. Edward C. Chorley.

Sept. 11, Mrs. Dorothy Baxter Greer was named executive director of St. Barnabas' House by the Bishop, as president of the Episcopal City Mission Society.

Miss Alice Pratt, for 22-years, Bishop Gilbert's secretary, resigned to accept an appointment as administrator of Seabury House, beginning Nov. 1.

During 1950, Rev. Messrs. Edwin W. Nies, D.D.S., Dudley DeC. Cobban, Donald J. Gardner, Raymond Whitney Barnes, Jr., and M. Moran Weston, for the Bishop of Vermont, were advanced to the priesthood.

The Rev. Messrs. Brewster Y. Beach, John A. Bosman, Charles R. Fisher, Harold M. M. Nicholas were ordained deacons.

The Cathedral Close

During the summer, the old Synod House was remodeled and became the Guild Hall, to house Cathedral activities. Construction was expected to be completed December, 1950.

With the completion of the Guild Hall, Diocesan offices moved from the old St. Faith's house, which is being remodeled by the Cathedral trustees to provide modern offices for the diocesan program.

Noteable Events

During the year, the Church Mission to Deaf Mutes purchased St. Andrew's Convalescent Hospital, Poughkeepsie, for the Gallaudet Home for Aged and Infirm Deaf Mutes. The new home opened Sept. 6th.

One of the most unique services of the year was the "Liturgical Day" demonstration of Dom Gregory Dix at St. George's, Man., Oct. 15th. Sponsored jointly by the parishes of St. Ignatius' Man., and St. George, the service dramatized the structure and liturgy of the earliest Eucharist.

Oct. 17-18 the Diocese was host to the 29th Synod of the Second Province, the first time since before the last war.

During 1950, 2,654 persons were confirmed by the Bishops; and 206 were received from the Roman Catholic communion.

Diocesan Agencies

During the year, the Woman's Auxiliary discontinued their "Bulletin" to release a new directive leaflet, "Forecast." Their program was marked by Convocational Quiet Days and Schools of Prayer.

An aid to the work of Auxiliary Leaders was a "president's handbook," created by Mrs. William E. Leidt.

The Board of Religious Education on Feb. 10 saw Lydia Todd crowned Queen of the Bishop's Ball. "Christian Vocations" was the theme of the convocations' Spring Youth Rallies, in preparation for the April 15, Youth Rally at the Cathedral.

Beautiful weather, for the first time in some time, made the May 27 presentation of the missionary offerings of the children of the Diocese a large and colorful affair.

The School of Religion at the General Theological Seminary, Oct. 16, was held with an increased enrollment.

The Commission on Christian Social Relations, having seen to the creating of the Episcopal Service to the Aged, concerned itself principally with educational activity and the placement of Displaced Persons.

The year closed with the organization of a Workshop on "The Church and the Social Order," lanned for Jan. 29.

The College Work Commission developed and encouraged the work of the Canterbury Clubs on local campuses.

The other agencies, the Girls Friendly Society, the Youth Consultation Service, and the Periodical Club continued their programs.

Picked Group of One Hundred Laymen Spur Fall Canvasses

During the last two months more than one hundred fifty parishes and missions throughout the Diocese have received the streamlined presentation of the Program of the Church by the Laymen Field Officers trained for this task.

Over one hundred laymen have told parish groups a dramatic story of the outreach of the Church.

Featured, have been the voices of two missionary bishops on recordings especially prepared. The closing appeal, also recorded, is by the Bishop.

The missionary work of the Diocese has been dramatized by illustrated slides picturing the varied program the Diocese is supporting.

Created to afford a greater understanding of the world-wide missionary responsibility the Church is facing, the program has been most cordially received. Laymen going to all parts of the diocese have been warmly welcomed and have been most enthusiastic about the increased interest that has been awakened.

Though not primarily designed for such a purpose, the presentations have given strong impetus to the missionary contributions solicited in the Every Member Canvass being conducted in many of the parishes and missions.

The emphasis was placed upon the urgency confronting the Church today in vigorously working for a Christian Nation in a Christian World. Using this slogan and theme, the discussion directed attention to the Church's program of Christian Education, Christian Social Relations and the missionary opportunities here in our own Diocese as well as within the country and in fourteen overseas fields.

"Too much credit cannot be given to the devoted and consecrated laymen of the Diocese who have given unstintingly of their time and talents to bring this vitally important message to the many parishes," said W. Ted Gannway who created and directed the program. "The spirit of the men is reflected in the plea by one busy executive who has declared, "Give me more to do. I only had one assignment. This story must be told often and well. Our people must know and act."

Mr. Gannway said, "Working under the sponsorship of the Committee on the Program of the Church these men are equipping themselves to be effective and available in support of many phases of the Church's critically important work."

Diocese to Be Represented at Episcopal Students Nat'l Meet

The first convention for Episcopal college students was held at the Cranbrook School in Michigan, Dec. 27 to Jan. 1. The avowed purpose of the meeting was to discuss the possibility of a national student organization.

At presstime, no formal recommendations had been released.

Two delegates attended from every domestic Diocese.

Delegates from New York were Nancy McCaslin of Vassar College, and John Morris of Columbia University. Katherine Duffield, provincial secretary for College Work also attended.

Elizabeth Carroll, of Grace Church, Nyack-on-Hudson, who attends Cedar Crest College was elected to represent her school.

Dec. 7 the members of the congregation of Holy Trinity, in the Parish of St. James', Man., voted to incorporate as an independent parish after fifty years as daughter church to St. James'.

The Rev. James A. Paull, D.D., has served as vicar of Holy Trinity since 1940.

Shown to the left are some of the members of the to-be-parish conferring with the to-be-rector and his assistant, the Rev. John W. Pyle.

Holy Trinity was started as a mission sometime before 1890 and in the following year it was incorporated as a mission of St. James'.

In 1897, Miss Serena Rhinelander offered to build a church, vicarage, parish house and cloisters (above, left) to house the rapidly growing mission. The French Gothic building of golden pompeian brick was consecrated on May 6, 1899.

The move to become independent is the first time since 1852 that a chapel church of Manhattan has assumed a self-supporting independent status as a parish.

The last such was Incarnation which had been a chapel of Grace. Prior to that St. George's, in 1811, had achieved parish status.

St. Barnabas House Wins High Architectural Award

The Episcopal City Mission Society won an award recently from the New York State Association of Architects, for the architectural excellence of Saint Barnabas House, reading

"New York State Association of Architects Award to New York Protestant Episcopal City Mission Society for Community Improvement through Purposeful Architecture, as Represented by Saint Barnabas House.

Ketcham, Gina and Sharp, Architects".

Just as the building was designed to give the best of help to the children and women it shelters, so the program is being constantly studied to the same end, said the Rev. William E. Sprenger, director of the Society, and Mrs. Dorothy B. Greer, executive director of the House.

Mrs. Greer said they had been carrying out an intensive re-evaluation of the total program at Saint Barnabas House with a view to keeping standards of work commensurate with increasing knowledge of the temporary care of children under the tension of emergency needs.

Church members were invited to call DIgby 9-0633 to make an appointment to see the building and to discuss the program.

GFS Plans Diocesan Conference

On Saturday, Februray 10, 1951 the Girls' Friendly Society will hold the annual Diocesan Conference for Teen-Agers in the Synod House on the Cathedral Close.

Following the theme of "Trying on Your Future," the conference will present for discussion various vocational careers for young women in the Church, in education and in business. Experts in various fields of endeavor will lead the discusions.

Youth Council Elects Heads; Plans Program

At the Dec. 9 meeting of the Diocesan Youth Council at St. Peter's School, Peekskill, it was voted to hold the 1951 Bishop's Ball in the early autumn. It was reported that the profit on the 1950 Ball, $40, had been given toward the Bishop Gilbert Field House at St. Peter's School.

Plans were made for the Annual Youth Convention at the Cathedral after Easter. Constitutional changes were begun to provide for the election of two members-at-large to the Diocesan Youth Council at the annual convention.

Robert Leve of the Bronx was re-elected president; Bucky Kendrick, Tuckahoe, vice-president; and Jean Knight, Bronx, secretary-treasurer.

It was reported that Fall Youth Rallies were held in all but two of the convocations, with good attendance and high inspiration. Plans were made for the Spring Convocational Youth Meetings.

The present members of the council are:

RAMAPO: Kenneth Dollar, David Becraft, and the Rev. Harold B. Thelin.

DUTCHESS: Roger Bullard, Shirley Hicks, and the Rev. Carlton J. Sweetser.

MANHATTAN: Bert Riess, Jean Scheck, the Rev. James H. Morgan.

The Richmond members are to be announced. The members of the Youth Committee of the Board of Religious Education are the Rev. Charles J. Buck, the Rev. Edward R. Taft, and the director, the Rev. J. Willard Yoder.

Bishop Celebrates Eucharist and Breakfasts with His Staff

On Dec. 19, the Bishop was the celebrant for all the workers within the Cathedral close in St. Ansgarius' Chapel in the Cathedral.

After breakfast, he spoke on the common purpose of all members of the "Close" family.

He called attention to the plans being made to improve the office facilities available. He asked tolerance and forebearance during the time all offices will be doubled up in Cathedral House.

Diocesan House is being renovated by the trustees of the Cathedral, from their own funds, to increase the efficiency of operation of all departments.

It was noted that the renovation of the Guild Hall had been completed and that that move would soon be made.

The Bishop closed by inviting all staff members to come to his Christmas Party at Cathedral House, Dec. 21.

Easter Begins in Jan. at Seamen's Institute

Easter comes in January for the members of the Women's Auxiliaries of the Seamen's Church Institute of New York. All over the United States where such auxiliaries exist, women are already beginning to send in contributions to provide for the Easter baskets taken by the Institute's Chaplains to hospitalized seamen in the New York area.

Other women, for whom the Institute is nearby, help to pack the baskets of candy, cigarettes, pens, writing paper, and other articles, including a Seaman's psalm and prayer.

This is just part of the all year round activities of the Women's Auxiliaries.

Some 10,000 garments are knitted each year for seamen who ship from the Port of New York. Others make layettes for the wives of seamen and sew clothing for the Society for Seamen's Children on Staten Island. Still others fill ditty bags containing sewing and shaving equipment, and pack recovery baskets for seamen who are temporarily in hospitals.

Many parish auxiliaries send in donations for specific purposes, such as the parties held each month in the large game room and the Janet Roper Club Room. Each party costs $17.35. Volunteers prepare and serve the snacks, welsh rarebit, strawberry shortcake or other homemade delicacies.

Other articles received are men's old clothing for the Sloppe Chest, used games, musical instruments — (repaired by Chaplain Evans) — victrola records, books and magazines.

Christmas, 1950, a special Christmas room was provided for the wrapping of Christmas packages. On the walls were the words: "Let the spirit of the Christ Child be in every box you pack."

New Spire on St. James, Man. Is Dedicated, December 10th

On Dec. 10, the new spire which has been aded to St. James', Man., was dedicated by the rector, the Rev. Arthur Lee Kinsolving, at the 11 a.m. service.

Known as the Fowler Memorial Spire, it was given in memory of Isabelle Dunning Fowler and Thomas Powell Fowler, long a warden and vestryman of the parish. The donors are Mr. Dunlevy Milbank and Mrs. Milbank, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fowler.

Architect was Richard A. Kimball of Gugler, Kimball and Husted. Construction was by Vermilya-Brown Co.

St. Mary's, Man., Publishes Book

"A Pictorial Pilgrimage through the Church of St. Mary the Virgin" has just been published by the parish. Thomas F. Burroughs, Jr., and the Rev. H. K. Maybury did the pictures and text respectively.

Woman's Auxiliary Conference On Education Set for Jan. 17

A conference on the educational program of the Woman's Auxiliary will be held Wed., Jan. 17, 11 a.m., at All Angels', Man.

The educational objectives of Roanridge and Liberia will be presented. The Rev. James A. Pike, J.S.D., will speak. Box luncheon.

United Thank Offering At Triennium Midway Mark Reports $59,972

The UNITED THANK OFFERING reached the midway mark of this Triennium with its "Advent Presentation" at the Cathedral, Dec. 5. This offering was described by Mrs. John Whiteley, treasurer of the Offering, as "A great witness to the thankfulness of even larger numbers of women."

The total offering was $20,482.27, an increase of $3,307.47. The total for this Triennium is now $59,972.58.

Since 1889, the almost constant growth of the UNITED THANK OFFERING has done much to build and strengthen the life and work of the Church, Mrs. Whiteley stated, saying, "Hundreds of women workers have been sent into every mission field, and churches, schools, hospitals, etc. have been built.

"This has been accomplished through the prayerful and often 'sacrificial' offerings of our churchwomen," she said.

"At this time when the world is almost in complete chaos, — please God, let us all continue to be so thankful for our own blessings, that we may pray fervently, labor diligently, and give liberally to make Him known to all men."

Mrs. Whiteley urged that any woman who might not know about the UNITED THANK OFFERING should ask her rector or parish custodian about it — and the BLUE BOX.

Auxiliary Holds Quiet Day

The women of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Diocese met for a Quiet Day at Incarnation, Man., Jan. 7th. The Rev. Theodore P. Ferris, Trinity, Boston, led the meditations.

"Be Thou All Things to All Men, Knowing Each One"

Grant calmness and control of thought to those who are facing uncertainty and anxiety; let their hearts stand fast, believing in the Lord. Be Thou all things to all men, knowing each one and his petition, each house and its need, for the sake of Jesus Christ. AMEN.

St. Augustine's, Yonkers Tallies Fund at $12,282

At the New Year's service of St. Augustine's, Yonkers, the vicar, the Rev. Alger L. Adams announced to the congregation that after the efforts to raise funds for the new building for St. Augustine's during 1950 had been tallied, the sum totalled $12,283.33.

He noted that in Dec. of 1949 the fund had been begun with $1,000 raised at their Christmas Bazaar.

The $12,283.33 was accounted for as follows: Sale of property from which the congregation had been order by the City of Yonkers, $5,680. On deposit with Treasurer's office for the new building fund, $2,603.33. On hand for deposit, $500. Pledged in the current canvass for the new building fund, $3,500.

In 1947 the communicants numbered 54, according to the Journal. In 1950, 110 were reported.

The Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society is negotiating for a property at 81 Locust Hill, Yonkers, on which to build the new church. Title is being cleared and plans are made for Spring construction.

ST. PETER'S, *Westchester closed the celebration of the 250th anniversary of the building of the first parish church, Dec. 9, when they blessed the Tympanum enclosed within the arch over the outer main door of the church, doing special honor to St. Peter, the patron saint of the parish. # Christian Social Relations Body Features "Theology of Social Action" at Workshop

The basic question to be discussed at the workshop on The Church and the Social Order at the Synod House Jan. 29 and 30, is the Theology of Social Action, the subject 8 P.M., Monday, Jan. 29, when the speaker will be the Rev. Thomas J. Bigham, Jr., Instructor in Christian Ethics at the General Theological Seminary.

Rev. Cameron Hall

The discussants will be Mrs. Sarah Dickson Lutge, formerly on the faculties of Smith and Wellesley Colleges, and the Rev. Roscoe T. Foust, rector of Ascension, Man. The Rev. John Ellis Large of Heavenly Rest, Man., wil chair and conduct the panel discussion.

The Rev. Leland B. Henry, executive director of the Commission, said he hopes that many clergy, laymen and students will register for this session, even though they may not be able to attend the meetings on Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning.

Registration for a single session is fifty cents, and may either be paid in advance or at the door.

The director urged the clergy to announce the Workshop in their parish bulletins, especially stressing the importance of the Monday evening session.

The Rev. Cameron Hall, of the National Council of Churches, will speak at 2 P.M. Monday, January 29, on The Direction of Social and Economic Change. The Rev. Mr. Henry and the Rev. M. Moran Weston will speak at 3:30 P.M. Monday on The Preservation of Peace and Freedom.

On Tuesday morning at 10:30 A.M. the Rev. John A. Bell will speak on The Techniques of the Church for Social Education and Social Action, at 12 Noon, Bishop Donegan will speak on The Church and the Social Order.

Report $15,000 More Is Needed For Bishop Gilbert Field House

The Bishop Gilbert Field House Committee reported at year's end that $17,000 has been received toward the project at St. Peter's School, Peekskill.

The outside of the building is finished, and the committee is now seeking an additional $15,000 to complete the interior. Robert Lee, who is directing the effort, pointed out that a minimum contribution of $50 from each congregation would accomplish this.

Woman's Day Service Aids Quota

Mrs. Ruth Whitehead Whaley, assistant to the New York City Commissioner of Welfare as head of the Division of Staff and Community Relations, addressed the Woman's Day service, Dec. 17, at St. Cyprian's, Man.

The vicar, the Rev. Herbert C. Banks, said the service is sponsored by the Womans' Auxiliary of the church annually to supplement gifts to the Program of the Church.

Bishop Sherrill Names Jan. 28 Theological Education Sunday

At the request of the Joint Commission on Theological Education, Segagesima, Jan. 28, has been designated by the Presiding Bishop as Theological Education Sunday.

Bishop Sherrill said, "On that day, I hope that there will be addresses in every church upon the importance of the work of our theological seminaries; and furthermore, that in every parish there will be an opportunity for the people of the Church to give financial support to the seminaries."

The Rev. Thomas A. Sparks, canon pastor of the Cathedral, reported that as of the end of December, the General Theological Seminary met and surpassed its 1950 goal of $50,000.

YCS Gives Christmas Gifts To the Girls Being Helped

The girls being helped by the Youth Consultation Service through the Bronx and Uptown Office at 384 East 149th Street each received a specially wrapped gift, this Christmas.

"This small but thoughtful act," said Emily Anne Black, district director, "is one way of translating to the girls our genuine Christian concern for them as persons."

The Girls Friendly Society provided the gay wrappings.

The Uptown Committee was formed to interpret YCS to the community and to participate in raising funds for the work. It was organized when it was feared that the uptown office might have to be discontinued for lack of funds.

The committee's gifts were given to the girls only when requested by the case worker as a part of the case work treatment being given.

At a recent election, the officers became, Mary Elizabeth Garten, chairman; Margaret K. Bible, vice-chairman; Hazel Kirschmann, recording secretary; and Maudester Newton, corresponding secretary.

The Committee is now planning a benefit tea to raise funds for the support of the office and for interpretation. Miss Black, the director, extended an invitation to all interested persons to come to the committee's monthly meetings.

The Uptown Office of Y.C.S. offers skilled case work help to adolescent girls between the ages of 12 and 25 years, who live in the Bronx or Upper Manhattan above 110th Street.

This service, under the auspices of the Diocese, is available to all girls without regard to race, creed, or national origin.

The office is staffed by four professionally trained social workers who have had experience with the special problems faced by this group, such as school or vocational adjustment, difficult family relationships, or unmarried motherhood.

Christ Church, Red Hook, Blesses Sanctuary Lamp, Aumbrey, Ciborium

On the First Sunday in Advent, the new Church year was begun in Christ Church, Red Hook, with the blessing of a sanctuary lamp in memory of Deaconess Julia Stephenson, for many years in charge of St. Margaret's Home in that parish.

The memorial was provided for by one of the former girls of St. Margaret's, the late Mrs. Thomas Murphy.

An aumbrey in the North wall of the sanctuary and a ciborium were also given in Mrs. Murphy's memory by her husband. The Rev. John Quincy Martin, rector, blessed the gifts.

Atonement, Bronx, Notes 50-Yrs.

The festal observance of its 50th year as a congregation was brought to a close by Atonement, Bronx, Dec. 3, with two commemorative services.

At the 11 a.m. service, the Bishop preached and confirmed 27 persons. At 4 p.m. a Festal Te Deum was sung, Canon Green officiating.

The Rev. Frederic Howard Meisell is rector of Atonement.

Men-Boys Communion Ist Sunday in Advent

On the first Sunday in Avent, Dec. 3 throughout the Diocese, churchmen came together to make their corporate communion as part of the nationwide effort to dedicate the day's devotions to prayers for the men and boys of the Church.

At St. Thomas' Chapel, Man., the Rev. Roelif H. Brooks, D.D., rector of the mother church, St. Thomas', celebrated and ate breakfast with the men and boys.

At All Saints', Harrison, W. K. Pleuthner, executive of Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborn, Inc. was the speaker at the breakfast which was given especially for teen-age boys and their fathers.

At. St. Thomas's, Mamaroneck, the corporate communion was celebrated on the following Sunday, Dec. 10. Charles Warren, principal of the Mamaroneck Avenue School spoke.

Honor Church Secretary for Her 16-Years of Faithful Service

The Girls Friendly Society Sponsors of St. George's, Newburgh, were hostesses last month at a covered dish Christmas Party in honor of Miss Edith Deyo, retired parish secretary.

Miss Deyo was presented with a handbag and gold wrist-watch in recognition of her sixteen years of service.

Mrs. H. J. Wilkins, Jr., was mistress of ceremonies, Mrs. George C. Smith read a tribute written by Mrs. Lewis Carr.

Other members of the committee were: Alice Kelly, chairman, Mrs. Grace Macheski, Clara Briggs, Ann Greene, Mrs. Peter Cantline, and Mrs. Frances Wester.

Altar Guild Plans Quiet Day

The Altar Guild of Christ Church, Bronxville, has planned a Quiet Day for Jan. 24, beginning with Holy Communion at 9:30 a.m.

After breakfast, the meditations will be conducted by the Rev. James A. Pike, J.S.D.

An invitation to all has been extended by the guild representative, Ruth A. Loftus.

An Apology to Our Leaders For January's BULLETIN

The BULLETIN sincerely regrets the most unfortunate state in which some of the January issue arrived.

Because of a difficulty with the bindery and the paper, the folds were more than ordinarily prone to splitting.

We have been assured by the printer that the difficulty has been mastered and that this month's BULLETIN should arrive in good order.

The Bishop's Lenten Rule Sets Forth Ten Disciplines

Once again in the midst of momentous and eventful days the Church calls us to observe the season of Lent. A good churchman obeys the Church. He keeps Lent that he may be a stronger Christian. More significantly than ever before Lent this year should be a time of prayer, penitence, self-denial.

As an aid to our Lenten observance I suggest the following minimum rule:

1. To worship God in Church every Sunday.

2. To receive Holy Communion regularly.

3. To attend one week-day Service each week.

4. To strive to overcome our faults, sins, negligences and ignorances.

5. To spend at least fifteen minutes every day in prayer, in reading the Bible, "Forward", and some other religious literature.

6. To speak for Christ and the Church every day.

7. To make a self-denial daily and place the cost of it in the Easter Offering.

8. To keep Ash Wednesday and Good Friday with fasting penitence and prayer.

9. To go to a Church Service on Good Friday.

10. To receive Holy Communion on Easter Day.

As we try earnestly to keep this minimum rule, which represents a simple standard of Christian life and witness, Lent will be for us a rich rewarding experience, a time of moral renewal and of spiritual refreshment to our souls. The Churchman who keeps a good Lent will grow in grace and will bear effective witness to the continuing power of Christ in human affairs. Undergirded by faith in God he will have spiritual strength adequate to do his duty as a citizen and a Christian, unafraid of whatever may be demanded of him in the days and years to come.

Let us observe Lent this year more strictly than ever before that this season may be a time of profound reconsecration for us all before the throne of Heaven.

The Rev. Richard A. D. Beaty

The Rev. Richard A. D. Beaty Dies

The Rev. Richard A. D. Beauty, sixty-two, for seventeen years rector of St. Peter's, Chelsea, died February 3rd. He had been secretary of the Diocese since 1934.

He was born in Springfield, Ill., the son of Doran H. and Rachel S. Beaty. He graduated from Columbia University, and in 1925 from Berkeley Divinity School. He was ordained to the diaconate in 1925 and to the priesthood by the late Bishop Manning May 1926.

He served as curate at St. Peter's 1925-1926 until he became rector of Grace, City Island, in 1927. He returned to St. Peter's as rector in 1933.

From 1936 to 1946 he was a trustee of Berkeley. In 1940 he was appointed one of the assistant secretaries of the House of Bishops.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Margaret Allin Beaty, and a sister, Mrs. Jessie B. Thompkins.

The funeral service was held at St. Peter's, Tuesday, February 6, at 3 p.m. The Bishop officiated.

Seminarians Meet with Bishop

Men Studying for Priesthood Spend Quiet Day

BY THE REV. JOHN A. BELL

ON Saturday, December 30th, the Bishop initiated what he said he hopes to make a most valuable custom for years to come. Beginning with a service of the Holy Communion in the Cathedral, he met with the postulants and candidates for Holy Orders in Seminary of the Diocese for a "Quiet Morning". Of the total number of 49 in this Diocese, there were 40 present from the Philadelphia Divinity School, Episcopal Theological School at Cambridge, Bexley Hall, Nashota House, Seabury-Western, Virginia Seminary, Berkley, and General Theological Seminary.

The Bishop together with Bishop Boynton, Archedeacon Bratt, the Rev. Richard E. McEvoy, Rector of St. Mark's-in-the-Bouwerie, and the Rev. John A. Bell, Rector of Incarnation, Man., spent the day with the men.

After breakfast in the Undercroft in the Synod House, the Bishop spoke of the crucial importance of preaching in this day of doubt and confusion.

He said he was particularly anxious for the seminarians to realize that, while the responsibility for the preaching of the Gospel has always been a great one, it is especially so in days of great world-wide problems without and within. He said that there is a greater need than ever for preachers to have a deep awareness of the confusion and doubt, the desire for faith, and the need for stability among the people as they come to church week by week.

"If ever the powerful light and redeeming strength of the Gospel has been needed," he said, "it certainly is at this time."

The Archdeacon spoke about the rural work of the Diocese, stressing its extensiveness, both as to geographical area and as to program. "In order that our responsibility in this realm be properly discharged," he said, "well-trained men are of essential importance."

The rectors of St. Mark's and the Incarnation spoke of the problems, opportunities and program of the Church in the city, with particular reference to New York. They also emphasized the fact that the city is now, in many ways, a new missionary area calling for finely trained and devoted clergy.

The speakers, and particularly the Bishop, laid stress upon the importance of the quality of the devotional life of the individual clergyman. It was emphasized that the real validity of organizational work or any technical training must be derived from a high quality of personal devotion and self-commitment.

After each address there was a question period and discussion. At the end of the morning, all had lunch together in the Undercroft.

While much more could be "reported" about the schedule of the day, most emphatically, one deeply felt the desire of the Bishop to establish a friendly, helpful, and pastoral relationship with these young laymen preparing to take Holy Orders. In a large diocese such as N. Y., it is all too easy to lack the intimate, personal relationship which gives real joy and confidence to the Christian fellowship in its great venture to serve the Lord, and redeem his world.

It is obviously of great importance that the fine group of young men who are going into the ministry should have every possible chance to know their Bishop, and their Bishop should have every chance to know them. Being scattered over the country in so many different seminaries, the opportunities for contact are predisposed to be slight.

The Bishop said he refuses to permit this situation and that his contact with the men during the school term will not be one of merely formal correspondence, but rather, an increasingly personal relationship built up through friendly and helpful letters. He laid particular stress on the fact that he is always available to the men when they were in New York, or whenever they needed him for any personal or professional counsel or advise.

"Devotion — Instruction — Friendship." These three words were the keynote for the day.

Just as in the great service of Holy Communion the clergy and seminarians partook of the spiritual food of everlasting life, so in the morning session were they seeking together to realize more vividly the will of the Lord for those undertaking the ministry in his church. Likewise at breakfast and lunch, and in the intervals of the morning, all partook of the healthful reality of the friendly strength of fellowship. There was truly created an atmosphere of relaxed and personal contact between the Bishop and the seminarians.

Such a relationship of mutual understanding is of great value not only to the individuals concerned, but to the whole church in the Diocese, for from it will come an ever-increasingly fine ministry and concern for our total life.

Episcopal Service to the Aged Warns "Homes" Are No Answer

The Episcopal Service to the Aged received a letter from the rector of one of the leading parishes of the Diocese last month, saying "Will you send me the names of several of your best homes for the aged for the wife of one of our vestrymen. He died two weeks ago. The home must have a well-organized religious program."

Miss Elizabeth Evans, executive director of the agency, said that this letter illustrates the kind of confusion with which many persons approach the problems of the aging.

"I must tell this rector, first, that because of residence requirements there are only three or four homes altogether for which she MIGHT be eligible; second, of these homes, only one is in any sense a "church home"; third, because of long waiting lists, admission to a home may take from two to six years after application; and four, there are very few homes left which charge an entrance fee of $500. Most of them have raised their entrance fees considerably and many of them now charge a monthly rate for board.

"Too frequently," Miss Evans said, "well-intentioned, but poorly informed persons, expend great energy, and cause considerable distress to the elder person, trying to force the issue of "going into a home" when there are none available, and when the plan itself should only be thought of as a last resort when the elder person is in hearty accord."

She expressed satisfaction that people are getting away from the once-popular idea that old people are better off in homes than anywhere else. "Today, we recognize the high value placed on privacy and independence."

But she described as more persistent, the misconception that there are many homes available. "There are not," she said. "All homes have long waiting lists. They have strict eligibility requirements, including such items as age, residence, physical condition, cultural level, personality, and sometimes nationality or previous occupations.

"The myth of the $500 entrance fee belongs in the same category with the five-cent subway ride and nickle telephone call. Most of the homes are getting away from the entrance fee plan and require a monthly payment of board. Where fees are still charged, they range from $1,000 to $2,500, and in a few cases much more."

Miss Evans pointed out that there was one thing right about the letter. "The problem was brought to us early. Bringing expert knowledge of resources to bear on the old lady's individual situation will save needless anxiety and worry for all."

Miss Evans stated that frequently a boarding home is adequate for the needs of an elderly person left alone. There are many private boarding and nursing homes which cater to elderly people and which offer services ranging from a room and three meals a day to complete nursing care.

In any situation involving placement, she said, a personal interview with the Episcopal Service to the Aged will be most helpful in order to judge the strengths and weaknesses of the person concerned and thus determine those resources which will be most helpful.

Richmond Holds Communion Breakfast

The Convocation of Richmond will hold its eleventh annual Communion-breakfast for men and boys on Washington's birthday at Christ Church, Richmond, with St. Andrew's acting as host parish.

Announce Plans for 1951 Summer Conference In Three Sessions at St. Peter's School

Plans for the Summer Conferences are well underway, according to an announcement made by the Rev. Frank C. Leeming, Chairman of the Conference Committee of the Diocesan Board of Religious Education.

Because of the very apparent unrest in the world today, it has seemed wise to the committee to have young people examine the great service of Holy Communion and to see anew its relationship to the world.

"Man has tried to solve his problems in his own way. The result has been hell and destruction. We believe it is only as man turns BACK TO GOD that the world's problems will be solved. We further believe that the Holy Communion is the best means we have of KNOWING God in all of His beauty and love," said the Rev. J. Willard Yoder, director of the Board.

The general subject will be "THE ALTAR AND THE WORLD" and B. I. Bell's book of the same name will be used as a basis for three daily instructions, two in the classroom and one by the Chaplain in the Chapel.

For the younger children, the service will be presented more simply. The catechetical method will be used to a great extent by this group, with the additional aid of filmstrips and slides.

Since it is not at all certain that the Bishop Gilbert Field House will be completed by the summer, it has been decided to have three one-week conferences such as were held last year.

Children 6 to 13 will attend from June 24 to June 30; young people from 14 to 18 from July 1 to July 17; and the younger age group again from July 8 to July 14. Because of the increased cost of living, the fee for each conference will be $15.00.

The clergy are asked to notify the office of the Board of Religious Education as soon as possible how many of their young people plan to attend one of the conferences. Only a limited number can be accommodated each week. Reservations will be made in the order in which they are received.

Bishop Boynton takes oath of office

Institute Suffragan Bishop

Bishop's Message Stresses Three Christian Loyalties

"Charles Francis, all of us here are aware of your faithfulness. We know how true and sincere is your desire to serve loyally in the office into which you are about to be instituted. . . .

"And so, my Episcopal brother and co-worker in the gospel, with complete confidence in your loyalty and with genuine friendship, I warmly welcome you to your place as Suffragan Bishop of this great and strategic Diocese.

With these words, the Bishop's address closed and brought the Saturday afternoon service of evening prayer in the Cathedral, January 27, to its point of purpose.

The processions of the clergy and lay officials of the Diocese, and of Bishops had found their places. The Suffragan Bishop, with his two attending presbyters, the Rev. Albert A. Chambers and the Rev. Esteban Reus-Garcia sat in the midst of the crossing before the steps to the Great Choir.

When the Bishop had come to the midst of the Great Choir and taken his seat, he said to the congregation, "Good people, we are gathered together to institute into the office of Suffragan Bishop of the Diocese of New York, our well-beloved Brother in Christ, Charles Francis Boynton."

After certification of purpose by the Chancellor of the Diocese, Mr. G. Forrest Butterworth, on behalf of the standing committee, the Bishop reminded the new Suffragan Bishop an oath is required.

Bishop Boynton then came and knelt before the Bishop to make his oath, promising "all due reverence and canonical obedience to you, Right Reverend Father in God, in your person Chief Pastor and Ordinary of the said Diocese of New York."

Whereupon the Bishop said, "We, Horace William Baden, by Divine Permission, Bishop of New York, do receive and acknowledge you Right Reverend Father in God, Charles Francis, as Suffragan Bishop of this Diocese."

The Bishop then bade the congregation give thanks by singing "Now thank we all our God; with hearts, hands, and voices."

During the singing of the hymn, the Bishop went to the sanctuary. The Suffragan Bishop knelt on a faldstool immediately within the communion rails. There he received the Bishop's special blessing. The congregation and choir joined in the final responses and prayers for the new Suffragan Bishop, the Diocese, and for peace in the world. The service closed with the Bishop's Blessing.

In his address, before the institution, the Bishop linked the occasion with Lent, giving as text: "Be thou faithful."—Revelations 10:2.

Three loyalties were outlined as "basic to the individual Christian life and essential to the corporate life of our Church."

The first loyalty is loyalty to authority "based on the laws and purposes of God," the Bishop said, "not the authority of an infallible person who arbitrarily dictates new doctrines.

"It is a democratic authority based in Holy Scripture, the tradition and history of the Church and the living voice of contemporary experience." He said, "The authority of the Church is expressed in its laws and through the three orders of the ministry, Bishops, priests and deacons.

"One of the responsibilities of the Bishop is to interpret and to apply this authority. This task is never an easy one. It is the lot of the Suffragan Bishop to be spared this exacting phase of the Episcopal office."

Secondly, the Bishop asked for loyalty to the Book of Common Prayer. Calling attention to the opportunities for worship offered by the Prayer Book, the Bishop said, "the first question in this matter of prayer is how much time are you willing to give to this primary essential of the Christian faith?"

Noting that Christians are "busy people", the Bishop warned, "If we persuade ourselves that we have no time to pray but only to do; then very little of all that we do will be of value. Our work is ultimately spiritual; not only in its motives, but also in its aims and resources.

"When we do not make time for prayer, we lose touch with the only resource by which this spiritual work of ours can be done."

The last discipline cited by the Bishop was "the discipline of loyalty to our Divine Lord. 'If any man will come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross daily and follow me.' " The purpose of this discipline is "not for self-abnegation," said the Bishop, "but for self-dedication."

"Loyalty to Christ. This is the most important discipline of all."

The Venerable George F. Bratt read the lessons for evening prayer.

The Bishop Speaking

Excerpts from the Bishop's Address

. . . This workshop has accomplished its primary purpose, to arouse an awareness of the relevance of our Christian faith to the problems that confront the world.

. . . It is not for the Church to draw up blue prints for Utopia. It is the Church's duty to write into human relations the ideals of liberty, justice and loving kindness.

Our Part in the Struggle

. . . Today the Church declares that all share in the sins of society.

. . . We cannot withdraw from the everlasting battle. There can be no armistice declared in the eternal warfare for truth, justice and righteousness in human relations.

. . . To be a member of the Church involves the most sacred social duties. No matter how often men and women attend services of worship, if they shirk their social and human obligations, they are recreant to their faith, unfaithful to their religion.

Here is our world, with its corruption in politics, with its religious and racial prejudices, with its national hatreds. Here is the world with its poverty, its crime, its hungry suffering humanity. Here is the world with all its inequities, injustices and unrighteousness.

What has man done to God's World!

And here is the Church.

. . . Shall we be content to go into church and sing hymns and utter pious phrases?

. . . To all of us comes the challenge to rebuild the social order. We must speak out against injustice and oppression and unrighteousness.

. . . And the Church must include all within her sympathy, and must minister to all alike. Where there is a lack of sympathy, we must life up our voices in a plea for understanding.

What Is God's Will?

. . . We are in duty bound to subject the present social order to the keenest, most critical analysis. We must ask, while it is raising the standard of material living, what is it doing to the hearts and minds and souls of God's children?

. . . We must fearlessly declare that where the rights of property conflict with the welfare of human ty, human rights are above property rights.

. . . We stand for the principle that behind our obligation to ourselves and our fellowmen, there stands the figure of the Everlasting God. "Unless the Lord build the house, they labor in vain who build it."

No human plans which ignore God's sovereignty can ever come to fruition by man's own unaided efforts. Man can make a hell on earth; and has done so several times in history. But he will need God's help if he desires to make a heaven upon earth.

. . . Wars, and power politics, ruthless economic competition and selfishness, slums and ill health, poverty and prejudice, these are the enemies of God. As coworkers with God, we must endeavor to cure the world here and now of these evil things, whatever the cost may be.

The son of God goes forth to war
A kingly crown to gain
His blood-red banner streams afar,
Who follows in his train.

. . . We claim for Christ the whole of man's life and proclaim a gospel, good news, for society as well as for the individual.

On God's Side

. . . In the world of our times, two ways of believing concerning the meaning of human life contend with one another for man's soul.

. . . The struggle is between that faith in God and man through Christ by which man is set free; and against it, the creeds of materialism and the will to power by which he is enslaved.*

. . . The hope of a better world lies only in acknowledgement of Christ as Lord of all humanity. But meanwhile, we must take care that he is the Lord of all in our own hearts and life.

. . . No one ever followed Our Lord honestly without serving his fellowman. This task of service involves us inevitably in striving to change the conditions under which men live to a closer approximation of the Kingdom of God.

Anyone dedicated to the Lord Jesus is naturally dedicated to the improvement of the social order, for a Christian is one who follows Him who came that all men might have life and have it more abundantly.

Social Relations Workshop I

THE Jan. 29-30 "Workshop on the Church and the Social Order," sponsored by the Commission on Christian Social Relations, reproduced in microsm the uncertainty and tensions of our times.

The opening Monday session, at the Synod House, where all the general discussion meetings were held, heard three laymen bluntly warn of the inevitability of war, and of the danger of Fascism in this U. S. because we are preparing for war.

The next session's speakers that day, all clergy rejected the fatalism of the foregoing prophecy by analyzing the spiritual basis for our present danger; and by asserting that peace should replace war as an instrument shaping the national future.

After dinner at the Columbia Men's Faculty Club, a session on "The Theology of Social Action" provided the theoretics which demand Christians to lay their hands to the evils of the world and to work for God's peace.

Tuesday morning's session, "The Techniques of the Church for Social Education and Social Action", concerned itself with the equipment available and the actions Church people have developed in forwarding the attack on the social ills of our time.

The workshop method allowed an opportunity for discussion from the floor at each session.

The opening 2 p.m. session, "The Direction of Social and Economic Change", was brought to its sharpest focus by Austin M. Fisher, an industrial consultant. He criticized the two previous speakers for dealing principally with inflation as the fundamental problem of today. He said "Symptoms are being confused with causes. Inflation is part of the evolution of an historic era."

Identifying this era as a period of conflict with Communist States, he said, "Lenin said the capitalistic system would spend itself into destruction. The tactics and strategy of the Soviet Union are to rear a communism indigenous to each country by internal revolution, not external aggression.

"What is happening now in Korea can go on in other places, such as Viet Nam and Iran. In each case, if we are to oppose it, our American resources will be pitted against a domestic communism and will impose a drain on our manpower (already causing inflation).

"We must have an austerity program. We must sacrifice gains already won. The labor movement must sacrifice some of its gains."

He implied that the alternative would be to fulfill Lenin's prophecy about the bankruptcy of Western Democracies. He said, in effect, that peace is the greatest threat today. "Most business men are now dependent on war or war possibilities. Peace tomorrow would bring great unemployment. Four or five years from now, when we face peace, it will be just the more difficult than if we faced it tomorrow.'

As a comment on Mr. Fisher's call for an "austerity program", Ellis Van Riper, Secretary-Treasurer, Local 100, Transport Workers Union, C.I.O. said, "We are entering a period just ahead that could . . . make America into a semi-fascist State with all the trimmings of a corporate economy."

Mr. Van Riper felt we should wage war at once to head off fascism as "a lot depends on whether we are to enter a short but intensive period of two or three years to win a war or whether we are to enter a period that will bring twenty or thirty years of rigidly controlled economy and production. It is obvious that the social gains of the past and the general well being of the American people have most to fear from the latter."

Dr. Cameron Hall, secretary, Department of the Church and Economic Life, National Council of Churches, like both Mr. Fisher and Mr. Van Riper assumed the inevitability of war and talked at length how inflation, the product of our war preparations, could be met in a "Christian Way."

The second session of "The Preservation of Peace and Freedom" came seemingly as a direct retort to the previous speakers. In talking of the threat of wars, the Rev. Leland B. Henry, executive director of the Commission, who conceived the workshop and was a guiding light to its realization, cited the pronouncement of the National Council of Churches in Ohio in December, saying, "we are warned against hysteria, self-righteousness, unilateral action, false pride and facesaving tendencies, making our economy dependent on war.

"And above all we must guard against impatience.

> *A*lmighty God, who art the Father of all men upon earth, most heartily we pray that thou wilt deliver thy children from the cruelties of war and lead all nations into the way of peace. Teach us to put away all bitterness and misunderstanding, both in Church and State; that we, with all the brethren of the Son of Man, may draw together as one comity of peoples and dwell evermore in the fellowship of the Prince of Peace; who liveth and reigneth with thee, in the unity of the Holy Spirit, now and ever.

> — Prayer for Peace Authorized by the Bishop

"We must have militant preaching. We must repeat over and over again the great Christian doctrines of the Universal Fatherhood of God and the dignity of man as the child of God.

"We must not only preach these things, but we must practice what we preach. Our greatest danger is inward decay."

The Rev. Mr. Henry reminded the gathering that pacifism as an answer to war has behind it "the teaching of the Hebrew prophets, the teaching and examples of our Lord, the practice of the Early Church and the long, unbroken stream of pacifist conviction extending through the centuries to our own day," quoting the Lambeth, 1948, "that war as a method of settling international disputes is incompatible with the teaching and example of Our Lord Jesus Christ."

While Lambeth, 1948, went on to say there are occasions when war may be the lesser of two evils, Mr. Henry warned, "there remains the duty of suggesting a strategy of Christian statesmanship which will offer the best possible chance of avoiding war. We must guard against dependence on military strength alone. As the Bishops said in their latest Pastoral:

". . . we must realize that no final victory can take place on the field of battle. Since ideas are not destroyed by guns, the only way to overcome a false view of life is by the militant preaching and living of a true view of life."

Mr. Henry, in closing, remarked that the spiritual undergirding of our people, to give them strength to stand and endure, could prevent us from "choosing war, as the easier way out of an impossible dilemma".

As a long-view solution, he called for a true federal government, stronger than the North Atlantic Treaty or the United Nations, "a union that will bring the same access of strength and prosperity and freedom that federal union brought to the thirteen American states in 1787."

As the second speaker, the Rev. M. Moran Weston warned "fear is slowly stealing on us and its paralyzing effects are being felt more and more." He listed the six causes of American fear which are propelling us toward war as:

1. The International movement of Communism.
2. The counter-revolution, Fascism.
3. The surviving system of colonial empires.
4. The increasingly aggressive activity of the Roman Church.
5. Our deep sense of guilt.
6. The spectre of disease, poverty and ignorance in the world, our standard of living in America being eight times higher than that of non-Western people. He noted that our presentation of "The American Way" to deprived people is often such as to excite hostile jealousy rather than admiration.

Mr. Weston cited "loyalty oaths" and the McCarran Act as "products of that fear which are destroying Christian freedom of conscience."

He called for the following:

"To win more people to the Christian view.

"To live what we preach.

"To resist repression of thought, racial restrictions, censorship in all forms. To replace a policy of revenge with winning over to our ideas.

"To encourage more of those movements involving universal laws.

"To seek ways of increasing communication between peoples of the world."

The Rev. Arthur L. Kinsolving, in discussing the two presentations, added that "We can't seek peace as an end in itself. Peace must be the result of efforts of those seeking justice and truth."

The Rev. Richard L. Harbour closed the session with additional warnings as to the results of fear and tension. He urged that "freedom is everything" and should not be sacrificed to any passing exigencies or fears.

At the after-dinner session the Rev. Thomas J. Bigham, Jr., instructor at the General Theological Seminary provided the apology for Christian action. Discussants were Mrs. Sarah Dickson Lutge and Bishop Boynton.

The Rev. Mr. Bingham emphasized the universality and omnipotence of God as placing a compulsion upon all Christians to attack evil and sin, whether within one's self or the outside world.

He said, "If God be God, then follow Him," warning of new false prophets offering new gods.

"The root of all evil, then, is the attempt of the creature to seek autonomy, to try to be self-sufficient, to be a law to itself, to be self-existent . . . being tempted to say 'Mine is the kingdom and the power and the glory forever.'"

Stressing the width of the Church's mission, he said, "If Jesus Christ (goes into all parts of life), then the Church, the Body of Christ, follows Him by entering into all areas of life to relate them all to Him who alone is absolute, helping them avoid their tendency to absolutize their own relative values and goods."

And yet, the speaker said, "How deeply haunted is every effort at social service by the insidious sin of personal domination," pointing out how men pervert the objectives of the church into selfish, personal goals.

As to the international struggle, he asked what the real issue is.

"We cannot as Christians say that the issue is the Communist economic system, for the Christian Faith does not see any absolute good in any economic order, but only a relative good as an economic order enables the full life of man in his eternal destiny; and the social goals of Communism are in many ways Christian; after all, social justice and economic justice are ideals that Christians must guiltily confess to be Christian ideals. And at least American Christians can hardly hold that revolution, even armed revolution, is always per se an evil. Not even the materialism of Communism, nor its atheistic philosophy, is chiefly the issue, for—as the House of Bishops has just reminded us—materialism and practical atheism are very much at home right among us.

"The issue is rather the fact that Communists absolutize that system as the only solution to the human problem, and absolutize their program as the final means for human redemption . . . 'it is not the atheism of Communism that should be our major concern; it is the practical idolatry.'"

In conclusion, he said, "Whatever the political decision that Christian statesmen and others must make, the Christian Faith is content with no decision that merely sets up some democratic or American Baal, expressive of our genius, over against the Communist Baal. If the Lord be God, then follow Him."

In commenting on the address, Bishop Boynton said, "The Church is the visible and concrete means—because it is the body of Christ—to make known to the world the Will of the Absolute God, and to carry out God's action in society.

"It accomplishes this through its nature as Prophet and Priest.

"In its capacity of Prophet, the Church has the obligation to declare what is God's direction for social action; and to judge whether a given social action is in line with or departing from God's will and decision.

"In its capacity as Priest, the Church gives the strength needed through sacrament and prayer to bend social endeavor

'49's Offering — $373,918

WITH A FEW late contributions still to be received, the parishes and missions of the Diocese gave more than $600,000 for the Missionary Program of the Church in 1950, according to Theodor Oxholm, Assistant Treasurer of the Diocese. The total of $605,060 represented an increase over 1949 of more than $200,000 or 58%. This resulted in payment to the National Council of $378,977, an increase of 81% over the amount given in 1949.

The Woman's Auxiliary adopted a larger budget and its share of the total given amounted to $56,483 against $48,450 contributed in 1949. The Church Schools at the Presentation Service in May gave $40,523.

"This is the largest contribution for the budget of the National Council and of our diocesan agencies ever made," said Mr. Oxholm. "This encouraging news should be an incentive to every member of the Church in 1951. Probably at no time since the inception of the Every Member Canvass in 1919 have so many of our people been made aware of our missionary needs or told the story behind the money.

"This is in no small measure due to the cooperation of the clergy with the 60 laymen who visited the vestries and advisory boards of the parishes and missions prior to the Presiding Bishop's address by radio last March 12th.

"These laymen, trained in making their presentations by W. Ted Gannaway, now Secretary of the Committee on the Program of the Church for the Diocese, have since increased their number to 100 and are now completing visits to church congregations and other groups within the parishes.

"A careful study of the individual records of each parish and mission shows many substantial increases in giving, even though quotas were not paid in full. The consecrated effort of the clergy and people of these parishes is most encouraging and gives hope that the list of parishes meeting their quotas in full will be steadily enlarged."

Diocese Faces War and Peace In Social Relations Workshop

in the direction of God's will, and then to consecrate all who are following Him.

"A reason why we do not have a more effective Christian Social Order is because through our sinfulness, we who compose the Church have failed in our Prophetic and Priestly function."

The Tuesday session opened with the celebration of the Holy Communion in St. Ansgarius Chapel, the Cathedral. Bishop Boynton was celebrant. After breakfast and Morning Prayer said by the director of the Commission, the Rev. John A. Bell spoke on "The Techniques of the Church for Social Education and Social Action."

He made a plea for more earnest Christion conviction and described more expert knowledge as being the necessary beginning of concrete program. He listed as some parochial techniques study groups and the Worship Services of the Church.

He described the techniques the national bodies and the Diocese are using to realize Christian objectives, citing especially the work of the Commission of the Churches on International Affairs and the Central Committee of the World Council of Churches which "initiated action which has had the direct result of creating the Peace Observation Commission. The Commission is virtually a United Nations 'peace patrol' whose function is to send impartial observers to areas of special international responsibility, such as Germany, Austria and Japan."

Mrs. Malcolm Tuttle, vice-president, Christian Social Relations, Woman's Auxiliary pointed out that "the best techniques in the world without loving and informed people to carry them out are of little value." She said, as an aside on an extended discussion of study-materials and methods, "It doesn't take background to push a wheel chair."

Mrs. Muriel Webb, assistant secretary, Department of Christian Social Relations, National Council, discussed the helps and aids to program available through their office.

The workshop closed with an address by the Bishop.

The purpose of the workshop was described by the Commission as follows: The Commission on Christian Social Relations has no idea that four one-and-a-half sessions, followed by a thirty-minute address, can solve the vast issues raised by the questions under discussion.

We do hope to accomplish three ends: 1. To arouse an awareness of the relevance of our Christian faith to the problems that confront the world. 2. To stimulate further individual study of these issues, with a deeper personal commitment and more effective personal action. 3. To lead many parishes and missions, large and small, metropolitan, town and country, to further study and to appropriate action in their own local situations.

A total of two hundred and four persons registered. In addition, some persons attended who did not register.

St. Bartholomew's Lawyers Group Presents U.N. Speaker at Dinner

The Lawyers Group of the Men's Club of St. Bartholomew's, Man., will present Francis A. Vallat as the principal speaker at their Feb. 15 dinner meeting in the Community House of St. Bartholomew's.

Mr. Vallat who is legal adviser to the United Kingdom delegation to the United Nations will speak on the Legal Aid and Advice Scheme in the U. N.

Chairman of the affair is Joseph P. Smyth. Thomas W. Francis assisted with arrangements.

The meeting is open to the general public, Mr. Francis stated.

Correction

The young people of the Diocese contributed $400 from 1950's Bishop Ball to the Bishop Gilbert Field House, not the amount the typesetter printed.

Our apologies for the depreciating work of our printer's devil.

Auxiliary Reports "50 in '50" Slogan Has Been Surpassed

The last act of Mrs. Charles Minturn Baxter, Jr., as treasurer of the Woman's Auxiliary, before her retirement on Jan. 15, was to report that the Auxiliary had overscribed its slogan, "50 in '50" in missionary giving.

Of the $50,000 pledged to the budget of the National Council for the fiscal year 1950, total receipts were $52,863.29, an increase of $7,000 over the previous year. This pledge is considered a first obligation.

For Christian Social Service, $3,000 was pledged for Miss Alice G. Palmer and her work on Ellis Island. Receipts were $3,090-.85.

Including Diocesan Specials, the Auxiliary contributed $56,483.06 for the work of the Church in 1950.

Defense Program to Up Costs But Not End Church Building

The Bulletin asked the Assistant Treasurer of the Diocese, Theodor Oxholm, what effect the National Defense Program might be expected to have on the construction of church buildings. Mr. Oxholm stated that the most pronounced effect so far was the increased costs necessitating re-designing to meet budgets. "As to the building of churches, we know of no restrictions as yet", he said, "but it will probably be necessary to substitute other materials for steel, aluminum and copper."

During the last War permission could be secured to build churches, parish houses and rectories where it could be proven they were urgently needed, and that their construction was in the national interest.

"At this date we can only assume that permission to build under similar circumstances might be granted," Mr. Oxholm said.

Committee on Program of Church Holds Evaluation Meeting

The Committee on the Program of the Church held its January evalution meeting at the Men's Faculty Club, Columbia University, Wednesday evening, January seventeenth. Those present were Messrs. George W. Burpee (Westchester), Eliot L. Ward (Manhattan), Louis F. Stauss (Bronx), Moss Armistead (Ramapo), Van Lear Woodward (Richmond), Theodor Oxholm, Assistant Treasurer of the Diocese, and W. Ted Gannaway, Secretary to the Committee on the Program of the Church. Messrs. Clinton G. Harris (Hudson) and Ernest P. Meyer (Dutchess) were forced to report by letter due to conflicting business engagements.

The Committee, composed of the Bishop, the Assistant Treasurer of the Diocese, the seven Convocation Chairmen and the Secretary, has sponsored the Laymen's Training Program in the Diocese. The purpose of the meeting was to evaluate the more than one hundred seventy parish presentations of the missionary quotas.

A study of the payments made to the Treasurer's Office in 1950 indicated that the program had played a most important part in raising better than six hundred thousand dollars for the missionary work in the Diocese and the National Church.

The amount of the payments in 1950 indicates an increase in missionary giving of over 58% as compared to that raised in 1949. It is the considered opinion of the Committee that the splendid work of the more than one hundred consecrated laymen who have been making the parish presentations has been a real factor in making this record possible. It was unanimously agreed that the program should be strengthened and continued.

Plans were made for providing more effective visual aids, more colorful and specific outlines for parish talks and to offer a revised basic training course to all newly appointed Diocesan Field Officers. During the year 1951 it was agreed that a greater emphasis should be placed on the missionary program being carried on in the Diocese of New York and that wardens, vestrymen and parish leaders should be offered an opportunity to review and evaluate the missionary work being accomplished. To this end the Committee proposes to recruit at least one representative from each parish and mission to be given the necessary training and background material to qualify him to lead a series of parish discussions with these leaders at intervals throughout the year.

An effective, factual, hard-hitting presentation of the program both on the Diocesan and national levels suitable for presentation from the pulpits at regular Sunday services by the laymen is also to be made available. This will be of twenty to twenty-five minutes duration and is designed to high-light the missionary outreach of the Church.

The Committee approved plans for training conferences and special meetings throughout the spring and summer designed to afford as large a corps of trained men as possible for use again next fall. The Committee expressed hope that clergy and parish leaders will use these men as widely as possible by extending them an invitation to visit their parishes and missions.

The Bishop's Message

Holy Week is significant because of Our Saviour. Palm Sunday, Maundy Thursday and Good Friday have value and meaning for us because of Jesus Who is the Divine Son of God. When you read in the Gospels' as I trust you will each day during Holy Week, you will note what a large proportion of the Gospel Story is devoted to the passion and death of Our Lord. Beginning with the arrival of Jesus and His apostles at Bethany through Holy Week, Good Friday and Easter Day the story takes up more than one-third of the Gospels, and one-half of the Gospel according to St, John. The center of the Gospel is Jesus Christ and Him crucified.

No one can follow the Saviour through the last days of His earthly life without realizing that over and over again the events of Holy Week are repeated in human experience.

We can see ourselves in the light of that great historic event. There are times when our minds merge with the crowd and our devotion is as superficial as the devotion of the Palm Sunday mob.

St. John's-in-the-Wilderness Becomes an Organized Mission

St. John's-in-the-Wilderness at St. Johns in the Town of Haverstraw in Rockland County on February 19, became an Organized Mission by action of the Bishop with the approval of the Board of Managers of the Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society and the Dean and Council of the Ramapo Convocation.

The Mission is located on the mountain west of Haverstraw about 1250 feet above sea level. Its stone church, parish hall and rectory wing were built in 1886 as the gift of Margaret E. Zimmerman. Members of the Mission are mostly residents of the sparsely settled mountain area, but the Church is widely known among the thousands of campers and hikers of the adjacent Palisades Interstate Park.

The Reverend George W. Dumbell, dean of the Ramapo Convocation and Rector of the parishes at Arden and Highland Mills, is the Vicar.

There are times when like Pilate, we fail to make decisions and play safe and thereby permit good causes to go down and the highest ideals to be crucified. There are times when we are as disappointing as were the friends of Our Lord who promised allegiance and in the hour of testing forsook Him and fled. We must not view the scene as something that happened long ago but as contemporary history.

Let us observe Holy Week in a spirit of penitence and humility. Then it will be a time of spiritual challenge and renewal, sending us on to our tasks with a new understanding of God's love, a new vision of our duty, leading us into a life of deeper dedication, of service, and of faith in God, and new fellowship with Christ. And Easter Day will bring a fresh realization that God who raised up Jesus from the dead will lead us, if we trust Him, through life and through death, undefeated and unafraid.

No one can follow the way of the crucified without being strengthened for the trials and tribulations of life.

We are part of the tragedy of Holy Week and Good Friday but through God's redemption we can experience the triumph of Easter Day.

Faithfully your Bishop

Horace W. B. Donegan

Failure of Parishes to Meet Quota Cuts Church's Program

The Bishop in letters to the clergy has expressed his concern that the total amount which the parishes and missions of the Diocese estimate will be contributed for the Program of the Church in 1951 is less than was given in 1950.

To illustrate the affect of this situation on Diocesan Agencies, he sent the following statement and asked that vestries make special plans to enable their parishes to meet their quotas.

Diocese Cutbacks

Our Seamen's Church Institute for its chaplaincy service alone will receive only a little more than one-third of the amount required. We are not asked to give towards its other work.

The Church Mission to Deaf Mutes will receive about 40% of the amount it needs to maintain its home for 21 aged deaf persons, an institution unique in this area and one with very limited endowment. These people cannot be transferred to other homes and many of them have no living relatives.

The principal help needed from the Church by the City Mission Society is support of its chaplaincy service in institutions. Public and private hospitals seeking the ministrations of our clergy have to be refused for our lack of support. We will fail this year by 50% to meet the cost of our present chaplaincy service without expansion.

Five other services — The Board of Religious Education, the Commission on Christian Social Relations, the Diocesan Commission on College Work, the Girls' Friendly Society and the Youth Consultation Service—will receive about two-thirds of the amounts required; the Episcopal Service to the Aged about 80%. This will necessitate drastic curtailment of present programs, with the possible elimination of some phases.

The Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society faces a reduction of 15% in its appropriation. This is the corporation organized to extend the Church in the Diocese, to maintain it where it is weak and to nurture growing missions until they can attain self-support and parish status. It must have funds to provide adequate clergy stipends and allowances or it cannot maintain the standard of work which will produce strong and virile parishes. Without the funds it seeks, it cannot extend the Church to any newly populated area or give support to any work faltering under changing community conditions.

National Program Limited

The estimated lower giving in the Diocese likewise will affect the program of the National Council which has issued the following statement:

We members of the National Council are happy to report to the Church the progress made on the increased budget during the first year of this trienniunm. Although cuts of $668,000 were necessary to bring the budget adopted by the General Convention within expected income, the general program of the Church is moving definitely forward, especially in the development of the pprogram of the Department of Christian Education.

It is already obvious that the Army and Navy Division will need an additionol $100,000 for 1951 and probably more than twice this amount for 1952, in order to discharge increasing responsibilities to our men in the Armed Forces. Created by present critical world conditions, other emergency exlpenses are already beginning to develop. To continue in 1952 the expansion of the program of Christian Education which will be made in 1951, $30,000 will be needed; and an additional $20,000 is required to meet more fully, during the next two years, our responsibilities for the interdenominational program of the National Council of the Churches of Christ. For these essential needs we have set up a reserve of approximately $436,000. The alternative to having these reserved funds available for emergency needs which are arising would be a special campaign. This we wish to avoid if possible in orded that we may give our primary effort to increasing the regular giving of the Church until the budget adopted by the last General Convention is fully covered.

In setting up the budget for 1951 we have had available approximately $100,000 in expectations over last year. This and other additional funds are being used to expand further the program of Christian Education, to meet the increased cost of living for missionaries in foreign fields, staff members and employees, to provide social seclurity, to appropriate an additional $50,000 for World Relief and Church Cooperation over the reduced appropriation for last year, and to meet the special expenses occasioned by moving missionaries in the Orient.

It is encouraging that the Every Member Canvass of 1950, which combined the two campaigns held in the first year of this triennium, resulted in increased expectations of $100,000. While some Dioceses have met or exceeded their quotas, others have much still to do to give their full share of the Church's budget. We must keep constantly in mind that the Church has still not reached by $600,000 the level of giving which was anticipated by the last General Convention. But we are profoundly thankful for the very real progress that has been made. All of us must continue to increase our support of the Church's program in order to achieve the goal.

Our Responsibility

The share of the 1950 budget of the National Council apportioned to the Diocese of New York was $591,481. Our payment against this apportionment was $378, 977, the largest payment ever made and the largest of any Diocese in the Church, but still $212,504 less than asked of us. This difference represented about 30% of the amount the National Council had to curtail its work.

Youth Consultation Service Holds Annual Meeting on February 15th

Youth Consultation Service held its annual meeting at its address, 27 West 25th Street, Manhattan, Feb. 15. Bishop Boynton gave the invocation and the Rev. Anson Phelps Stokes pronounced the benediction.

Feb. 15 also marked the opening of a drive for contributing members by the Y.C.S. In addition, the agency made an appeal for more volunteers to help carry on the non-professional phases of their program.

St. Hilda's School Tea April 3rd

St. Hilda's, the new Episcopal School for young children at 621 West 113th St., Man., will hold a Spring Bazaar, Silver Tea and Bridge at the Choir School in the Cathedral Close on April 3rd, from two until eleven p.m.

Reservations for afternoon or evening bridge may be made by calling Mrs. James Green, MOnument 2-2451.

Spring Convocation Meetings Slated to Begin on April 12

The annual business meetings of the seven Convocations of the Diocese will be held on the following dates (places to be announced). All clergy canonically resident in a Convocation and three lay delegates from each parish and mission are entitled to vote at these meetings.

Each Convocation elects a Dean from among its clergy and a Council composed of two clergymen and two laymen. It also elects representatives on the Board of Managers of the Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society, Episcopal Service to the Aged, Board of Religious Education and the Commission on Christian Social Relations.

Manhattan Clergy Hear Story Of Progress of Social Study

On the invitation of the Bishop, the clergy in charge of Manhattan parishes and missions gathered in the Cathedral House on February 26th to learn of the progress made to date and the steps to be taken in the future with regard to the Social Research Study.

The Bishop opened the discussion. He urged cooperation with the Convocation Committee in charge and spoke of his confidence in the Study as a guide for parish and diocesan planning. The Bishop particularly emphasized that the purpose of the Study was not to decide what parishes should be closed, but how existing parishes could be strengthened and where new parishes should be established.

The Reverend John A. Bell, Rector of the Church of the Incarnation and Chairman of the Convocation Committee on the Study, said that with the proper cooperation the Study could make the Convocation a functional part of the life of the Diocese. He said that while the initial Study itself would be completed this year, to be of value it must be "securely anchored and kept up to date".

The Reverend Herman A. Berngen, Vicar of St. Augustine's Chapel of Trinity Parish, illustrated by reference to a similar study made for the Diocese of Chicago, the many phases of the Study which will provide for parishes the social picture of its community and the changes which have occurred during the last 30 years.

Others participating in the discussion were Bishop Boynton, the Reverend Paul C. Armstrong of St. Thomas Chapel; the Reverend Shelton Hale Bishop of St. Philip's Church; the Reverend Dr. Arthur L. Kinsolving of St. James Church; Reverend Richard E. McEvoy of St. Mark's-in-the-Bouwerie; the Reverend Arthur C. Moore of St. Luke's, Edgecombe Avenue; the Reverend Dr. James A. Paul of Holy Trinity Church; the Reverend Dr. Louis W. Pitt of Grace Church; and the Reverend Paul C. Weed, Jr. of St. Luke's Chapel, Trinity Parish.

The sense of the meeting was that the Study should be the major activity of the Convocation and that its importance should be stressed at the Annual Meeting of the Convocation, at which full attendance of lay delegates would be urged.

Missionary Quota for 1951 Includes Our World Relief

Many people who have given generously to "World Relief" during the past few years have inquired why the Church has made no special "Presiding Bishop's Fund for World Relief" appeal this year. The treasurer's office reports the reason is that $450,000. for World Relief was included in the regular budget of the National Council.

Persons wishing to make designated gifts for World Relief may still make such gifts through the parishes and they will be credited against parish missionary quotas.

Some parishes have made special appeals for this objective and such appeals are encouraged, despite the fact that no special appeal on a national or diocesan basis was made.

The full payment of parish quotas would insure that this item of the budget would not be cut.

Auxiliary Supply Is Christ's Hands to Clothe the Naked

Man needs clothing, whether an Eskimo on the frozen Alaska tundra, or a Liberian mother leading her children along a hot dusty backcountry road, or a Puerto Rican family in a tropic over-crowded wayside village, or an Indian girl who wishes to make her first communion in the Church of the Good Shepherd at Fort Defiance, Arizona.

And the Woman's Auxiliary to the National Council Supply Department is the Church's way of extending Christ's hands to meet that need.

Under the inspired leadership of Mrs. Arthur J. Simpson, vice-president of the Diocesan Auxiliary and Chairman of the Diocesan Supply Committee, a well-organized team of workers has kept a steady flow of new clothing, used clothing, knitted garments, surgical dressings, sheets, blankets and pillow cases, and layettes flowing out to the four corners of the earth.

The tabulation below, while only reported in dollars-and-cents value gives some idea of the extent of that service during 1950.

And every penny's worth of clothing that was sent out had been requested.

It begins this way.

The vicar of Galilee Mission, Creswell, North Carolina, for example, requests four layettes, two dozen boys polo shirts, six pairs of overalls, six girl's dresses, a dozen pairs of pajamas, a dozen blankets, two dozen sheets, twenty towels and adult used clothing for a group of share-cropping families who have been burned out.

The request comes to the National Council Woman's Auxiliary who allocate the request to the Diocese of New York branch. When the request is received by Mrs. Simpson, the Supply Committee goes to work.

Mrs. Leah Uncio, as storekeeper, takes the uncut cloth from the shelves. These bolts of material have been bought at wholesale. The material is then laid out in several thicknesses and patterns traced by Mrs. Lydia Bailey and Mrs. Laura Greenidge.

When the material is in order, Mrs. James Patterson does the cutting with an electric cutter.

Finally, through an assembly line process, the individual garments are collated and bundel together according to the parish to which they are to be sent for finishing. The parish doing the finishing pays the cost of the wholesale material.

Others who regularly assist are Mrs. Frederick W. Dillingham, vice-chairman of the committee who pinch-hits at all jobs, and Mrs. Marjorie Woodman who is in charge of layettes.

Mrs. Robert A. West does the unique job of buying items at wholesale which cannot be made by hand.

Mrs. Simpson said that her team could ship twice as much material to the parishes if the local Auxiliaries were willing to accept more assignments. "We need more Churches willing to sew," said Mrs. Simpson. "And we need more persons to help parochially so that each parish can double its output."

"Through the Supply Department, parishes are enabled to buy more cheaply, and to send more garments than if the purchasing and cutting was done in individual church work rooms; or if all garments were bought locally ready-made," she said.

All workers are volunteer.

At the end of the work year, in June, each parish accounts to the district secretary on the work completed and shipped. In turn, each district secretary reports to the Diocesan Supply Committee so that each request which has been forwarded to a parish is assured of being filled.

District secretaries are: Bronx, Mrs. D. Miller; Dutchess, Florence L. Beeckman; Hudson and Ramapo, Mrs. Peter Cantline; Manhattan, Evening Branches, Mrs. James A. Musgrave; Lower Manhattan, Mrs. Ralph E. Herendeen; Richmond, Miss Madeline J. Bang; Westchester, Harlem, Mrs. David B. Porter; Hudson, Mrs. Fred Lander.

New Flag for Welfare Island

Men and boys of Diocese Make Corporate Communions Feb. 22

In Richmond, the Bronx, Westchester, and Manhattan, George Washington's Birthday, Feb. 22, was the occasion for the men and boys of the Diocese coming together for a corporate communion and breakfast.

Approximately 275 men and boys of Richmond made their 8 a.m. communions at Christ Church, Richmond, in their eleventh annual service. The Rev. Bernard A. Hemsley, rector of St. Andrew's, Richmond, the host parish, was the celebrant, assisted by the Rev. Andrew C. Long, rector of Christ Church, and the Rev. Raymond G. Rodgers.

At a breakfast, prepared by the women of St. Andrew's, William T. Kirk, member of the Standing Committee of the Diocese of Newark, one of the laymen trained by the National Council to tell of the Church's program, discussed the work laymen can do in the church.

Mr. Kirk said the breadth of the national program of the Church challenges the best that the Church's best laymen had to offer. He cited George Washington as an illustration of a consecrated layman.

The offering of $162 was for St. Francis Boys Home at Salina & Ellsworth, Kansas.

The celebration and breakfast in the Bronx were at Holy Nativity where Bishop Boynton was the celebrant. Guest speaker at breakfast was E. Townsend Look, instructor at the General Theological Seminary.

In Westchester, All Saints', Harrison, was host to four of her neighboring churches, Ratje Meyer received reservations. The Rev. Fenimore E. Cooper was the speaker.

The Church of the Ascension, Man., conducted a "Community Day of Prayer for the Peace of the World" which began at 8 a.m. with the Holy Communion. Thereafter, upon each half hour, devotions were conducted by the various clergy and denominational ministers of Manhattan.

The day of prayer closed with a "great union service for the unity of the world." The guest preacher was the Rt. Rev. John I. Blair Larned, D.D., Bishop of the American Episcopal Churches in Europe.

Ask 2,000 Tons of Wheat Be Sent India

The Commission on Christian Social Relations at its February meeting adopted a resolution favoring the gift of 2,000,000 tons of wheat to relieve the threatened famine in India.

A committee consisting of the Rev. Charles T. Bridgeman, chairman of the Commission, the Hon. Paxton Blair, ex-Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, and the Rev. Arthur C. Moore, vicar of St. Luke's, Edgecombe Avenue, drafted a letter which was sent to the two United States Senators from New York and the fifteen Members of Congress whose districts lie within the Diocese.

They urged that the gift should be "dispatched promptly; and to be made in a worthy spirit; it must not be delayed until we can exact a quid pro quo, of either a material or a political nature. Foreign policy is not brought nearer to success if its promotion is at the expense of the lives of innocent human beings."

The congressmen were urged to vote in favor of the proposal.

Diocesan Canterbury Clubs Meeting March 31 - April 1

On the weekend of March 31 and April 1st, the Canterbury Clubs of the Diocese will hold a conference at the Synod House to organize the Diocesan Student Commission to the newly-formed National Canterbury Association, and to elect two members from the delegates to serve on the Provincial Student Commission.

The program is being planned by a committee consisting of Miss Adelaide D. Simpson, associate professor of Classics at Hunter College; Miss Katharine Duffield, provincial secretary for college work; John B. Morris, senior at Columbia University, and chairman of the Provisional Executive Student Council of the National Canterbury Association; and the Rev. Norman Spicer, chaplain to college students in the Diocese.

The conference will close on Sunday evening in a combined service with the Cathedral Chapter of the Canterbury Club at the Synod House, at which time the Rev. Samuel Shoemaker, D.D., will preach.

Bishop Tells Church Club of Social Study Now Being Conducted

The Bishop was honored Feb. 5 at the 64th annual dinner of the Church Club at the Waldorf-Astoria. He took the occasion to describe the "social research" study now being conducted in Manhattan, the Bronx, and lower Westchester.

The Bishop described one of the major purposes of the survey as locating for evangelism efforts groups "not traditionally associated with the Episcopal Church," he said it would make the Church more effective in adjusting to changing neighborhoods and in accommodating to shifting racial and national groups in a community.

Noting that much Church support in the past has been the work of a few wealthy individuals, the Bishop said that today the future oft he Church depends upon broadening the base of givers so that many more participate more fully in the support of the Church. He recommended "the Biblical principle of tithing", saying the time has come when the Church must "courageously hold before its people real standards of giving" and command a "priority on our giving."

Turning to the Church's world-wide outlook, the Bishop warned, "We must make a careful distinction between the Reds and the people of Russia. We oppose the system," he said, "but not the people."

At dinner, Bishop Boynton said the invocation. Douglas M. Moffat, president of the club, presided. Federal Judge Harold R. Medina shared the speakers' platform with the Bishop and told how prayer gave him strength to continue with the long and arduous court procedures during the trial of the eleven Communist leaders.

April 3 Meeting of Auxiliary to Be at St. Paul's, Poughkeepsie

Supply work for the Missions at home and abroad will be the subject of the meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary, Tuesday, April 3rd in St. Paul's, Poughkeepsie.

Bishop Boynton, as speaker, will tell something of what the supply work means to Puerto Rico where he formerly served as Missionary Bishop.

Preceding the talk, there will be a show of garments, those made in former times, and those made today.

The discussion will consider the relationship of the departments of Missions, Promotion, Christian Social Relations, and Supply within the program of the Woman's Auxiliary.

St. Peter's School Glee Club Town Hall Benefit April 21st

The annual benefit for St. Peter's School will be held at Town Hall, New York City, on Saturday evening, April 21st. The Glee Club and Octette of the school will present the program. Miss Dorothy Hasbrouck will be the chairman of the ticket committee and will receive orders at her office at the Cathedral, MOnument 2-3100.

During the past season the Glee Club has sung at many different churches in the Diocese and recently gave a concert at the Washington Club, Washington, D. C.

One of the features this year will be selections from The Boar's Head Dinner and Yule Log Festival, given at the School before the Christmas holidays. The Beef-Eaters are to appear in costume for The Boar's Head procession and the Wassail song.

The proceeds this year will go to pay for installing the permanent floor in the gymnasium. It is this building, which in addition to the Bishop Gilbert Field House, will house an additional 100 boys at the youth conference every summer.

The Glee Club is under the direction of the Rev. Frank C. Leeming, headmaster of St. Peter's School, and Douglas Carter. The accompanist will be George Hickok, '43, the first boy to be enrolled at St. Peter's and the first alumnus to return to the school as a Master. Mr. Hickok is also a graduate of the Cathedral Choir School.

Bishop Boynton at Church Club

The Church Club of New York is giving a dinner for Bishop Boynton at the Union Club on Tuesday, April 10, 1951 at 7:45 p.m.

Bishop Boynton will be the only speaker. The dinner is open to Church Club members and their guests. There will be no ladies present.

World Day of Prayer Held at St. Paul's, Inwood, Feb. 9

The World Day of Prayer was held in Holy Trinity, Inwood, Feb. 9, 2 p.m., under the direction of Mrs. Nicholas Cardell, president of the New York Council of Church Women of Washington Heights and Inwood. Mrs. Ernest W. Smith was chairman of the World Day of Prayer.

Miss Alice Palmer, Woman's Auxiliary representative maintained at Ellis Island for work with immigrants by the Diocesan group, told of her work.

Mrs. Herbert Ackerman was at the organ and Mrs. W. P. Smith was soloist. Mrs. B. A. Pepperman lead in a responsive prayer reading.

GFS Jr. Rally, April 28th

THE JUNIOR RALLY of the Girls' Friendly Society will be held on Saturday, April 28th with registration in Synod House at 10:a.m. followed by a service in the Cathedral at 11 a.m. At the conclusion of the service the children will return to Synod House for a Box Luncheon and to participate in an afternoon program.

Diocesan Youth Convention to Meet at Cathedral April 14th

To Elect Two from Each Parish to Youth Council

Saturday, April 14, has been set as the date for the Diocesan Youth Convention at the Cathedral, beginning with a Celebration of the Holy Communion at eleven o'clock. Both of the Bishops will be present for the Convention, one of them preaching at the service and the other giving an address at the afternoon session.

Box lunches will be eaten in the Undercroft of the Synod House. The business meeting will be held in the Convention Hall of the Synod House. For the first time, all of the young people will participate in the election of two young people to serve as members-at-large on the Diocesan Youth Council. Reports on the Youth Sunday Offering, on the Bishop's Ball, the Summer Conferences, and on "Plan—1951-52" will be made. Richard Spielman, the Diocese of Long Island Youth President, and Alma Schelle, St. Peter's Church, Westchester, both members of the National Youth Commission, will present the National Youth Commission's plans for 1951-52.

Robert Leve, St. Peter's Church, Westchester, President of the Diocesan Youth Council, will preside, assisted by Bucky Kendrick of St. John's Church, Tuckahoe, Vice President. Miss Jean Knight of The Church of the Mediator, Bronx, will report on finances.

The Annual Convention Dance will be held in the Undercroft from two until four o'clock.

Announce Opening of GFS Camp Interlochen-Sherwood for Girls

CAMP INTERLOCHEN-SHERWOOD, the Diocesan Girls' Friendly Society Camp, situated on beautiful Lake Kanawauke, Bear Mountain Park, New York, will open on June 29th for an eight week camping season.

This Church Camp for girls from 8 to 14 years of age, under the supervision of trained leadership, formerly of St. Mary's Hall, Burlington, New Jersey, and carefully selected counselors, offers a rare religious opportunity for young girls to enjoy a wholesome camping vacation of 2, 4, 6 or 8 weeks.

Rates for G.F.S. Members and Episcopal Church girls, $22.00 per week; for others, $26.00 per week. With limited capacity early registration is urged in order to secure accommodations.

"Christian Doctrine of Man" Set As Theme of Spring Youth Rallies

"The Christian Doctrine of Man" has been selected by the Diocesan Youth Council as the theme for the Spring Youth Convocation Meetings. This suggestion is from the young people themselves. The idea is to give some basic Christian thinking to the young people on which they can base their philosophy in the present international conflict. They are fully aware of the vital part they are being called to play in it . Naturally, the Communist doctrine of man will be contrasted with Christian doctrine.

A box supper and informal recreation and fellowship are features of each of the semi-annual convocational meetings.

Appeal to Diocesan Youth to Help Finish Bishop Gilbert Field House

A letter has been mailed recently to the leaders of the youth of the Diocese appealing for further help in raising funds to complete The Bishop Gilbert Field House at St. Peter's School. In order that the interior may be completed in time for the youth conference which opens late in June, work should be resumed on the building at once, said the Rev. Frank C. Leeming, headmaster of the school.

Groups planning to come from a particular parish are asked to notify the headmaster so that tea may be provided. "Peekskill is handy to get to from almost any part of the Diocese and such a trip is a pleasant one for a Sunday afternoon," said the headmaster.

The amount needed to complete the building is $12,000. The total spent to date and given by people of the Diocese is $18,000.

Set Bishop's Ball for Oct. 26th

Friday, October 26, has been set as the date for the Second Annual Bishop's Ball. The net proceeds will go toward the $1,000.00 pledge which the young people made to the Bishop Gilbert Field House. $400.00 has already been paid from the receipts of the 1950 Ball.

Announce $500 Scholarships for St. Peter's School, Peekskill

St. Peter's School, Peekskill, has recently been assured of a fixed amount of money to be given as $500 part-scholarships for worthy boys, the Rev. Frank C. Leeming, headmaster, announced last month.

"This will make it possible for such boys to have the opportunity of a Christian education at a minimum cost to the parents," the headmaster said.

He urged clergy who would like to recommend boys for consideration to do so at once as the number of scholarships is limited.

It was also announced that at a recent meeting of the Board of Trustees, the Bishop was elected Honorary President and Bishop Boynton was elected to be one of the active trustees. Louis E. McFadden continues as President of the Board.

Call on All Youth to Join in Corporate Communion April 15

Across the Diocese on Sunday morning April 15, hundreds of young people will gather together at their parish Altars. As individual Christians, as parishioners, and as part of the United Movement of the Church's Youth, they will join in the National Young People's Corporate Communion.

Those following the Young people's Rule of Life will check on their progress.

Many groups will gather at breakfast after their early Corporate Communion.

Invitations to be mailed in the parish are available from The National Council, 281 Fourth Avenue, New York 10, New York, at two for one cent.

Many of our Diocesan young people will have attended the Diocesan Youth Convention at the Cathedral the day before.

Jesus Christ Is Risen Today!
Alleluia!
He Is Risen!
Alleluia!

Jesus Our Lord, of Whom the centurion who saw Him die on the Cross said, "Truly this was the Son of God," the same Jesus is alive forevermore!

After Calvary one can imagine the disciples in their bewilderment asking, "If God is love as Our Master taught us, how can He have permitted the outrage of the crucifixion. Surely the world is ruled by evil for wickedness has triumphed over good."

And then on Easter Day came the incredible news that He had risen from the dead! It was said that Mary Magdalene had seen Him. It was hard to believe that she told the truth. But then He appeared also unto others individually, to one or two at a time, to many at once.

It is natural that the details of the Resurrection appearances should vary for they were passed on by word of mouth for a generation before being written down.

But of no fact are we more certain than that after the first Easter Day Our Lord's followers began to preach His Resurrection. The distressed disciples who deserted Him at the trial, became joyous worshippers and witnesses, certain that Christ has risen from the dead. Nothing could shake their unwavering faith. "Christ is Risen!" became the watchword with which they set out to win the world.

Christ is Risen! Jesus of Nazareth is alive forevermore! As in His life He conquered sin, so by the cross He conquered death. It means that goodness is immortal. The Resurrection was the triumph of righteousness, the pledge and proof that all that belongs to God endures forever.

In Christ, says St. Paul, "shall all be made alive." Through following in His steps, through fellowship with Him, in purity and goodness, in truth and the beauty of holiness, through the growth of the Christ spirit within us we become worthy of eternal life with God.

"Therefore my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord.

"Thanks be to God, which giveth us the victory through Our Lord Jesus Christ."

"Advocates for God" Are On the March for Christ

By W. TED GANNAWAY

THE laymen of the Diocese are on the march.

They are fired with a determination to see the Church meet the challenge of these critical times. They are responding as never before to the invitation to serve offered by the Laymen's Movement.

The spark was ignited when the original sixty men met at the National Church Conference Home, Seabury House, Greenwich, Conn., Nov. 19, 1949. In two days of intensive training, these men, representing every convocation in the Diocese, heard the story of the Missionary program of the Episcopal Church. They learned about our work from Alaska to Brazil; from the Canal Zone to China; from Havana to Hawaii.

In their imagination, they rode the ranges and mountains with our priests in the Church's thirteen missionary districts of the West. They visited farms and factories with our vicars. They saw these gallant, under-paid, poorly housed clergy at first hand. They joined in the heated discussions on college campuses. They went with our chaplains to prisons and asylums.

From rescue missions of the slums to great Cathedrals, they saw our Church at work. They caught fire and went back to the parishes and missions in their neighborhoods to tell the story to the vestries that would listen to them.

They told their story well.

Parish after parish responded to their sincerity and conviction. Missionary giving increased throughout the Diocese.

But they were not content. Sixty men were too few. Double the number were needed. Every parish and mission must hear and know. The story must not only be told to vestries. Every member of the Church must hear it. They would recruit more men.

Under the sponsorship of the Diocesan Committee on the Program of the Church, fifty more men were enlisted and trained.

One hundred men gathered at the Cathedral on Oct. 1, 1950. They were briefed on the Church's expanding educational program and its widening ministry in Christian social relations. They condensed and sharpened their presentations. During the Fall and Winter, they spoke to congregations at the sermon period on Sunday mornings. They addressed parish meetings. They talked to church groups.

They criticized themselves and their efforts without mercy. They practiced. They studied. They met with the others in their congregations to suggest improvements.

The fire of their enthusiasm burned brighter than ever.

What has happened is best shown by the increase by more than fifty per cent in the missionary giving by the Diocese in the past year.

Our laymen are on the march.

Now, they plan to have in their group at least one man from every parish or mission. These new men will receive the same basic training as the rest. They will be the spark that will blaze in their own parish or mission. They will see to it that the best suggestions and ideas from laymen throughout the Church are carefully considered by their own parish leaders. They will add their own successful activities to the growing store now being sent out to all parts of the Church by the Presiding Bishop's Committee on Laymen's Work.

This Presiding Bishop's Committee has been working since 1942. It was called together to devise effective ways to use the laity of our Church. It is now operating in every Diocese and missionary district. It collects and passes on all programs and ideas that are successful in other localities. It promotes the Annual Corporate Communion and Gift for Men and Boys scheduled the first Sunday in Advent.

But above all, it seeks to bring men to a personal commitment to Jesus Christ and His Church.

This commitment results in a realization of the necessity and privilege of sharing this experience with others. This is Evangelism. This is the theme by which we laymen work.

We know that if we carry out our theme we must begin with ourselves. We are learning to really worship. We believe that if we are successful in interesting others we must first know well our own faith, history and essential convictions. These matters we will study with prayer and devotion. We are sure that we cannot ask others to do that which we are unwilling to do ourselves. We will open new areas of service. We will give wider, much wider, support to every phase of our par-

Diocesan 169 Convention Opens the Eighth of May

New Diocesan Makes First Convention Address

The 169th Convention of the Diocese will be held on May 8 beginning with a service of Holy Communion in the Cathedral at 8:15 a.m. with the Bishop as celebrant. Breakfast will be served to delegates after the service and the business session will begin at 10 a.m.

The Convention is the legislative body of the Church in the Diocese. It is composed of the Bishop, the Suffragan Bishop and clerical and lay members sitting and acting together in one body but voting by orders on some matters. Clerical members are the clergy canonically resident in the Diocese not less than six months prior to the meeting of the Convention and who are either settled in some parish in union with the Convention, in the Cathedral or as missionaries, chaplains, professors, instructors or who after attaining the age of sixty-five shall have retired after ten years of service in one or more of the above positions.

Lay members are male representatives of the parishes and organized missions of the Diocese. There may be three lay delegates from every parish in union with the Convention, one from every assisted parish not in union with the Convention and one from every organized mission. Lay delegates from parishes having vestries are chosen by the vestry; from parishes having no vestries, by the congregation and from missions by the advisory board. Certificates of appointment of lay delegates must be filed with the Secretary of the Convention at least three weeks prior to the meeting of the Convention.

The duties of the Secretary have devolved upon the Rev. Lawrence B. Larsen, rector of Christ Church, Pelham Manor, owing to the death of the former Secretary, the Rev. R. A. D. Beaty. The acting secretary has been the assistant secretary longest of the three under appointment.

The business of the Convention begins with the election of a secretary and of a treasurer.

Each is elected for a term of one year. The present treasurer, Richard H. Mansfield, has held the office since 1940. He is the son of the late Rev. Archibald R. Mansfield, who for many years was Superintendent of the Seamen's Institute.

R. H. Mansfield

Mr. Mansfield is an associate of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., a trustee of the Atlantic Mutual Insurance Company, and a Director of the Home Life Insurance Company and the Seamen's Bank for Savings. He is a member of the Church of St. James the Less, Scarsdale; a vestryman of Trinity Church, Manhattan; a director of the Seamen's Church Institute, a trustee of the Estate and Property of the Diocesan Convention and a member of the Finance Committee of the Diocesan Investment Trust.

After the election of these officers, the Bishop appoints members of the Committee on Incorporation and Admission of Parishes, the Committee on Diocesan Finances, the Committee on Canons, the Committee on Miscellaneous Business and other committees authorized by the Canons.

It is anticipated that two congregations recently incorporated will apply to be received into union with the Convention. These are the Church of the Holy Trinity, Man., which for many years has been a chapel of St. James Parish, and St. Andrew's, Hartsdale, which has been an organized mission.

There are numerous offices on the various boards, committees and commissions of the Diocese to be filled by election and appointment. Included are the Standing Committee, the Board of Managers of the Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society, Deputies to the Provincial Synod which meets this year in Buffalo, the Board of Religious Education, the Commission on Christian Social Relations, Commission on College Work and the Board of Examining Chaplains.

The Bishop's address is the high point of interest in meetings of Convention. This address includes a report on the affairs of the Diocese and the conduct of his office for the past year. He may also use his address to recommend action by the Convention on any matter which he feels is in the interest of the Church.

Added interest in the Bishop's address is anticipated this year as it will be Bishop Donegan's first address since he became Diocesan last fall.

The Convention uses what is known as the Hare single transferable ballot. This ballot provides that each voter indicates his preference for each person nominated by specifying his first, second, third, fourth choice, etc.

Auxiliary Holds Annual Meeting

The Annual Meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Diocese of New York Offering and Holy Communion will be will be held on Tuesday, May 1st.

The presentation of the United Thank held at 10:00 A.M. in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, Amsterdam Avenue and 112th Street.

Crowded Cathedral nave at the Installation of the Bishop, Nov. 18, typical of high festive occasions.

The Builders of Worship of God

Know Our Diocese Series

EASTER and Palm Sunday, last month throughout Christendom, epitomized man's best efforts to offer worthy worship to Almighty God, whether the eight members of St. John the Baptist at Richardsville, or the 4,062 communicants of Trinity Parish, Man.

The following two pages illustrate the many hands required to plan our most fitting offering to God at the Cathedral. The pictures are arranged in three strips and read from left to right.

The Service Is Brought Into Being

As the first step, the Bishop orders the service, the ceremonial, the personnel, the preaching, the music. The Canon Sacrist then has the responsibility to produce this service. Miss Carol Rede, the Bishop's secretary, has just finished taking notes as the conference comes to a close.

Next, the Canon Pastor of the Cathedral prepares advertisements of the service, sees that news releases are sent out (after the service as well), and is here shown as he briefs the press on some technical detail of liturgy or historical background.

Miss Margaret Murphy, at the switchboard, handles or re-routes the myriads of calls asking questions.

Mr. Henry W. Rowley, music librarian of the Cathedral Choir School, gets copies of the music.

Canon Green and Dr. Norman Coke-Jephcott, Cathedral organist, take final responsibility for producing the music. They are here at a rehearsal of the boys.

The Fabric Is Made Ready

The grounds of the Cathedral, an emerald setting in the midst of the grey-brown stone of Amsterdam Ave., is kept growing by an efficient yard crew. Left to right, Patrick Keegan, Thomas Horan (on the roller), Diego Bruno, and Theodore Niemiec, special officer who patrols the grounds.

Mrs. Rebecca Hicks launders the white vestments of the altars, acolytes and choir.

The voice of the service, the organ, must be kept tuned. Mr. Herbert Hannan, assistant headmaster of the Choir School, is making a delicate adjustment in one of the smaller pipes. The box-like structures are larger pipes and air-ducts.

The carpentry shop keeps things in repair. Left to right, Mr. George Parsons at a power-saw, Mr. Thomas Muncaster, in charge of all Cathedral work, holding some of the hundreds of keys for which he is responsible, and Mr. Phillip Sheridan.

Everything Decently and in Order

Miss Katharine Strohsahl prepares the sacred vessels before the service.

Mr. George D. Edwards, president of the Laymen's Club (left) reviews the seating plans for the Palm Sunday service with Mr. John Turner, chief of ushers.

The service is rehearsed. The two pictures show the rehearsal and, to its right, the actual Palm Sunday worship towards which all the effort had directed itself.

After the service is over, and the lights are lowered, the Cathedral's work still goes on as a place of quiet devotion and meditation for persons who wish to stop a moment in prayer.

In all, a staff of seventy-five persons work to make the services of the Cathedral possible.

Memorialize Diocesan Secretary

A service in memory of the Rev. Richard A. D. Beaty, former rector of St. Peter's, Chelsea, from May 1, 1933 until his death, Feb. 3, 1951, was held at St. Peter's, March 11, in the afternoon.

He had also served as secretary of the Diocese since 1934.

A special group of soloists sang Verdi's Requiem. The Rev. Percy L. Urban, Jr., priest-in-charge pending the election of a rector officiated.

How "Advocates" for God Are Serving Christ's Church

ish program, our diocesan effort and the work of our national Church. We will set forth boldly on a plan of Christian stewardship. We will become Christian salesmen in the highest sense of the word. Every layman in the Diocese will be our prospect.

We will follow the rules laid down by our Lord. We will keep in mind the effective experiences of our own business lives. Under the guidance and leadership of our rector or vicar, we laymen will rally the men of our parish. Using skills and techniques soundly proven in the sales fields of secular business, we will present our Church to our unchurched neighbors.

We will make our parish, our diocese, our national Church strong by telling and retelling the story of the Church; by promoting an effective Every Member Canvass in our parish and mission; by uniting with fellow Churchmen in our community to present a solid front. We will widen the basis of our financial support to include all our members. We will so arrange our time to give our Church its rightful priority. These things we can and will do. This is Christian Stewardship. This is Evangelism by laymen. This is the Laymen's Movement in the Diocese of New York. We are on the March.

OUR LORD

Call for Three Conferences To Further Fall Canvasses

Associate Field Officers Readying for New Drive

A series of three conferences of laymen has been called for April 22, May 19-20, and July 13-15 by the Diocesan Committee on the Program of the Church, looking toward a general Conference immediately after Labor Day to set up the Fall presentations to the churches of the Diocese in preparation for Every Member Canvasses.

W. Ted Gannaway, secretary of the Committee said, "The way we see it now, primary emphasis will be placed on a twenty-minute address to be given at regular Sunday morning services. Three or four suggested outlines will be provided for to fill in from the 'Fact Books' distributed last Fall. Supplementary material will be available.

"In addition," Mr. Gannaway said, "We are providing a booklet of real-life stories taken directly from every place where our missionary funds are spent. The latest statistical data will be on hand and replacement sheets for the 'Fact Book' will bring them up to date.

"To complete the Diocesan story, we will have ready for each layman on the committee a set of forty slides and a suggested script, covering the actual work of our missionaries, chaplains and services here in the Diocese."

The first meeting, April 22, 2:30 p.m. to 5:00 p.m., at the Cathedral House Library, will be a "Critique and Training Session on Every Member Canvass Techniques".

The session will consider various techniques and experiences of the men and then will "select and revamp the best ones, to agree on a standard set-up." Then, the men will be divided into teams of two or three each to take on assignments in parishes to which they have been invited to organize and to conduct a good canvass.

The schedule is as follows:

SATURDAY-SUNDAY, May 19-20. Seabury House, Greenwich, Conn. Basic Training Course for new Associate Field Officers.

FRIDAY-SUNDAY, July 13-15. Seabury House, Greenwich, Conn. National Council Training Course on Religious Education.

Appoint H. Wynn Bussman to Head New Laymen's Movement

Mr. H. Wynn Bussman has been named Diocesan Chairman of Laymen's Work, it was announced last month by the Bishop. Representatives of each parish and mission are now being recruited to meet June 3 at the Synod Hall, Cathedral Close, for the first annual Laymen's Conference.

H. Wynn Bussman

Mr. Bussman described the work of the committee as aimed at improving the functioning of parishes and to draw more men, into the service of the Church. He said, "We seek to do for each parish what the associate field officers have been able to do for the Diocese."

Mr. Bussman is associated with the A. C. Nielsen Company, market analysts of 500 Fifth Avenue, N. Y. C. He lives in Dobbs Ferry where he is a communicant of Zion.

He is an associate field officer of the Diocese.

In commenting on his assignment, W. Ted Gannaway said, "One of our most active and able laymen, Wynn brings to our work just the right combination of experience, ability and devotion to the Church that we need. It means a lot of voluntary sacrifice of time and energy to take on this job, but he is willing to tackle it.

"We, everyone of us, must give him all possible help. A million thanks, Wynn, for accepting this appointment."

G. F. S. Teen-Agers Gathering

The Girls' Friendly Society has scheduled a Teen-Age Conference on April 28, at 10:30 a.m., in Cathedral House.

Mrs. William W. Smith, executive director, said the panel participants will be "people who can tell them" about Teaching, nursing, social work, the theatre, Church compare with one 'outside'?"

"If a girl doesn't expect to work very long, don't you think she might as well take the best paying job she can get?" Mrs. Smith said.

Processional Cross Dedicated

A processional cross was dedicated at St. Bartholomew's, Man., at an afternoon service on March 11, 1951. Bishop Donegan officiated at the service. The gift of Elizabeth Taylor Dunnington, the cross is of Byzantine design and was given to the glory of God and in loving memory of Waller Taylor.

DIOCESAN Summer Conference is coming again this year, and happy scenes such as above at last year's conference of young people will be the order of the day. The Faculty are here showing the Seniors that they can teach them something about baseball as well as the Prayer Book.

First Parish Day School Conference is Scheduled

THE first Episcopal Parish Schools Conference of the Diocese of New York is to be held at Grace Church, New York City, on Saturday, May 19th, from 10:00 A.M. to 4:30 P.M. The Bishop of New York will set the theme for the day, speaking on "Why This Conference?".

The Rev. Theodore O. Wedel, Ph.D., Warden of the College of Preachers, Washington, D. C., will address the group on "Why the Parish School?", and the Rev. John Heuss, Jr., D.D., Director of Christian Education of the National Council, on "Secular and Sacred Curriculum."

Mr. E. Allison Grant, Headmaster of Grace School, New York City, will lead the discussion on "The Relationship Between the School and the Parish", and the Rev. John M. Mulligan, Rector of All Angels' Church, New York City, will speak on "The Need for a Common Approach".

The Rev. James A. Pike, J.S.D., Chaplain of Columbia University and Chairman of the Committee on Released Time, Day Schools, and Institutions of the Diocesan Board of Religious Education, will chair the meeting.

All clergymen of the Diocese and their key laymen as selected by the clergy, faculty members of parish schools in the Diocese, including nursery schools and kindergartens, members of the Board of Education of these schools, as well as faculty members and trustees of other Episcopal schools in the diocese will be qualified to attend.

At the present time, there are seven parish schools and six non-parish Episcopal Schools in the Diocese. In addition to these schools, ten parishes have nursery schools, meeting in Church buildings but not necessarily connected with the parish.

The committee members arranging for this conference are: the Rev. James A. Pike, J.S.D., Chairman; the Rev. John M. Mulligan; Mr. E. Allison Grant; the Rev. Albert Chambers, Rector of the Church of the Resurrection, New York City; Mrs. Reinhold Niebuhr, Executive Officer of the Department of Religion, Barnard College; and the Rev. J. Willard Yoder, Director of Religious Education and Youth Work.

Christian Social Relations Dinner Is Held April 10

The annual dinner of the Commission on Christian Social Relations was scheduled for April 10, at St. Bartholomew's Community House. The subject set to be discussed by the speakers at dinner was "Youth in an Insecure World."

Those scheduled to speak included Hon. Hubert T. Delany, Judge of the Children's Court, N. Y. C. — "What is Happening to our Young People?" On the same subject, Dr. A. Alfred Cohen, superintendent, N. Y. State Training School for Boys, Warwick.

Mrs. Richard G. Gould, district director, Westchester Office, Youth Consultation Service, spoke on "What Can the Church do to Help?"

BULLETIN Holding Its Own; But Still Needs Subscriptions

An analysis of the subscribers to the BULLETIN shows that with the exception of the clergy, paid subscriptions are about holding their own. Failure of the clergy to pay for their subscriptions accounts for a loss of 83 subscriptions.

In 1949 there were 3,158 paid subscribers. And in 1950, there had been a drop of 40 subscriptions to 3,118.

In general, there is better distribution of the BULLETIN than previously. In 1949, there were 43 communities that did not receive the BULLETIN. In 1950, there were only 4 communities where no one subscribed.

Following is a table of the distribution of subscriptions.

A library in honor of the 22-year-old, former acolyte was established and now numbers 325 books.

Diocesan Youth Convention April 15 to Elect Council

A Young Person Speaks on Youth's Objectives

BY ALMA SCHELLE

This year's Diocesan Youth Convention April 14 will tie all young people of all parishes who attend directly into the Diocesan Youth Council by direct election of two delegates-at-large to the Council.

The young people will all have the opportunity to participate directly in plans and policies for their work in the Diocese by discussion of the past year's work and making suggestions for 1951-52.

Among the items to be discussed will be the Diocesan Summer Conferences to be held at the Diocesan Youth Center, St. Peter's School, Peekskill. There will be three one-week conferences — June 24 to June 30 for boys and girls 6 to 13; July 1 to July 7 for young people 14 to 18; and July 8 to July 14 for boys and girls 6 to 13.

Last year 250 were in attendance. They gave $506 in their missionary offering, which they voted to give to the Bishop Gilbert Field House Fund.

$400 of the net profit of $402 from the 1950 Bishop's Ball was designated for the same purpose.

Plans for the 1951 Ball to be held on Friday, October 26th at Cathedral Heights will be discussed in anticipation of a gala diocesan social event and of a net profit to apply toward the $600 remaining on the young people's pledge to the Field House

Shall there be a queen? If so, how shall she be selected? Shall there be specialty numbers? If so, by whom? Where can we get a good orchestra for a nominal rate? How will prospective patrons names be selected? These questions will receive consideration in the business session.

How can we increase the 1951 Youth Offering? The 1950 offering from the young people of the Diocese of New York was only $200. The Holy Cross Mission in Liberia has been selected by the National Youth Commission for the 1951 offering. Methods to elicit participation of all young people of all parishes in this major effort will receive attention.

Suggestions on how to improve the semi-annual Convocational Youth Meetings will be received, and the possibility of a young people's retreat will be explored.

Alma Schelle of St. Peter's Church, Westchester, and Richard Spielman of the Diocese of Long Island, both members of the National Youth Commission, will present the national program for young people, called the United Movement of the Church's Youth (U.M.C.Y.). The Youth Rule of Life has been incorporated to undergird the whole plan for youth work and study in 1951-52.

The Feast of Lights has been reinstated as a "major" with Youth Sunday, Mission Study, and the Young People's Corporate Communion being the other three.

The 1951-52 theme is to be "Continue in that Holy Fellowship".

Church Periodical Club Has Many Books to Lend

The Church Periodical Club of the Diocese wishes the clergy to be reminded that books, secular and religious, given by donors from the various parishes are available for the asking at the Periodical Club office in Cathedral House on the Close.

Also, the Periodical Club will be glad to receive for distribution, books no longer needed by the owners, and fairly recent magazines, especially Church publications.

Cathedral Canterbury Club Is Host to Diocese Clubs

On Sunday evening April 1st the Cathedral Chapter of the Canterbury Club was host to students from all over the Diocese of New York who were in New York City as delegates to a weekend diocesan student conference.

Following a candlelight supper in the Undercroft of the Synod House, the Chapter and their guests heard an address by Countess Alexandra Tolstoy, daughter and secretary to the great Russian novelist, Leo Tolstoy.

Miss Tolstoy is well-known in this country as an author, lecturer, as executive of the Tolstoy Foundation, Inc., and for her work with displaced persons, the subject of her talk.

At the service of Evening Prayer, the Rev. Samuel M. Shoemaker, D.D., rector of Calvary, Man., preached.

Sunday evening programs for college students in the City of New York are held every week in the Synod House beginning with supper at six o'clock and including speakers, Evening Prayer, and activities (social service, discussion group, drama workshop, and the student choir).

College Commission And Auxiliary Discuss Vocations of Students

The Provincial Committee on College Work and the Woman's Auxiliaries of the Dioceses of New York, New Jersey, Newark, and Long Island, sponsored a Vocational Conference for women college students at Seabury House, Conn., Mar. 9-11.

Professor Ursula Niebuhr of Barnard College addressed the group Friday evening on "Christian Vocation", and later led a period of Meditation. Saturday morning, among the secular vocations discussed were: Teaching by Miss Catherine Oakes, Department of English, Connecticut; Social Work by Miss Sophie T. Cambria, Associate Professor of Sociology, Hunter College; Job Opportunities Abroad by Miss Elaine Wiswall, Windham House; Journalism and Writing by Miss Eleanor Morse, daughter of the Rev. Donald H. Morse.

Church Vocations were presented to the group Saturday afternoon by Helen B. Turnbull, director of Windham House. In the evening a symposium on Marriage and the Home was conducted by Mrs. Vesper O. Ward of Greenwich. Throughout the conference leaders were available to the students for private conferences. Among the students attending from the Diocese of New York were: Ostrid V. Donovan, St. Philip's Church; Sadie B. Mills; Sarah Bond and Ann Strickland, Barnard College; Joyce MacDonald, Windham House; Jeanne Plowman; Molly Bruce, Laura Page, Abby Campbell, Nancy McCaslin, Diane Sharp and Mary Lou Dunbar, Vassar College. The conference was under the direction of Miss Katharine Duffield, Provincial Secretary for College Work.

CONVENTION to Face Cutting Missionary Work

Next to the Bishop's address, the business of first importance, at press time, known to be presented to the 169th Convention, May 8th at the Synod House, Cathedral Close will be the "Report of the Committee on Diocesan Finances."

The Church Periodical Club and the Girls' Friendly Society will not receive help from Diocesan missionary funds in 1952, and the Youth Consultation Service and the Episcopal Service to the Aged face a major curtailment in receipt of missionary money if the report of the Committee is approved.

"The seriousness of the problem facing the Committee on Allocation," the report says, "can readily be seen if we can project the present level of giving available for Diocesan Agencies ($228,000) to 1952 and compare it to the askings of these Agencies ($338,050).

"After prolonged study, the Committee on Allocation has recommended that two agencies be eliminated from budget consideration for 1952.

"It is hoped that the former can carry on a satisfactory program financed by its parish branches, and that the latter can be financed by the parish branches which it serves."

The other diocesan agencies were grouped according to priority by the Allocation Committee. The report added, "If the full quota is raised, these priorities will have no significance; but if it appears after the Canvass that it will not be raised, these priorities will form the basis on which the Committee on Diocesan Finances will adjust the Budget."

Inaugerate Priority System

The Order of Priorities is as follows:

GROUP I—First Priority

Committee on the Program of the Church
Diocesan Missionary & Church Extension Society
N.Y.P.E. City Mission Society (chaplaincy budget and designated offerings for other work)
Treasurer's Office (share of expense)

GROUP II—Second Priority

Seamen's Church Institute (Chaplains' budget)

GROUP III—Third Priority

Church Mission to Deaf Mutes
Commission on Christian Social Relations
Board of Religious Education
Commission College Work

GROUP IV—Fourth Priority

Episcopal Service to the Aged
Youth Consultation Service

The anticipated disparity between asking and expectation for the 1952 budget would result in the following allocation.

| | Ask | Reduction | Available |
|---|---|---|---|
| GROUP I | $221,879 | 15% | $188,597 |
| GROUP II | 34,052 | 45% | 18,729 |
| GROUP III | 48,598 | 60% | 19,439 |
| GROUP IV | 33,521 | 96% | 1,235 |

would be so small that to continue their present programs they would have to secure practically full support from funds derived from other sources. It is in fairness to these agencies that this be stated now."

The Committee on Allocation is composed of the Bishop, the Suffragan Bishop, the Treasurer, the Assistant Treasurer, the Secretary of the Committee

"This adjustment, of course," the report says, "would fall heavily on the agencies in group III and the amount available for the agencies in group IV on The Program of the Church, and three parish rectors: the Rev. Ralph D. Bonacker of Grace, Millbrook, the Rev. Francis J. H. Coffin of St. John's, Larchmont, and the Rev. Dr. Louis W. Pitt of Grace, Man.

"The budget proposed," says the report, "results in a total quota of $890,158 of which $552,108 or 62% represents the apportionment of the National Council. If the parishes and missions produce the $890,158, there is no problem. But even though giving increased by 58% in 1950, and we hope it will continue to increase in 1951 and 1952, we believe it would be over-optimistic to assume that the total quota (requiring an increase of 48% over 1950 and more than 100% over 1949) will be paid in 1952. Any total of giving less than the total quota means reduced appropriations for Diocesan Agencies as well as for the National Council."

It was pointed out that in 1950, $347,000 was asked and $228,000 was

When The Bishop Visits ---

When a Bishop comes for the Visitation of a Parish of an Episcopal Church the congregation experiences what it means to be a part of the Anglican Communion. An Episcopal church derives its right to exist from the Episcopate. Its pastor is the bishop. Its rector or vicar or curates are the bishop's deputies.

His authority comes not so much from his canonical status or from his natural ability but from his representative function. He stands in a line of succession which comes to him from the Apostolic Church. His commission is not taken upon himself but given by the church in council. He is the expression of the historic continuity of the body of Christ. He is the expression of the geographical unity of the body of Christ.

When the bishop visits a church, he bears all of this with him. He consults with the priest about his work. He preaches to the people. He gives them the absolution in the services and solemnly bestows his blessing on the whole congregation. He greets the parishioners individually. If there are any to be confirmed, he confirms them since only a bishop has this power.

The Visitation of a Bishop is a solemn moment, a moment in which the church gathers itself quite consciously around the center of its unity, a moment in which we become aware not only of a mighty institution, but of Jesus Christ, the Shepherd and Bishop of our souls. . . . from the Parish leaflet of CHRIST CHURCH, Poughkeepsie received. For 1951, $327,400 was asked and estimates of income expected as of January, 1951 indicated only $213,000 available for diocesan missionary work.

It was noted that adjustments have been necessary in both the 1950 and 1951 budgets.

The Committee also reported that the Diocesan Assessment budget was balanced for 1950. The budget for 1951 is $183,200, 6¾% higher than in 1950.

It was noted that the Cathedral had borne the sole expense of the recent renovation of the interior of Ogilvie House, and that they had also advanced the money to install a permanent amplifying system in the Synod House, to be re-paid by the Diocese at the rate of $400 yearly for five years.

$1,000 was appropriated for china, silverware and kitchen utensils for the Synod House Kitchen, $750 was earmarked for travel expenses of Diocesan Deputies to the Provincial Synod in Buffalo in October.

Members of the Committee on Diocesan Finances are: Mr. E. K. Warren, Chairman, the Rev. A. L. Kinsolving, D.D., the Rev. J. H. Price, the Rev. G. P. T. Sargent, D.D., Mr. G. W. Burpee, Mr. C. G. Proffitt, Mr. C. M. Walton, Jr., Mr. R. H. Mansfield, Treasurer.

Apart from routine resolutions the only other matter, at press time known to be coming to the floor of convention is a resolution rescinding the resolution adopted by the Diocesan Convention of 1927. The 1927 resolution ordered a yearly recognition to the members of parish vestries who have served over 20-years.

The present rescinding resolution observes that Whereas the custom of establishing limited terms for members of parish vestries has been adopted by many of our parishes and thereby has eliminated many laymen who have performed valuable service to the Church from consideration under the existing resolution (of 1927); RESOLVED that effective at the close of this Convention the said resolution adopted at the Diocesan Convention of 1927 be rescinded.

Furnished Rooms Are First Need of Our Aged Persons

One of the most pressing problems of our elderly parishioners is the lack of adequate housing facilities, according to Elizabeth Evans, executive director of the Episcopal Service to the Aged.

Single rooms with meals provided, or with cooking privileges, are particularly in demand.

Miss Evans suggests that rectors bring this problem to the attention of their parishioners in the hope that more facilities will become available. Most elderly people in need of lodging are particularly anxious to obtain quarters in homes where there are definite church connections.

Anyone having a room to rent to one of these elder persons, either with or without meals, is urged to notify the Episcopal Service to the Aged, 1047 Amsterdam Avenue, New York 25, N. Y, MOnument 2-3100.

Register Now for Summer Conference

A final call for registration for the Diocesan Summer Conferences was made May 1st. The first session at St. Peter's School, Peekskill, begins June 24th, for the 6-13's. Next, beginning July 1 is for 14-18's. Cost, $15 weekly.

Youth Consultation Annual Westchester Luncheon Held

On May 16, the annual luncheon in Westchester of the Youth Consultation Service will be held at the Roger Smith Hotel in White Plains. The Rev. James A. Pike, J.S.D., chaplain of St. Paul's Chapel, Columbia University, is the speaker.

Other affairs slated for May by the YCS are: Variety Show at St. Philip's, Manhattan, May 19th, 2 p.m., tickets $1 sponsored by the Uptown Committee. YCS "Fortieth Birthday Party" on the roof of the Hotel St. Regis, chaired by Mrs. J. Truman Bidwell. Tickets $15.

Clergy of Rockland County attended. The Superintendant of Rockland County Schools served as moderator.

Annual Spring U.T.O. Presentation Made At Cathedral, May 1

By Mrs. John Whiteley

The Spring presentation of the United Thank Offering was made in the Cathedral, on May 1st, 10:00 a.m. at a celebration of the Holy Eucharist preceeding the annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Diocese.

The Bishop was the celebrant.

What is the United Thank Offering?

What does it do?

How is the money raised, and how is it spent?

These and numerous other questions are asked from time to time—and every woman in our Church should know the answers!

The United Thank Offering is the means which we Christian women everywhere have to love and serve God and to give thanks unto Him for our multitude of blessings which we so often take for granted. We do this prayerfully and tangibly through the use of our United Thank Offering Blue Boxes.

These Blue Boxes are furnished to all women by their Parish Custodian.

At each Triennial Meeting the Budget Committee plans for the distribution of these funds, weighing carefully the needs of our missionaries. Approximately ½ of the Total Offering is used for our women missionaries—⅛ is added to their Pension Fund,—and ⅜ is used for various missionary projects throughout the world.

The United Thank Offering is used to train women for the work of the church. It provides their traveling expenses, equipment, dental and medical care. It pays a large portion of their salaries, and provides them with a retiring pension. It furnishes them with a work budget which is being received enthusiastically and appreciatively and is being used for various necessities in their respective fields. Also it is providing a sum of money toward the purchase of automobiles for those women needing a car for the proper ministration of their duties. It is building churches, schools, hospitals and recreation centers and repainting and equipping other buildings where needed.

And for those who may be unable to make a tangible thankoffering, we ask prayers for this work.

The June issue of the Bulletin will carry the total of the Spring U.T.O.

"More Givers Giving More For '52" -- Canvass Slogan

Forty laymen of the Diocese met at the Cathedral House, Sunday, April twenty-second, to inaugurate a new service to parishes and missions. Sponsored by the Committee on the Program of the Church, the meeting was called to determine the most effective methods of raising funds in support of parish budgets and the missionary program of the Church.

Slogan for Fall Canvass

Using the theme "More Givers Giving More for '52," the men studied every phase of the Every Member Canvass. Their purpose was to develop techniques and standards that could be recommended to parishes and missions.

Fifteen teams of two men each were formed. These teams will accept assignments to the parishes and missions to which they are invited to assist in organizing and conducting a more effective Every Member Canvass.

Led by Ted Gannaway, secretary of the Committee, the men discussed such topics as "Why an Annual Canvass Should Be Conducted," "What an Effective Canvass Does," "The When and How of Canvassing."

"It was strictly business," Mr. Gannaway said. "The men pulled no punches. If an idea wasn't backed by proven success, it was thrown out." Every important detail pertaining to financial campaigns in parishes was critically scrutinized.

This pooling of parish practices and the focusing of successful business experience resulted in a basic set of recommended methods that will be set forth in a manual or handbook that each team will use.

It is the desire of the laymen that many parishes in the Diocese that feel the need of strengthening their financial campaigning will make use of these devoted volunteers who are so generously offering their services. Requests for their services or invitations to consider more carefully the quality of the financial appeals of any interested parish or mission should be made to the office of the Secretary of the Committee on the Program of the Church.

Presents Twenty-One Chilbren for Baptizism at One Time, April 8th

On Sunday, April 8th, 1951, immediately after the late Holy Eucharist, the Rector baptized 21 children in St. Andrew's, Man.

Seventeen of these were prepared, and presented by Mrs. Viola Clark, 15 West 133rd Street.

Last December Mrs. Clark in a similar service, presented 26 children, all from one of the new housing projects in the vicinity of St. Andrew's.

St. Thomas', Rifton, Moving to House St. Francis Of Assisi

On April 16 the Board of Managers of the Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society approved the removal of the building of the former congregation of St. Thomas', Rifton, to the site purchased in Elmsford for the congregation of St. Francis of Assisi, Elmsford.

St. Thomas' congregation was in existence over fifty years ago at which time Rifton was the center of the carpet industry. However, when the industry moved, Rifton became a small village and the congregation dwindled away.

For the last twenty years the building has been unoccupied.

Mr. Benjamin F. Faunce, architect, will supervise the transfer of the building said it will be taken down piecemeal, numbered, and transported to the new site where it will be re-constructed.

An additional bay, lengthening the existing structure, lowering the roof, and adding a basement are included in present plans.

The church will be white clapboard, set on a fieldstone foundation. The interior will be finished either in simulated knotty pine or serrated plywood. The nave will seat approximately 125 persons. The basement will be divided into a vicar's study, general room, kitchen, wash rooms and boiler room.

"The congregation now has just a little over $2,000," said the vicar, the Rev. Alger L. Adams "which is not much to buy pews and pulpit, organ and kitchen, hymnals and chairs; but the people are full of enthusiasm and we shall go forward in faith."

Grace, Port Jervis, Holds Tableaux

The Church School of Grace, Port Jervis, held its annual Lenten Missionary Service and Easter Tableaux, Easter afternoon, it was announced by the Rector, the Rev. Robert Gay.

Some of the leading characters were: Reader, Mary Stratton. Pilate, Woodrow Call. Centurian, Vernon Outwater, Jr. Mary Magdalene, Sarah Stratton. Peter, George Bleck, and John, Fred Stratton.

Nightengale Window Is Dedicated

A beautiful stained glass window, with the figure of Florence Nightengale, was dedicated as a tribute to Frances Wagner Witte, R.N., at St. Stephen's, Pearl River, April 1.

Dr. R. E. Blaisdell, former director of Rockland State Hospital at the time Miss Witte was director of the Nurses Training School spoke and nurses atgo into the armed forces.

Suggestions to Churches on Serving Those in Armed Forces

In anticipation of the increased number of young persons being inducted into the armed forces, the Board of Religious Education recommends the following suggestions which have been made by the Armed Forces Division of the National Council.

1. When it is known that men (or women) have been called for duty, a special service for the presentation of the Episcopal Church Service Cross may be inaugurated.

The Division has a short form for the dedication and presentation of this cross. It has been suggested that this service be used during the service of Morning Prayer or after the celebration of the Holy Communion.

2. A copy of the Soldiers and Saliors Prayer Book should also be given at the services.

3. The Armed Forces Division of the National Council, 281 Fourth Ave., New York 10, should be given the names, units and locations of those who tended in uniform.

4. The parish should have a committee which should keep in touch with their servicemen no matter where they are located. This committee should send the parish paper to them and have the congregation remember them on their Baptism and Confirmation anniversaries, and also in their prayers. When the servicemen are home on leave, call upon them so that they know that the Church cares.

Celebration of Missionary Society's 250th Anniversary at St. Peter's

On Memorial Day, May 30, St. Peter's, Westchester, will be host to the Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament and the American Church Union in a celebration of the 250th anniversary of the founding of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts.

At the 11 a.m. Eucharist, the Lord Bishop of Bermuda, the Rt. Rev. John Arthur Jagoe, C.B., C.B.E., D.D., will preach and Bishop Boynton will preside.

Diocesan Auxiliary to Cathedral Makes Annual Contributions

The annual meeting of the Diocesan Auxiliary to the Cathedral Church of St. John the Divine was held in the Library of the Cathedral House, April 4th. About sixty-five members were present.

Miss Bronson, chairman of the Altar and Choir Committee, reported that a complete set of apparels had been given; namely, six clergy albs and amices, and six albs and amices for the crucifers and servers.

Prayer books were given to the choir boys who were confirmed. Flowers were provided during the year, with especially beautiful ones for Christmas and Easter, which included several special gifts, and the greens and flowers for the creche at Christmas.

$450 was given for the scholarship of a choir boy at a church school, preferably the Cathedral Choir School.

The summer music was provided for as usual from the Lawrence Braman Fund left by Mrs. Chester Braman to provide a choir during the summer months when the members of the regular choir are away on their vacations.

The two large trays in Cathedral House have been re-plated, and the tea-set cleaned. New tea towels have been bought.

The Bishop addressed the members and received a check for the Cathedral Building Fund.

He urged that their group be expanded so that their good work might multiply. Citing the breadth of service of the Cathedral he said, "The Cathedral is a mighty monument to God."

Bishop Boynton and Canon West also addressed the meeting.

Two Churches Already Meet Missionary Quota for 1951

Last month in thanking the parishes which had indicated that they would meet their full missionary quotas for 1951, the Bishop expressed the hope that these parishes would go the "second mile," if at all possible. Two early responses were most encouraging.

The Reverend Walter H, McNeely, Rector of St. Joseph's Church, Elmsford, whose quota is $754, wrote: "In response to the appeal of our Bishop, the Vestry has voted not only to pay its quota immediately, thus giving it priority over all other claims, but also to increase the amount to $1,000, with the hope of bettering it before the year is over."

The Reverend Edward R. Taft, Rector of Christ Church, Warwick, told the Bishop that after reading his communication to the congregation, one member made a contribution which would enable that parish to exceed its quota by more than 10%.

Seaman's Institute Party, May 14

The annual May card party of the Seamen's Church Institute will be held, May 14, 1:30 p.m. at the Institute. Tickets are $1.50 or $6.00 per table, refreshments included.

Proceeds from the party are to be used for the wool fund, in order to knit 8,000 garments for seamen. Reservations: Call BOwling Green 9-2710.

Frigid Tale of Church Army Heroism Revealed in May

Captain Robert E. Smalling, Church Army evangelist was appointed by the Bishop as Field Worker at St. James, Calicoon, it was announced last week by Archdeacon Bratt.

Captain Smalling was formerly lay evangelist in charge of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, Braddock, Pennsylvania.

The Captain is a native of Flushing, Long Island.

On Captain Smalling's first Sunday in Calicoon, he became an involuntary member of the Volunteer Fire Department when he answered the fire alarm and immediately found himself holding down a fire hose in zero weather, with several other members. Captain Smalling stated that it was so cold that the spray from the hose froze solidly on his hat.

Commission Dinner Told "White Lies" Dangerous to Youth

Sixty social workers, clergy and Commission members, representing thirty-seven social agencies and parishes, attended the annual dinner of the Commission on Christian Social Relations held at St. Bartholomew's Community House, April 10. The theme of the program was "Youth in an Insecure World."

The Hon. Hubert T. Delany, Judge of the Children's Court, and a former member of the Commission, spoke on "What is Happening to Our Young People Today?" He emphasized the part that parents and other adults have in creating the environment that makes or prevents delinquency. "Every time a parent tells a white lie, he confuses a child. Every time an adult is guilty of racial prejudice or discrimination, he breaks down a child's sense of justice and brotherhood."

Dr. A. Alfred Cohen, Superintendent of the New York State Training School for Boys at Warwick, answered the question from the point of view of an educator and social worker dealing with the boys who have been hurt so badly that they have rebelled against society. He said, "The boys who are sent to Warwick have never known the security and love of a real home. They distrust all adults, because they have never known adults whom they could trust.

"The whole philosophy of Warwick," he said, "is to give boys the sense that they are accepted and loved. This requires infinite patience on the part of the house parents and the teaching staff. They must be willing to accept rebellion and ingratitude without resentment, until at last they win the confidence of the boys."

Mrs. Richard G. Gould, district director of the Westchester office of the Youth Consultation Service, answered the question, "What Can the Church Do to Help?" She stressed the importance of creating an atmosphere of love and security in the child's earliest contact with the Church, in the kindergarten. She then spoke of the need of adolescents for a social life centered in the Church.

During the discussion period, Canon Almon Pepper of the National Council Department of Christian Social Relations spoke on the renewed effort of the Church to create strong, vigorous parishes in the depressed areas of the cities.

The Rev. Charles T. Bridgeman, chairman of the Commission, Dr. Ludlow Bull, vice-chairman, and the Hon. Paxton Blair shared the duty of introducing the speakers.

Episcopal Service to Aged Reports on Ist year's Work

The first annual meeting of the Episcopal Service to the Aged was held April 23 in the Percy Silver House, 209 Madison Avenue.

The following officers were re-elected: Mr. Kingsley Kunhardt, president; Rev. John A. Bell, vice president; Mrs. J. Harper Skillin, vice president; Rev. Richard L. Harbour, secretary; and Dr. Margaret G. Benz, treasurer.

Mr. Kunhardt presented the annual report of the Service. Highlights from that report are as follows:

The Episcopal Service to the Aged opened officially June 16, 1950. Accordingly, interviews were held with representatives of the State Department of Social Welfare, Federation of Protestant Welfare Agencies, Central Bureau for the Jewish Aged, Adult Education Council, Community Service Society and others. There were also interviews with representatives of the Department of Welfare in New York City and with Commissioners of Welfare in Westchester, Putnam, Dutchess, Ulster, Sullivan, Orange and Rockland Counties and in the cities of Middletown, Newburgh, and Poughkeepsie. Information was obtained from these offices regarding Old Age Assistance allowance; local homes for the aged, hospitals, nursing homes, recreational facilities, and other community agencies; and assurance was given of their wish to cooperate with ESA in every way possible.

The Story Well Told

The Executive Director spoke at the fall meetings of all seven convocations. Talks were also made to Woman's Auxiliary and other church groups. Articles have appeared in the BULLETIN and from time to time the Rev. Leland Henry, executive director of the Commission on Christian Social Relations, has spoken of the Service in services and addresses.

To date help for 115 aging men and women has been sought either by themselves or by close friends or relatives. These people represent a total of 73 parishes.

86 of the 115 applications were for a place to live and in 46 of these cases some nursing care was essential.

The other 29 included requests for employment and recreational facilities and several offered room and board in return for care. Three people asked for information about relief agencies.

Of the 86 who applied for a place to live, 28 have already been provided for. These include 18 who were placed in homes for the aged and in private boarding or nursing homes. Included in the 28 are seven who were hospitalized at the time of application and whose relatives wished to make a change. In two cases a change seemed advisable and was effected, but in the other five it was possible to help the relatives understand that the patients were already in the most appropriate institution.

Five people out of the 28 had to be admitted to a State Hospital because of senility, but in these cases interpretation of the whole situation was given to the relatives so that they felt very much better about the commitment.

There remain 58 who requested a place to live but who have not been placed. Some of them are on the waiting lists of homes and will probably be placed before their situations become emergent. Some have been told about available homes and are "thinking it over." Some are on Old Age Assistance and are neither physically nor financially eligible for care in homes and are continuing their present arrangement. When they become unable to care for themselves, plans will be made through the Department of Welfare to place them in boarding or nursing homes.

Many of the people who came to ESA preferred to continue living as they were. As one woman expressed it, "I know now that I am doing the best thing. Before, I kept worrying for fear I ought to be doing something else."

Following is the breakdown by convocations:

Rev. Leland Henry to Assist National Armed Forces Body

The Rev. Leland B. Henry, executive director of the Commission on Christian Social Relations has been appointed by the Presiding Bishop as part-time Associate Executive Secretary of the Armed Forces Division of The National Council.

He will assist the Rev. Percy Hall, executive secretary of the Division.

This arrangement will require a corresponding curtailment of the work of the Commission on Christian Social Relations, but it will also meet in part the financial crisis caused by the reduction in the budget of the Commission.

Ramapo Convocation Meeting Typical of Spring Gatherings

At the Annual Meeting of the Convocation of Ramapo, held on April 17th at 4 P.M., typical of the Convocation meetings held this Spring, at St. John's, New City, the following were elected. were elected:

DEAN, for a term of 3 years, the Rev. Edward R. Taft, rector of Christ Church, Warwick, to succeed the Rev. George W. Dumbell.

CLERICAL MEMBER OF THE COUNCIL, the Rev. Harold B. Thelin, rector of Grace Church, Nyack.

LAY MEMBER OF THE COUNCIL, Mr. Moss Armistead of Grace Church, Nyack.

SECRETARY, the Rev. Albert H. Ohse, rector of Christ Church, Piermont.

TREASURER, Mr. W. H. Belding of St. David's, Highland Mills.

CLERICAL MEMBER OF THE BOARD OF MANAGERS, the Rev. Robert Gay, rector of Grace Church, Port Jervis.

LAY MEMBER OF THE BOARD OF MANAGERS, Mr. Moss Armistead of Grace Church, Nyack.

BOARD OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION, the Rev. Fessenden A. Nichols, rector of Christ Church, Suffern. vicar of St. Stephen's, Pearl River.

COMMISSION ON CHRISTIAN SOCIAL RELATIONS, the Rev. Ernest W. Churchill, vicar of St. Stephen's, Pearl River.

EPISCOPAL SERVICE TO THE AGED, the Rev. Albert H. Ohse.

This was the first Convocation meeting held at St. John's Church and the Convocation by a rising vote expressed appreciation for the excellent arrangements and refreshments furnished under the direction of the vicar, the Rev. G. Adolph Zeltner, and the Women's Guild of the Parish.

Reports of the various Convocation representatives on Diocesan Boards and Commissions were heard, and Mrs. William W. Smith of the Girl's Friendly Society, Mr. W. Ted Gannaway of the Diocesan Committee on the Program of the Church, and Mr. H. Wynn Bussmann, newly appointed Diocesan Chairman of Laymen's Work, addressed the meeting. Bishop Boynton presided throughout the business session and made the principal address after supper.

Call Youth Convention April 14 "Most Successful"

William Barton of Trinity, Mt. Vernon, and Robert Willing of Holy Nativity, Bronx, were elected members-at-large of the Diocesan Youth Council by the Youth Convention, Saturday, April 14, at the Cathedral.

More than 300 young people attended the Holy Communion at 11 a.m. which was celebrated by Bishop Boynton.

The Bishop preached, urging the young people to witness for Christ and His Church from day to day.

The convention was pronounced the best in several years by the Rev. J. Williard Yoder, Diocesan director of youth work.

Members of the youth council shown on the cover are: Robert Miller, Holy Nativity, Bronx; Alma Schelle, St. Peter's, Westchester; Robert Leve, president, St. Peter's, Bronx; Jean Knight, secretary, Mediator, Bronx; William Greenbaum, St. Mark's, Mt. Kisco; William Barton, Trinity, Mt. Vernon; James Burnett St. John's, Cornwall; and "Bucky" Hendruch, St. John's, Tuckahoe.

Clerical members are: Bishop Boynton, the Rev. Messrs. George W. H. Troop, Osborne Budd, Charles J. Buck, and the director of youth work.

A Letter to the BISHOP from Bryan Green ---

I wonder if I may trespass on the kindness of some of my many friends in the Episcopal Church in your diocese. I should so value their prayers for my evangelistic work this year. I give you below the various approximate dates and wonder if you could tell your people about them to ask for their prayers on my behalf.

I have been asked by the Archbishops in Australia to go out and deliver the Moorhouse Lectures in Melbourne Cathedral. Every five or six years they ask someone from England to go and do this. My lectures are entitled "The Practice of Evangelism" and will be published in book form, by the way, by Scribners in U.S.A. in October. While I am out there I am taking some evangelistic missions. Here are the dates.

Students of 9 Diocesan Colleges Organize N.C.A.

Students from all parts of the Diocese met in New York City March 31st and April 1st to form a Diocesan Student Commission of the National Canterbury Association, to constitute the duties of this Commission, and to elect two members of this Commission to serve on the Provincial Student Commission. Nine colleges in the Diocese were represented.

Nancy McCaslin, Diocesan delegate to the Cranbrook Conference, and chairman of this conference, welcomed the delegates and introduced John Morris, Chairman of the N.C.A. Provisional Executive Commission, who addressed the group on the N.C.A.

At dinner Saturday evening, Dean Thomas Clark Pollock of New York University, chairman of the Diocesan Commission on College Work brought the greetings of the "adult" commission to the student meeting. On Sunday afternoon, Miss Katharine Duffield, Provincial Secretary for College Work, addressed the group on the subject of club programs and how to plan them.

Miss Adelaide D. Simpson, Associate Professor of Classics at Hunter College, and Treasurer of the Diocesan Commission on College Work, entertained the students at her home later that afternoon for tea, The Cathedral Chapter of the Canterbury Club played host to the Conference Sunday evening, beginning with supper at 6, followed by an address by Mrs. Claude L. Pickens, wife of Canon Pickens, who spoke on the Church's work in China.

The Rev. Samuel M. Shoemaker, rector of Calvary, Man., preached at the service of Evening Prayer. Music was by the Canterbury Choir, and a solo was sung by Louise McLane, Juilliard soprano.

The Commission is to be called the Canterbury Commission of the Diocese of New York; its purpose is "to support and carry out the program of the National Canterbury Association, to aid in the formation of new Canterbury Clubs, and to coordinate, confirm and strengthen the existing ones."

Each college has one delegate on the Commission, and the officers are elected at the Diocesan Convention from a slate prepared by the Commission, with additional nominations from the floor. The Commission will elect two representatives to the Provincial Commission, and will be advised by the Provincial Secretary for College Work (Miss Duffield), the Chaplain to Episcopal Students in the Diocese, the Rev. Norman Spicer, and one lay member of the Diocesan Commission for College Work.

The officers of the Canterbury Commission of the Diocese of New York are: Chairman, Patsy Pratt, Vassar College; Vice-Chairman, Jean Whitenack, New Paltz State Teachers College; Secretary-Treasurer, John W. Wells, Columbia University. The Diocesan representatives to the Provincial Commission are J. Elliot Lindsley, Bard College, and Andrew Zunser, Columbia University.

The Commission was convened on the weekend of April 28-29 in New York City to begin work on its program for the coming year. At this time the advisor from the Diocesan Commission on College Work was chosen, and the situation on the various campuses in the diocese was discussed with the intention of improving programs. Work will be begun in the missionary aspects of the Commission, and other activities will be outlined in the future.

Service to Aged Director Given New Responsibilties

On May 1, Elizabeth Evans, the executive director of the Episcopal Service to the Aged, took over the intake of the Home for Old Men and Aged Couples, located at 1060 Amsterdam Avenue, Mr. Kingsley Kunhardt, president of the board of the Episcopal Service to the Aged, announced April 17 at the annual meeting.

This is in addition to Miss Evans' other duties and is a temporary arrangement in order that an intensive study of actual and potential intake can be made.

The Home for Old Men and Aged Couples was established in 1872 under the auspices of the Episcopal Church.

It cares for 52 single men, and 16 couples. Applications are taken at the Home between 10 and 12 on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month or by appointment with Miss Evans, MOnument 2-3100.

The decision to make this assignment was made by the board of the ESA partly to meet the cut in the Diocesan budget and partly as one means of serving the community. The fee of $1800 annually will be paid directly to the Diocese.

Convention Sets Course Of Diocese for Coming Year

THE One Hundred Sixty-Ninth Convention, meeting May 8 at the Synod House on the Cathedral Close, was dominated by the first message to Convention of the new Diocesan. That message, made early in the proceedings at the morning session immediately after the disposal of routine business, is reprinted in full, at the direction of Convention, in this issue of the BULLETIN, beginning on page 5.

In his address, the Bishop called for the executive re-organization of the Diocese; the election of a second Suffragan Bishop, for reason of volume of work; and a realistic facing of the financial problems of the Diocesan missionary program.

Authorize Election of Suffragan

Immediately following the Bishop's address, the Rev. Roelif H. Brooks, D.D., rector of St. Thomas, Man., proposed a resolution giving consent to the Bishop's request for the election of a Suffragan Bishop, at the Annual Diocesan Convention in May, 1952; or at a subsequent time, "provided the necessary consents of the Bishops and Standing Committees shall then have been obtained." The resolution passed without discussion.

"Reorganization" to be Studied

Likewise, the Hon. Edward R. Finch responded to the Bishop's call for an Executive Council. His resolution stated, in part: "Whereas many Dioceses of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America have adopted the form of government known as "The Bishop and Executive Council", and have found the said system to be satisfactory; and

"Whereas the Bishop of this Diocese has indicated that he would welcome an investigation of the system and its operation in other Dioceses;

"Now, therefore, be it resolved, that the Bishop be requested to appoint a special committee to make an investigation . . . and report its findings and recommendations to the Bishop at least sixty days prior to the Annual Diocesan Convention to be held in the year 1952."

This resolution was unanimously carried without discussion.

The major issue of Convention centered on the future of the Diocesan missionary work, as effected by the report of the Committee on Diocesan Finances, made under the headings: I—The 1950 Diocesan Assessment and the 1951 Assessment Budget. II—The 1950 Missionary Budget and Final Adjustment. III—The 1951 Missionary Budget. IV—Missionary Budget for 1952.

The assessment budget was approved after a brief discussion. The adjustment of the 1950 missionary budget and the projected adjustment of the 1951 missionary budget, which only included $213,000 to the various Diocesan agencies who had asked $324,000, were approved.

Future of Missionary Work

A lively discussion developed over the Finance Committee's recommendations for the 1952 missionary budget.

The issue crystalized around the system of allocating missionary funds, as recommended by the Allocation Committee. The Committee, as required by Canon, was composed of the Bishop, the Suffragan Bishop, the Treasurer, the Assistant Treasurer, the Secretary of the Committee on the Program of the Church, and three parish rectors appointed by the previous Diocesan: the Rev. Ralph D. Bonacker, of Grace, Millbrook; the Rev. Francis J. Coffin of St. John's, Larchmont; and the

Rev. Louis W. Pitt, D.D., Grace, Manhattan.

The Priority System

To meet the disparity between the $338,000 asking of the Diocesan agencies and the $228,000 expectation based on 1950 receipts, four priorities were established as follows:

GROUP I—First Priority
- Committee on the Program of the Church
- Diocesan Missionary & Church Extension Society
- N.Y.P.E. City Mission Society (chaplaincy budget and designated offerings for other work)
- Treasurer's Office (share of expense)

GROUP II—Second Priority
- Seamen's Church Institute (Chaplains' budget)

GROUP III—Third Priority
- Church Mission to Deaf Mutes
- Commission on Christian Social Relations
- Board of Religious Education
- Commission College Work

GROUP IV—Fourth Priority
- Episcopal Service to the Aged
- Youth Consultation Service

However, the committee reported that "if the full quota is raised, these priorities will have no significance; but if it appears after the Canvass that it will not be raised these priorities will form the basis on which the Committee on Diocesan Finances will adjust the Budget."

The Possible Allocations

That distribution would be as follows:

| | Ask | Reduction | Available |
|---|---|---|---|
| GROUP I | $221,879 | 15% | $188,597 |
| GROUP II | 34,052 | 45% | 18,729 |
| GROUP III | 48,598 | 60% | 19,439 |
| GROUP IV | 33,521 | 96% | 1,235 |

During the debate, the value of commissions as part of the Church's missionary function was reviewed. There was insistence that the primary mission of the Church was preaching the Gospel and that the social service activities are of secondary importance. Other speakers rejected this concept as labeling these works "fringe activities."

Reject Missionary "Cutbacks"

The principle of "cutback" for lack of missionary funds was scored by several speakers, principally, the Rev. Harold F. Hohly, rector of Christ Church, Bronxville. He pledged his parish, not only to meet the quota asked, which the parish has previously felt unable to do, but also to over-subscribe that amount by $500. "The question is people, not figures," he said.

Robert Bruce, a vestryman of Christ Church, Riverdale, pledged likewise that his parish would meet its quota and called on other parishes to follow suit.

Finance Report Called Realism

The Rev. Arthur L. Kinsolving, D.D., rector of St. James', Man., asked approval of the Diocesan Finance Committee's report on the grounds that it was a realistic facing of the implications of 1952's missionary expectations. He observed that it was the committee's feeling that the agencies would rather know at once what to expect than for Convention to vote a theoretic optimistic budget and then face the beneficiaries with an unexpected financial crisis on January 1, 1952.

The Rev. Francis J. H. Coffin, rector of St. John's, Larchmont, at the request of the Bishop, explained the way in which the allocations were decided. He listed five principles used:

Principles of Allocation

1. To give priority to religious work rather than social service.
2. To consider the relative importance of the type of work done as between these agencies or within each separate organization.
3. To ask whether some other agencies could do the work or supply the help or give the advice which this particular beneficiary of the Diocese is organized to give.
4. To consider the quality of the work done. (The speaker commented that the observers found that "the work of all of them was being excellently done.")
5. Where all things are equal, to give priority to long established work rather than to the newer projects, however desirable.

He noted that the allocations recommended were the result of intensive study of the programs and needs of the concerned groups by the individual members of the Committee on Allocation.

Substitute Motion

Dr. Brooks, on the other hand, offered a motion to substitute for the recommended 1952 missionary budget. That motion, as subsequently amended to make it more specific said, "That the following Missionary Budget for 1952 is hereby adopted:

|---|---|
| Church Mission to Deaf Mutes | $12,000 |
| Church Periodical Club | 2,000 |
| Commission on Christian Social Relations | 12,748 |
| Committee on the Program of the Church | 25,000 |
| Diocesan Board of Religious Education | 12,800 |
| Diocesan Commission on College Work | 11,050 |
| Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society | 134,074 |
| Episcopal Service to the Aged | 9,881 |
| Girls' Friendly Society | 2,500 |
| N.Y.P.E. City Mission Society (Chaplaincy budget and designated offerings for other work) | 59,805 |
| Seamen's Church Institute) (Chaplains' budget) | 34,052 |
| Treasurer's Office (Share of Expenses) | 3,000 |
| Youth Consultation Service | 23,640 |
| TOTAL | $342,550 |

Speaking against the proposed system of allocations in 1952, and for the substitute motion of Dr. Brooks were the Rev. Edward O. Miller, rector of St. George's, Man.; the Rev. Charles T. Bridgeman, S.T.D., assistant minister, Trinity Parish; and Mr. Clifford Morehouse.

Among those who spoke for the original recommendations of the Finance

A Modern Diocese, Second Suffragan, Missionary Work

To the Clergy and Lay Delegates of the 169th Convention:
My affectionate greetings in the name of Our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ:

We are assembled once again in prayer and fellowship to review the work of the Church since last Convention, and to formulate Diocesan policy for the coming year. Today in a spirit of Christian fellowship, charity, and patience, let us fulfill the tasks entrusted to us, seeking the guidance of the Holy Spirit that all our decisions may be in accord with God's will for His Church.

Tribute to Bishop Gilbert

This is the first time in twenty years that Bishop Gilbert has not been on the platform at a Diocesan Convention. We all miss the presence of our friend and former Diocesan, who wisely and kindly served the Church in this Diocese as Priest and Bishop for forty-five years. I know that he is thinking of us at this time.

Our own clergy family has been broken by the death of the Rev. Sidney T. Cooke, the Rev. Henry A. McNulty, the Rev. Rob Roy Remington, the Rev. Rudolph M. Binder, the Rev. Frederick A. Wright, and the Rev. Richard A. Beaty.

The Rev. Richard Beaty had been active in the work of this Convention for over sixteen years, during which time he held the responsible position of Secretary. We recall with gratitude his usefulness to the Diocese and the Church he loved and so faithfully served. May the glorious light of Christ shine upon him and those of our brethren who have entered into eternal life.

Workers Together for Christ

On the first of January this year the Rt. Rev. Charles Francis Boynton assumed his duties as Suffragan Bishop and was officially and formally installed into that office on February the sixth. In the short time that he has been with us, Bishop Boynton has made a place for himself in the Diocese by his devotion to the Church, by his loyalty, and by his spirit of friendliness.

It means a great deal to us all and to me personally to have, as our Suffragan Bishop, an able and consecrated leader, and I look forward with confidence to the service which Bishop Boynton will give to the Church in the years ahead.

I wish to thank our Archdeacon, whose service to the church merits our highest praise and gratitude. No Bishop ever had a more energetic Archdeacon than the Venerable George Bratt!

Archdeacon Bratt

I know you would wish me also to express our appreciation to one whose talents and capacities are always available in forwarding and promoting the work of the Diocese, Mr. Theodor Oxholm.

Theodor Oxholm

My deep gratitude also to the Chancellor, officers of the Diocese, the Deans of Convocations, the clergy, the laymen, and the women who serve as members of numerous committees, commissions and societies.

The Growth of the Church

During the past year there have been confirmed by the laying on of hands a total of 3,198 persons. Of this number 243 were confirmed by Bishop Gilbert, 776 by Bishop Boynton, 321 by Bishop Campbell, 72 by Bishop Littell, 305 by other Bishops and 1,589 by myself.

We have received in this Diocese during the year 217 adults from the Roman Communion.

We are indebted to the Bishops, and particularly to Bishop Campbell, for their assistance with the Confirmation Visitations. For some weeks Bishop Littell has been seriously ill. I am glad to tell you that he is making progress slowly. I know you will remember him in your prayers.

It should be a matter of concern to us all that some of those who are confirmed each year in our churches never become active communicants. Undoubtedly one reason for this is the lack of proper Confirmation instruction. No candidates should be presented to the Bishop until they are aware of their responsibilities and duties as Christians and Churchmen. Our Church will reach its full strength of influence and potential power as our people are well informed, well trained in the doctrines, discipline and worship of the Episcopal Church. We need positive, clear, continuous teaching of the Bible, the Creed, the Sacraments and the Church to keep the Faith alive and growing.

The Church Advances

I am happy to report that we have 62 men studying for Holy Orders, and 32 men in college who intend to seek admission as Postulants. This is encouraging, for the future welfare of the Church is dependent on the quantity and quality of its leaders.

God willing, I shall next month ordain 13 Candidates to the Diaconate and 1 Deacon to the Priesthood.

Though the situation has improved, it seems there will be a shortage of clergy for some years to come; and I wish to place before every Priest and every layman the responsibility of recruiting men of the highest type for the ministry of this Church.

Ending Years of Service

There have been an unusual number of clergy changes during the past year. Some have retired from the active ministry, others have taken up work in other Dioceses, and some have become Chaplains in the armed forces.

In looking at the names of those who have retired since last Convention, we cannot help but think with gratitude of the distinguished and devoted ministries of:

The Rev. Roland Jay Bunten, 24 years Rector of St. Paul's, Poughkeepsie.

The Rev. Wilbur Larremore Caswell, 26 years Rector of St. Paul's, Yonkers.

The Rev. Dr. Henry Darlington, 28 years Rector of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, Manhattan.

The Rev. Dr. George Paull Torrence Sargent, 17 years Rector of St. Bartholomew's Church, Manhattan.

We have received into the Diocese 24 clergy to whom we extend a cordial welcome and we pray that their ministry may be blessed in the years to come.

I would remind the delegates at this time that many of our clergy are still receiving salaries that have not been adjusted to the increased cost of living. In spite of the increases, many clergy salaries are inadequate. I can testify to the difficulty in filling vacancies because the stipends offered are too small.

During the past year the work of the Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society has progressed. A number of the Cornerstone Campaign building projects have been finished.

The new church and undercroft and rectory have been completed at St. Simon's, New Rochelle.

St. Andrew's, Montgomery, now has its new parish house. The plans were drawn by the Vicar, the Rev. Alan H. Tongue, and the addition has greatly enhanced the beauty and usefulness of our property in Montgomery.

The new church and parish house at St. Luke's, Williamsbridge is practically completed and will be dedicated this spring.

Before our next Annual Convention I expect our congregation at St. Francis, Elmsford, and St. Augustine's, Yonkers, to be worshipping in their new churches.

A new rectory has been purchased for use of the Vicar of St. Luke's, at Katonah.

St. John's-in-the-Wilderness, situated in Palisades Interstate Park has been received as an Organized Mission of the Diocese.

A new Mission Work situated in Woodstock, New York, under the direction of the Rev. Herald C. Swezy, has been most successful.

It is expected that the Social Study will be completed by January, 1952. If the clergy and vestries and people give full cooperation, this Study may well mark the beginning of a new period in Church history in our Diocese, which we trust will strengthen the Church in every aspect of its life, especially as it seeks to serve better all people in its care.

I am glad that you have acted favorably on the recommendation of the Committee on Incorporation and Admission of Parishes and have received into union with this Convention the Church of the Holy Trinity, Manhattan, the Rev. James A. Paul, D.D., Rector, and St. Andrew's Church, Hartsdale, the Rev. Paul Lattimore, Rector. St. Augustine's

NEW HOME of St. Francis of Assisi, Elmsford, St. Thomas', Rifton, which is being moved piece-meal, enlarged and refurbished upon the Elmsford site.

CORNERSTONE of the new St. Luke's, Williamsbridge, is being laid by the Bishop, at the 777 East 222nd St. site in the Bronx, May 19. This is one of the "Cornerstone" campaign projects. The Rev. Hugh H. Henry is vicar.

Church, Croton, the Rev. Gerardus Beekman, Rector, has assumed full responsibility for support and again becomes an independent Parish. We congratulate the clergy and congregations of these churches on their accomplishments. These three new independent parishes will strengthen the life of the Diocese.

Contribution of the Woman's Auxiliary

I wish there were time to speak at length of the Diocesan Woman's Auxiliary. They are indeed more than an auxiliary to the Church. The Auxiliary strengthens the Church's life in innumerable ways and particularly through their prayers and devotion. During the past year under the auspices of the Devotional Life Department of the Woman's Auxiliary, 600 women from 102 parishes have attended schools of prayer; 55 parishes have held quiet days; 20 district quiet days have been held to which 100 parishes sent representatives; 60 prayer study groups are meeting weekly in parishes throughout the Diocese; 3 district prayer groups to which 40 parishes send representatives also meet regularly. In these days of storm and stress the women of the Church are teaching us what the spirit of prayer can do in helping to carry forward the Church's work. It is enheartening to know that the women of the Church are supporting the Bishops and clergy with their prayers.

Finances

Financially we have advanced this past year. Our total missionary giving for the missionary program of the Diocese and the National Church exceeded $600,000.00. This was the largest amount contributed since the Every Member Canvass was established in 1919. It was a 58 per cent greater contribution than was made in 1949; an increase of nearly a quarter of a million dollars.

In 1950 we gave $379,000.00 to the Budget of the National Council, representing an increase of $170,000.00 over the amount given in the previous year, the largest amount ever given by the Diocese to the Budget of the General Church. I might add that last year the Diocese of New York gave $85,000.00 more than any other Diocese to the National Council. This evidence of a new sense of missionary obligation is most gratifying. We are all proud of this achievement. We have raised our sights. We have set our standard of missionary giving nearer to where it belongs.

Needs Still Not Met

However, even with this improvement in giving, our needs have not been met.

The report of the Committee on Diocesan Finances (which incorporates the recommendations of the Committee on Allocation of Missionary Funds) is printed in the Calendar of business and will be presented shortly by its chairman.

I will not, therefore, review the budgets themselves, but I do wish to comment on the proposals in connection with the missionary budget which will be submitted for your approval.

These recommendations have been made necessary, for despite the increase in our giving, we still fail to meet our missionary quota. I recognize that there may be some inequities in the method of assigning the National Council apportionment and in arriving at parish quotas, and in time it may be possible to arrive at a better system. But the fact remains that many parishes do not have an Annual Every Member Canvass designed to give each member of the Church an opportunity to give to our missionary work.

We have a group of laymen who are now being trained to assist any parish or mission in the organization of a thorough Every Member Canvass. I urge you to use these services and to encourage your best qualified laymen to help us in the presentation of the missionary enterprise to our people. Let us redouble our efforts until we reach the level of giving of which we are capable.

I want to share with all of you my deep personal concern over the situation that confronts you today in regard to the Budget of 1952. I ask you to face the problem realistically as the Committee on Allocation of Missionary Funds and the Committee on Diocesan Finances have done. I can assure you that the decisions which have been made and which are presented for your approval have been most reluctantly arrived at.

As your Diocesan, I am familiar with the work of most of our Diocesan agencies, societies and commissions. I know full well the value of their respective programs and the urgency of their needs.

The Need for "Priorities"

This has made it extremely difficult for me as Chairman of the Committee on Allocation of Missionary Funds to agree with the unanimous opinion of the other members of the Committee. But you may be certain that the Committee has tried to act in the best interests of the Church as a whole.

Important and necessary as all our Diocesan agencies are, there must be a policy of priority in the assignment of missionary funds. Indeed it is the mind of the Convention as set forth in Canon 20 Section 2 subsection 2—

"It shall be the duty of the Committee on Allocation of Missionary Funds to recommend to the Committee on Diocesan Finances the order of priority in the allocation of missionary funds as between organizations entitled to receive the same, and the order of priority among the various activities within each such organization."

I know that many of you, particularly the clergy, are elected or appointed members of one or another of the agencies which will be affected if we do not raise our budget. I fully understand and share your concern, but we must act on principle, and subordinate our interest as individuals or members of any one group to the greater interest of the program of the Church as a whole.

The "Priority" of Christ

But more than a Diocesan policy of priorities is needed if the Church is to go forward proclaiming the message of Christ with boldness and with zeal. We must each and every one of us, who have been signed with the sign of the Cross, give priority to Our Lord's claim upon our resources, then we shall be able to meet our full responsibility to the National Church and provide for all the needs of our Diocesan Budget.

Where there is no vision, the people perish. We need a new vision, certainly in regard to our responsibilities for the spiritual tasks entrusted to us by Him who said, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto Me."

Can we not see Our Lord watching with deep concern our response as a Diocese, as congregations, as individuals to the opportunities that are given to the Episcopal Church to minister in His Name?

Reorganization

A matter which has occupied a lot of my thoughts is that of the reorganization of the Diocesan structure.

There is an obvious and clear need for the coordination and integration of the work now functioning under so many separate units. Since 1785 the Diocesan structure has grown without any plan. Each time Convention faced a new need or problem, another organization was established to deal with it.

We do not need a Hoover report to show us the economies, and efficiency of administration, that can be effected by modernizing the machinery of our Diocesan affairs.

What I have in mind is the Bishop and Executive Council type of Diocesan organization which is widely in use throughout the Church.

It is my judgment that the Council should consist of clergy and laity elected by Convention, together with appointments made by the Bishop.

I would suggest that the Council should include a Department of Missions, a Department of Christian Education and a Department of Christian Social Relations, and a Department of Finance. In addition I would strongly recommend a Department of Promotion and Public Relations. And naturally the Woman's Auxiliary should be represented on the Executive Council of the Diocese, as they are on the National Council of the Church.

The Council would be responsible for the unification and supervision of the program set up by the Diocesan Convention.

It would operate in a way that would enable each department to see its own work in relation to the other departments and the overall life of the Diocese.

Obviously there are many problems connected with this proposed change, but I know there are in this Diocese, clergy and laity fully capable and competent to devise a new Diocesan set-up, that would meet our needs.

It is my request, therefore, that Convention authorize me to appoint a committee of clergy and laity to study the whole matter and to report its findings and recommended canonical changes to the next Convention.

One of the responsibilities of the Bishop of New York is that connected with our great and glorious Cathedral of St. John the Divine. The Mother Church of the Diocese is increasingly a center of prayer and praise, ministering to God's questing multitudes.

I should like to express my appreciation to all who are connected with the Cathedral for their cooperation at all times.

The Old Synod House, now called the Guild Hall, had become a fire hazard and unsafe for public use, which made it necessary for the Trustees to completely renovate the building. The new Guild Hall is a functional and beautiful addition to the Cathedral property.

The Trustees have put Ogilvie House, the Bishop's residence, in good repair and are presently making over Diocesan House, which will house all Diocesan offices. All these renovations have been done at the sole expense of the Cathedral.

Call for a Second Suffragan

I now wish to present to you for your consideration the matter of additional Episcopal assistance. As you doubtless know, for years New York had three Bishops of its own. Since 1936 the work has been carried on by a Diocesan and Suffragan Bishop, assisted by a number of retired Bishops. It would be much more satisfactory for many reasons if our Diocesan family had three Bishops of its own, always available for the pastoral care of our 383 clergy and 255 parishes and missions, and to give the supervision which is necessary for the work of the Church in the Diocese to go forward.

In view of the amount spent each year in obtaining Episcopal assistance, the expense of a second Suffragan would not be over-burdensome to the Diocese. I will add that the Standing Committee is in full agreement with me in this matter.

Accordingly, therefore, by reason of the extent of the work and in accordance with Canon 21 Section 1 of the General Church, I ask the Convention to authorize the election of a Suffragan Bishop for this Diocese. I would further point out in connection with this request, that the election will not take place before the next Annual Convention or at a subsequent time determined by the Bishop in consultation with the Standing Committee.

If you comply with this request, I believe the Church in this Diocese will move forward in greater usefulness in the name of Our Lord and Saviour.

The Unity of Our Church

Before I close my report, I wish to refer to the remarkable spirit of unity that prevails throughout the Diocese. It is our great strength to be united together in fellowship with one another, and with Our Divine Lord. We are one in faith with Our Lord, Jesus Christ, the Incarnate Word of God. We are not isolated congregations or individuals in carrying out our tasks whatever they may be. We are very members incorporate in the mystical body of Christ, which is the blessed company of all faithful people. Let us endeavor to keep the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace.

With this truth in our hearts and minds we can lift our thoughts from facts and figures to Him in whom we live and move and have our being. For as that distinguished leader of the Anglican Communion, the late Dr. Temple, Archbishop of Canterbury, so stirringly said,

"While we deliberate, God reigns; when we decide wisely, He reigns; when we decide foolishly, He reigns; when we serve Him in humble loyalty, He reigns; when we serve him self-assertively, He reigns; when we rebel and seek to withhold our service, He reigns—the Alpha and Omega which is, and which was, and which is to come, the Almighty."

Project Parish Day School Association To Form in Fall

A new organization to serve the parish day schools of the Diocese was projected by the schools attending the first Parish Day School Conference, held at Grace Church House, May 19.

A committee was named by the conferees to effect the recommendations of the attending schools that "The Episcopal Parish School Association of the Diocese of New York" be organized.

The organizing committee has two tasks. First, to draw up a tentative constitution and by-laws; and secondly, to prepare an agenda for a Fall conference at which the constitution and by-laws will be acted upon and at which the work and scope of the association will be established.

All Episcopal Schools in the Diocese are being invited to participate with the parish day schools, including St. Hilda's, St. Peter's, Peekskill, the choir schools, and others.

The organizing committee which has set its first meeting for June 8th is composed of Mr. E. Ellison Grant, headmaster of Grace Church School, chairman; Mrs. H. Rushton Bell, Grace Church School, White Plains, Secretary; Canon Green, headmaster of Cathedral Choir School; Mrs. Harry Myers, director, Resurrection Parish School; Sister Ruth, S.S.J.D., St. Hilda's School; Mrs. Aline Stump Fisher, principal, Heavenly Rest Day School; the Rev. Paul C. Weed, headmaster, St. Luke's School.

The Bishop opened the Conference and the Rev. Canon Theodore O. Wedel, Ph.D., warden, College of Preachers, Washington, D.C., set the keynote question, "Why the Parish School."

Other speakers were the Rev. John Heuss, D.D., director Department of Christian Education, National Council; Mr. Grant, and the Rev. James A. Pike.

SYNOD HOUSE was filled to capacity throughout Convention to its close, marking one of the most lively sessions in the memory of many delegates.

Bishop to Advance One to Priesthood; Ordain 14, June 10

On June 10th, at 11 a.m. in the Cathedral, the Bishop will advance to the priesthood, the Rev. William Evans Ridgeway.

At the same service, the Bishop will ordain the following men to the Diaconate:

Langford Baldwin
William Lever Bates
Charles Howard Brieant
William Harry Crawford, Jr.
Hugh E. Cuthbertson
Kenneth G. Drescher
Douglas M. Glasspool

Committee, urging their adoption, were the Rev. Hugh McCandless, rector of Epiphany, Man.; the Rev. R. E. Terwilliger, rector, Christ Church, Poughkeepsie; the Rev. Louis W. Pitt, D.D., rector, Grace, Man.; and the Rev. J. Harry Price, rector, St. James the Less, Scarsdale.

In the final vote on the substitute motion, the vote was 222 for and 101 against.

The adopted motion provided further that the Bishop was authorized to appoint also a total of eleven persons, representing all the Convocations to consult with the Committee who, in case of insufficiency of funds in 1952, were instructed to hold "hearings on the 1951 Budget in which all organizations allotted funds in the 1951 Budget shall have the opportunity to present their respective needs."

Bishop Boynton Speaks

At this point in the proceedings, Bishop Boynton greeted the delegates.

Among the other matters transacted by Convention, the "Resolution on the State of the Nation" offered by the Commission on Christian Social Relations was adopted, after a brief sharp debate, by the close margin of 141 for to 114 against.

That resolution found "a situation of utmost danger to the moral and religious life of America and of all the world." Three steps were listed to "win the moral and spiritual battle of our day and to safeguard every value for which the Church of Christ stands." These were, in brief:

1. An endorsement of the United Nations activities in the field of social and economic well-being and a call for the feeding of famine stricken India.

2. Action to safeguard the integrity of government, not only in the prosecution of men guilty of violation of the law, but in the setting of higher standards of ethics for public officials.

3. The removal of every form of discrimination based on race, color, nationality or economic status.

By unanimous voice vote, Convention approved the resolution offered by the Rev. Wilbur L. Caswell, rector of St. Paul's, Yonkers, discontinuing the practice of awarding certificates to vestrymen who had served over twenty years on church vestries.

Two technical amendments relating to the Canons and the Rules of Order were adopted.

The Rev. John A. Mulligan, rector of All Angels, Man., proposed a resolution calling upon the Committee on Diocesan Finances to study carefully the recommendations on the setting of missionary quotas made by General Convention. The resolution was adopted.

The resolution offered by the Trustees of the Estate and Property of the Diocesan Convention asking for the election of Mr. Clarence G. Michalis and Mr. Thomas Roberts for terms of 4-years, was approved.

Bishop Gilbert Remembered

At the close of Convention, the Bishop noted that Bishop Gilbert was absent from Convention as a Bishop for the first time in twenty years, and, by acclaim, Convention directed the secretary of Convention to send him affectionate greetings. Also, Mr. Morehouse suggested a note to Bishop Littell wishing him a speedy recovery from his illness.

Convention opened with an 8:15 a.m. celebration of the Holy Communion. The Bishop was the celebrant, assisted by Bishop Boynton, who read the Gospel. Dr. Pitt, as president of the Standing Committee, read the Epistle. The Archdeacon assisted; and the Registrar, the Rev. Lawrence B. Larsen, rector of Christ Church, Pelham Manor, read the necrology which included the following diocesan clergy:

The Rev. Octavius Applegate, D.D., retired, sometime rector of St. John's, Kingston, and deputy to General Convention.

The Rev. Henry Augustus McNulty, D.D., vicar of Christ's Church, Rye, and sometime principal of Soochow Academy, Soochow, Kiansu, China.

The Rev. Rudolph Michael Binder, Ph.D., professor emeritus, New York University and sometime curate of St. Bartholomew's, Man.

The Rev. Frederick Amaziah Wright, rector Emeritus of St. John's, Tuckahoe.

The Rev. Richard A. D. Beaty, rector of St. Peter's, Chelsea, and secretary of Convention.

The Rev. Sidney Thomas Cooke, D.D., onetime assistant minister at St. James, Man.

New Secretary Elected

When Convention was convened by the Bishop, the Rev. Lawrence B. Larsen was elected Secretary. He is also Registrar. Mr. R. H. Mansfield was elected treasurer of Convention.

Rev. L. B. Larsen

A highlight of the opening of Convention was the admission of two parishes into union with the Convention. One, the Church of the Holy Trinity, Man., had been a chapel of St. James', Man; and the other, St. Andrew's, Hartsdale, had been a diocesan supported mission. The respective rectors, the Rev. James A. Paul, D.D., and the Rev. Paul L. Lattimore were congratulated by the Bishop.

After adjournment at 4:15 p.m., the delegates and their ladies were the Bishop's guests at tea in the undercroft of the Synod House.

U.T.O. Spring Gifts Total $19,943

Our churchwomen continue to bear witness of their thankfulness by the prayerful use of their UNITED THANK OFFERING BOXES, Mrs. J. Carolyn Whiteley said in reporting that the United Thank Offering now stands at $19,943.44, following the Spring in-gathering, May 1.

Mrs. Whiteley, Treasurer of the U.T.O., reported that the total offering for the 1949-52 Triennial is now $81,902.56, or $17,968.39 more than the first four offerings of the previous three-year period.

Two more presentations, Advent 1951 and Spring 1952, remain before the end of the Triennial and the national presentation in September 1952.

Mrs. Whitely said that at the offering in 1949, Missionary Bishops received approximately 25% of the money they requested for the erection of much needed buildings to provide for the spiritual, physical and material needs of those who are being cared for by our missionaries. During the war years, many buildings were in need of repair, redecorating, equipment or even enlargement, which could not be done due to lack of funds.

"Will the women of this Diocese accept a challenge? Will they make a special effort to make more regularly a prayerful and tangible thankoffering?"

New Group of Field Officers Are Trained by W. Ted Gannaway

Thirty-one newly appointed Diocesan Field Officers met at Seabury House, Greenwich, Conn., on Saturday and Sunday, May 19th-20th, for the third Basic Training Conference on the Program of the Church.

Sponsored by the Committee on the Program of the Church, the Conference presented, in a most intensive manner, the structure of the Episcopal Church and its missionary work in the Diocese, in the United States and overseas.

These laymen, recommended by their rectors or vicars and appointed by the Bishop, join the more than one hundred such trained volunteers who make up the Diocesan Field Officers Corps. The primary purpose of this lay group is to bring, as effectively as possible, to every parish and mission, the story of the Church's missionary outreach. They are a part of the more than three thousand laymen trained in this program during the last two years throughout the Church.

The Conference was directed by W. Ted Gannaway, Secretary of the Program of the Church in the Diocese of New York and a national instructor in the Laymen's Training Program. The Rt. Rev. Ervine A. Swift, newly consecrated Bishop of Puerto Rico, addressed the Conference, giving a first hand account of the mission work of our Church in China, Japan, and the Philippines from which he has just returned. Bishop Swift was the celebrant at the Service of Holy Communion in the Chapel at Seabury House on Sunday morning. He was assisted by the Rev. Dr. George A. Wieland, Director of the Home Department of the National Council.

Dr. Wieland spoke at the morning session, answering the many questions concerning the work of our Domestic Missions and the development of rural work, College work and Chaplaincy in our Armed Forces. He ended with a stirring statement of our missionary imperative and was most enthusiastically hailed by the men attending the Conference.

Plans for the Training Conference for all Diocesan Field Officers, to be held on September 30, 1951 to set up the presentations to be made to the parishes and missions this Fall, were announced.

The Conference was notable for the enthusiasm of the men who attended, and the Diocesan Field Officer's Corps is proud to welcome these most important new additions to its ranks.

The Bishop to Open Peekskill Summer Youth Conference

The Bishop will be present to open the Diocesan Summer Conferences, St. Peter's School, Peekskill. He will give the instruction at the evening service on Sunday, June 24th, will be the Celebrant at the Service of Holy Communion at eight o'clock Monday morning, June 25th, and will spend the day with the young people. Monday will be known as "The Bishop's Day."

Bishop Boynton will visit the Senior Conference as chaplain, July 1st to July 7th.

The General Topic for the Conferences will be "The Altar and the World." For the younger children the catechetical method will be used.

The Bishop's Ball will be held the last Friday in October, the 26th. It will be held again in the undercroft of the Synod House on the Cathedral Close. The young people of the Diocese will be the sponsors.

The Ball is being given for the benefit of the Bishop Gilbert Field House at St. Peter's School, Peekskill.

The Bishop's Message

My dear People:

IT IS RIGHT AND IN ACCORDANCE with the will of God that there should be opportunity for refreshment and relaxation for all of us. I trust that each one of you has had a pleasant and restful holiday. Now we return to take up our respective tasks with renewed vigor.

Events in the world situation do not give us grounds for optimism. The uncertainty and tensions remain, and it would seem that this era of crisis will continue. The most encouraging accomplishment for which we are very thankful is the signing of the Japanese Peace Treaty, a "treaty of reconciliation rather than of vengeance." There is not space in this brief message to dwell on the San Francisco Conference which marks a notable achievement of cooperation in a time of disunity. The fact that forty-eight of the fifty-two nations signed the treaty is striking evidence of a fine spirit of common purpose and greater unanimity among the nations of the world.

In our own nation it ought to be a matter of grave concern to every citizen that our own unity is threatened from within. There is a lowering of moral standards, an irresponsible attitude on the part of those in high places, a complacency about wrong-doing which is making people content to live in an unhealthy moral climate. The "honor system" of our whole land is being disregarded with a casual indifference. In such an atmosphere democracy cannot survive. A country where the laws of God are neglected and broken will ultimately lose all its freedoms.

It is high time for all of us who are followers of Christ to lift our voices against this easy-going attitude toward basic wrong. Our nation needs a change of heart, a change of attitude, a change of behavior. This can only come about as the Gospel is accepted and obeyed. No redeeming power is capable of reaching the spiritual and moral needs of this nation apart from Our Lord who, as history demonstrates, is the Way, the Truth and the Life. If we are to be a Christian country we must live by Christian principles. Let none of us who bears the name of Christ be hesitant about stating this in unequivocal language. "Righteousness exalteth a nation but sin is a reproach to any people."

In taking our stand for righteousness it is well to remember that we are not isolated individuals but members of the mystical Body of Christ, the Christian Church. Nor let us forget that the Church is strengthened for its tasks by the faithfulness of each member in worship, prayer and sacrificial giving. Our responsibilities and duties as members of the Church, which are too often disregarded, must be taken with greater seriousness.

The Bishop of New York

The Church must be militant and aggressive in proclaiming and promoting the Faith. Most of its members are too timid. In baptism all are pledged to "confess the faith of Christ crucified, and manfully to fight under his banner, against sin, the world, and the devil; and to continue Christ's faithful soldier and servant unto their life's end."

I plead that we shall realize anew the challenge of the times to the Church and to Christian people. Let us all, Bishops, clergy, laity, reconsecrate ourselves to the service of Our Lord and His church in loyal self-sacrifice, with wider vision and deeper determination to strengthen and extend the Kingdom of God in our nation and throughout the world.

Then will be manifested the truth of that stirring hymn "Like a mighty Army moves the Church of God."

Praying God's blessing upon you all,

Faithfully your Bishop,

Horace W. B. Donegan

Call Westchester to Oct. Bishops' Rally

Under the leadership of the Rev. Fenimore E. Cooper, dean of the Convocation of Westchester and rector of Trinity Church, Mt. Vernon, "The Bishops' Rally" has been organized this past summer.

Rev. Fenimore Cooper

This "great demonstration of the faith and power of our Church in Westchester" will gather at the County Center, White Plains, Sunday afternoon, at 4 p.m. October 14th.

The Bishop and Bishop Boynton will give brief messages. The Missionary Bishop of Nevada, the Right Rev. William F. Lewis, S.T.D. will be the principal speaker.

A major turn-out is anticipated by the sponsoring committee.

Dedicate New Parish House At St Mary's, Chappaqua

On October 7th at four o'clock in the afternoon the Bishop will lay the corner stone and dedicate the first section of a parish house which the people of St. Mary the Virgin have erected.

For many years this parish was a mission of the diocese. Eight years ago, under the leadership of the present incumbent, the Rev. Howard D. Perkins, its first rector, it became a self-supporting parish in union with the diocese.

Under the able leadership of our Senior Warden, Mr. C. Herbert Gale, a financial campaign was begun and the response of our parishioners was most generous. Mr. Gale was assisted by Messrs. Louis P. Gratz, H. Norman Neubert and Donald E. West.

Field Officer Corp Readies Fall Work

The annual presentation training conference for Diocesan Field Officers is scheduled in the Synod House on the Cathedral Close for Sunday, October 7, 1951.

The conference will begin with the celebration of the Holy Communion in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine at eight o'clock, and the first session will be held at nine-thirty a.m. The more than one hundred twenty-five Field Officers of the Diocese will receive a briefing on the presentations of the Church's program to be made in the parishes and missions this Fall.

W. Ted Gannaway, one of the thirty national instructors trained at Seabury House, September 7-9, will be in charge and will conduct the course in accordance with plans established by the National Council's Department of Promotion.

The clergy of the Diocese met with the Diocesan and a panel of National Council speakers, in a special fall conference September 24-27, at the Hotel Thayer, West Point.

The theme of the conference: "Toward Redemptive Life" is taken from the handbook published by the Department of Christian Education of the National Council.

More than 2,500 clergy, two-thirds of the House of Bishops, and large groups of professional workers and selected people across the nation have been presented with the call, "Toward Redemptive Life."

The conference began with Luncheon on Monday and closed Thursday with breakfast. It was described by the Bishop as a "Refresher Graduate School in the theology and practical techniques undergirding your whole parish program." The material presented will be generally used throughout the coming year in home parishes.

The purpose of the conference can be taken from the final paragraph of the booklet, "Toward Redemptive Life:" "A call to us to think in a new way about the purpose and work of the parish. It is a part of a great nationwide effort to recall the whole church to its primary business, which is redemption. It is a vast effort to arouse parish leaders to their educational responsibilities. It is an interpretation of the religious thinking behind the new national program of Christian education. It is an announcement of new teaching materials to help all to know the drama of redemption and to understand and share the prayer book way of life. It is an offer to help everyone to start now to improve the church's education in the parish. It is an evangelistic effort to proclaim with new clarity and strength the good news of the Gospel that God so loved the world that He gave His Son that we might have life and have it more abundantly"!

The Bishop, in the opening devotional address, called for a heightened sense of responsibility to the spiritual life of the Church. Noting how the administrative demands in many parishes rush in at the start of Fall, the Bishop reminded the clergy to keep first things first.

In closing, he said, "What a great and wonderful privilege is ours to be the humble stewards of the Church's blessing to mankind.

"All our other tasks, organizations, activities shrink in importance beside the high responsibilities for which we are ordained.

"Surely we can have no better goal for our individual and Diocesan life than to strive for a quickened understanding and insight into the full meaning of prayer and the inexhaustible spiritual resources in the sacraments of our Church's life."

The Bishop called for the Church to move toward a new relationship with God in Christ.

The speakers were as follows: The Rev. John Heuss, D.D. who took office November 1, 1947, as Director of the Department of Christian Education in the National Council of the Episcopal Church.

Dr. Heuss, a member of the National Council since October, 1943, was formerly a member of the Council's Department of Promotion and chairman of the Division of College Work.

Born in Hastings, N. Y., in 1908, Dr. Heuss was graduated from St. Stephen's and later studied at the Universities of Cologne, Frankfurt, and Berlin, and received a master's degree in theology at Seabury-Western Seminary, Evanston, in 1937. Seabury-Western also awarded him a doctorate in divinity.

The Rev. Reuel L. Howe holds an A.B. from Whitman College, Walla Walla, Washington, and S.T.B., S.T.M., and S.T.D. from the Philadelphia Divinity School. He has done graduate study in Pastoral Theology, Psychology, Psychiatry, and Sociology and social case work at the University of Pennsylvania, Pennsylvania Hospital, and Philadelphia Divinity School. He has been a member of the faculty of the Philadelphia Divinity School in charge of the department of Pastoral Theology at Virginia Seminary since 1944.

Mrs. Dora P. Chaplin is associate editor in charge of curriculum development in the National Council's Department of Christian Education.

Mrs. Chaplin and her children came to the United States from England where she had achieved professional standing as a religious education and writer. She continued her studies in this country under the direction of Dr. Adelaide Case, late professor of Christian education at Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, Mass. In addition to parish work for three years at Chestnut Hill, she is the author of Children and Religion, a Religious Book of the Month Club selection for June, 1948.

Mrs. Chaplin is associate editor for the Parent and Home Section for the National Department of Christian Education. She lectures regularly at the College of Preachers, Washington, D. C.

The Rev. Theodore Otto Wedel, Ph.D., is Canon Chancellor of the Washington (D.C.) Cathedral, and acting warden of the College of Preachers. Prior to his present appointments, he was Secretary for College Work in the National Council of the Episcopal Church.

The Rev. Canon Vesper O. Ward came to the National Council's Department of Christian Education as editor-in-chief for curriculum development in 1948. Since 1944 he has been Canon Chancellor of Grace Cathedral, San Francisco, California, and director of Christian education and promotion in the diocese of California.

Miss Charlotte C. Tompkins, in the fall of 1938, became field worker in the Department of Christian Education of the National Council of the Episcopal Church, coming to the national Church headquarters from the diocese of Central New York, where she had been Field Secretary of the diocesan department of Religious Education from 1935 to 1938.

Diocesan Laymen Gather to Prepare for Fall Canvasses

Parish keymen in the Laymen's Movement in the Diocese of New York gathered at the Synod Hall on Sunday, September 30 for a training conference on the Program of the Church. Coming from all parts of the Diocese the men were given a comprehensive view of the Missionary Work and strategy of the Church overseas, in the nation and in the diocese.

Under the chairmanship of H. Wynn Bussmann, Diocesan Chairman of Laymen's Work, the conference was lead by Ted Gannaway, a national instructor in the Church's Laymen's Training Program and Secretary of the Committee on the Program of the Church in the Diocese.

Emphasizing the vital importance of mobilizing the full manpower of our Church and the responsibilty of key laymen in each parish in this matter, the conference was marked by an enthusiastic acceptance of the Church's program and plans. Using charts and slides the presentations were liberally illustrated and offered in laymen's language.

Mr. E. K. Warren, Chairman of the Diocesan Committee on Finances, explained the method used in establishing parish missionary quotas and the effect on the diocesan missionary program of a failure to meet these required minimums.

The Right Reverend Charles F. Boynton, Suffragan Bishop of the Diocese and Chairman of the Committee on the Program of the Church acted as Chaplain of the conference. Bishop Boynton delivered a strong message on the "Divine Commission of the Laity."

Lead by Mr. Edwin J. Yowell, of Christ Church, Tarrytown, the Every Member Canvass Chairmen of the parishes and missions of the Diocese met for a conference on the "Training of Canvassers" on Sunday morning, September 30 under the auspices of the Committee on the Program of the Church.

The essentials of a successful Every Member Canvass were discussed with particular importance being given to the techniques of training workers to make the actual calls.

Mr. Yowell is a most capable, young sales manager with an outstanding record in his own parish where he serves as the director of the annual Canvass. He is most active in all phases of the parish program and serves as an Associate Field Officer for the Diocese. In a most definite and practical series of presentations the conduct of a successful canvass was discussed.

After luncheon the parish chairmen were invited to join with the parish keymen in their conference which was being conducted simultaneously.

UTO Calls for More Women Who'll Give Thanks to God

More women, young, older, professional and home-makers, are banning together in the Fellowship of Christ to give thanks for His great goodness! 6,957 women of this Diocese participated in the Spring UNITED THANK OFFERING which totaled $21,622.40.

The total for this Triennium to date including interest is $83,288.72, as compared to $63,945.36 for the same period of the last Triennium.

The November issue of the BULLETIN will feature the "Saga of the UNITED THANK OFFERING." Be sure to read it — and when you have finished please give it to some woman who may not be familiar with this very vital missionary work of our Church.

Processional Cross Commemorates Dr. Brook's 25-Years

On Sunday morning, October 7, at the eleven o'clock service the Reverend Roelif H. Brooks, D.D., will celebrate his Twenty-fifth Anniversary as Rector of St. Thomas Church, New York City.

His parishioners decided to mark this important occasion by dedicating a new Processional Cross which would be used for the first time on his Silver Anniversary.

The Cross is made of sterling silver, entirely hand wrought and embellished with many fine jewels.

One side of the Cross contains an exquisite Siberian amethyst weighing 53 karats. This amethyst is in a circular field of topaz, amethyst and diamonds, set en pave. The four ends of the Cross are enriched with sparkling green peridots; the total weight of these four stones being over seventy-four karats.

This fore side of the Cross is further enriched with one large round amethyst and two fine cushion shaped amethysts, a cabachon oval emerald, a rare oval kunzite and an oval carved sapphire and a large rectangular shaped topaz and also a silver hand chased shield of St. Thomas.

The other side of the Cross contains a large oval amethyst, two large oval contain a number of very beautiful oval amethysts, two large oval garnets, four small oval garnets, an opal, an oval amethyst, one large topaz and a cushion shaped amethyst. The center of this side is enriched with a fine sherry colored topaz weighing over 53 karats. The background of this large stone is jeweled with round, oval and pear shaped amethysts, topaz and garnets. Both the front and back amethysts of exceptional color. The center portion surrounding this large topaz is further enriched with a selection of fancy sapphires in various unusual shades. The circle directly outside of these richly jeweled portions is made of gold, which shows the exquisite hand chased grape and leaf pattern, on both sides of the Cross. This golden circle is the symbol of eternity.

The jewels, gold and silver were donated by friends and parishioners.

The staff is made of olive wood which has beautiful exotic graining and was cut from a live olive tree in Bethany. Attached to the staff is a sterling silver inscription plate bearing the following inscription: "To The Reverend Roelif H. Brooks, D.D. On the Occasion of His Twenty-Fifth Anniversary as Rector of St. Thomas Church an Expression of Esteem and Affection from His Parishioners".

GOOD HOUSEKEEPING IN THE CHURCH

By Katharine Morrison McClinton and Isabel Wright Squier

"Good housekeeping and order and efficiency are as important for a well-run church as for a well-run home."
—Katharine Morrison McClinton

GOOD HOUSEKEEPING IN THE CHURCH is all that its title indicates and something more besides. It has been written with the work of the altar guild primarily in mind but it is filled with valuable information for the guidance of parish clergy, acolytes and choir guilds as well.

GOOD HOUSEKEEPING IN THE CHURCH has the particular merit of being based upon experience and observation; it is far more that a mere re-hash of what other writers have had to say on the subject at some time in the past. It commends itself to the care of all the churches, large or small, rich or humble.

Break Ground for Two Buildings -- in Yonkers & Elmsford

On July 8th and September 9th, ground was broken for two more new diocesan mission churches.

The Ven. George F. Bratt was officiant at St. Francis of Assisi, Tarrytown Road at Knollwood Road Bridge, Elmsford; and the vicar, the Rev. Alger L. Adams, is already making plans for a mid-October Cornerstone Laying and Church Opening. The building is expected to be in useable condition by that time.

The completion of St. Francis will mark the successful finish of the "Cornerstone" Campaign which gave the Diocese five new buildings, two major additions, and a new building site.

The Bishop broke ground for St. Augustine's, 81 Locust Hill, Yonkers, on September 9th. The Mayor of Yonkers, N. Y. Assemblyman Edward T. Innet, a churchman, neighboring clergy and ministers, and civic dignitaries assisted. Noteworthy was the cooperation of St. Margaret's Roman Catholic Hungarian Church directly across the street. They not only loaned folding chairs to seat the crowd, estimated by the N. Y. Times as 500, but they also sent a $25 contribution.

The Rev. Alger Adams, who is vicar of St. Francis of Assisi, is also vicar of the second church for which ground was broken, St. Augustine's, Yonkers. He has also served as Managing Editor of the BULLETIN of the Diocese of New York since 1947.

BULLETIN OF THE DIOCESE OF NEW YORK

Published by the Diocese of New York under the direction of the Bishop, The Rt. Rev. Horace W. B. Donegan, D.D., monthly except July, August and September.
Deadline for all material, 10th of month.
Price $1.00 per year.

NEW EDITORIAL AND NEWS-REPORTING PROCEDURE

A publishing committee for The BULLETIN has been created by Bishop Donegan because of the resignation of the Rev. Alger A. Adams, whose work and Church building program are requiring his full time. The committee proposes a radical change in policy and news-reporting. The following schedule and information is exceedingly important and we commend it to your careful attention.

The Rev. Gordon Graham will act as Editor-in-Chief. His main work will be in editing and preparing the copy for the printer. He will be assisted by the other editors, each of whom will be responsible for particular features. A correspondent has been appointed for each convocation of the Diocese, and all news, events and activities, etc., should be sent the correspondent in each convocation directly. This includes weekly parish leaflets and all parish publications. The responsibility for assembling the news is hereby placed on the local correspondent; but the initiative must be taken by the priests and people of each parish to insure their own news being reported.

The Picture and Cover Editor will be The Rev. Albert A. Chambers, 115 East 74th Street, New York 21, N. Y. The Feature Editor will be The Rev. Dudley Stroup, Church of the Heavenly Rest, New York. The Managing Editor will be Mr. W. Ted Gannaway.

The BULLETIN will be published on a tight schedule. All material should be sent to the proper correspondent editor before the 5th day of each month in order that copy may be edited, prepared, and sent to the editor-in-chief by the 10th day of each month. By following this schedule, The BULLETIN can be distributed during the first week of the following month. In other words, copy for the December issue must be in the hands of the proper editor by November 5th; copy for the January issue, by December 5th, etc.

The successful working out of this plan, necessitated by the fact that all the editors and correspondents are giving time from their already busy schedules, may seem complicated, but in reality it isn't. The task of publishing an alert and informative BULLETIN is a cooperative effort on the part of all clergy and officers of the Diocese. They know the news as it happens. We hope for success for this plan and urge the ready response on the part of all in the Diocese to make The BULLETIN a monthly magazine in which we can take pride. It will be only as good as your help enables us to make it.

With thanks for your assistance in advance,

Gordon C. Graham
Albert A. Chambers
Dudley J. Stroup

The Bishop's Message

My Dear People:

With deep appreciation of his invaluable service as Managing Editor of The BULLETIN, the resignation of The Reverend Alger A. Adams has been reluctantly accepted. Our former Managing Editor ministers to two congregations; St. Francis of Assisi, Elmsford, and St. Augustine's, Yonkers. Now that the church which was moved from Rifton to Elmsford is about to open for worship, and with additional responsibilities in connection with the building of a new church for the congregation in Yonkers, it is understandable that Father Adams is unable to give the time which the managing editorship requires. He will continue as a member of the Editorial Board.

I have appointed a Publications Committee composed of The Rev. Gordon C. Graham, Chairman; The Rev. Dudley J. Stroup; The Rev. Albert A. Chambers and Mr. W. Ted Gannaway. This committee will be responsible for publishing The BULLETIN. We shall welcome your suggestions and ideas, for we all wish to see a steady improvement in the format, content and material of our magazine in order that it may be of increasing value in the promotion of the Faith and the advancement of the work of the church. We must increase our circulation. At present there are only 3,600 subscribers. The BULLETIN ought to enter every home in the Diocese!

Cathedral Activities

Each Sunday morning during October the Cathedral service was televised over WPIX. I am grateful to the officials of WPIX for the opportunity of televising the four services, and I wish to thank the technicians for their courteous cooperation.

In the presence of leaders in the world of sports and representatives of the United States Olympic Association, the Sports Bay in the Cathedral was dedicated by the Bishop and unveiled by Mrs. Griffith B. Coale on Sunday afternoon, October 21st. The address was given by Mr. Julian S. Myrick, Chairman of the Cathedral Sports and Games Committee. It is through Mr. Myrick's interest and enthusiasm that this impressive enrichment to the nave of our Cathedral has been brought to completion.

The Bishop's Rally at the County Center, White Plains, was an inspiring occasion. Many thanks to Bishop Lewis, The Reverend Fenimore Cooper, the members of the committees, the choirs, St. Peter's Peers, and to all whose participation and presence made the Bishop's Rally a great demonstration of faith and power of our Church in Westchester. Incidentally, there are more clergy, churches and communicants in Westchester Convocation than in a number of Dioceses.

Welcome to the new Rectors whom I had the pleasure of instituting last month: The Rev. Henry S. Sitzer, Jr., St. Andrew's, Yonkers; The Rev. Gerald Gilmore, St. Paul's, Yonkers; The Rev. Gordon C. Graham, St. Andrew's, Poughkeepsie; and to The Rev. Owen C. Thomas, Chaplain of the Commission on College Work.

Training For Lay Assistants

The first Diocesan School for Lay Readers was held at the Cathedral on Saturday, October 28th. Addresses were given by Bishop Boynton, the Archdeacon, The Rev. Powell M. Dawley, Ph.D., and The Rev. Cuthbert A. Simpson, D.D., of the General Theological Seminary. The day concluded with a service in the Cathedral at which time the Bishop delivered the charge and commissioned the men. At present there are 187 Lay Readers in the Diocese.

As directed by Convention I have co-opted the following clergy and laymen to sit with the Committee on Allocation of Missionary Funds when the agencies receiving Diocesan aid present their financial needs: The Rev. Messrs. Frank L. Carruthers, Gordon L. Kidd, Frederick H. Meisel, Walter W. Reid, and the Messrs. Ernest R. Acker, Theodore W. Decker, Clinton G. Harris, Kenneth Holden, David Jennings, Homer W. Lynch and Douglas M. Moffat. Together with the three regular members, The Rev. Messrs. C. Kenneth Ackerman, Alexander A. Frie and Joseph S. Minnis. Each Convocation is represented as required by the Convention resolution. In appointing the co-opted and regular members of this Committee it seemed right to nominate persons not connected with any of the assisted Diocesan agencies.

A Sleep of Prisoners, by Christopher Fry is being given in St. James' Church, Madison Avenue and 71st Street. This imaginative, moving play, superbly acted is concerned with the problem of conflict between men. Dråma such as this, written for production in church, conveys the Christian Faith to the many who have no contact with the Church and know nothing of the Gospel. Dr. Kinsolving has graciously assigned what profits may come to St. James' to the Bishop for stipends of missionary clergy.

St. Simon and St. Jude's Day (October 28th) was the anniversary of my Consecration in 1947. The past four years as a Bishop in the Church of God have been a time of happiness, working with the clergy and laity of our Diocese in a deepening and growing friendship for which I thank them and God.

Faithfully your Bishop,

What I Have To Offer Won't Be Missed

A Capitalist and Socialist were arguing about the relative merits of his position when a third person stepped forward and interrupted them and said, "I am a theist." They immediately ridiculed him and asked "What do you mean?" He replied, "A Capitalist believes that individuals own and should own the wealth of the world. A Socialist believes that all the people should own the wealth of the world and create a commonwealth. A theist believes that everything begins with God and everything belongs to God. 'The earth is the Lord's, and the fulness thereof. 'I am a theist."

The acceptance of this premise is of tremendous importance. It will be reflected in the life the individual lives.

The emphasis is not on what I own but what I owe.

We are all in debt and we can never fully discharge the debt. We know full well the debt we owe our families—the care which was given us when we were young, the love that surrounded us, the principles of life which were given us. We can see our debt to our fellowmen too, because we live in a cooperative society wherein we depend one upon another. We are forever indebted one to another. But above all, we Christians recognize our debt to God. We know His Goodness; we know His Love; we know the spiritual strength with which He surrounds us. Nor can we ever fully discharge this debt. Yet in our worship and service of God and in our support of His Church, we are in some measure at least able to pay something "on the account". We are stewards of His love; of the talents which He has given us; of all the resources of life-they are His-they have been given us for our use. To withhold them for our own purposes; to use them for our own selfish ends; to disassociate them from God is indeed to rob God of that which is His.

A Dedication

Every time the prayer of consecration in the Holy Communion is offered, these magnificent words are said, "And here we offer and present unto Thee, O Lord, ourselves, our souls and bodies, to be a reasonable holy and living sacrifice unto Thee". This is a dedication of self which is all-inclusive. It includes our affections. It includes our wills. It includes the energy of mind and of body. It includes all that we are and all that we have. This is the only reasonable, holy and living sacrifice that we can offer in partial payment of our debt to God.

In the life of the Church our gifts of money are the gifts of ourselves. If you earn two dollars an hour and give four dollars per week you are giving two hours of your time to the work of the Church.

This is true on the parish level where you would naturally expect to pay for the upkeep of your spiritual home just as legitimately as you expect to pay for the upkeep of your dwelling. This is also true on the Diocesan level where you give your time, represented by your money, to support your bishops and their offices and to make possible their work in the larger community, the diocese. This is true also on the missionary level where through the gift of your money you give your time in the missionary field, since that money pays the salaries of missionaries-of priests, doctors, nurses, teachers—who are representing you wherever your church is at work, at home, in the home missionary field, or abroad in the foreign missionary field.

Many of you probably remember the story of the doctor in a small French village, who was about to retire. He had been on call day and night, but that had made no difference. He cared for them as he was able. As the day of his retirement approached, the people wished to make an expression of their gratitude and affection. It was proposed that on a given day, since they had so little money to give, they each bring a pitcher of wine from their own cellars and pour it into a large barrel placed in the village square, which in turn would be presented to the doctor. The day arrived and all day long the people were seen pouring their offerings into the barrel. The evening came and the barrel of wine was taken to the doctor's humble residence and presented with the inevitable speeches. The presentation over, the people went back to their homes and the doctor was left alone with the memory of their love. He went to the barrel and drew off a bit of wine, then went into the house and there sat comfortably by the fire to enjoy it. The first sip was a shock. It tasted like water. He sipped again. It was water. He went back to the barrel and drew off more, thinking there must have been some queer mistake. But no, the barrel was filled with water. He called the mayor and the mayor called the assemblymen and there were hurried consultations. Then the truth was revealed. Everyone in town had reasoned: "My little pitcher of wine won't be missed. I have so little for myself. The little water I substituted will not be noticed."

A Great Tragedy

It is a tragic story. It may never have happened; but it is the kind of thing that can and does happen when people refuse to accept their responsibilities, and when they reason as the Frenchmen did - "I have so little for myself. What I have to offer won't be missed. My small increase will not be important. Let the others take care of it".

God's work cannot go on in the world, at home or abroad, without sacrificial service. God's work cannot go on without our worship, our praise, our adoration of Him. It cannot go on without our loyalty: expressed again and again. Yes, and it cannot go on without our gifts of time and money. They are all related to our discipleship. They all represent what we believe in our hearts.

Albert A. Chambers

THE BISHOP'S FOURTH ANNIVERSARY

Our Bishop was consecrated on St. Simon and St. Jude's Day, October 28, 1947, While no special Diocesan-wide observance of this Anniversary was made, the Bishop put in a busy day at Poughkeepsie, where he: Celebrated Holy Communion at 8:00 A.M. at Christ Church, of which the Rev. Robert E. Terwilliger is Rector and at 11:00 o'clock he confirmed a class and preached the sermon. At 4:00 P.M. he instituted the Rev. Gordon C. Graham as Rector of St. Andrew's Church, and at the reception afterwards he was presented with a cake with four candles by the members of the parish. Then, at 8:00 P.M. he confirmed a class and preached at the Church of the Holy Comforter.

ADDISELL NEW TREASURER

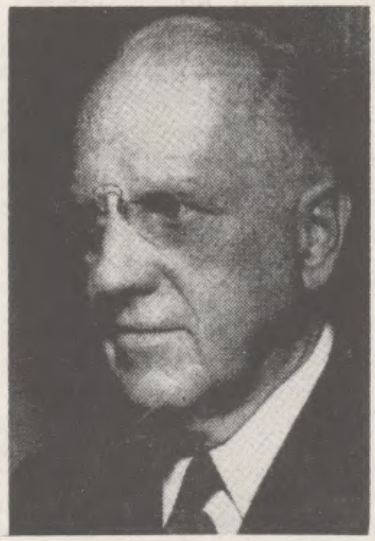
Harry M. Addinsell of New York, was elected Treasurer of the National Council to succeed Russell E. Dill who died recently. The election was by the National Council, to fill an unexpired term, and the term will run until the next General Election.



Mr. Harry M. Addinsell, Treasurer of the National Council

Mr. Addinsell has been a member of the National Council, and of its Departments of Finance and Promotion. He is a Director of the Episcopal Church Foundation. His experience is largely in the field of investment brokerage, from which he retired some time ago. He has been president and later chairman of the board of the First Boston Corporation. He is a director of Phillips Petroleum Co., the Commercial Credit Corporation and the Virginian Railway.

Holds Many Offices

Mr. Addinsell is a vestryman of St. Bartholomew's Church in mid-town Manhattan and has served the Diocese of New York in many important capacities. He is a trustee of the Estate and Property of the Diocesan Convention, a provisional deputy to General Convention and a trustee of St. Luke's Home for Aged Women.

LAYMENS PRESENTATIONS

Using the theme "Christ Works Through You" the presentations of the church's missionary program to be made by the Lay Field Officers in support of the Every Member Canvass this Fall have been streamlined to less than twenty minutes in length. They are designed to be given during the sermon period of a Sunday morning service.

Basic Mission Strategy

The basic strategy of developing local leadership looking toward an autonomous church in all the overseas areas is stressed. The latest developments in China, Japan, Okinawa and Brazil are summarized with Fr. Vincent Strohsahl's station in the Phillipines being highlighted as typifying the work of an Episcopal Missionary. Fr. Strohsahl entered priesthood from this Diocese.

Various aspects of the general church program in the thirteen missionary districts within continental United States are touched upon with major emphasis being given to the expanding effectiveness of the work in Christian Education: The complex problems facing the church in the field of social relations and in urban-industrial centers are noted and the plans for coping with them are indicated.

Diocesan Missions

Fully half the presentation is given over to the missionary program here in the Diocese. Stressing the fact that the scope of such work is larger than in almost any other area in the church the presentation directs attention to the several new mission churches recently completed. It outlines briefly the wide sphere of important service being rendered by the Diocese and the vital importance of the varied activities maintained by the several missionary agencies included in the Diocesan program.

The laymen making the presentation were carefully trained at a special conference held in the Synod Hall on October 7th. Under the direction of their Convocation Chairmen they are now accepting assignments to speak in the parishes and missions to which they are invited. Rectors and vicars may schedule these men through the Deans of their Convocations or by writing or calling the Diocesan office of the Program of the Church.

Every effort has been made to make the presentations factual, interesting and colorful. The men making them are sincere and devoted churchmen. The entire program has received the enthusiastic endorsement of the large majority of clergy and laity of the church.

EVERY MEMBER CANVASS

The dates of November 4th to December 2nd have been designated by the National Council for conducting the Annual Every Member Canvass.

The general church, diocesan missions and the parish program depend to a large degree on the results obtained from this annual solicitation. Originated in 1919 as the "Nation-wide Campaign" the plan has become the mainstay of all phases of the church's program.

To assist parishes and missions in obtaining maximum benefits from its proper use, the Committee on the Program of the Church has inaugurated an Annual Conference for the training of Canvass Chairmen. The 1951 Conference was held on September 30th and more than fifty laymen, interested in improving the technique of the Canvass, gathered in Cathedral House under the leadership of Ed Yowell, business man and successful Canvass Chairman of Christ Church, Tarrytown, New York.

Consultants Ready

In addition certain selected laymen from the Diocesan Field Officer Corps have been given special training and are available as consultants and advisors to any parish or mission desiring their assistance.

A manual has been prepared setting forth certain suggestions considered to be basic in the successful conduct of an effective Canvass. A copy will be sent to any parish or mission on request.

Requests from parishes and missions desiring to use the services of these consultants or wishing to obtain suggestions and materials should be directed to the Diocesan office of the Committee on the Program of the Church.

Christian Education by John Heuss

Four years ago the Episcopal Church began creating a new program of Christian Education.

Actually it was not until after the 1949 General Convention that funds were availible to put into operation many aspects of the new program. Since then the National Department has rapidly grown into Adult Division, Audio-Visual Division, Division of Curriculum Development, Leadership Training Division, and Publication Division.

The activities of the program are numerous — ranging from an extensive advisory service on educational matters carried on by both correspondence and interviews, to the training of leaders in Christian education.

Rapid Expansion

Each of these responsibilities has been carried forward rapidly by the Department in the last two years. The program is now widely known—through the work of the College of Preachers; Education Conferences; three basic content books have been published on the Bible, Church History and Doctrine. The most extensive leadership training program in Christian Education of any major Church body has been established.

The Leadership Training Work has been carried on in several different ways. It began with week to week conferences with small groups of clergy jointly conducted by staff members of the Department and the College of Preachers.

2500 Clergy Trained

Since these were begun in October, 1949, roughly 2500 clergymen, including many bishops, have attended. At certain seasons the staff of the College of Preachers conducts large conferences for clergy in strategic parts of the country.

In January 1951, a new type of leadership training program began. The Department sent out teams of three members (a priest and two diocesan directors of Christian Education). This team, equipped with educational tools, goes into the diocese for about a month. It conducts week long "educational missions"., for parish leaders — vestrymen, women's group leaders, adults and Sunday School teachers.

Last May, June and July the Department undertook a third type of training. It arranged 15 conferences across the nation to which were invited leading laymen and women selected from all the dioceses by the bishops. There were 1700 in attendance. This demonstrated that the lay people of the Church could quickly grasp the theological thinking behind the program, and were enormously responsive to direct teaching about the Faith. In each diocese now there are groups of laymen and women meeting with clergy who have been trained by the College of Preachers staff, studying the implications of the new educational program for their own parishes.

Important Gains Made

What effect has all this effort produced so far? The enterprise still is new and the time has been short.

Nevertheless, large gains are to be seen. They can be summarized in this way:

1. Christian Education has been raised from a side issue in the Church's life to a central position. Church people are aware of the need for it now as they never have been before. Never again will the Church be able to neglect its educational work with an easy conscience.

2. Many clergy and lay people now understand that Christian Education is the work of total parish life, not something relegated to the Sunday School.

3. It is widely realized by Church leadership that indoctrination is only one aspect of meaningful Christian Education, and that any parish effort to teach which stops with indoctrination is doomed with failure.

4. For the first time many have been led to see the connection between theology and life and there is a new knowledge in the Church that its main business is the redemption of souls from sin. The stage has been set by the new education program for a real religious revival in the Episcopal Church.

5. Good basic content books have been produced and other courses written which are usable.

6. A theological unity is being set forward by the widespread use of these acceptable books and courses.

7. Local churches are being stimulated to evaluate themselves as redemptive fellowships.

8. A new vision of what the Church is for in God's eyes, and how its redemptive work can be made real in people's lives is being caught by many clergy, and this is spreading to the laity.

9. A large contribution is being made outside of the Episcopal Church to the whole Christian Education movement, as the National Council of Churches and its member groups watch with deep interest the development of our new program.

The Teen-age officer presiding for the day at the National Assembly of the Girl's Frindly Society. She is Miss Sylvia Mulsac of all Soul's, Manhattan.

There is much to be done. Many tools are still to be produced. Much training has yet to take place. We are only yet at the beginning of the Church's task to improve its education.

But we have a powerful beginning, and the results of the new program can be seen in every diocese. The new program has transformed the religious life of individual leaders, both clergy and lay, and has transformed the thinking and work of an increasing number of parishes.

FIELD HOUSE DEDICATION

The dedication of the Bishop Gilbert Field House, St. Peter's School, Peekskill, New York, will be held on Thursday afternoon, December 6th, at four o'clock. The ceremonies will be conducted by the Rt. Rev. Horace W. B. Donegan, Bishop of the Diocese of New York, and Bishop Charles K. Gilbert, former Diocesan, will be guest of honor. Canon Edward West of the staff of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine will be the master of ceremonies.

Fr. Leeming, Headmaster of the St. Peter's School, in a statement to the BULLETIN praised the generosity of the Diocese for making the building of the Field House possible and particularly praised the young people who had been so loyal in their support.

"Special credit is due to the youth of the Diocese", said Fr. Leeming, "who have provided sufficient funds for the building and furnishing of the reception room in the Field House." A plaque has been mounted in appreciation of their efforts.

Invitations to all of the clergy of the Diocese have been sent out and all of the many friends of beloved former Diocesan, the Rt. Rev. Charles K. Gilbert, will be most welcome. The clergy will vest for the ceremonies.

COPPER CROSSES

When the old steeple of St. Paul's Church at Ossining, New York, was condemned following the severe wind storm of last November, the old land mark was taken down after eighty years of service. Twelve of the original copper shingles from the steeple were used to fashion fourteen hundred copper crosses that were sold to interested people at the annual Fair held by the parish recently. It seems a fitting climax to a long and faithful service.

ADVENT COMMUNION

The Annual Advent Corporate Communion for men and boys will be held on Sunday, December 2. The first Sunday in Advent each year has been set aside by the church for this important celebration and thousands of parishes and missions throughout the church call together their laymen on that day.

Sponsored by the Presiding Bishop's Committee on Laymens Work, the Advent Corporate Communion and corporate gift has grown steadily throughout the seven years since its inauguration. The corporate gift is utilized in most parishes and dioceses for the advancement of laymen's work and the support of the laymen's program.

Lay Sponsors

The Laymen's Movement in the Diocese of New York is sponsoring this service and asks the rectors and vicars of the parishes and missions to make plans for it widest possible observance. Posters, invitation cards and gift envelopes are available, in any reasonable quantity, without charge and may be obtained from the Diocesan office of the Program of the Church.

At this time when the Church needs to mobilize the full strength of its manpower the men and boys Corporate Communion and gift takes on added significance. Laymen of the Diocese are asked to cooperate with their rectors or vicars in making this service widely attended and a dynamic factor in revitalizing the laymen's work in their parish or mission.

News From The Convocations

WESTCHESTER RALLY

Lead by the massed children's choirs in colorful vestments of the sixty-one parishes and missions of the Westchester Convocation, the Bishops Rally was held in the Westchester County Center, White Plains, New York on Sunday afternoon, October 14th, 1951. Several thousand Westchester Episcopalians assembled in the great hall in an inspired service of witness sponsored by the Convocation.

The Reverend Fenimore E. Cooper, S.T.B. Dean of the Westchester Convocation spoke the opening words of the service after the congregation had made the auditorium ring with the words of the hymn, "Jesus Shall Reign Where'er the Sun". Backed by a huge silver cross at the foot of which the choirs sat in mounting ranks the Bishop of the Diocese, the Right Reverend Horace W. B. Donegan, D.D. flanked by the Rt. Rev. William F. Lewis, S.T.D., Missionary of Nevada and the Rt. Rev. Charles F. Boynton, S.T.D. Suffragan Bishop of the Diocese of New York addressed the huge crowd.

The Bishop Speaks

Bishop Donegan stressed the occasion as being an indication of the growth and strength of the Convocation. He emphasized the fact that the Rally was further evidence of the renewed interest and vitality of the church and declared the occasion was convincing proof of the ever developing unity being welded throughout the Diocese.

Bishop Lewis was then introduced and held the great assemblage spellbound with his dramatic though simple description of the missionary work of the church and its effect on the lives of the widely scatterd men and women living in our western prairies and mountains. Declaring that he spoke for the entire missionary staff of our church he vividly portrayed the values inherent in our missionary program. The men and women the church serves through his district are the producers of the essential raw materials upon which our nation is dependent. Their spiritual welfare is the concern of the church every bit as vital as the ministry to the more densely populated urban centers.

The music was under the direction of Fr. Frank Leeming, Headmaster of St. Peters School, Peekskill. Canon West of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine was master of ceremonies. The Venerable George F. Bratt, B.A. Archdeacon of the Diocese assisted in the service. The more than seventy priests of the Convocation formed two rows the full width of the auditorium and the congregation stretched in long tiers to the very doors of the hall.

Nurse Wins Medal

Mrs. Mabel K. Staupers, pioneer in the fight for Negro nurses in hospitals and professional associations throughout the country, was the winner of the 1951 Spingarn Medal. Mrs. Staupers, former executive secretary of the National Association of Colored Graduate Nurses, which went out of existence last year when the campaign for full membership privileges was won, was the Woman's Day speaker on Sunday, October 28th, at the 11 a.m. service.

THE BRONX

The Annual Fall Convocation Meeting was held in the new St. Luke's Church, Williamsbridge, on Monday evening, October 29th, at 8 P.M. Bishop Boynton presided and the principal speaker was the Rev. Edward Chandler, Priest-in-charge of Trinity's new congregation in the vicinity of Knickerbocker Village, Manhattan. He spoke of this new work with particular reference to its possible bearing upon similar expansion elsewhere. This meeting held additional interest in that St. Luke's, one of our Cornerstone Campaign churches was host to the Convocation for the first time.

On Sunday, November 4th, in the Octave of All Saints, at eight o'clock the Annual Women's Service of the Convocation was held in St. Peter's Church, Westchester. The preacher was the Rev. Vincent Strohsahl of St. Francis' Mission Upi, Minanao, Phillipines. Fr. Strohsahl, formerly a priest of our Diocese, is now on furlough in this country.

As of Sunday, October 7th, the congregation of All Saints' Mission has merged with the congregation of St. George's Church. The Vicar of St. George's, the Rev. Newell Lasher reports that this was effected by an almost unanimous approval of both congregations.

Bronx Laymen Gather

On Sunday evening, October 17th more than one hundred laymen attended the eighth Annual Meeting of the Episcopal Men of the Bronx, held in the Church of the Good Shepherd, Matilda Avenue and 238th Street, Bronx, N. Y.

Mr. Charles Y. Mackie, Chairman Pro-Tem of the Committee on Men's Work presided and the speaker was a recently returned Missionary from St. Paul's University, Tokyo, The Rev. Richard A. Merritt.

A service of Evening Prayer lead by the Rev. Herbert R. Stevenson, Rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd assisted by Dr. Albert E. Campion, Rector of the Church of the Mediator, preceeded the address and the service was followed by a social hour in the parish house.

DUTCHESS

Church Periodical Club

The Fall Meeting of the Church Periodical Club of the Diocese of New York will be held on Thursday, November 15th, at 2:30 P.M. at the Parish House of the Church of the Resurrection, 115 East 74th Street.

The speaker will be the Reverend Vincent H. Strohsahl, who has recently returned from missionary work in the Philippines. Father Strohsahl will speak about his work in the Philippines, and also something about the value of the work of the Church Periodical Club in connection with the work of our missions.

The work of the Church Periodical Club for sixty-three years has been the distribution of reading and other allied material, religious and secular, to those who need it, such as missions, clergymen, individuals in isolated places, shut-ins, the blind, schools and institutions for the care of the aged and children, prisons, hospitals and libraries in the United States and in many foreign countries.

Those interested are cordially invited. Tea will be served.

RAMAPO

The Annual Fall Meeting of the Convocation met at Christ Church, Piermont, October 18th. The Rev. Albert Ohse, Rector and members of the parish were hosts to the meeting.

Evening Prayer was said at 6 P.M., with the Rt. Rev. H. W. B. Donegan, Bishop of the Diocese of New York; the Ven. George Bratt, Archdeacon; the Rev. Ernest W. Churchill, Dean of the Ramapo Conv.; participating in the service. Bishop

Dinner was served by the women of the Parish at 7 P.M. in the Parish House. Clergy and representatives of the churches in Rockland County, and a part of Orange County, were present. New City and Pearl River had the largest delegations, with Valley Cottage close behind. Other representatives were from Spring Valley, Nyack, Suffern, Tompkins Cove, Ft. Montgomery, Tuxedo, Greenwood Lake, Warwick, and Piermont. The Rev. Gerald

The Bishop presided, he introduced the Dean and the Rev. Gerald W. Rubino, the new Rector of Christ Church of Warwick. The Rector welcomed the delegate. of the Parish.

The principal speaker of the evening, was the Rev. Donald Crawford, a member of the Department of Christian Education of the National Council, serving on the Curriculum Committee. He spoke on the topic, Broadening Horizons In Curriculum Development. He said we had two questions to face: What is a parish for? and What is Christian Education and how is it related to the parish?

"Our goal," he reminded us, "is one of committment to Jesus Christ. We need a new life in Him, rather than just information about Him."

A nominating committee was elected as follows: the Rev. Harold Thelin, Grace Church, Nyack; the Rev. G. A. Zeltner, St. Paul's Church, Spring Valley; and Mr. Harry Coyle, New City. They will report at the Annual Spring meeting.

THE SYNOD MEETS

BISHOP DONEGAN'S RESOLUTIONS

The Thirtieth Synod of the Second Province, comprising the 8 Dioceses of New York and New Jersey and the Missionary Districts of Puerto Rico, Haiti and the Panama Canal Zone, met at Trinity Church, Buffalo, October 23rd and 24th.

The Diocese of New York was represented by the largest delegation of any diocese and the largest number of deputies it has sent for many years. Those attending from the Diocese were the Bishop, the Suffragan Bishop the Assistant Treasurer of the Diocese, Theodor Oxholm, who is Treasurer of the Synod, and the following clerical and lay deputies: the Reverend Messrs. Charles L. Buck, Fenimore E. Cooper, Charles H. Graf, W. Colin Lee, Frank C. Leeming and Edward C. Russell; and Messrs Harold Barlow, Harrison Deyo, G. D. Edwards, John D. McGrath and Ralston Young.

The theme of the Synod was "The Church's Youth in Action." There was a panel discussion participated in by young people. The Bishop of Utah, the Rt. Rev. Richard S. Watson, and the Rev. Dr. John Heuss, Director of the Department of Christian Education of the National Council, gave the principal addresses.

The Synod adopted a resolution offered by Bishop Donegan protesting the appointment of an ambassador to the Vatican, reading as follows:

> RESOLVED: that the Synod of the Second Province disapproves the appointment of an Ambassador to the Vatican as being contrary to the practice and tradition of the United States of America; and > FURTHER: that this expression of the Synod disapproving of the appointment of an Ambassador to the Vatican be communicated to the President, the members of the Senate and to the Bishops of the several Dioceses and Missionary Districts of this Province, with the request that they present it to their respective Conventions and Convocations for consideration and action.

LAY READERS SCHOOL

On Saturday, October 27th, the first Annual Lay Readers School was held under the sponsorship of the Laymen's Movement in the Diocese of New York. A faculty headed by Bishop Boynton and Archdeacon Bratt ably supported by distinguished professors from the General Theological Seminary offered the instruction. Almost one hundred licensed Lay Readers benefited from the courses in Faith and Practice of the Church. Bishop Donegan conducted the Commissioning service that climaxed the school.

An association of Lay Readers of the Diocese was formed for the purpose of fellowship and maintaining standards in lay reading. Plans for conducting laymen retreats in each of the Convocations during the winter were announced.

The licenses of many former Lay Readers have expired and application for their renewal should be made at once. It is expected that every licensed Lay Reader shall have attended the school and holds a certificate indicating that fact. Another such school to be held sometime in the Spring of 1952 is being considered.

Programs of the College Work and Youth Work Committees were approved and budgets to provide the funds to implement them were adopted.

The spirited voting for officers which took place on October 24th resulted in the election of the following from this Diocese:

Secretary of the House of Bishops,
Bishop Boynton
Secretary of the Synod,
the Rev. Charles J. Buck
Treasurer of the Synod,
Mr. Theodor Oxholm
Chairman of the House of Clerical and Lay Deputies, the Rev. Fenimore E. Cooper

The House of Bishops nominated the Right Rev. James P. De Wolfe, D.D., Bishop of Long Island, for President of the Synod for a three year term, and the House of Clerical and Lay Deputies concurred in his election.

TELEVISION

The first of a series of four televised broadcasts of the eleven o'clock Sunday morning services from the Cathedral of St. John the Divine went out over the air via station WPIX on Sunday October seventh. The Rev. Canon James Green, Precentor of the Cathedral and Headmaster of the Cathedral's Choir School was the celebrant at the service of Holy Communion. The Rev. Canon Edward N. West, Sacrist of the Cathedral was the Reader of the Epistle and master of ceremonies with The Rev. Alexander S. Dewdney, Chaplain of the Home for Old Men and Aged Couples, as Gospeler. The Reverend Dr. Cyril C. Richardson, Washburn Professor of Church History at the Union Theological Seminary, preached the sermon. All these clergymen assisted in administering the Sacrament to a large number of communicants. The Narrator was the Reverend Canon Thomas A. Sparks, Pastor of the Cathedral. WPIX provided a large technical staff which was busy both within and without the building during the entire time.

THE BISHOP'S MESSAGE

ONCE AGAIN the Church calendar brings us to Advent, one of the most impressive seasons of the Christian year. Traditionally it is the period of preparation for Christmas just as Lent is the penitential season of preparation for Easter. There is a note of solemnity in our worship, the Church color is purple, symbolic of penitence, for the emphasis of Advent is judgment. When we think of having to give an account of the stewardship of our living, it immediately evokes serious thought as to what we have done with our talents, gifts and natural endowments.

Somehow, in some way, we shall all appear before Christ. "It is a very small thing," says St. Paul, "that I should be judged of you, or of man's judgment; he that judgeth me is the Lord." We shall not be judged by the world's standards but by the love, the truth and the goodness for which Christ stood. He who will judge us is also our Saviour whose name is a synonym for self-sacrificing love. Jesus came to judge the world and yet he came not to judge the world but to save it. Advent is followed by Christmas with the promise of salvation. We can be saved from sin, fear and despair. We do not have to stay the way we are. We cannot save ourselves. Salvation is of God. The good news of Christmas is that God sent his Son into the world, that the world through Him might be saved.

God rest you merry, gentlemen, Let nothing you dismay.
Remember Christ our Saviour Was born on Christmas Day;
To save us all from Satan's power When we were gone astray.
O—tidings of comfort and joy!

But only as we are spiritually prepared will Christmas bring comfort and joy. If we are to appreciate and understand the deepest significance of Christmas our Advent observance must be as the Church intends, namely, a time of spiritual preparation (self-examination, penitence, prayer—that we may be forgiven and forgiving) in order that we may be ready to receive the message of love and salvation in our hearts, and be worthy to welcome Christ anew into our lives on Christmas Day.

May this Christmastide bring you, and all whom you love, the comfort and joy which the world can never give and can never take away.

Bishop Boynton and Archdeacon Bratt join me in wishing you a very Happy, and a very Blessed Christmas.

Faithfully and affectionately yours,
HORACE W. B. DONEGAN

How the Creeds Grew

By the Rev. Paul S. Kramer, Ph.D.
Professor at Seabury-Western Seminary

EVERY confirmed churchman is familiar with two of the three Creeds of the Church, the Apostles', and the Nicene. Many are not aware there is also a third, the Athanasian.

Few Churchmen, however, as they repeat the Creed at the regular services of the Church, week after week, realize how closely the story of the beginnings and development of the Creeds is linked to the very history of the Church itself.

The Apostles' Creed grew out of the answers given by the candidates for baptism in the early Church to the three simple questions asked them before immersion. Does the candidate believe in the Father? In the Son? In the Holy Ghost?

In the early days when Christianity was underground, great stress was laid upon the secrecy of the Creed. For this reason the true growth of the Apostles' Creed cannot be traced. Whenever it was written it was only in paraphrase. Because of this need for secrecy the Creed soon became known as a Symbol (from the Latin, symbolum, meaning watchword).

In those days when Christians were in constant fear of persecution and it was against the Roman law, to say the least, to hold or participate in Christian worship, it was important to have a watchword, a password, by which the true believers could be identified.

Tradition has it that each of the Apostles contributed an article to the twelve-point Apostles' Creed, but this is pious legend. All we can say is that the Creed just grew, for during those early centuries it existed only in the oral tradition. For many centuries it was the custom of the catechumens (the learners) to leave the service of Holy Communion before the Creed, that is, at the conclusion of the reading of the Gospel.

In 750 A. D. Writings

THE Apostles' Creed precisely as we have it in our Prayer Book today, it first found in the writings of Pirminius, about the year 750 A. D. It is believed this Creed, as preserved by Pirminius, was built from the ancient creed of Marcellus, Bishop of Ancyra. In 341 Marcellus, defending his orthodoxy in a letter to Julius, the Bishop of Rome, wrote that this Apostles' Creed represented the faith he "had been taught" by his forefathers in God "out of the sacred Scriptures" and which he had himself "been accustomed to preach."

Thus the Apostles' Creed was used for instructional purposes and as a baptismal confession of faith by the early Church. However, as the Church grew, it became apparent it would have to limit its definitions of faith more precisely to bring consistency of thought and belief into Christianity and to defend itself against rising heresies. Thus the second century A. D. saw the beginning of the use of creeds as a defense against heresy as well as a baptismal formula.

To combat heretical doctrines which were causing controversy within the Church, the Councils of the Church formulated more precise definitions of faith. Creeds arising from these Councils are called conciliar creeds.

Nicene Creed

ONE of these, our present Nicene Creed, was a summary of Christian doctrine for the defense against heresy, and also a summary of faith to be imparted to learners and as a guide for the teachers. It has been said that the Apostles' Creed was for the learners, while the new creeds, like the Nicene, were for bishops. The Creed thus became no longer strictly the laymen's confession of faith but also the test of orthodoxy among the Episcopate.

While the Nicene Creed as it appears in our Prayer Book today gets its name from the first General Council of the Church held in Nicea in 325, it was not the creed declared official at this Council. Its name is an historical accident.

It happened this way: In 381 A. D., some 58 years after the Council of Nicea, Cyril, Bishop of Jerusalem, was accused of heresy. In defense he produced the creed used at Jerusalem to prove that he agreed with the official teaching of Nicea. This official teaching had defined precisely the relationship of the Father to the Son in order to combat the heretical teaching of Arius who maintained that there was a time when the Son was not. It was to rule out a kind of unitarianism that the Council of Nicea acted.

The Creed of Cyril was declared orthodox and during the next 70 years came to be regarded as the original Creed of Nicea. It was to be recognized as official by the Fourth General Council at Chalcedon in 451 and has been called the Nicene Creed throughout the Church ever since.

Athanasian Creed

THE Athanasian Creed is a private confession of faith which was first used in the Church as an instruction. From an early time it was in high favor in the monosteries as a subject for meditation and memorization. With the revival of Church music under Charlemagne it came into use as a canticle and was placed in the Office of Prime. In the first Prayer Book of 1549 it was directed that it should be "sung or said" after the Benedictus at the greater Feasts.

In the strictest sense it is not a creed at all, for it stands in no relation to the baptismal formula nor is it the product of counciliar action. It is a hymn or canticle about the Creed.

In the minds of those who framed it, it was never meant to compete with a Baptismal or Eucharistic Creed. It was placed at the end of the Psalms in early service books and not as an alternative for the Apostles' Creed.

This private creed has lived on simply because it is a hymn about a creed. Its authorship is debated among scholars. It is not in our Prayer Book today but can be found in private devotional books.

Thus we find that the three Creeds of today grew for varied reasons. They were for instructional purposes, as baptismal confessions of faith, for defense against heresy and to bring consistency of thought into Christianity.

Season of Advent

FEW of our Church people realize the full meaning of the Advent Season. The word "advent" means, of course, "coming to"; and most of us think of that as referring only to the coming of Christ at Christmas. It does, certainly, refer to Christmas and the birth of Christ at that time. But it is more than just that.

Look at the content of the Advent Collects: the four collects appointed by the Book of Common Prayer have for their subjects, (1) the first and second comings of our Lord; (2) the Divine coming in Holy Scripture; (3) the coming of John Baptist who announced the approach of our Lord, and the preparation to be made by the Christian ministry for His second advent; (4) our Lord's present coming to the hearts and lives of men.

These indicate clearly that the season of Advent calls upon each of us to think not only about the approach of the Christmas season, but also about the other "comings" of our Lord. For this reason, Advent is somewhat penitential in character. We must be ready and prepared, just as the Lenten season calls upon us to prepare for the Easter victory. It is not, however, as penitential in character as is Lent. But it is to be regarded, according to the more ancient view, as a time of vigilance, expectation, hope and rejoicing, in regard to our Lord's first coming to save; and of heart-searching and penitence, in regard to His second coming to judge the world.

APPOINTMENT OF DEAN OF THE CATHEDRAL

The Reverend James A. Pike, J.S.D., now Chaplain of Columbia University, will become Dean of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, New York City, early in the new year. At their meeting on October 30th, Bishop Donegan nominated Chaplain Pike to the Cathedral Trustees, who confirmed it unanimously.

The Cathedral has been without a dean since 1942, when Dr. James P. DeWolfe resigned to accept election as Bishop of Long Island. Since that time the Bishop of New York (successively the Right Rev. William T. Manning, the Right Rev. Charles K. Gilbert, Retired, and Bishop Donegan) has acted as Dean.

Background

Dr. Pike was born in Oklahoma City in 1913. He received the A.B. degree at the University of Southern California in 1934 and the LL.B. there in 1936. The J.S.D. he received from Yale in 1938, and the B.D. from Union Theological Seminary. He was Sterling Fellow at Yale Law School, 1936-1937.

He is a member of the California Bar, the Bar of the United States Supreme Court, and the Bar of the District of Columbia Court of Appeals.

Ordained deacon in 1944 and priest in 1946, he has served as assistant at St. John's Church, Washington, D. C., on the faculty of the General Theological Seminary, New York, as rector of Christ Church, Poughkeepsie, and since 1949 as chaplain at Columbia University.

During World War II, before his ordination, he served first in the Office of Naval Intelligence, then as attorney for the U. S. Maritime Commission and War Shipping Administration.

He is a member of several boards and committees in the Church for religious education.

Author of books and articles in the field of federal judicial and administrative procedure, his latest work is "The Faith of the Church," of which the Rev. Dr. Norman Pittenger, professor at General Theological Seminary, is co-author.

Dr. Pike is married and has four children.

In accordance with the Cathedral Statutes, the Dean is the executive head of the Cathedral, leading and coordinating the various branches of its work; he is the Chairman of the Cathedral Chapter, composed of the three Residentiary Canons and the Bursar; he is also ex-officio a Trustee of the Cathedral.

The three Residentiary Canons are: the Canon Pastor, responsible for pastoral and spiritual ministrations to all who ask such help at the Cathedral; the Canon Sacrist oversees the preparations for all services and is the Master of Ceremonies upon all occasions; the Canon Precentor has charge of the music of the Cathedral and at the present time he is also Headmaster of the Cathedral Choir School; the Bursar, who is a layman, is the Treasurer's assistant and agent and has general supervision of the buildings and grounds.

ST. BARTHOLOMEW'S OVERPAYS QUOTA

St. Bartholomew's Church, Manhattan, has overpaid its missionary quota for 1951 by $8,838. The rector, the Rev. Anson Phelps Stokes Jr., stated that the parish did not feel that quotas were meant to limit the amount a parish should contribute if it was able to do more and, finding itself able to exceed its quota, St. Bartholomew's has made this extra contribution as evidence of its concern for the Church missionary program.

DEDICATION OF Y. C. S. CHAPEL

The Rt. Rev. Horace W. B. Donegan will dedicate the newly refurnished Chapel of the Youth Consultation Service at their headquarters in Manhattan, 27 West 25th Street on Thursday, December 13th at four o'clock in the afternoon.

CHRISTMAS COMES TO ST. LUKE'S HOSPITAL

"There's Mother's Day and Father's Day. When is Children's Day?" a little girl recently asked. "Why, Christmas Day," her mother replied, which satisfied the child completely.

Like the small patients below at St. Luke's Hospital, it is the children who look eagerly for the coming of the great day, who believe in it with unquestioning faith. It is the children for whom the adults most lovingly plan for Christmas. But no one, old or young, is neglected in Christmas plans at St. Luke's. The Director, Dr. Lloyd H. Gaston, has once again asked Chaplain Otis R. Rice to be chairman of the Christmas committee, on which every department is represented.

The spirit of Christmas invades the hospital each year, beginning about the middle of December. It is impossible not to feel a lift of the heart as the dear familiar carols float through the corridors. Choirs from the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, St. Thomas Church, St. Paul's Chapel of Columbia University and other choirs and glee clubs take part in the program of music. This culminates in Christmas Eve caroling through the hospital, by doctors, nurses and other staff members, followed by midnight celebration of the Holy Communion in the Hospital Chapel, and a full schedule of services the following day. These include:

CHRISTMAS DAY

6:30 a. m.—Holy Communion in the Chapel

7:00 a. m.—Administration of the Holy Communion throughout the Hospital

9:00 a. m.—Carols and Prayers in the Children's Wards

10:00 a. m.—Holy Communion and Greeting in the Chapel

12:00 noon—Intercessions in the Chapel

All members of the Hospital Family are invited to take part in these services.

St. Luke's practically becomes one giant Christmas card in the week before the day. Anyone who can paint has a chance to decorate windows and glass doors with their own version of Christmas greetings, and there is much friendly competition.

A number of Manhattan churches send gifts from their manger services, to the great happiness of boys and girls in the hospital's wards and clinics. Members of the hospital staff bring gifts for young patients to their annual Christmas tea. There are various staff parties, dances for the student nurses, a special Christmas dinner for everyone on duty that day. Frequently people whose families are away, volunteer for special service on Christmas Day.

More than one patient who has had to be in the hospital at that time has later written to say,

"My Christmas at St. Luke's was one of the happiest I ever spent."

BISHOP OF GUINEA AT CATHEDRAL

The Right Rev. Philip N. W. Strong, Bishop of New Guinea (South-west Pacific), was the preacher on Sunday, November 11.

Bishop Strong, graduate of Cambridge University, England, after work in several English parishes, was consecrated Bishop of the Anglican Diocese of New Guinea in 1936.

American and Australian armed forces, seeking to land in New Guinea after its invasion by the Japanese in World War II, were amazed to find what looked at first like wild, dangerous, curly headed black natives, were actually good Anglican Christians, who succored the wounded in every possible way, so that the white soldiers, sailors, and marines called them the "Fuzzy-Wuzzy Angels."

After the destruction, rape, and murder which marked the Japanese campaign and their defeat, the Mission was rebuilt only to suffer devastating havoc and death when the Mt. Lamington Volcano exploded January 21, 1951, spreading death for eight miles around, and wiping out schools, hospitals and mission stations.

Bishop Strong is in the United States seeking money with which to rebuild that which has been destroyed.

GIRL SCOUTS' SERVICE

The Girl Scouts of Greater New York attended a Special Service in the Cathedral held in their behalf at 4 o'clock on Sunday, October 28th. This was done by invitation of the Bishop and under the auspices of the Girl Scouts' Council. Preceding the Service, a Procession of the Scouts, bearing their flags and banners, was formed at the Synod House and marched up

CANON SPARKS BLESSING FLAGS

Amsterdam Avenue to the Great West Doors of the Cathedral and thence into the Cathedral to places reserved for them. A colorful feature was the Massing and Blessing of the flags and banners before the High Altar, after which all the Scouts recited in unison their promise: "On my honor, I will try: to do my duty to God and my country, to help other people at all times, to obey the Girl Scout Laws."

NEWS FROM THE CONVOCATIONS

RAMAPO

The Dean and Council meets for Holy Communion at Grace Church, Nyack, the first Thursday of each month at 7 a.m., with a meeting afterwards. At the last meeting, the following were elected to fill out unexpired terms: Mr. A. C. Whritner, Christ Church, Suffern, lay representative to the Board of Managers; Mr. G. H. Ross, Grace Church, Nyack, lay member of the council; and the Rev. Howard Malcom, representative to the Commission on Christian Social Relations.

The Rev. Robert Gay retired as Rector of Grace Church, Port Jervis, as of December 1, and the Rev. Earl S. Gilley retired as Rector of Grace Church, Middletown, as of Nov. 1.

Grace Church, Nyack, commemorated its 90th birthday in October with a bazaar and special services. About $2000 was realized from bazaar.

St. Stephen's Church, Pearl River, discovered from the personal diary of an old former member that the cornerstone had been laid 74 years ago on October 13, 1877, by Bishop Horatio Potter. The mission is taking steps to move toward self-support and parish status. Mr. Moss Armistead, a diocesan Field Officer, was the speaker at the Men's Corporate Communion on Advent Sunday.

Christ Church, Suffern, which has been discussing the need of changes and improvements for 25 years, now has Vestry approval for a $52,000 enlargement program for Church, Parish House, and Rectory.

St. Paul's Church, Spring Valley, had a successful fair on Nov. 6, realizing over $400. On November 25 a special choir of 25 voices sang the Thanksgiving cantata, "Seedtime and Harvest."

St. John's Church, New City, have new, long needed, church lighting fixtures planned.

Bishop Strong thrilled his listeners with the story of the Christian heroism and fortitude of the Papuans of his diocese both during the war and the more recent volcanic eruption there.

Laymen to Laywomen

"The Laymen's Part in the Life of the Church" was the topic of Mr. Walter Buel Potts' talk at the Diocesan meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary to the National Council, held at the Synod House on October 30th. Mr. Potts, a member of St. James' parish, Manhattan, is one of the key laymen to be given special training under the Presiding Bishop's plan to enlist all men in a more active part in the Church's program—both Diocesan and National. The members of the Woman's Auxiliary welcomed this opportunity to learn directly of the laymen's approach to the common purpose.

RICHMOND

Sunday, October 28th, marked the completion of 15 years service as rector of St. Stephen's Church, Tottenville, by the Rev. Raymond E. Brock. The following night about 400 attended a reception for

The following hymns ranked highest in the vote which was taken at Christ Church, Tarrytown:

1. Onward Christian Soldiers
2. Dear Lord and Father of Mankind
3. O Master Let Me Walk With Thee
4. Jesus Calls Us
5. The Church's One Foundation

St. Peter's School

The completed Bishop Gilbert Field House was dedicated by Bishop Donegan on Thursday, December 6, at four o'clock. Many clergy were present for the occasion. Canon West was Master of Ceremonies.

A reception for Bishop Gilbert was held in the Study Hall immediately after the exercises.

MANHATTAN

At 6:30 p. m. on October 25th the 247 delegates and guests sat down in the parish hall of St. Bartholomew's Church to a roast beef dinner. At the meeting later which was presided over by the Bishop, at least 50 more attended. In all 47 parishes, missions, and chapels were represented. Dean Hall expressed his thanks for the excellent attendance which exceeded that of any previous meeting of the convocation.

The Rev. Otis Rice, Chaplain of St. Luke's Hospital, spoke on "The Church's role in Civilian Defense."

The Rev. John Bell reported on the progress of the Social Research Study. Bishop Boynton spoke of a new emphasis at St. Edward's Church, Manhattan, a Church soon to be turned over to the Diocese for work with the large Puerto Rican population in that area. The Rev. Moran Weston then presented a resolution to the Convocation asking the Convocation to raise $3,000 per year to help support this work. After some discussion, Mr. Finch, of St. Bartholomew's, amended the motion limiting such support to 5 years. The amendment was accepted and the resolution passed with little opposition.

The Rev. John Mulligan presented a resolution protesting the appointment of a Vatican Ambassador, which passed.

St. James

At the last meeting of the Wardens and Vestry of St. James' Church a new By-Law was adopted concerning rotation and retirement. Henceforth, Wardens will be eligible for election for three consecutive terms of two years; Vestrymen for two consecutive terms of three years. After a maximum term of six years' consecutive duty, an interval of one year must elapse before eligibility for re-election is established—with the exception that a Vestryman is always eligible for election as a Warden. Combined with this new provision is the stipulation that neither Wardens nor Vestrymen will be eligible for election after their 73rd birthday—although they may complete the remainder of their elected term after having reached that age.

To our knowledge, this combined action sets a new precedent for large churches of this metropolitan area.

St. John's, Larchmont Exceeds Budget

The every member campaign for the 1952 budget for St. John's Church, Larchmont, including the Program quota, has gone nearly $6,000 over the top. At its December meeting the vestry voted a voluntary contribution to the Church's Program of $900 in addition to the regular quota.

The additional gift to the Church's Program was made in the hope that it might inspire other congregations of the Diocese to meet or exceed their quotas so that the heart-breaking cuts which have had to be made in the allocation of funds to beneficiary organizations will no longer be necessary.

Subscriptions to the Larchmont parish for 1952 show an increase of over 17% above the totals pledged the year before. The average subscription increased from $69 to $81.

The method used is as follows: no one is solicited by mail except the few who have indicated that they do not want a personal visit. All other families are visited, enough canvassers being enlisted so that each one has no more than four calls to make. Each vestryman and warden acts as a team captain and takes over if one of his canvassers fails to make his calls. Under this system since 1940 the pledged income of the parish has increased from $16,000 to $48,000.

Conference on Education Program Of Woman's Auxiliary

Wednesday, February 20 is the day selected for the Diocesan Conference on the Educational Program of the Woman's Auxiliary. The meeting will be held at the Church of the Incarnation, 209 Madison Ave., beginning at 11 o'clock.

The mission study aspect of the program will be presented by the Dean of Holy Trinity Cathedral, Porto Algere, Brazil, the Very Rev. Jesse K. Appel, who will speak on "Brazilian Destiny" and by a speaker on the work in this Diocese with Puerto Rican residents of the city.

The study of The Church's Teachings which is being stressed especially by the Woman's Auxiliary will be presented by Professor Virginia Harrington of Barnard.

THE BISHOP'S MESSAGE

THE mails at Christmas brought many affectionate greetings and good wishes to the Bishop's House. I wish that all the cards could be acknowledged with a personal message. I cannot manage that but I want you to know of my deep appreciation of each and every Christmas remembrance.

We are now in the season of Epiphany which began on January sixth, twelve days after Christmas. Shakespeare's play "Twelfth Night" was written for the Epiphany festivities in the time of Queen Elizabeth. The familiar and picturesque story of the three wise men representing different races and nations, the guiding star, and the Infant Redeemer signify the universality of Christianity, and the unity of all who acknowledge Christ as King and Saviour.

Sixty years ago this month the first religious service was held on the grounds of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine. How appropriate it was that this first service, conducted by Bishop Henry Codman Potter, took place near Epiphany season for the Cathedral in its very nature is a symbol of Church unity. It speaks to us of God the Father of us all Who has made of one blood all nations of men to dwell on the whole earth, in Whose family there is to be neither Jew nor Greek, Barbarian nor Scythian, Bond or Free, for all are to be one in Christ Jesus. Above all other buildings a Cathedral is for all who will come and worship within its walls.

Through the years the Cathedral has been a rallying center for Christians of many different names. Great ecumenical services have been held in the cause of Christian fellowship. Again and again there have been missionary gatherings to further the worldwide purpose of Christianity. Every year the Cathedral is made available for community, patriotic and civic services. No one will ever forget the Mission led by Canon Bryan Green which brought thousands of men and women to this great Christian shrine. As the founders envisioned our Cathedral offers an equal welcome to all who wish to come and worship within its walls. Here believers lose sight of their denominational differences in the great fellowship of their faith in Christ Who came into the world to show us the way of justice, brotherhood, and love.

God bless you in the New Year and inspire us all to a firmer faith in Jesus Christ, and a deeper resolve to be about Our Father's business.

The Fact of the Epiphany

By

The Rev. Robert E. Terwilliger, Ph. D.

Rector of Christ Church, Poughkeepsie
Chaplain to Episcopal Faculty and Students at Vassar College

THE feast of the Epiphany bears witness to the fact of the Epiphany—God manifests Himself in Christ!

We are accustomed to think of this festival as the celebration of the visit of the Wise Men from the East. It comes with something of a shock to discover that this commemoration is a peculiarity of Western Christianity. The Eastern Church at this time remembers the Baptism of Jesus in the Jordan River, and coming of the Voice from heaven, "This is My Beloved Son." Christians have kept it as the day of the first miracle of our Lord at the wedding feast in Cana. Such traditions are reflected in the Prayer Book where these stories find a place in the Gospels of Epiphanytide together with others declaring that Jesus is the Son of God. The tale of the Magi is only one way of expressing the Christian faith in God's manifestation of Himself in Christ. It is important to realize that this truth is not just romantic legend, but a fact. It is a fact which we encounter in three aspects. The Epiphany occurs in the life of Christ; in the Church; and in the end of history.

Life of Christ

The Epiphany occurs in the Life of Christ. There is a paradox in the coming of Christ, the contrast of His humility and His glory, of His incognito and His manifestation. At Christmas we are very much aware of the secret mystery of the Nativity. There is no room at the inn. He was born in a stable.

How silently, how silently,
The wondrous gift is given!

But what is to come is foreshadowed even in the Holy Night. Immediately the Incarnation becomes Gospel. The angel gives the saving message to the shepherds. The pilgrimage of faith begins, and men behold Him. Wise Men will come from the East.

But the Christ of the Epiphany is not just the Christ of the crib. Nor is He only the Christ of Jordan, of Cana, the Christ of wonders. He is above all the Christ of the Cross and the Resurrection. He is the Whole Christ. His manifestation is ever Epiphany—The Shining Forth—for He is the light of the world.

To the Christian of the First Century light was a powerful symbol. The Belief was strong in his day that the meaning of things lay in the conflict of Light with Darkness. But he knew that the battle had already been won. Christ was Victor. By His Cross and Passion; by His precious Death and Burial; by His glorious Resurrection and Ascension, He had delivered man. The Light had conquered darkness. Epiphany was a present experience; the Christian must walk in that Light.

The Church

The Epiphany occurs in the Church. The manifestation of Christ brought the Church into being. The very word for "Church" in the Greek New Testament declares this fact. EKKLESIA means a company brought together by a summons. It has congregated to see and hear some wondrous thing. This is, of course, what happened, what always happens, when the Church begins. Summoned by the Gospel, we behold Christ made manifest. We perpetually experience His Epiphany among us in Word and Sacrament. This becomes vivid through the course of the Christian Year. This is no mere recollection of Jesus; it is living through His life with Him. As the great Orthodox theologian, Sergius Bulgakoff has put it:

> It (the Christian Year) is not merely a commemoration of the events of the Gospel or other events of the Church's life in artistic form. It is also the actualization of these facts. The Christmas service does not merely commemorate the birth of Christ. It is Christ truly born in a mystery, as at Easter He rises again . . . The Lord still lives in the Church, under the same form in which He was once manifest on earth, and which exists eternally; and it is the function of the Church to make those sacred memories living, so that we may again witness and take part in them.

But the Epiphany in the Church is a matter of its effect in the world as well as in its internal life. The might of the Epiphany has been revealed in the transformation of individuals, even of whole cultures. When Christ has been manifest the course of history has been changed. Think of what happened in Italy. Contrast Virgil and Dante; Marcus Aurelius and Pascal; Julius Caesar and St. Francis. The natural capacities for creativity are released in men by the power of Christ: art is born anew, and even gaiety, while men grow wise and strong.

The Epiphany is ever at work in the world. This is the hope of history. Restoring power breaks forth wherever Christ is manifest. Never by anxious planning and fearful effort has the salvation of civilization been accomplished. It will not be so today. Christ shall make Himself known where He will, but strangely He does this through us. The witness of the Church, the mission of the Church —with us, the Program of the Church — these are agents of Epiphany, agents of hope. But this hope is not bounded by this world.

End of History

The Epiphany occurs in the end of history. In the phrase of Bishop Wordworth's hymn, Christians expect the "Great Epiphany". How can we think of Christ as the Light without some thought of its ultimate meaning, of His final conquest of the Darkness? This was the figure He Himself used of His coming: "As the lightning cometh out of the east, and shineth even unto the west; so shall the coming of the Son of man be."

What can we make of these things? For a long time Christians have ignored this part of the Gospel. It was too disturbing. Thus they gave its interpretation over to strange cults. But all of a sudden what the Gospel says about the End seems to have a peculiar relevance to our situation. For years we persisted in the happy illusion of the inevitability of progress. This has been shattered by the threat of destruction. In the crisis of our time Christian thought has turned again to the teaching of the Great Epiphany. There has been a rediscovery of the truth of the ancient Christian expectation. Not that it is to be taken with crude literalism again, but that we learn again that God can fulfill His purpose in spite of man as well as through him, that we learn again that Christ is the Lord of history.

We do not have the answers to all of our questions. Will He come within history or beyond history? Is this another way of talking about heaven? What would be the meaning of the destruction of civilization in these terms? We have our Lord's own warning against too great inquisitiveness about the details: "Of that day and that hour knoweth no man, no, not the angels which are in heaven, neither the Son, but the Father."

The Great Epiphany is God's secret, and God's purpose. When, how, where—these are not our questions. But this we know, that God reigns. Nuclear fission cannot prevent the manifestation of Christ. As the lightning shineth so shall He cleave the darkness of the world, and we shall see Him face to face.

What Is God Like?

IN the pages of the Old Testament we have the story of how God revealed Himself to men. Beginning with Moses, the great lawgiver, the idea of God slowly grew and developed. The prophet Amos told the Israelites that Jehovah is righteous; Isaiah preached of the All-powerful One; Hosea showed that He is forgiving and long-suffering. Finally in Psalm 139, the author feels the "Allness" and "Everywhereness" of God.

This slow process of God's revealing Himself is wonderful to understand. But the human mind, if it is to grasp unseen Reality, needs tangible symbols as aids. A birthday gift, carefully selected, is a symbol of the love of a man for a woman. In life as it is lived, it is of little use, generally speaking, to present ideals in an abstract way. "Outward and visible signs" are necessary to show unseen meanings. The artist uses his canvas and his paint; the musician uses a series of established signs; the poet uses words cast in harmonious form; the philosopher writes his books.

The visible universe is such an expression. Its order expresses mind and law; its beauty expresses creativeness—the artist's mind. But these actually do not tell us "what God is"; they only tell us "about God". St. John says "God is love", but at once there arises the difficulty of understanding "what" love is. Herein we come face to face with the central claim of Christianity. God (Love), it is stated, "took upon Him the form of a servant and was made in the likeness of men."

He came a Babe to demonstrate, for human hearts, Love's conquest by helplessness and dependence. He lived in the home at Nazareth to demonstrate Love's beauty in human family relationships. He lived His human life of compassion and healing to demonstrate Love's power to soothe the sorrowing and "bind up the broken-hearted". He lived unspotted in a world of sin and wrong to demonstrate Love's purity and courage. He died on the Cross to reveal the very heart of Love, and He rose again to show Love's mastery over sin and death.

From cradle to cross, from cross to Easter Day, He, "The Word Made Flesh", lived in the flesh the life of love, the life of God. When men, therefore, ask what God is like, we point to Jesus Christ, Who said, "He that hath seen Me hath seen the Father". This is the Christmas revelation—the message of hope and love and redemption.

Archdeacon's Corner

THE ministry of pastoral calling is an indispensable part of every priest's life and the results are always gratifying. The "door-bell-pushing" parson does mean a growing, and a grateful, congregation.

When parishioners are spread over a large area, proper coverage presents many problems. Several vicars serving the mission field of the Diocese travel hundreds of miles in the course of a month. Even though our people in rural areas contribute generously their gifts are not adequate to provide for necessary travel. Hence, travel allowances are a vital part of the budget of the Board of Managers of our Missionary society. To send a priest into a field without proper provision for coverage is the equivalent of sending out a workman without his tools.

Typical of the problems facing many of the missionary clergy is that which is the daily experience of the Rev. Kenneth Drescher. His field spreads over the northeast corner of Dutchess County with Churches at Dover Plains, Amenia Union and Pine Plains. His parishioners live in an area of roughly 300 square miles. Indeed some reside in the Diocese of Albany and many come from Connecticut. To maintain an effective Sunday service program he has some assistance but the weekly responsibility for organizational activity, pastoral calling, hospital visitations, etc., is all his! It is not surprising to learn that he has driven some 20,000 miles in the past eight months. Such pastoral work is reflected in the monthly reports sent to the Diocesan Office, increased attendance at services, increased contributions, increases in Sunday School enrollments, increases in baptisms and confirmations.

The work of our Missionaries in the Diocese of New York is no less glamorous than that of priests in missions overseas. We are justly proud of this loyal corps of devoted men. —George F. Bratt.

Dr. John Heuss to Head Trinity Church

The Rev. John Heuss, D.D., was elected Rector of Trinity Parish, New York, at a vestry meeting December 10th, it was announced by Dr. Stephen F. Bayne, senior warden. Dr. Heuss will be the thirteenth Rector of one of New York's oldest churches, succeeding the Rev. Frederic S. Fleming, D.D., who retired October 1st, 1951, because of illness.

Since 1947 Dr. Heuss has been Director of the Department of Christian Education of the Episcopal Church. It has been his task to lead the work of developing the Church's new curriculum, from pre-school through adult grades, and he has already laid the foundations for church school material that may well revolutionize all thinking about Christian education. In his Greenwich, Conn., headquarters nearly fifty persons are at work on the problems of education in the Church.

Because of Dr. Heuss's heavy responsibilities in the Christian Education program, no date has been announced for his institution as Rector of Trinity Parish. It is expected that this will not take place until the National Council of the Episcopal Church appoints his successor as Director of Christian Education.

The Rev. Joseph Summerville Minnis, D.D., Vicar of the Chapel of the Intercession, Trinity Parish, Broadway and 155th Street, in addition to his duties there has been acting as Assistant to the Rector and will continue in this capacity until the newly-elected Rector assumes his duties.

Office of Secretary Of Convention

The office of the Secretary of Convention and Registrar of the Diocese is now located in Diocesan House, 1047 Amsterdam Avenue, New York 25, N.Y. Please address all communications to the Rev. Lawrence B. Larsen at this address.

Inside the Supply Department Of Woman's Auxiliary

The Diocesan Meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary to be held on Tuesday, February 5 at 10:30 at Synod Hall will present a program prepared by its Supply Department. "Inside the Supply Department".

In these days when it is so much easier to reach the attention of most people through visual rather than auditory means, the Supply Department will show the scope of its work in three scenes. These scenes will depict the progress of a garment from the bolt of material in the cutting room, through the parish sewing room, until in its completed form it reaches the mission for which it is intended. The Department hopes in this way to make more vivid to many of our women the detail of its work and to encourage them to help in it.

Last year the Supply Department worked both at its cutting room in Diocesan House, and also in many parish sewing groups throughout the Diocese to provide garments and surgical dressings needed in missions of the Church overseas and in this country. Seventeen institutions in the Diocese were provided with clothing and housekeeping linens as a result of this work, thus helping in a practical way with their budgets.

NEWS FROM THE CONVOCATIONS

MANHATTAN

The Autumn Rally of the Manhattan Convocation of the Young People's Fellowship was held on Sunday, November 25, at St. Peter's Church, Chelsea. The service of Evensong was taken by Edward Oestertag, a Senior at the General Theological Seminary, and the Rev. Percy L. Urban, rector. Following Evensong, there were three short talks on a Rule of Life. The first, on the Value of Daily Prayers, was given by Miss June Denham, Convocation Treasurer, from All Angels' Church; the second, on the Value of Church Attendance, by Frank Prescod, of St. Philip's Church; and the third, on a Rule of Life, by the Rev. Dr. C. A. Simpson, of General Seminary. There was dancing in the parish house after the service, and the Rev. Dudley Cobham of St. Philip's gave an exhibition of magic and sleight-of-hand. More than 175 persons were present from Manhattan parishes.

CALVARY

The Committee on Arrangements, headed by Calvary's Rector, the Rev. Samuel Moor Shoemaker, D. D., S. T. D., are planning for a Parish Mission to be conducted by Canon Quintin Warner, B.A., B.D., of London, Ontario, at Calvary Episcopal Church, 4th Avenue and 21st Street, New York City, on January 20-27, 1952.

It is the intention that this Mission should be community wide and it is hoped that all churches in the neighborhood will participate in and benefit by it.

Canon Warner, widely known for his work as director of the "spiritual clinic" in his home city, also is warden of Calvary Clergy School which will hold its mid-winter conference during the first three days of the Mission.

Serving on the Arrangements Committee with Dr. Shoemaker are Co-Chairman William Deatly, the Rev. Clare Backhurst, Associate Rector of Calvary Church and Colonel Arthur Wolff, Vestry delegate.

GRACE CHURCH

The second annual "Artists at Work" Benefit for the Scholarship Fund of Grace Church School is scheduled for Saturday, January 19th at 2 P.M. This demonstration is put on each year by the members of the Catherine Lorillard Wolfe Art Club in connection with their Annual Exhibition, and this year will be held in the Barbizon-Plaza Art Gallery, 58th and 6th Avenue.

While the audience watches a painter and a sculptor will make portraits of two Grace Church School students. Martha Moore Burnett, winner of the club's portrait prize last year, will paint Nora Mitchell; and Nell Van Hook, 1949's winning portraitist, will model a bas-relief of John Tauranac, both 8th grade pupils.

Original painting by Sara Boal and Helen I. McVickar will be donated as Grace Church School Scholarship Fund prizes. Tickets to the demonstration period will be 25 cents. The public is cordially invited to attend.

On the last day of the exhibition another demonstration is scheduled. Nell Witters, Nell Boardman and Emily Barto will paint a still life subject while the spectators watch. A painting by Helen Bower will be the prize for this day which is dedicated to the club's Prize Fund. This demonstration will be at the Barbizon-Plaza Gallery at 2 P.M. also.

Mrs. Eleanor Gay Lee, president of the Catherine Lorillard Wolfe Art Club, explained that the club members have been meeting at Grace Church ever since the club was organized in 1896 by Dr. William Reed Huntington, then rector of the church, and Mrs. E. E. Newell, a church member who organized a similar group in Paris. Members of the art club are of various faiths, as are the pupils of Grace Church School.

Originally a choir school for boys, the school has responded to the community need and has widened its scope to take girls as well, but in order to enroll all who wish to come, additional funds are needed for the granting of scholarships.

"It is to help raise these needed funds that our club, so long a beneficiary of Grace Church, has pledged itself", Mrs. Lee said.

DR. SHOEMAKER RESIGNS

The Rev. Samuel Moor Shoemaker, D.D., S.T.D., Rector of Calvary Episcopal Church, 4th Avenue and 21st St., New York City, has accepted the call to become Rector of Calvary Episcopal Church, Shady and Fifth Avenues, Pittsburgh, Penna. His resignation, after twenty-six years as rector of Calvary, New York, will take effect the last of March.

BRONX

One hundred vestrymen and "key men" were present at their Annual Dinner on December 5th, in the Bronx. The Bishop of the Diocese, Mr. Ted Gannaway, and Mr. Wynn Bussman, were the speakers.

The Rev. Thomas Lee Brown, St. Peter's, Westchester, has become Chaplain to Episcopal students at Hunter College, Uptown Branch.

HUDSON

Sunday, November 25th was a red letter day at Trinity Church, Saugerties. Bishop Boynton was there, also Dean Tongue and many other clergy of the Hudson Convocation to assist in rededicating the newly decorated church and parish hall, together with many memorials. The church was filled to overflowing with parishioners and friends of the parish. After the service the Rector, the Rev. Peter Hill, invited all to a reception in the parish hall. There was great rejoicing, and no wonder . . . a two year project had been completed in six months!

The Dean and Council of Hudson Convocation met on November 16th in the new parish hall at Montgomery, New York; a surprise awaited them. Women of the Chapel Guild had prepared a scrumptuous dinner for them in honor of this meeting, the first of its kind ever to be held at St. Andrew's Chapel.

Until recently the Diocese shook its head sadly over the expected demise of another parish, All Saints, Rosendale. Now the invalid is recovering, under the leadership of the new vicar, the Rev. Charles Brieant, and shows amazing signs of vitality. The faithful parishioners with the aid of the Diocese are putting the property back into usable condition,

Men of St. Andrew's, Walden, have themselves fashioned and erected a new copper-sheathed wooden cross, seven feet high on the roof of their church, to replace the cross blown off in a severe wind storm. The cross is of native oak and weighs 300 pounds.

The new rector of St. John's Church, Monticello, the Rev. Harold Thompson, was formally installed in his parish by Bishop Donegan on Wednesday evening, November 21st.

Seventeen clergy of Hudson and Dutchess Convocations were the guests of the Rev. Frank Carruthers at a luncheon in honor of the Lord Bishop of New Guinea at St. George's, Newburgh, on November 14.

At least 120 young people from the Hudson Convocation made a pilgrimage to Holy Cross Monastery on a Sunday afternoon in November, under the leadership of the Rev. Robert Ward, youth advisor of the Convocation. Fr. Gill, O.H.C. told them of the Order's work in Liberia, and showed a movie with appropriate comment.

DUTCHESS

The Rt. Rev. Wlliam Havard, Bishop of St. David's, Wales, oldest See in the Anglican Communion, preached to a large congregation on Sunday, 11th, Nov. at Christ Church, Poughkeepsie. About fifteen clergy of the neighborhood, accompanied by members of their congregations, attended the service.

St. James' Church, Hyde Park, is to receive $1,000,000 under the will of the late Hetty Green Wilks, daughter of the eccentric woman financier, Hetty Green. Since the publication of an unfortunate news story stating that the parish did not need the money and wished to give it away, requests from money from all over the world have swamped the rector, the Rev. Gordon L. Kidd. Requests range from false teeth and hearing aids to dude ranches, but also include pleas for aid from about fifty struggling churches of all denominations.

WESTCHESTER

Christ Church, Tarrytown, and St. Mark's, N. Tarrytown, agreed last June to merge with the belief that together they could provide a more effective ministry to the community.

Negotiations were carried on for several months under the guidance of the Bishop and his committee. The legal phases of the merger were completed by the end of September. The rector of St. Mark's Church, The Reverend William T. Walsh retired from active service and the rector of Christ Church, The Reverend C. Kenneth Ackerman, became the rector of the newly consolidated parish.

The results of this step have exceeded the hopes of even the most optimistic. Attendance at church services has been greatly increased and a program of advancement has been set up for 1952 which it is hoped will be far more effective than any that either parish could have carried out alone.

As a result of this merger there is available for a deserving parish or mission several fine pieces of brass including processional crosses, altar crosses, candle sticks, etc. Those interested are requested to write to the rector.

CONVOCATION ENDORSES WORKSHOP

At the regular monthly luncheon meeting of the Convocation of Westchester held at the Roger Smith Hotel on Friday, December 14th, a resolution was passed urging all clergy and parishes to support the Workshop to be sponsored in February by the Commission on Social Relations.

The Dean, The Reverend Fenimore Cooper, stated that he hoped every rector and vicar in the Convocation would enthusiastically endorse this splendid project and urge their people to attend.

COMMITTEE ON PROGRAM OF CHURCH

On Tuesday, November 13th, the Convocation Committee on the Program of the Church held a most profitable meeting at St. Bartholomew's Church, White Plains, New York.

A very frank and constructive discussion took place concerning the problems of the Every Member Canvass and many helpful suggestions were offered on the use of literature in these campaigns.

Among the Associate Field Officers who spoke were Mr. George Burpee of Bronxville, Mr. Charles Bound of Mt. Kisco, Mr. Fred P. Page of New Rochelle and Mr. Hamlin Bosworth of Yonkers.

GENERAL THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

No budget these days is safe from the bite of inflation, and the Seminary is suffering from its share of financial stress and strain. This year, unless prices rise even higher, the cost per student will be $1,600. Of this amount, $650 will be charged to the student as tuition, and an equal amount will be provided by the Seminary's endowment. Scholarship aid will average more than $50 per student. This leaves a deficit of at least $350 for each student enrolled. To make good this sum, the Seminary is dependent upon gifts and offerings.

The preparation of a parish priest requires expert instruction and supervision. In addition to thorough academic training, he must have the practical experience gained from long-term and summer projects and field work.

This September, the Seminary's student enrollment was the largest in its history.

In addition, the Seminary provides instruction for 28 students enrolled at Windham House.

Seminary Sunday
On January 27th

The Diocesan Field Officers of laymen trained in the presentation of the Church's program have been asked to tell the story of the Seminaries. The talks will be given as a part of the Church-wide observance of Theological Education Sunday on January 27th. Realizing the vital necessity of obtaining seminary support to meet the acute shortage of Clergy which is a serious handicap to the advance of the Church, the laymen will bring a short but factual message of deep concern to those interested in this fundamental aspect of the Church's program. The Corps under the leadership of the Convocation Chairman will accept invitations to speak at services on the two Sundays previous to Theological Sunday. Congregations desiring the assignment of these laymen to their Parishes or Missions should contact the Chairman of the Convocation in which they are located.

SPEAKING OF INFLATION

Everyone is doing it, and some are worrying over what it will do to insurance plans.

At such a time as this it is good to remember that the cost of a policy with the Fund has not been raised since 1948. This makes our contracts the best value that money can buy. Rates still remain the lowest of any company in the land.

As for the future, whatever questions arise, the soundest advice is to put money in savings. A Fund policy can be considered as a means of protection and a program of savings.

COMMUNISM AND CHRIST

By Charles W. Lowry, Rector of All Saints' Church, Chevy Chase, Md.

"ONE OF THE puzzling questions of our time is what books to read among the multitude of printed words which come to our attention every year. It seems appropriate therefore, and indeed a part of my responsibility as Bishop of New York, not only to offer suggestions for reading, but more definitely to sponsor a book for our people. This book is the first of what I trust will be an annual series of 'Bishop of New York Books'" —from the Foreword by Bishop Donegan

COMMUNISM and CHRIST ought to be read by every Christian and agnostic in this country. Scholarly, yet highly readable, and completely realistic, it adequately handles the question of why communism appeals to more than half the people of the world. Against this menace of communism stands the whole of Christendom: Protestantism, Anglicanism and Roman Catholicism.

THE BISHOP'S MESSAGE

Soon after this issue of the Bulletin is published the great season of Lent will have begun. Lent calls us to be more faithful in our private devotions and our attendance at public worship, to deepen and revitalize our discipleship to our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. Lent is also a time for reading as a spiritual activity. The New Testament and the Book of Common Prayer will of course be your primary reading. There are no substitutes for the reading of God's word. There are no interpretations which are comparable to the "greatest story" as it is set forth in Holy Scripture. This is God's word for man; this is the story we need to read again and again.

We should also study and acquaint ourselves with the perennial relevance of the Gospel to current issues. In this direction we must turn our thoughts to modern interpretations of Christianity in terms of its direct bearing on present problems. Therefore I should like to recommend for your Lenten reading, "Communism and Christ" by the Rev. Charles W. Lowry, D.D., Rector of All Saints Church, Chevy Chase, Maryland.

This book issued by Morehouse-Gorham is the first of what I trust will be an annual series of "Bishop of New York Books." There is so much literature demanding our attention that it would seem appropriate, and a part of my responsibility, not only to offer suggestions for reading but more definitely to sponsor a book for our people. Part of the content of "Communism and Christ" was the subject matter of a series of sermons delivered in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York during the summer of 1951 with large numbers of university students in attendance.

Only a Clear Christian Can Conquer

We must seek to understand Communism; its strength and its weakness. We must know why it appeals to people all over the world. It is not enough to condemn what goes on behind the Iron Curtain. We must try to evaluate what goes on there. Communism will never be conquered by slogans, or propaganda, or atomic weapons. Rather in the Christian Faith are to be found the undefeatable ideas which are more than a match for the ideology of Communism. But here again it is not enough to be vague and nebulous about what we believe. We must understand more clearly the vast meaning and resources of our faith as followers of Christ.

Our Puerto Rican Work in New York

By Rt. Rev. Charles F. Boynton
Suffragan Bishop of New York

There is great rejoicing these days amongst the Puerto Ricans in Manhattan, and especially amongst those living in the neighborhood of the Church of St. Edward the Martyr, East 109th Street, for one of their very own has come from the Island of their birth to minister unto them.

FR. REUS

On February 1st, the Reverend Esteban Reus-Garcia began his new work as Assistant Priest on the staff of the Church of St. Edward the Martyr, of which the Reverend Drury L. Patchell is the Rector. He came at the invitation of the Bishop of New York to offer his long experience and his peculiar talents to the many Episcopalians of the Church in Puerto Rico who are now living in New York, and to all his fellow islanders who may well find their spiritual home in the Episcopal Church.

Final arrangements are even now being made between the Warden and Vestry of St. Edward the Martyr and the Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society for the transfer of the property and funds of the Parish Church to the Diocese. The newly formed Mission of which Fr. Patchell will be the Priest-in-Charge with Fr. Reus as Assistant, will develop the program particularly toward the care and nurture of the Puerto Ricans and West Indians who are identifying themselves in increasing numbers with St. Edward's, and to the spiritual, educational and social needs of the community.

Beautiful Church

Due to the generosity and vision of the late Commodore Elbridge E. Gerry and the Gerry family ever since 1904, and the faithful service of the five Rectors, Edward W. Neal, Percival L. Pyle, Alexander Frenchman, Leslie J. A. Lang, and Drury L. Patchell, the Diocese will receive a beautiful church, exquisitely appointed; a four-story fireproof community center, including a bowling alley, gymnasium, meeting rooms and clergy quarters, and two trust funds. It is a perfect plant for the needs and opportunities that the diocese is now ready to meet. Already there is a full-time community program in operation under the capable leadership of Mrs. Eva A. Crockett, sponsored by the Protestant Council of the City of New York. Already some 150 young people from the nearby Children's Center are coming to St. Edward's for their religious instruction. Already the part-time services of Miss Josephine Martin of Windham House are bearing much fruit in the Church School, and Girls' Work program. All this, over and above the varied and full program of Church services, Altar Guild, Acolytes' Guild, Boys' Clubs, choir and social work which Fr. Patchell has carried on so ably during his eight years as Rector. And all this is just a beginning of what is to come in the future.

Notable Ministry

The Diocese is proud of the past, present and unlimited future of St. Edward the Martyr, and thankful to all who have had a share in its work. And we welcome Fr. Reus as he comes to us after a most successful career of twenty-five years in Puerto Rico to climax his ministry amongst his own within the Diocese. Fr. Reus was one of the very first Puerto Ricans to answer the appeal of Bishop Colmore, second Bishop of Puerto Rico, for native sons to begin an indigenous ministry. Leaving an Insular Government post, he came to DuBose where he received his theological training, and then returned to found and foster rural missions, to serve as Priest-in-Charge of the largest church on the Island, Holy Trinity, Ponce, and later on to serve as the Archdeacon of San Juan and Executive Secretary to the Bishop. Perfectly bi-lingual, Fr. Reus has always been much loved by the large West Indian congregations in the Virgin Islands, whom he served on numerous occasions as a Supply Priest, as he is by his fellow Puerto Ricans. He is known to a countless number of Puerto Ricans and West Indians resident in New York, many of whom he baptized, trained and presented for Confirmation during his years as priest in the Islands. These are in the process of renewing their relationship with him, and these will bring others.

There will be perfect team-work at St. Edward the Martyr in the development of the new program. Fr. Patchell has demonstrated his great love for the people of the Islands as he has ministered to more and more of them in recent years, and in 1950 he visited Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands in order to be better acquainted with their background and customs. In June the Staff will be immeasurably strengthened when Mrs. Reus comes north to join her husband, bringing three of their children with her. She has always been a leader amongst the women of the Church's work in Puerto Rico and will be a great asset here. Fr. Reus and Mrs. Reus, as they sever their connections with the island of their birth to take up work in the island of their adoption, leave behind them several children, amongst them the Reverend Francisco Reus-Froylan, Priest-in-Charge of the Church of the Holy Family and Chaplain of the Agricultural School for Boys at St. Just—the first of the second generation of Puerto Rican clergy, and another son, Captain Johnnie Reus-Froylan, proud possessor of the Bronze Star and Oak Cluster, received for extraordinary heroism in the line of duty in Korea.

Our Cover

This is a painting from a series of illustrations of the first chapter of St. John's Gospel, "The Light Shineth in Darkness". The Bible is full of conflict between light and darkness. Here is pictured the Egyptian captivity when the Jews forgot their God and began to worship Egyptian gods. Moses at the burning bush recalled them and thus became a fore-teller of the Incarnate Word, who would reveal the Father to us. The painting is done by William deJ. Rutherford of the Church of the Resurrection, Manhattan.

Archdeacon's Corner

During the year just passed two Diocesan Missions became fully self-supporting, incorporated as Parishes, chose their Wardens and Vestrymen and called their first Rector. Early in the year the congregations of St. Ann's and Holy Comforter merged to become St. Alban's. Both the merger and the subsequent incorporation was accomplished under the inspired leadership of the Rev. Donald Cheetham. New people are added each week to the growing congregation and its program has received wide attention. Recently, Living for Young Homemakers magazine featured an illustrated article telling the story of St. Alban's and its wide awake young Rector.

Early in December, St. Mark's, Yonkers, became a Parish and called the Rev. Bertram J. Mortlock as its first Rector. During his ministry at St. Mark's Mr. Mortlock has seen his congregation grow from a handful of people to a communicant strength of 225. His excellently conducted Church School now numbers 166. Largely because of his untiring efforts a stone church was erected, a Rectory purchased and a new spacious Parish House built.

We are justly proud of our two young Parishes and of the men who serve them.

The Work of Surveying

The Social Research Study of Manhattan, the Bronx and Lower Westchester is now nearing completion after two years of intense work. While not a Survey in the strict sense of the word, almost every technique common to survey projects was used. The results are soon to be released and will be sent to every Parish and Mission in the area. —George F. Bratt

Installation of Dean

The Reverend Dr. James A. Pike will be installed as Dean of the Cathedral on Saturday, February 16th, at 3 P.M. This will follow the Pre-Lent Quiet Day for the Clergy of the Diocese, beginning that morning with a celebration of the Holy Communion at 10:30 o'clock. At an appropriate point in the Service, the Bishop will lead the congregation in prayer asking that the new Dean may serve faithfully, that he may dwell with his brethren in love and peace, and that he do all that lies in his power to further the interest of the Cathedral. Then the Dean-designate will make his declaration, affirming his faith, that he will diligently strive to perform the duties of his office, that he will promote the work of the Bishop and of the Church in the Diocese of New York, doing all that he can for the faithful ministration of Christ's Holy Word and Sacraments, and endeavoring in all things to walk in lowliness, patience and love. After this Declaration has been made, he will be escorted to the Dean's Stall and declared to be duly inducted therein with all the rights and duties pertaining to his office. Dean Pike will then address the congregation and the Bishop will dismiss them with his blessing.

Bishop Hatch to Conduct Quiet Day

The Rt. Rev. Robert McConnell Hatch, Suffragan Bishop of Connecticut, will conduct the third annual Quiet Day for women of the Diocese on Tuesday, March 4, from 10 to 3 o'clock, at Calvary Church in Manhattan.

BISHOP HATCH

Bishop Hatch's theme for the Day of Prayer is Religion in Action, which he will develop in three meditations on the following schedule: 10 a.m., Celebration of Holy Communion

11 a.m., Meditation on Quietness and Self-examination

12 noon, Intercession

1 p.m., Interlude for quiet luncheon in Calvary House

2 p.m., Adoration and Thanksgiving.

All who are familiar with Bishop Hatch's series of pamphlets including "How to Say Your Prayers" rejoice that he is to lead this Day in our Diocese.

The Quiet Day is the highlight of the whole devotional program of the Woman's Auxiliary which is led by its Devotional Committee of women from all Districts under the chairmanship of Mrs. Samuel M. Shoemaker.

Basic objectives of the program proposed to the women are 1) A minimum personal rule of life of 15 minutes of prayer and meditation every day; 2) Weekly attendance at Holy Communion; 3) Joining or starting a prayer study group or devotional workshop; and 4) Seeking to bring others to our Lord through healing prayer, service and personal witness.

Added to this, the Woman's Auxiliary has sought to hold quiet days and retreats for each District, attend the World Day of Prayer, help parish leaders to plan adequate opening prayer services before Auxiliary programs, hold services of installation for new officers, and undergird all departments of the Woman's Auxiliary with prayer.

Three publications have come from the Committee's work: Sanctification of Time, A Study of the Collects, by Katharine S. Oliver; Prayer Groups and How to Form Them, by Helen S. Shoemaker; and Schools of Prayer for Leaders and Learners, edited by Helen S. Shoemaker. Through Auxiliary channels alone, more than a thousand dollars' worth of a wide variety of devotional books and pamphlets have been sold in the past two years.

A whole new emphasis on the importance of prayer as the basic foundation for all work undertaken in the name of our Lord has developed, thus following the words of Bishop Donegan:

"We need a larger number of volunteers in disciplined training in the field of prayer. How much time are we willing to give to prayer? We are busy people, but none is too busy for this most important of all our responsibilities as followers of Christ."

Helps for the Layman

By Lee H. Bristol, Jr.
Lay Reader, Diocese of New York

IT is wise in a spiritual program to set specific jobs ahead of us, because we are far more likely to do something specific than something overly-general like "more good in the world." As a guide for myself I have found the following ten-point program helpful. By keeping it on my bureau or by my shaving mirror, I see it as I begin each day. You may want to change it here and there to fit your own particular requirements, but it is given you in the hope that it will prove at least a "jumping-off" point for your own spiritual program.

1. I will pretend each day is the first of my spiritual program, because I am best at the beginning of a campaign and less likely to slacken.

2. I will use "flash-prayers" frequently throughout the day (not just prayers at bedtime), because repeated "through-the-day" contact with God can multiply my effectiveness immeasurably.

3. I will try to be honest in my prayers, because only then do they mean anything to me and, consequently, anything to God. If my mind is wandering, I'll tell Him so and ask His help.

4. I will pray about specific problems, because such prayers will mean more to me than overly-general prayers in my private devotions.

5. I will make a regular effort to know the Bible better, trying to see the great relevance of Christ's simple, down-to-earth, workable principles for conducting myself in relation to my fellow man.

6. I will try winning others to Christ, not only because it was Christ's command that I do so, but also because faith seems to grow when it is shared. Faith must be developed and nourished. Faith is not a water faucet to be turned on and off without thinking. Faith is no windowsill cactus that will thrive on a minimum of erratic attention. But "faith without works is dead."

7. I will try to see the human equation in everything I do, realizing how individuals are affected by every decision I make, every letter I write, and by even the most casual encounter.

8. I will ask myself at the end of the day, as George MacDonald suggests, if I have that day done anything because God said 'Do it' or abstained from doing anything because He said 'Do not do it.'

9. I will try to have a partner in my spiritual program, because "comparing notes" with someone else can give a program "wings" and appreciably help both of us.

10. I will accept opportunities for service, as Albert Schweitzer suggests, not with any thought of heroism, but rather with sober enthusiasm for the jobs to be done. When I do so, I must remember the many others, willing and able, who are not in a position to do the same.

New Tax Laws Encourage Giving

Keep in mind during this year a recent news release by Dr. Robert M. Hopkins, president of the Golden Rule Foundation. In it attention was called to the fact that revisions of federal tax laws, which became effective on November 1st, encourage charitable and Church contributions.

Business corporations are permitted to give 5% of their net income to benevolences, before taxes (they have been giving 1%). Individuals may give up to 15% of their income (they have been giving less than 2%). It is the estimate of the Foundation that the new tax provisions make available for philanthropic purposes over two billion dollars from corporate sources and about twenty billion dollars from individuals. Pledges or promises of gifts are not sufficient to comply with the law; the gifts must be made outright before December 31, 1952, to take advantage of the new provisions.

Bishop Boynton to Appear On Telecast

Bishop Boynton will appear on the C.B.S. Television program, "Lamp Unto My Feet", on Sunday, March 2, at 5:30 p.m. The program is produced by the Columbia Broadcasting System and features prominent clergy of Jewish, Protestant and Roman Catholic churches in turn.

On Sunday, February 10, the Rev. John Huess, new rector of Trinity Parish, appeared on "Lamp Unto My Feet."

Libraries of Seminaries Get Author's Signed Copies

To celebrate Episcopal Theological Seminary Education Sunday on January 27th, author Willard A. Pleuthner gave autographed copies of "Building Up Your Congregation" to the libraries of our ten seminaries. The need of more new books is one of the many reasons for the annual solicitation of funds. Mr. Pleuthner hopes that other authors will follow him in sending their books to our theological schools.

As an Episcopal Lay Reader in the Diocese, Mr. Pleuthner reports that 14 interfaith charities are receiving the royalties for his best-seller, "Building Up Your Congregation". These recipients include the Christian Community Center in Kiyosato, Japan.

NEWS FROM THE CONVOCATIONS

RAMAPO

At a recent COUNCIL MEETING three vacancies were reported in this area, showing again a clergy shortage in our Church. As the Dean is still ill his people in Pearl River are stepping in to do what they can. Through various clergy the chaplaincy work at Rockland State Hospital is being covered.

GRACE CHURCH, NYACK had a crowded church for the Nativity pageant. They reported a Christmas offering of $790. The rector had a celebration of the Holy Communion and breakfast for college students to which fourteen came.

CHRIST CHURCH in PIERMONT had a children's program in the Church, Sunday, December 23rd when a big Advent offering was presented. Archdeacon Bratt preached on Sunday, January 13th.

CHRIST CHURCH, SUFFERN spent $1,445 last year in rectory improvements and $25,688 in a parish house alteration project. The Rockland County Chapter of the American Guild of Organists was organized on Sunday, January 20th, at which time the Rev. Fessenden Nichols preached. Officials from New York installed 22 organists and choir directors. Mr. Frank Campbell-Watson of Mahwah, N. J., is in charge of the Guild. Mrs. H. P. Rednour is the Secretary.

VALLEY COTTAGE reports a big attendance at Church which makes All Saints' Mission happy. Theological students are working in this area.

The Rev. E. Spencer Gilley resigned as rector of GRACE CHURCH, MIDDLETOWN, on November 1st. During November Dr. W. H. Dunphy, now in Pennsylvania, assisted. The Midnight Service on Christmas Eve and the Christmas Day service were conducted by the Rev. A. J. Torrey. Sunday services during December and January were conducted by Dr. W. K. Brown. Led by the wardens, Mr. J. Schrade and Mr. Maxwell R. Moore, this Church does its level best to hold together guilds and finance. Mr. Kenneth Holden is in charge of the Sunday School. Attendance at Midnight service, Christmas Eve, was 282—the offering was $900. Volunteers will soon paint the parish house.

CHRIST CHURCH, WARWICK, has 100 in Sunday School and 90 at Family Eucharist. Mr. Robert I. Huyler is now warden after ten years service as treasurer. Mr. Rene Keyfer is a vestryman. A Girl's Friendly branch has been started with nine girls and a young adults group is now functioning. Mrs. I. Newton Bell and Mrs. Elmer Fry directed a Christmas pageant. Recorded parts of the midnight service were played to shut-ins as they received the Sacrament. Mrs. A. M. Reynolds has given a home communion set in memory of Harriet Sanford Stuart.

From no Sunday School three years ago TRINITY CHURCH, GARNERVILLE, now registers 80 pupils. This is the largest Sunday School Trinity has had for many years and an encouraging feature is the large proportion of students of High School age. The rector now teaches and conducts a class of twenty-eight High School pupils. Beginning February 4th, this church began an experiment—a "Family Holy Communion Service". It had been customary on the first Sunday of each month to hold a Eucharistic Service for all pupils of the Sunday School. Since it had been noticed that many parents and adults were attending it was decided to try this new service with a step by step explanation. This service will be held at 9:45 and take the place of the usual 11 o'clock service.

ST. JAMES, GOSHEN had the largest attendance in its history Christmas Eve. The offering was $500. The rector trains the choir of 40 including the boys. Mrs. Lillian McEntire, his pupil, is organist. At the Manger service gifts were collected for the City Mission Society. The rector's daughter recently made her debut in New York as a singer.—FESSENDEN A. NICHOLS

MANHATTAN

At a recent Marriage Service of Puerto Rican People at ST. MARY'S, MAHATTANVILLE, the rector, the Rev. Charles Breck Ackley, S.T.D., read the service in English but after each part or division of the form of service, that same part was read from the Spanish Prayer Book by Mr. Gilbert Garcia, as Interpreter. In this way, Dr. Ackley performed the entire service, but at the same time, it was interpreted in Spanish, to all those who were present.

The bride who spoke only Spanish, and the groom only a little English, made their promises in Spanish. Mr. Garcia is a young layman of St. Mary's Church. He was not acting as a lay reader but as an interpreter.

ST. LUKE'S CHAPEL will have a teaching Mission every evening, February 17th to 21st. The retired Bishop of Western North Carolina (Bishop Grib-

A series of sermons in CALVARY CHURCH by the Rev. Quintin Warner, noted Canadian Preacher was held from January 20th through 27th, on the subject of "Firm Foundations in a Shaken World."

ST. JOHN'S-IN-THE-VILLAGE has women's white choir vestments which they would like to dispose of as soon as possible.

ST. MICHAEL'S, AMSTERDAM AVENUE—The St. Seraphin Foundation, an organization formed to provide a center for religious, social and cultural activities of Russian D.P.'s, is now occupying part of the third floor of the parish house at 225 West 99th Street. Religious services are held in the Russian Orthodox Chapel, consecrated in December by the Metropolitan Leonty. There are club rooms for the educational and social programs. The choir gave a joint recital with St. Michael's choir January 10th. The Foundation has its own pastor, the Rev. Alexander Kiselev.

WESTCHESTER

The men of Saint Andrew's Brotherhood at TRINITY CHURCH, OSSINING, are very busy making plans for their annual Washington Birthday Corporate Parish Communion. This year Bishop Donegan will be the celebrant and the speaker at the Breakfast. Men from the neighboring parishes have been invited.

ALL SAINTS' CHURCH, HARRISON, observed Theological Sunday by having Mr. George T. Cobbett, a senior at Berkeley Divinity School, New Haven, as the speaker at the 11:00 a.m. service. Mr. Cobbett, a candidate for Holy Orders from the Diocese of New York, served last summer as Field Worker for the Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society at All Saint's Church, Valley Cottage.

The Rev. James A. Pike, J.S.D., Dean Elect of the Cathedral, will deliver the lectures this year at the Adult Discussion Group meeting in ST. JOHN'S CHURCH PARISH, LARCHMONT, New York. These lectures are held every Thursday evening during the month of February. Mr. W. S. H. Hamilton is the chairman of this project. This series of Adult Discussion Groups began some three years ago when Mr. Anson Beaver first organized the Parish Educational Council. Series of lecture-discussions have been held each fall and winter covering such subjects as The Life of Christ, The Prayer Book, The History of the Church and the Protestant Churches and the Anglican Communion. All the series have been led either by Canon Edward N. West or the Rev. Powel M. Dawley, Ph.D., Professor of Church History at the General Theological Seminary. Dr. Pike's will be a new voice. Interest has grown through the years and a large number of hearers are expected.

Last month the women of the Woman's Auxiliary of ST. JAMES-THE-LESS, SCARSDALE, wrote a thrilling new chapter to the Acts of the Apostles. They did not take ship nor trudge through the wilderness but they did go into Japan and Alaska, Brazil and Arizona. Their medium of transportation was the Blue Box into which they put their daily thank offerings to God for all his blessings to them. This offering, officially designated as the United Thank Offering of the Woman's Auxiliary, was presented at the Cathedral on December 4th, and amounted to $652.00, the largest in the parish during the last fifteen years. When General Convention meets in Boston in September of this year the sacrificial offerings of the women of St. James-the-Less will be added to the thank offerings made over the past three years by women of the Church throughout the world at a special Corporate Communion. For many this moving experience is the high spiritual point in Convention activities.

The Rev. Reginald Gordon Stewart became the rector of ST. MARY'S, CHAPPAQUA, on January 1, 1952. Fr. Stewart succeeds the Rev. Howard D. Perkins, who retired as the first Rector of the Church on November 30th, 1951. —C. KENNETH ACKERMAN

DUTCHESS

The rector of CHRIST CHURCH, POUGHKEEPSIE, is to be congratulated on his campaign against the crowding out of Advent by unseasonable anticipations of Christmas. The rector of the CHURCH OF THE HOLY COMFORTER is happy to have Dr. Terwilliger's support in his efforts of several years to combat this subtle secularization of Christ's Birthday. The Rev. Arthur A. Bessey of ST. PAUL'S, PLEASANT VALLEY, gave his support to this effort in an admirable statement in St. Paul's Bulletin for the First Sunday in Advent, deploring the extent to which the commercialization of Christmas "has been permitted to develop to the point where by the time we have reached the Day itself we have drained the season of much of its significance."

The Rev. Dr. Terwilliger announces for the services at CHRIST CHURCH, POUGHKEEPSIE, at 8 o'clock on the

SPEAKING OF INFLATION

Everyone is doing it, and some are worrying over what it will do to insurance plans.

At such a time as this it is good to remember that the cost of a policy with the Fund has not been raised since 1948. This makes our contracts the best value that money can buy. Rates still remain the lowest of any company in the land.

As for the future, whatever questions arise, the soundest advice is to put money in savings. A Fund policy can be considered as a means of protection and a program of savings.

THE BISHOP'S MESSAGE

DIVINE Service was held in the Cathedral on the evening of February 20th in memory of His late Majesty King George VI, beloved leader of his people, and acknowledged friend of the United States. The Service by invitation of the Bishop was under the official sponsorship of Their Excellencies the Ambassadors of the Commonwealth and the Consuls General of the Commonwealth in New York.

King George VI was a man who symbolized those qualities of spirit which men everywhere recognize as the highest virtues; integrity, bravery, piety, single-minded devotion to duty. In the late King people saw the matchless qualities of honesty, modesty, simplicity, and dignity; qualities sometimes lacking in leaders today. When we look for the source of this man's complete integrity, sincerity, and consecration to responsibility we find it very clearly in the sincerity of his Christian faith. He was a good man who walked with humble trust in God.

As the eyes of the world turn to his successor on the throne, we are deeply moved by the thought of a person so young called to a task so difficult. Queen Elizabeth the Second comes to her exalted position of great responsibility assured of the love, the trust, and admiration of her subjects; and the prayers and good wishes of the English speaking nations and the peoples of the free world.

Dr. Shoemaker

AFTER twenty-seven years of notable ministry in Calvary Church, and distinguished service in the life of the Diocese, the Rev. Dr. Samuel M. Shoemaker leaves to become Rector of Calvary Church, Pittsburgh, one of the nation's great parishes. Dr. Shoemaker's Evangelical spirit has won many to the Christian Faith; his pastoral counsel has given new direction to the lives of men and women; his writings have made clear the relevance of the gospel; his preaching is always Christ-centered. Perhaps the least known but one of the greatest achievements is the number of consecrated, able men Dr. Shoemaker has brought into the ministry.

We shall greatly miss him in New York and the Diocese, but we shall rejoice in this larger opportunity for service in the Church which his new parish offers him.

The Functions of This Cathedral

BY JAMES A. PIKE, J. S. D.
Dean of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine

THE functions of a cathedral are the functions of the whole Church writ large. These can be summed up in three words, words which are the prevailing themes of the groups of writings attributed to St. John the Divine, in whose honor this Cathedral is named: Transcendence (the Book of Revelation), Translation (the Fourth Gospel), and Transformation (the Johannine Epistles). I realize that the results of modern Biblical study will not permit us to assume that all these works were composed by the same author; nevertheless taken together they provide us with three main motifs which should stand as guideposts to us here and to the Church wherever it is at work.

By transcendence, we mean that the Church must stand over against the world, in judgment on it, providing vision for it. It must witness to eternity in the midst of time. Thus by the noble beauty of its architecture, the grandeur of its music, its glorious setting forth of worship according to the Book of Common Prayer, a cathedral can make the presence of God in His world more evident to men. By the prophetic character of its preaching it should arrest men's headlong following of the things of this world, fix their attention on the things which abide. In its role as a 'house of prayer for all people,' an aim proclaimed in its charter, it should hold up, before all the broken parts of Christ's Church on earth, the image of One Holy Catholic Church.

By translation, we mean that the Church must tie its eternal message into the concerns and thought-forms of contemporary man. The pre-eminent example of this is the great theme of St. John's Gospel, God's own action in translating Himself into the language of a human life. Thus here at the Cathedral we must express the bearing of the Christian faith in every realm, so that it is seen as a "world-view" providing resources for the interpretation of every field of knowledge from geopolitics to the psychology of the individual. Here we must claim the historic heritage of cathedrals as centers of learning and culture. This responsibility must be discharged not only through preaching and artistic expression but in schools for clergy and laymen of the Church and for the public at large.

By transformation, we mean that, above all, reaching and changing individuals is paramount. This theme is evident in the three short epistles under the name of John. The basis of the evangelistic task of the Church is well stated in such words as "That which we have seen and heard declare we unto you, that ye also may have fellowship with us: and truly our fellowship with the Father, and with His son Jesus Christ. And these things write we unto you that your joy may be full." The Church is not only a chaplaincy for the faithful; it is a mission to the unchurched. So the Cathedral, having no parish congregation, can set itself pre-eminently to the task of attracting the seekers, the increasing number of those religiously disaffected who these days are now open to religion again. Our aim here is of course to lead those who come to us not only to conversion, but to that essential element of being a true Christian, namely a responsible relationship to the Church, which means parish membership. Here our aim is to work ourselves out of business, but there are sufficent unchurched still in the community to make this not an immediate prospect.

The Parish And The Cathedral

Now of course these tasks are not peculiar to the Cathedral; they are the tasks of every church in the diocese. But we can fulfill some of them with greater freedom precisely because we are not a parish church. This lays upon us the greater responsibility of acting boldly and imaginatively and on the frontier of the Church's life. At the same time, when we fail in these tasks we fail more conspicuously than can any parish church. For example, empty seats in a church are a sign of tasks unfulfilled; well, no church in the diocese can match the Cathedral in the number of empty seats it is possible to have at a service, even though many times a year it is crowded. Any church can strike the unwelcomed visitor as cold; but should he be unwelcomed in a place this big he will find things cold indeed. So the Cathedral can keep these large central tasks before the Church as a whole not only by its successes but by its failures.

If we are to serve our functions both as to the outside world and to the Church, we need the continued support, in concern and prayer, of all the parishes. The fact that he who (in St. Paul's words) 'has the care of all the churches' has his seat and altar here is the symbol of our relationship to the parishes. I know that his devotion to the Cathedral and his sure support in our tasks will continue to be complemented by the interest and concern of our people everywhere and that increasingly every churchman will see in the Cathedral his second church home.

DR. PIKE being installed by the Bishop, on which occasion this sermon was preached.

The Church and Social Issues

The Workshop of The Commission on Christian Social Relations on How Can the Church Deal Effectively with Social Issues? was held at the Synod House on Feb. 18. The 180 registrants representing 52 parishes and 6 convocations, discussed under competent leadership a dozen of the critical issues confronting society and the Church today.

The program began with a Celebration of Holy Communion by Bishop Boynton. In the opening address the Rev. Leland B. Henry cited the Biblical authority for the Church's interest in social issues, pointing out that it was grounded not only in prophetic but in priestly writings as well. "Prophets and priests in Israel," he said, "did not have two kinds of religion. They had a single religion, based upon profound faith in a just and loving God, issuing in a code of personal and social ethics. Every issue therefore, that affects the well-being of men's souls and bodies is of interest to the Church."

The Workshop then broke up into four groups. One group, under chairmanship of Miss Charlotte Carr, of the Citizens' Committee on Children of New York City, discussed The Church and Social Issues. The Rev. John Bell presented the needs of nursery school children not only for physical care, but for the experience of group living. Miss Elizabeth Evans, of the Episcopal Service to the Aged, spoke of the problem of the aging, not just their physical need for food and shelter and medical care, but their psychic need for affection and acceptance, and a sense of their own worth and usefulness. The Rev. Charles T. Bridgeman, chairman of the Bishop's Committee on Narcotics, spoke on the problem of use of drugs, with special reference to the legislative program and the responsibility of the Church to meet the emotional and spiritual needs that drive young people to seek release through the use of drugs.

The Economic Order was the theme of the group chaired by Kenneth H. Guild, Esq. Here the Rev. Moran Weston read a scholarly paper on the effect of inflation on the 45,000,000 people in the unorganized lower income groups. The Rev. Marshall Scott, of the Presbyterian Labor Temple, discussed labor conflicts in New York City. He pointed out the close connection between bad labor conditions and the city government. Mr. James Mitchell, Vice-president of Bloomingdale Brothers, spoke out of his wide experience concerning the various plans for labor-management cooperation.

The group on The Church and the Social Order was chaired by Mr. Arthur B. Foye. Here Mr. Henry K. Craft, of the State Commission Against Discrimination, reported on the progress made in the elimination of discrimination in employment. The Hon. Hubert T. Delany, Judge of the Children's Court spoke on integrity in government. The Hon. Stanley Isaacs, of the City Council, discussed public housing, slum clearance and neighborhood planning.

World Responsibility was the subject of the group chaired by the Rev. Anson Phelps Stokes, Jr. Dr. Ira Moomaw, for years an agricultural missionary in India, pointed out the peculiar opportunity of the Church in ministering to the needs of the peoples of Asia as it provides an identification and continuity that is not found in government efforts. The Rt. Rev. Y. Y. Tsu of China spoke on the situation of the Church under the Communist regime, pleading for an understanding of the needs of the Chinese people. Miss Anne Guthrie, recently returned from the United Nations session in Paris, discussed the international situation, stressing the need for a greater understanding on the part of the American people of the history and problems of other nations.

Bishop Donegan presided at the evening session, where reports were made from each of the four groups. The Very Rev. James A. Pike gave the closing address on "The Next Step." He pointed out that each of the four groups agreed on three great issues: 1. the duty of the Church to deal with social issues; 2. the need for factual information as the basis of social action; and, 3. the responsibility of the local Church and of the individual Christian. "Each parish," he said, "should be a militant group concerned, in cooperation with all men of goodwill, to bring into every aspect of our common life a tangible expression of Christian social ethics."

The Rev. Charles T. Bridgeman, chairman of the Commission on Christian Social Relations, was general chairman. Mrs. Malcom Tuttle, Vice-president for Christian Social Relations of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Diocese, was chairman of the refreshment committee. Luncheon was served by the Christian Social Relations chairmen of the Woman's Auxiliary. Supper was served by the ladies of St. Philip's Church. The Rev. Herman A. Berngen was chairman of the book table.

U.T.O. At Diocesan W.A.

The United Thank Offering of the Women of the Church will be the subject of the Woman's Auxiliary Diocesan Meeting on Tuesday, April 1 at 11 o'clock at Grace Church, Nyack. Dr. Eleanor Mason, Principal of Madras Christian College for women, which derives some of its support from the United Thank Offering will be the speaker.

Started more than sixty years ago at the suggestion of two churchwomen, the United Thank Offering has developed into a great feature of the life of the Church. At the General Convention of 1889 the offering at a service was designated for missionary purposes. Amounting to $2000, one half was used to build our first church at Anvik, Alaska, and the second $1000 sent our first woman missionary to Japan. In 1949, sixty years later, the Offering amounted to two million dollars, given in love and thanksgiving to bring the knowledge of the love of God to those who know Him not.

The 1949 United Thank Offering was divided into three main sections: one half was used for our women missionaries, their training, salaries, equipment, outfitting, travel, medical and dental expenses; one-eighth was added to the Ida W. Soule Pension Fund for women missionaries; three-eighths for new buildings, repairing and equipping old ones, and sharing in several projects with other communions.

In this Diocese we are particularly interested in Windham House, at 326 West 108 Street, the Church's national training center for women workers, which depends on the United Thank Offering for the salary of its Director as well as scholarships for those of its students who are unable to pay the full cost of their training. The funds needed to purchase and remodel the building adjacent to the original building were provided from the 1949 Offering, thus making possible a large student body. Windham House graduates are at work at many places at home and abroad.

We need now, as never before, Christian evangelization in every land, including our own. Threats of war and disaster, as well as anti-Christian ideologies point to the great need for the teachings of Christ. The United Thank Offering is the woman's special means of spreading the Gospel!

Y.C.S. Annual Meeting

At the annual meeting of the Youth Consultation Service of the Diocese of New York on February 14 at the Community House of St. Bartholomew's Church, Manhattan, Miss Emily Ann Black, district director, Uptown Center, was the principal speaker. In her address Miss Black pointed out the increasing tensions in community life prevalent today and referred to the recent narcotics situation as an additional problem facing young people. Miss Black gave several illustrations of the manner in which Youth Consultation Service helps girls to see their personal situations clearly and to make decisions satisfying to them and constructive for the community.

Miss Black was born in Texas and is a graduate of The New York School of Social Work. She was formerly supervisor of casework in the mental hygiene clinic of the New York regional office of the Veterans Administration. The Rev. Anson Phelps Stokes, Jr., rector of St. Bartholomew's, addressed the guests attending the annual meeting and offered the invocation. The benediction was pronounced by the Rt. Rev. Horace W. B. Donegan, Bishop of the Diocese.

Woman's Auxiliary Overpaid Its Two Pledges

In 1951, through the earnest effort of all its Branches, the Woman's Auxiliary overpaid its $50,000 Pledge to the Budget of the general Church by $1304; and exceeded its $3000 Pledge for Christian Social Service by $217. A total of $54,521 was thus added to the gifts for Parish Quotas.

Memorial Service For Late King, George VI

A huge crowd filled the Nave and Crossing of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine on Wednesday evening, February 20th. Representatives of the nations of the world were meeting together to honor the late King George VI. To the swelling notes of the mighty organ, the solemn procession made its way past the black-draped flags of Great Britain and the United States, and dignitaries of both countries took their places in the chancel.

The Bishop of New York conducted the service which was sponsored by the ambassadors of the nations of the British Commonwealth and their consuls-general in New York. In addition to civic and military officals of many nations, the members of the British benevolent and patriotic societies were present, together with many residents of the British colony in New York.

Sir Oliver Franks, British Ambassador to Washington, read the scripture lesson which was followed by an address by Bishop Donegan. The singing of the Star Spangled Banner and God Save the Queen were features of the ceremonies.

During the Service the portrait of the late King, the work of artist Frank E. Beresford, was displayed.

In his address Bishop Donegan paid reverent tribute to the late King as being "a Christian gentleman, a faithful churchman, a loving husband, a loyal father and a devoted son."

"The simple and direct faith of the King was sensed in his public utterances," said Bishop Donegan. "Who can forget the conclusion of his Christmas broadcast during the war? 'I said to the man who stood at the gate of the year: Give me light that I may tread safely into the unknown. He said to me: Put your hand in the hand of God, that will be to you better than a light and safer than a known way.'"

The great crowd, many with tears dimming their eyes, filed quietly out at the conclusion of the simple, impressive service as the organ played Handel's "Dead March," from the oratorio "Saul."

Benefit For Y.C.S.

The Youth Consultation Service, Katy Ferguson House, and the Girl's Service League join in sponsoring the second performance of the Sadler's Wells Theatre Ballet on March 26th and have taken over the entire orchestra of the Warner Theatre for this benefit. Mrs. Donald S. Stralem is chairman of the Youth Consultation Service Benefit Committee, Mrs. Edwin F. Chinlund is chairman for Katy Ferguson House, and Mrs. Fraser M. Horn heads the Girls' Service League Committee.

All three agencies serve the needs of young girls and are presenting a new pattern of benefit activity by eliminating all competitive efforts in order to increase the direct aid to the girls they serve.

Assisting Mrs. Stralem on the Youth Consultation Service Committee are Mrs. John Hall Allen, Mrs. George E. Archibald, Mr. H. Howard Babcock, Miss Barbara

Barb, Mr. and Mrs. J. Truman Bidwell, Mrs. Dee Bredin, Mrs. Vincent Brown, Mrs. Ludlow Bull, Mr. Byron G. Clark, Mrs. Pierre David-Weill, Mrs. William C. Dickey, Mrs. Roland F. Elliman, Mrs. Robert Ellinger, Mrs. Lynn Farnol, Mrs. Rudolph Fluegge, The Honorable George L. Genung, Mrs. M. Thompson Greene, Mrs. Jacques Lindon, Mr. Richard G. McQlung, Mrs. Nathan Milstein, Mrs. David C. Patterson, Mrs. Grant Peacock, Mrs. Mortimer Rodgers, Mrs. Regina M. M. Rubicam, Mrs. Maurice Schwob, Mrs. George W. Van Slyck.

The opening night program which is being repeated for this benefit will feature Les Rendezvous, The Nutcracker and Pineapple Poll.

Included among the Youth Consultation Service patrons are Mrs. Charles Sperry Andrews, Mrs. Thomas J. Bigham, Miss Ursula Corning, Mme. Pierre David-Weill, Mrs. George H. Donegan, Mrs. W. Palmer Dixon, Mrs. Raoul H. Fleischmann, Mrs. Robert L. Fowler. Mrs. Stuart Harris, Mrs. Walter Hirshorn, Mrs. Farnsworth Loomis, Mr. John Langhorne.

Also included are Colonel Serge Obolensky, Mrs. Thomas Harris Powers, Mrs. H. Pendleton Rogers, Mrs. John Barry Ryan, Mr. Walter A. Schiffer, Mrs. Scribner Schieffelin, Miss Antoinette Scudder, and Mr. and Mrs. David A. Shepard.

Members of the Diocese interested in assisting Youth Consultation may obtain tickets by calling CHelsea 2-2993 or PLaza 5-1080.

Lay Readers Association

The Steering Committee of the Diocesan Lay Readers Association, composed of a representative from each Convocation, the Archdeacon, and the Secretary of the Program of the Church met recently and formulated a constitution that will be presented at the next meeting of the Association to be held on April 27. Copies of the proposed constitution have been sent to all licensed lay readers and the Association will be formally organized. The Lay Readers School will be held at the annual meeting.

NEWS FROM THE CONVOCATIONS

RAMAPO

GRACE CHURCH, MIDDLETOWN announces that the Rev. Herbert M. Barrall will become their Rector on or about March 15th. Mr. Barrall, a graduate of Hobart College and the Virginia Seminary, is at present the rector of St. John's Church, Cambridge, Ohio. Roger Blanchard, Harry Sanderson, Anthony Morreale, and Marshall Dunn, four of GRACE Acolytes were recent visitors at the Cathedral where they took part in the eleven o'clock service.

Recent gifts to THE CHURCH OF THE GOOD SHEPHERD, GREENWOOD LAKE, include a Pyx given by Miss Ruth Bach, a purple superfrontal given by Mr. and Mrs. George Utter, a set of red Mass Vestments given by St. Mary's Guild, and a priest's surplice for the rector given by Mr. and Mrs. Max Schuster. A pair of altar vases have also been made possible by a generous bequest made by the late Mr. Charles Christ.

ST. JOHN'S, NEW CITY has new lamps for the pulpit and lectern as well as new burses and veils in all colors.

In commemoration of its 80th anniversary new burses, veils, and stoles in all colors have been given to ST. PAUL'S, SPRING VALLEY in memory of Florence E. Graff.

Scouts, in uniform, attended the 11 a.m. service at GRACE CHURCH, NYACK on February 10th for the God and Country Award Boy Scout Service. Mr. A. B. Churchill, for 27 years a vestryman, received a scroll of honor at the Annual Meeting of the Vestry. At this same meeting films on Liberia and Hawaii were shown.

On February 3rd a dinner attended by the Vestrymen and their wives was held by CHRIST CHURCH, SUFFERN in honor of the Rt. Rev. Charles F. Boynton. A beautiful room in the new parish house has been named after the former rector, the Rev. R. S. Mansfield. Mr. Mansfield was the grandfather of the present Diocesan Treasurer and the father of the late Dr. A. R. Mansfield, Director of Seamen's Church Institute for many years. Weekday religious education has been taking up the living religions of the world. "The Faith of the Church" will be the subject for Lenten study

The Rev. Walter P. Doty has been acting as supply priest for GRACE CHURCH, PORT JERVIS. Mr. Earl Myers is the new superintendent of the Sunday School. Vestrymen are redecorating the rectory in hopes that a priest and rector will be called.

ST. MARK'S, MONTGOMERY has new gothic lamps and chancel lights of great beauty. Mrs. Benjamin Smith, organist, is also head of the Sunday School. Because of the traffic on 9W it is often necessary for their vicar to travel 40 miles in going to or from Tomkins Cove. The Rev. Mr. Reid will celebrate his 40th anniversary to priesthood on March 25th.

There is great tribulation and fear in our end of the convocation, and every where the New York Thru-way will go as it threatens homes, wipes out the estates in the country of residents who came to be far from the congestion of the City. —FESSENDEN A. NICHOLS

HUDSON

Mrs. Frank A. Starr Jr., president of the Woman's Auxiliary, ST. JOHN'S, MONTICELLO, and a very active and faithful communicant entered into rest on January 27th after a very brief illness. Fortified by the sacraments of the Church she was buried on the 30th. Mrs. Starr, who had an abundance of good humor was much beloved.

The men of CHRIST CHURCH, MARLBORO are contributing their services in the excavating of a parish hall beneath their Church, under the direction of one of their members who is a licensed engineer and who is carefully safeguarding the existing structure. Christ Church has never had a parish house with the result that parish activities have been held in the Rectory. Now the Vicar, the Rev. John Phillips and Mrs. Phillips will have their house to themselves.

—ALAN H. TONGUE

MANHATTAN

The Rev. G. Clare Backhurst will continue at CALVARY as locum tenens until such time as the Vestry appoint a successor to the Rev. Samuel M. Shoemaker.

ST. MARTIN'S, Lenox Ave., recently added two new swinging bells to their former 40 bell carrillon. These bells were cast by the Royal Bell Foundry at Heiligerlee, the Netherlands, by the firm of van Bergen, engaged in casting bells for over 200 years.

ST. BARTHOLOMEW'S CHURCH, Park Ave., announces a revised Lenten schedule: Services of meditation on Mondays, Tuesdays, and Wednesdays; a service of Holy Communion on Thursdays; and a special preaching service on Fridays.

A memorial service for King George VI was held at 4 p.m. on Sunday, Feb. 17th at the CHURCH OF THE TRANSFIGURATION, the Little Church Around the Corner. The service was under the auspices of the Episcopal Actors' Guild and had been especially arranged for the British actors and actresses living at present in New York. Laurence Olivier made the memorial address. In the absence from the city of Basil Rathbone that day the first lesson was read by Dr. Ray, Rector of the Church and Warden of the Guild, and the second Lesson by Brian Aherne.

DUTCHESS

An interesting feature of the January-February number of "The Episcopalian" issued by the Rector of Christ Church, Red Hook, and associated pastoral cures, is the full report of parochial activities of CHRIST CHURCH, RED HOOK, ALL SAINTS', UPPER RED HOOK, and ST. JOHN THE EVANGELIST'S, BARRYTOWN, and the Rector's ministrations at WARD MANOR and ST. CLARE'S HOUSE for the Deaconesses. It is an inspiring instance of what one devoted Priest, aflame with the love of God and of souls, can accomplish in a field large enough to give occupation to a staff of several clergy and lay-workers.

The Rev. Gordon C. Graham, rector of St. Andrew's Church, Poughkeepsie, will conduct a Quiet Day for Women at CHRIST CHURCH, RED HOOK, on Tuesday, March 18th.

A notice in the January issue of "Zionward," the parish-leaflet of ZION CHURCH, WAPPINGER'S FALLS telling of the breakage of the figures of the Christmas Creche, brought almost immediately an offer to provide new figures as a memorial gift. "It is thrilling," writes the Rector, "to start shopping for next Christmas. We want the loveliest figures obtainable." ZION CHURCH is to be congratulated on the generous and practical missionary zeal which has adopted as the parish's missionary the Rev. Octave Lafontant, priest in charge of St. Matthias' church, Grande Colline, Haiti.

GRACE CHURCH, MILLBROOK, maintains a "Literature Table," which ought to prove an effective means of instructing the members of the parish (and visitors who drop into the church in or out of service time) in the life and teaching of the Church and in other matters of historical, spiritual, or doctrinal interest. In each week's issue of the parish leaflet, the Rector gives a useful summary of the material available.

During February, the Rector of CHRIST CHURCH, POUGHKEEPSIE, gave a pre-lenten series of addresses at Sunday Evensong on "Violent Christians." The three men of violence chosen to illustrate our Lord's saying, "The kingdom of Heaven suffereth violence, and the violent take it by force," are two saints and a rebel: St. Peter, The Violent Apostle; St. Thomas of Canterbury, the Violent Martyr; and Martin Luther, the Violent Reformer.

A group of men at ST. MARGARET'S CHURCH, STAATSBURG, has just completed the redecoration of the entrance hall, study, and church school room of the church, giving the interior an added beauty and freshness. The women of the parish are cooperating with the men in the accomplishment of this project by raising funds for the renovation of the entire church, of which the painting project is the beginning. —THOMAS J. WILLIAMS

BRONX

A very successful and enthusiastic turnout of men and boys from the Episcopal Churches of the Bronx assembled at the CHURCH OF THE MEDIATOR in KINGSBRIDGE on Friday morning, February 22nd in traditional observance of Washington's Birthday. There were 210 men and boys present.

The celebrant was the Right Reverend John Boyd Bentley, D. D., former Bishop of Alaska and now Vice President of the National Council. The layman speaker was Mr. Robert D. Jordan, Director of the Department of Promotion of the National Council. Bishop Bentley was assisted in the service of Holy Communion by the Rev'd. Albert E. Campion, D. D., Ph. D., rector of the Church of the Mediator and the Rev'd, Hugh H. Henry, rector of St. Luke's Church, Williamsbridge.

An annual Quiet Day of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Bronx Convocation was held at ST. PETER'S, WESTCHESTER, on Thursday, February 14th, Father Packard, O. H. C. was the conductor.

ST. GEORGE'S, WILLIAMSBRIDGE, reports the payment of $1,012.94 toward the Program of the Church, in 1951. This is the largest amount ever given in their history and the largest amount given by a Mission of the Diocese in 1951.

The CHURCH OF THE ATONEMENT calls attention to an error in the last issue of the BULLETIN. Their 1951 quota was $808.00 and they gave $1,166.98, thus being $358.98 over.

A Spring Conference for the men of the Bronx will be held at the CHURCH OF THE HOLY NATIVITY, BAINBRIDGE AVENUE and 294th Street on four successive Mondays beginning with Monday, April 21st. The subject for discussion will be "The Faith of the Church" and the leader will be in the Reverend Frank L. Carruthers rector of St. George's Church in Newburgh, New York. The meetings will begin at 8:30 p.m. and the fee for the course of four meetings is One Dollar. Men interested in renewing their understanding of the Faith by which we live, under the direction of a capable and inspired leader should get in touch with the Reverend Charles J. Buck, rector of the Church of the Holy Nativity and signify their intentions at an early date.

One feature of the Program of the Church on which considerable stress will be laid in future is that of retreats for men. We have not the space here to discuss their immense spiritual value but the demand for a retreat program under competent direction is growing among the men of the Church and steps are being taken to meet this demand and to encourage it.

A tentative date has been set for a retreat of the men of the BRONX CONVOCATION to be held at Wainwright House, Rye, New York over the week end beginning June 6th. All men interested in attending should communicate with John C. Purdie at the Church of the Mediator, 260 West 231st Street, Bronx 63, N. Y.

News of Convocations

Having no rector was no obstacle to Ted Decker and the men of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Bronx, New York, in observing Theological Education Sunday on January 27. Using the material put out by the Laymen's Training Program of the Diocese, a presentation of the needs of the seminaries was made; and better than $70 was collected in an offering taken for this purpose.

Congratulations to the parish of the Good Shepherd! —LESLIE J. A. LANG

RICHMOND

Three hundred men and boys attended the CORPORATE COMMUNION and BREAKFAST for the LAYMEN OF RICHMOND CONVOCATION, Staten Island, on Friday morning, February 22. The service commemorating the birthday of George Washington was held at St. John's Episcopal Church, Clifton, Staten Island, and the ladies of the parish served the breakfast that followed. The guest speaker was the Right Rev. J. L. Blair Larned, Bishop-in-Charge of the Convocation of the American Churches in Europe, who gave the men an eloquent and absorbing message concerning the financial and reconstruction work now going on in those war-ravaged countries. He emphasized the fact all Christian churches are working together, pooling their resources to establish the Christian faith once more in countries that had been subjected to Nazism and fascism to defeat the inroads of communism. The offering taken at the morning service was given to the St. Francis Boys Home of Salina, Kansas.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Walker deWaters, of the Richmond Convocation of Woman's Auxiliary, more than two hundred dollars was raised at a card party at ST. JOHN'S PARISH on February 16 for missionary work. Miss Alice Daley of St. Paul's Memorial Church has accepted the post of Chairman of Devotional Work for the Richmond Convocation.

A branch of the NATIONAL CANTERBURY CLUB has been organized by the Rev. Douglas Glasspool of ST. SIMON'S and ALL SAINTS MISSIONS, and the Rev. Ronald Cheetham of ST. ALBAN'S. The first meeting of the Club was held on February 25 at St. Simon's Parish and the Rev. Owen Thomas, Diocesan Director of College Work, was the guest speaker.

THE YOUNG PEOPLE'S FELLOWSHIP held a rally at ST. MARY'S, WEST NEW BRIGHTON, on February 10, and members from all other branches on the Island attended.

A memorial service for the late King George VI of England was held at ST. ANDREW'S, RICHMOND, Staten Island, on February 15. The land on which St. Andrew's now stands was received under a grant from Queen Anne of England 243 years ago. The service was most impressive and the crowd of over 350 gathered joined in the service that was conducted by the Rev. F. R. Godolphin, and the Rev. Bernard A. Hemsley.

The Rev. George E. Nichols became the rector of ST. MARY'S Episcopal Church, WEST NEW BRIGHTON, Staten Island on March 1, 1952. Mr. Nichols succeeds the Rev. Orin A. Griesmyer. Mr. Nichols was born in Utica, New York, and is a graduate of Hamilton College and the General Theological Seminary. He has served as the rector of the parish in Cape Vincent, New York, and as assistant rector of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, Manhattan. He was then called to the Diocese of Erie as the Archdeacon of that diocese, in which post he was supervisor of the mission churches of the diocese and acted as financial secretary.

Through inadvertence, contributions made by the Chapels of Trinity Parish, Manhattan, for the year 1951 for the Program of the Church were not listed separately in the last issue.

Individual quotas are not assigned to chapels unless requested by the parish, and the contributions of the chapels apply toward the total quota of the parish.

The contributions of the several chapels of Trinity Parish for the year 1951 were as follows:—

|---|---|
| Intercession Chapel | $14,609.75 |
| St. Augustine's Chapel | 1,712.45 |
| St. Cornelius Chapel | 1,548.29 |
| St. Luke's Chapel | 5,421.05 |
| St. Paul's Chapel | 1,252.35 |

The Rev. Walter Reid calls our attention to a typographical error in the listing of the mission of St. John the Divine, Tomkins Cove. This congregation accepted a quota of $217.00 in 1951 and PAID IN FULL.

Missionary Giving

The quality of the missionary giving of a parish or diocese is determined, not by its success in meeting its expectations, but by the relation of its gifts to its quota. To drastically cut that quota in expectations and then meet that reduced amount hardly merits the commendation of "going over the top." Judged by the quota standard some of the leading dioceses would be found nearer the rear.

(the Rev.) Malcolm Taylor
Brookline, Mass.

OUR COVER

The original drawing which we are pleased to have on our cover this month was done especially for The Bulletin by Diana Wood Latta of New York City.

THE BISHOP'S MESSAGE

THE LORD IS RISEN! This was the incredible announcement that transformed the frightened, dejected disciples into fearless, devoted followers of the Living Lord. Before Easter Day they were disappointed and doubtful; they were not completely converted to Christ. But after they knew that God had raised Jesus from the dead their wavering faith was restored. From that day forward their loyalty never faltered. With amazing courage and exuberant joy they preached the gospel of Eternal life. The basis of their whole faith was not an assumption but an historical fact. Had there been no Resurrection there would have been no Christianity, no Christian Church, no New Testament. The dynamic of Christianity is the gospel of the Risen Lord.

Our loyalty to Christ is often as weak and wavering as that of the first disciples after Calvary. We are only partially committed Christians. We do little or nothing for the sake of Christ, or for the good of the Church which is His body.

The good news of Easter is not only the promise of Eternal life to all who believe in Christ, but also the assurance that through the power of the Resurrection our feeble faith can be transformed. But the conditions our Lord set forth must be fulfilled. The words of the conditions echo through the centuries. Some of them are: "If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me. For whosoever will save his life shall lose it; but whosoever will lose his life for my sake, the same shall save it." "Love your enemies." "Do this in remembrance of me." It is through loving, loyal obedience to Our Lord that we are changed, and receive His power and share His victory. Our Lord is gracious beyond our understanding, but He is also exacting.

THE LORD IS RISEN! At Eastertide, and always, may we pray "that I may know Him and the power of His Resurrection."

—HORACE W. B. DONEGAN

The Risen Life Among The Living

By the Reverend Lawrence B. Larsen, S. T. B.

Rector of Christ Church, Pelham Manor
Secretary of Convention and Registrar of the Diocese

Someone has said that "it is disturbing to think that on the one Sunday on which most people go to church they are likely to hear the least convincing sermons." Why? Because Easter in isolation is unconvincing and sentimental. Without Good Friday it is unreal, and without Whitsunday it is unbelievable. What can the Resurrection of Jesus two thousand years ago mean to those who do not know Jesus, who are not walking through life hand in hand with Him?

Where should we look for proofs of the Resurrection? Not so much in the empty tomb, as in the experience of the Christian Church. To know whether Christ is risen we shall look for evidences that you and I are cleansing our lives of all that is unworthy, and earnestly seeking the good, the beautiful and the true; we shall ask whether we are using every effort to bring other lives in touch with Jesus Christ, so influencing friends and neighbors as to bring out the Christ in them rather than to satisfy our own social or economic interests; we shall discover whether we are trying to make our community and our world a place in which Christ may truly rise to newness of life. To make Easter real involves the discipline of our own life, our practice of the Golden Rule, our generous support of every helpful agency for community welfare.

First Holy Week

Every sincere Christian who wishes to enjoy a happy and a meaningful Easter should attend at least one of the Holy Week services. Of course it can be no more than an emotional experience which has no permanent value. That is always the danger of the Good Friday Three-Hour Service. The late Studdert-Kennedy said that "religion without feeling is a poor thing; but a religion which is all feeling is not religion at all; but only sentimentality. The last thing Jesus wanted to do was to set us sailing on a sea of tears to nowhere in particular."

But we enjoy a well-produced tragedy just because it is all acted, and has no practical effect upon us. Holy Week must be more than the enjoyment of a moving spectacle. We must go with our Lord to Calvary and share his Cross as St. Paul did. "I am crucified with Christ, nevertheless I live." Holy Week, if it is to have any meaning for us, must bring us face to face with ourselves as we really are, and reveal to us all the habits, the ideas, the plans that need to be nailed to the Cross, all the sacrifices that we thus far have been too selfish or too lazy or too stupid to offer.

Present Fact

Only after such a spiritual and moral experience have we any right to enjoy Easter, or any claim to its proclamation of a new life. It is not the commemoration of a great event in the far away and long ago, but the proclamation of a present fact that the Risen Christ is the Supreme Lord of our lives.

Reverent Memory

On Easter Day we gather up in reverent memory all of our dear ones who have passed on before, and thank God for the assurance that we shall see them again. We call them dead—but they are more alive than we. Why should we seek the living among the dead? Our vanished loved ones are not in the dust of our cemeteries. They walk with God in white. We walk alone for awhile. There are empty places in home and church. But there is a light still burning where they were; a strange, sweet light in the home; something like a glory in the very air. O let us seek the living among the living! To every one who mourns, may this blessed Easter-time be full of faith and hope and praise. "Why seek ye the living among the dead?" Jesus and his own are "alive forevermore."

May God bless us and your dear ones with this triumphant faith.

Convention, May 13th

The 170th Annual Convention of the Diocese of New York will be held May 13, 1952, in the Synod Hall, Cathedral Close, 110th Street and Amsterdam Avenue, New York City.

There will be a celebration of the Holy Communion in the Cathedral at 8:15 A.M. followed by breakfast in the Undercroft of the Synod House. The business sessions of the Convention will open at 10:00 A.M.

Three lay delegates from each parish, in union with the Convention, and one lay delegate from each aided parish or organized mission, are eligible to attend in addition to canonically qualified clergymen.

The Diocesan Convention is the governing body of the Diocese, and matters of vital importance to the welfare and growth of the Diocese will be acted upon by this most significant 170th Convention.

ANNUAL LAYMEN'S CONFERENCE

The Second Annual Laymen's Conference of the Diocese of New York will be held in the Synod Hall, Cathedral Close, New York City, on Saturday afternoon, May 17, 1952.

Using the theme "What on Earth are you Doing," the Conference will feature leading speakers from the laity and clergy. Discussion of programs and promotion of Laymen's work in the parishes will be held on a most practical level.

THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH SERVICE CROSS which is given to persons entering any of the United States Armed Services.

Bishop Donegan will address the Conference which will be presided over by Mr. H. Wynn Bussman, Diocesan Chairman of Laymen's Work.

Every Diocesan Field Officer, Lay Reader, and Parish Keyman is expected to attend and to bring as many interested laymen from his parish or mission as possible.

The year just past has shown a remarkable upsurge in the growth of interest and activity among the laymen of the Diocese, much of which is directly traceable to the effect of these Conferences and work sessions on common problems faced by the Church.

Three Year Plan

At the recent annual meeting of the Presiding Bishop's Committee on Laymen's Work, Mr. Harvey S. Firestone, Jr., Chairman, urged a strong Christianity as the effective opponent of Communism. He suggested that for the coming triennium, the objectives of the laymen should be: First year, a study of the Implications of the Christian Faith; Second year, a specific Program for Reaching the Unchurched; Third year, the Integration of men into the life of the Church.

Special Notice To Lay Readers

Due to a conflict of engagements, Bishop Donegan has requested the date of the next Lay Reader's School to be changed from April 27, as announced in last month's issue of the Bulletin, to June 15, since he wishes to devote his full time and attention to the School.

CHURCH SCHOOL OFFERING

The annual presentation service of the Missionary Offering by the Church Schools of the Diocese has been scheduled for Saturday, May 24. The service in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine will be preceded by an inspiring processional of the Church School choirs in colorful vestments. The children will assemble on the grounds of the Cathedral Close and the processional will begin at 2:00 P.M.

Children's offering has reached an impressive total during the past years and is a vital part of the missionary growth in the Diocese. In 1951 the amount presented was $40,629.00 and represents six and half per cent of the entire missionary giving of the Diocese. In terms of mission study and understanding, in the development of systematic habits of sharing, in the formation of lifelong attitudes toward the missionary imperative, the value of the offering far transcends even the vital importance of the financial aid that is given.

Suffragan Election Postponed

Bishop Donegan, after consultation with the Standing Committee which concurs with him, has notified the clergy and clerks of parishes and missions that it is his considered opinion that it would be wise not to hold an election of a Suffragan Bishop in May.

THE PROCESSION of Church School choirs in colorful vestments is always an inspiring spectacle.

St. Peter's School

The Annual Benefit Concert by the Glee Club of St. Peter's School, Peekskill, New York, will be given at the Hotel Biltmore, New York City, on Friday evening, April 25. A dance will follow with music provided by Frank I. Richter and his orchestra.

The ballroom will seat eight hundred and those desiring seats or boxes should mail inquiries directly to the School. The proceeds will be used to provide the two thousand dollars needed for part-scholarships for boys who otherwise could not attend the School.

The Glee Club will have completed its annual tour that includes concerts at Lancaster and Sharon, Pennsylvania; Cincinnati and Portsmouth, Ohio; and Washington, D. C. Recognized as one of the outstanding musical ensembles of its kind, those attending its Annual Concert in New York are assured of a genuine treat.

Girls' Friendly Camp

Interlochen-Sherwood, the Girls' Friendly camp, offers Episcopalians a challenging program for their girls. This Church-sponsored camp teaches children workable Christain ideals through the fun and adventure of daily living. With a relaxed and flexible program each child broadens her interests, defines her ideals and increases the number and quality of her friendships.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Craven are directing the camp for the third year. The counseling staff are selected for qualities of leadership, maturity and enthusiasm. Many are experienced in recreational leadership and parish youth work.

Beautiful color slides are now being shown throughout the diocese. To arrange a small group showing for your parish, contact Mr. Craven at the Diocesan House, Amsterdam Avenue and 110th Street, New York 25, N.Y., or by phone at UNiversity 5-3600.

Guild Distributes Tract

The National Guild of Churchmen is now distributing the twelfth in its series of Teaching Tracts to Communicants of the Episcopal Church throughout the country. The current tract is entitled "Worship in the Prayer Book" and was written by The Reverend George F. Kreutler, Vicar of St. Luke's Church, Union, New Jersey.

A free copy of this tract will be mailed to anyone upon request to the National Guild of Churchmen, 145 West 46th Street, New York.

Capt. Carlson at the Seamen's Church Institute

The Seamen's Church Institute of New York, under the direction of the Rev. Dr. Raymond S. Hall, held an informal testimonial dinner recently for the skipper and crew of the "Flying Enterprise." Capt. Henrick Kurt Carlsen was the guest of honor, together with Capt. Neils Olsen, skipper of the "Gen. A. W. Greeley."

PREVIEW OF AUXILIARY TRIENNIAL

All women of this Diocese are deeply interested in the Triennial Meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary, to be held in Boston in September at the time of the General Convention of the Church. Six Delegates and six alternates will go from New York to join similar delegations from all parts of the country and overseas in the worship, fellowship and planning which will take place.

Noted Speaker

In preparation for this occasion the Annual Meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Diocese on May 6 will be addressed by Mrs. Alfred M. Chapman on "Preview of the 1952 Triennial of the Woman's Auxiliary." Mrs. Chapman, now of Pennsylvania, was formerly vice-president of our New York Auxiliary. She serves now as a member of the National Council and has just been chosen as Presiding Officer of the Triennial Meeting. Mrs. Chapman therefore is exceptionally well fitted to bring to the women of this Diocese a clear look ahead at the program of the Boston meeting. The delegates to go from New York will be announced in the May issue of the Bulletin.

The gathering on May 6 will begin at 10 A.M. at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine with a service of Holy Communion and presentation of the United Thank Offering. The Annual Meeting will follow immediately in Synod Hall.

Diocesan Auxiliary To Cathedral

The Annual Meeting of the Diocesan Auxiliary to the Cathedral Church of St. John the Divine (not to be confused with the"Woman's Auxiliary") will be held in the Library of Cathedral House on Thursday, April 17th at 3:30.

Bishop Donegan and Dean Pike will address the Meeting.

Mrs. E. Victor Loew, President, will preside, and reports will be heard from Miss Mary A. Rose, Secretary, Miss Emmie S. Day, Treasurer, and from Miss Harriet P. Bronson, Chairman of the Altar and Choir Committee. Officers will be elected for the ensuing year.

The Auxiliary does a most valuable work for the Cathedral, including the provision of flowers for the Altars; a scholarship for a choir boy at a church school; gifts toward the Building Fund and the summer music, and for clergy and choir linens, and for other supplies.

Forward Movement Has Tract Racks

The Forward Movement announces that it can supply book and tract racks and cases for "neat, effective vestibule display." Prices range from $3.00 to $16.00.

Building Fund Commission

The American Church Building Fund Commission, organized in 1880 and incorporated the following year, was created and exists for the purpose of aiding the building program of the Episcopal Church, which is its sole beneficiary. In its seventy-one years, the Commission has aided in 3,400 cases through loans aggregating five and half Million dollars and gifts and grants in excess of a million. Its services have reached every diocese and missionary district throughout the Church.

The Commission reports that on February 29, 1952, its Permanent Fund had grown to $1,049,897, of which $1,016,256. (97 per cent), was invested in loans to churches for building and improvement purposes.

Outstanding loan commitments amount to $101,229., in addition to which there are conditionally approved applications amounting to $59,500. It is believed that these pending loans will be closed by the late summer or early fall, if receipts continue to be as high as in the past year.

It has been impossible for the Commission to consider more than a small fraction of the requests for building aid that are being received.

Among the Parishes in the Diocese which have loans from the Commission at this time are: St. Stephen's, Woodlawn; Christ Church, Pelham Manor; St. Paul's Church, Staten Island, and Christ Church, Red Hook.

Churches planning new construction or improvement projects, and desiring loans up to $25,000., should make early application to the Commission at its office, 170 Remsen Street, Brooklyn 2, N.Y.

The Incarnation Has 100th Anniversary

The Church of the Incarnation, Madison Avenue and 35th Street, Manhattan, will observe the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of the Parish with services at 3:30 on Sunday, April 27, 1952.

Bishop Donegan will officiate and clergy of all denominations in the city have been invited to share in the observance of this historic day.

The Rev. Edwin Harwood was the first rector of the Parish, serving for the first two years of its existence. From its founding, this church has been influential in moulding the lives and thought of thousands of communicants. The parish has been characterized by constant awareness of its responsibilities in the service to the community and the growing city about its doors.

The Rev. J. A. Bell, the present rector, is chairman of many committees for the advancement of social relations along Christian lines.

ST. LUKE'S COMPLETES A CENTURY

The address 2914 Broadway, New York City may not provoke visions of picket fences and rambler roses but it is home sweet home to the eighty-six residents that occupy St. Luke's Home for Aged Women.

On May first, most appropriately, the Home will be one hundred years old itself and is still going strong. That birthday is going to be celebrated and who has a fairer claim. A huge cake will be cut by Bishop Donegan and the ladies, the staff,and the trustees will be hosts at a Tea to the many friends and supporters that will come to offer congratulations.

Founded by the Rev. Issac H. Tuttle, Rector of St. Luke's Church, in 1852, who brought the Home into being to care for elderly gentlewomen in the Church who had no other care, the first location was at 543 Hudson Street. Two rented rooms and two women comprised its modest beginnings. But so great was the need that the Home has grown steadily ever since that first day one hundred years ago.

Today the home occupies a fine seven story building and is staffed by experts. Its facilities include completely modern living accommodations, a beautiful chapel, spacious library, solarium and infirmary. The Home confines its residents to Episcopal women, members of parishes in that part of the City of New York which is situated in the Diocese of New York.

St. George Association At Cathedral April 20.

The annual service of the St. George's Association of the U. S. A. will be held at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine at four o'clock, the afternoon of April 20th.

The Association has a membership composed of the employees in Municipal, State and Federal Civil Service Departments and is a part of an United Protestant Movement. The organization seeks to promote among it's members and their families spiritual awareness and development, increased religious interest and tolerance, friendship and social welfare. It's keynote is "Everyday Religion In A Workday World".

Archdeacon's Corner

Another milestone marking the advancement of the Church in upper Manhattan was passed February 29, 1952 when the Church of St. Luke the Beloved Physician became an incorporated parish and took its place among the other self-supporting Parishes of the Diocese. This May it will formally make application to be received into union with the Diocesan Convention.

Thirty years ago, a handful of people gathered together to form the first congregation and held a service in Martin's Music School on 137th Street near Lenox Avenue. Shortly thereafter, the Monteserate Hall was hired and the congregation worshipped there for about three years. The present site at 28 Edgecombe Avenue was then purchased and steady growth has ensued.

Recently the congregation was forced to plan for more adequate quarters and a building fund was started.

During the pastorate of the Reverend Arthur C. Moore, now Vicar of St. Simon's, New Rochelle, some $60,000 was raised, and the congregation at the same time steadily progressed toward self-support. Four years ago, an adjoining property at the corner of 136th Street was purchased.

Plans are now being made for a new Church.

We congratulate the Advisory Board, the congregation and the clergymen who have had part in this splendid work.

—George F. Bratt

Steward Parkman

Harrison Parkman, Purchasing Agent of the Post Office Department, Washington, D.C., believed that whatever he owned during his lifetime was a loan from God to him as steward, to be returned for the advancement of the Christian faith. So his will leaves half of his estate of approximately $100,000 to the Episcopal Church as a fund, the income to be used for medical missionaries.

Mr. Parkman was Purchasing Agent from 1933 until his death late in 1951, longer than any other person. He was a member of the Episcopal Church for 47 years.

Living Pictures of Supply Work

Synod Hall became the scene of a Japanese Church Kindergarten at a recent Diocesan Meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary. Four young New York residents of Japanese ancestry, with the help of Miss Mary Ihara, at present studying at Windham House, and the Rev. T. Nakamichi, Rector of Church of the Resurrection, Hiroshima, Scholarship to General Seminary, made a living picture of such a kindergarten when a box from the Supply Department is opened, revealing toys, toothbrushes and clothing. Many such boxes go each year from Auxiliary Branches to bring help and strength and joy to missions at home and abroad.

No Segregation At Mission

The Rev. Beverley Tucker White, president of the Norfolk Ministers' Association and rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, has announced that the Association decided without a dissenting vote that the 1953 Norfolk Preaching Mission shall be interracial. The Association's report said. "The Negro ministers of this city will be asked to cooperate in the sponsoring of, and the planning of, the 1953 Norfolk United Preaching Mission."

THE DIOCESAN INVESTMENT TRUST

The Ninth Annual Report of the Diocesan Investment Trust for the year ending January 15, 1952 shows a consistent growth in principal assets, dividends per share and the number of subscribers. Starting operations in 1943, net assets are now approximately $12,773,000.00, and there are 139 Parishes and other Organizations which own shares. Copies of the Report may be obtained from Mr. Walden Pell, Secretary, 74 Trinity Place, New York 6, N. Y.

The Trust presents an opportunity for the Churches, Missions and other Organizations of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of New York to combine their trust or endowment funds and thus obtain the benefit of diversification of investments under experienced management.

The funds of the Trust are conservatively invested, the first consideration being conservation of principal, and the second the obtaining of as high an income as is consistent therewith.

Bishop Donegan is President, ex-offico, of the Board of Trustees, and Mr. Clarence G. Michalis, President, The Seamen's Bank For Savings, is Treasurer and Chairman of the Finance Committee. The remaining Trustees are Kingsley Kunhardt, Vice President, Guaranty Trust Company of New York; Richard H. Mansfield, Treasurer of the Diocesan Convention, Associate of John D. Rockefeller, Jr.; Samuel R. Peale, Rockfeller Brothers, Inc.; Lyman Rhoades, retired, formerly Vice President and Trust Officer, The Chase National Bank; Thomas Roberts, Treasurer, Seamen's Church Institute of New York; and Edward K. Warren, Chairman of the Committee on Diocesan Finances. The Trust is not operated for profit, and the Trustees receive no compensation for their services.

The Bishop Honored By Lighthouse

Percival S. Howe, Jr., President of The Lighthouse of The New York Association for the Blind, 111 East 59th Street, announces the recent election of The Right Reverend Horace W. B. Donegan, D. D., Bishop of New York, Cathedral of St. John Divine, and Rev. Dr. Julius Mark, Senior Rabbi of Congregation Emanu-El as Honorary Vice-Presidents. Honorary Vice-Presidents now serving The Lighthouse are Hon. Henry W. Goddard, Admiral William F. Halsey, Miss Helen Keller, Rufus Graves Mather and Francis Cardinal Spellman.

The Lighthouse is a non-sectarian agency serving 4,281 blind people through 29 direct services.

● ADDRESS CHANGE

In making an address change please give both your old and new address.

CATHEDRAL SERVICES
Palm Sunday, Good Friday, Holy Week, and Easter

The Cathedral had a full round of services for Holy Week and Easter. Bishop Donegan presided in the Cathedral at the 11 o'clock Palm Sunday ceremonies and preached the Sermon with Dean Pike as the celebrant. There was a Service of Liturgical Music at 4 P.M. In Holy Week, in addition to the regular services, there will be a short sermon following Evening Prayer from Monday to Friday, inclusive, with the Dean and the Cathedral Clergy as the preachers. The Bishop will hold a confirmation at 12 o'clock Noon on Tuesday. The Good Friday Three Hours Addresses will be given by Dean Pike with the Bishop offering the prayers; from 8 to 9:30 P. M. there will be a service and the preaching of the Passion conducted by the Dean. On Easter Day the Bishop will preside at the 11 o'clock service and preach the Sermon with the Dean as celebrant. At 4 P.M. Evensong will be sung with a Procession and Te Deum. No tickets are required at any service.

Liturgical Conference Is Announced

The Liturgical Conference of the Second Province, of which this Diocese is a part, will be held at St. Bartholomew's Church, Manhattan on Thursday and Friday, April 17 and 18. The Conference will open with an address by the Rev. Massey H. Shepherd, Jr. Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, Mass. discussing "The Liturgical Movement in the Episcopal Church." Others on the program include the Rev. Thaddeus Clapp, St. Mark's Church, Worcester, Mass.

Bishop Donegan will celebrate the Holy Communion on Friday morning and the Bishops of Central New York and Newark will take part in the program.

West Point Cadet Chapel Choir Sings At Cathedral

On Sunday (Passion Sunday), March 30th, 1952, at 4:00 P.M. the West Point Cadet Chapel Choir of 170 voices, under the direction of Frederick C. Mayer, Organist and Choirmaster of West Point, offered selected anthems at a Special Musical Service. In addition to the Cadet Choir, the Cathedral Choir of 65 men and boys, under the direction of Dr. Norman Coke-Jephcott, Cathedral Organist, sang Evensong.

The Right Rev. Horace W. B. Donegan, Bishop of New York, presided at this Service.

Major General Frederick A. Irving, Superintendent of the Academy, read the Scripture Lessons. The Service drew a large congregation to hear these two notable choirs.

Queen Juliana to Visit St. Martin's Church

Queen Juliana of the Netherlands formally accepted an invitation sent her by Dr. John H. Johnson, rector, to visit St. Martin's Episcopal Church, 230 Lenox Avenue, on Monday, April 7th at 10 a.m.

Her Majesty listened to a recital played on the carillon at St. Martin's by Dr. Kamiel Lefevere, carillonneur at Riverside Church. She then signed the parish register.

All the bells in the carillon were cast by the Royal Bell Foundry at Heiligerlee, the Netherlands, by the van Bergen Co., bell makers for more than 200 years.

Church Army Elects New Director

Captain Robert C. Jones was installed National Director of the Church Army at a service in Calvary Church, New York, February 26. The Presiding Bishop was installing officer, and Captain Jones was presented by the Rt. Rev. Charles K. Gilbert, former Bishop of New York and present Warden of the Church Army.

Archbishop of Canterbury At Convention

The Most Rev. and Rt. Hon. Geoffrey Francis Fisher, D. D., Archbishop of Canterbury, Primate of All England and Metropolitan, will deliver two addresses at the 57th General Convention which will meet in Boston September 8 to 19. With Mrs. Fisher the Archbishop will leave England August 11, spend a short vacation with the Presiding Bishop and Mrs. Sherrill, at Boxford, Mass., and return to England September 19. The Archbishop attended the 55th General Convention which met in Philadelphia in 1946.

Queen Visits St. Mark's For Ceremony

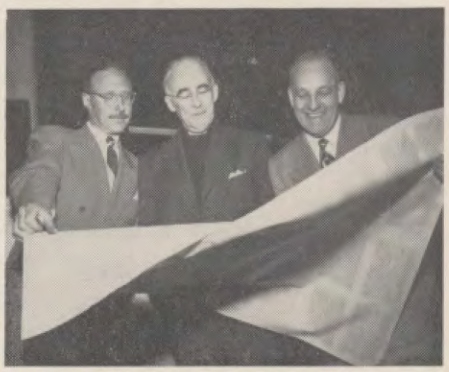
Queen Juliana of the Netherlands visited St. Mark's Church In-The-Bouwerie, 10th Street at 2nd Avenue, New York City, at 10:45 A.M. on Tuesday, April 8th. In a brief ceremony, she placed a wreath at the foot of the Statue of Peter Stuyvesant in the east Churchyard.



LOOKING OVER the first sheet of the Revised Standard Version of the Holy Bible are William A. Pleuthner, Lay Reader and Field Officer of the Diocese; Dr. Samuel McCrea Cavert and Philip C. Landers of the National Council of the Churches of Christ. This took place at the ceremony in connection with the starting of the press on the largest advance order in the history of publishing—nearly one million volumes. It will take from now until September 30th to complete the order. Thirty-two scholars have worked for fifteen years to make this new translation.

NEWS FROM CONVOCATIONS

RAMAPO

Dr. W. B. Brown terminated his preaching at GRACE CHURCH, MIDDLETOWN, on March 9th, and the new Rector, the Reverend Herbert M. Barrall, was instituted by Bishop Donegan on March 26. The Reverend William A. Grier of Wallkill officated at the Ash Wednesday Services. On BISHOP DONEGAN congratulates the new rector of Grace Church, Middletown, The Rev. Herbert M. Barrall.

Thursday evening, March 6th, the Reverend T. Frederick Cooper, Chaplain of the Wallkill State Prison, conducted the service, and on March 13th the Reverend L. E. Cartmell of St. Mary's Church, Tuxedo Park, was in the pulpit.

On March 23rd Bishop Donegan officiated at the family eucharist and preached at CHRIST CHURCH, WARWICK. The rector lays stress on the early service, and this 9:30 a.m. Celebration is usually well attended. Sometimes he arranges a Communion breakfast. In addition he has a supper before the midweek Lenten Evensong.

Adults of CHRIST CHURCH, SUFFERN are studying The Faith of the Church, one of three books highly recommended for group discussion. Choirs are rehearsing for Holy Week and Easter while the Youth groups keep busy with the task of preparing an Easter program. On May 1st the Woman's Auxiliary is sponsoring a sale.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH, SPRING VALLEY, is celebrating the 80th Anniversary of the Laying of the Cornerstone, this year. A booklet containing a historical sketch of the Parish has been prepared in commemoration. Information on why the Episcopal Church has a Prayer Book, why the clergy wear vestments, and notes on the colors and seasons of the Church year are included.

It contains a list of the names of all the members of the Church, of the Church School, and of all the organizations, from the Vestry to the Boy Scout troop.

On August 3rd, the Sunday nearest to the date of the Laying of the Cornerstone eighty years ago, the Ven. George F. Bratt, Archdeacon, will celebrate the Holy Communion, and will preach the sermon.

The sexton of GRACE CHURCH, NYACK has left to take a position in the library of Congress, Washington, D.C. He has had legal knowledge and experience abroad.

A new sexton, Michael Putz, has taken over the job in Nyack. The Union Lenten services are running along smoothly, the theme of which is "Essentials for Christian living."

WESTCHESTER

Congratulations are in order for SAINT MARK'S CHURCH Nepara Park Yonkers. They have recently achieved parish status. On Wednesday evening, March 26th, at 8:00 p.m. Bishop Donegan formally installed the Rev. Mertram J. Mortlock as rector. A large crowd of enthusiastic parishioners were present and a reception was held afterward in the Parish Hall.

SAINT JOHN'S CHURCH Yonkers N.Y., one of the oldest parishes in Westchester has launched a campaign to raise funds for a new building to adjoin the present Parish Hall. This project is being carried out in connection with the 200th anniversary of the Parish.

GRACE CHURCH, White Plains, is preparing also to celebrate an anniversary this month-the one hundred and twenty-eighth in the history of the Parish. The Parish was founded on March 22, 1824.

Fr. Lloyd of TRINITY CHURCH Ossining publishes an interesting letter in Trinity News from Upi Catabato in the Philippines, where R. Strohsahl is priest in charge of the Mission of St. Francs of Assisi. The letter is from a thirteen year old boy, Dominador Bello thanking the children of the Church School for athletic equipment purchased with the proceeds from the Lenten Church School offering last year.

The Men's Service Club of SAINT PETER'S CHURCH Peekskill, which is a very active organization, had as a guest speaker The Rev. Edward Gray, recently. Fr. Gray is the rector of St. Mary's Church, Cold Spring, and assistant Chaplain at the Veteran's Hospital nearby.

THE CHURCH OF SAINT JAMES THE LESS, Scarsdale, is sponsoring a Mission which will run for a week beginning on Sunday, March 30th. The Mission will be conducted by The Reverend Albert J. Du Bois, National Director of the American Church Union.

CHRIST CHURCH, Rye, announces the gift to the parish of two brass Processional Candleholders which will be used in the services in the future.

The "Coffee Hour," which was instituted at CHRIST CHURCH Bronxville recently to promote fellowship and sociability after the 11:00 a.m. service, has turned out to be a great success. The rector states that it is an ideal way in which to make newcomers to the Parish feel at home.

Mr. O. S. True, the Every Member Canvass Committee Chairman at SAINT BARTHOLOMEW'S CHURCH in White Plains announced to the Parish the final outcome of the Canvass. A total of 424 pledges were received and the amount pledged for the year 1952 is about one thousand dollars more than last year.

CHRIST CHURCH, Pelham Manor, recently signed a contract for the reconstruction of the parish hall to accommodate 11 new class rooms for their fast growing Church School. It is hoped that the work will be finished by the end of March.

Bishop Donegan is among the list of outstanding Lenten preachers at SAINT THOMAS' CHURCH, Mamaroneck. Others are The Rev. W. Norman Pittinger, The Ven. Canon A. Edward Saunders D. D. Archdeacon of Brooklyn, The Very Rev. Frederick M. Adams D. D. Dean of Trinity Cathedral, Trenton, N.J.

One of the interesting speakers on the Wednesday evening programs at ALL SAINT'S CHURCH, Harrison, is the Rev. Andrew Y. Y. Tsu, the well known "Bishop of the Burma Road." During the war, from his see city of Kunming, Bishop Tsu administered to thousands of American Airmen.

SAINT LUKE'S CHURCH, Katonah, has found it expedient to increase the size of its Advisory Board. Mr. William Roberts and Mr. Charles Willard were elected for terms of three years and Mr. William Horel for two years, and Mr. Donald Foulke for one year.

Special attention is being given to healing at SAINT PAUL'S CHURCH, Yonkers. An announcement in the Messenger by the rector states that during Lent at the 8:00 a.m. service prayers will be offered for those desiring them, and the Prayer Book Service of the Laying-on-of-Hands by the rector will be administered.

SAINT JOHN'S CHURCH, Tuckahoe, has recently created a new organization known as the Rector's Aides. This group will be headed by Mrs. G. Payn Quackenbos and it will help the rector in extending a friendly hand in the name of St. John's to newcomers in the community and to parishioners who may need practional help of some kind.

CHRIST CHURCH, Tarrytown, announces plans for a new chapel which will be placed in the transept of the church and also extensive remodeling of the interior of the church to make the chancel larger. This work is to begin within a few weeks and will be completed by the end of the summer.

Approximatly 200 women from 19 Episcopal Churches in the Westchester District of the Diocese of New York attended an all-day School of Prayer held Friday (March 21) in the Parish House of The Church of the Ascension, Mount Vernon, N. Y. The theme of the day was "Devotional Life."

The Rev. Melford Losee Brown, Rector of THE CHURCH OF THE ASCENSION, opened the School of Prayer and said the Litany in the Church at noon which was attended by all present.

Miss Laura F. Boyer of Pelham, N.Y. developed the theme by speaking on "Personal Prayer" and Mrs. Alexander Wiley of New York City spoke on "Group Prayer." Mrs. Peter Oliver of Mount Kisco, N. Y., the Devotional Life Chairman of The Woman's Auxiliary in the Diocese of New York, spoke on "The Prayer Plan of the Church Year."

The afternoon session which followed a box luncheon in the Parish House was presided over by Mrs. Adrien M. Massie of Rye, N. Y. and was devoted to Questions and Answers, the answers given by the morning panel speakers.

Among the parishes represented were: St. Francis of Assisi, Elmsford; All Saints Church, Harrison; Grace Church, Hastings; St. John's Church, Larchmont; St. Thomas' Church, Mamaroneck; Church of the Ascension, St. Clement's Church, St. John the Divine and Trinity Church, Mount Vernon; Trinity Church, New Rochelle; Christ Church and The Church of the Redeemer, Pelham; St. Peter's Church, Port Chester; Christ's Church, Rye; St. Luke's Church, Tuckahoe; St. Bartholomew's Church, White Plains; St. Andrew's Church, St. John's Church and St. Mary's Church of Yonkers.

RICHMOND

The Clericus of the Richmond Convocation unanimously approved the statement of the Board of Regents of the State of New York outlining their suggested policy of prayer and moral and spiritual training in the schools. A letter so stating was addressed to Dr. Wm. Jansen, Supt. of Schools with a copy to Mr. Andrew G. Clauson, Jr. President of the Board of Education of the city. The vestry of ST. JOHN'S PARISH did the same. At the annual meeting of ST. MARY'S parish this action was also approved and all parishioners were asked to write in directly. The Woman's Auxiliary and the Guild of the Parish also acted accordingly. Incidentally the President of the Guild, Mrs. Tyler obtained seventy-five signatures of employees in the Company in which she works.

The Woman's Auxiliary of St. Mary's held a successful card party on February 19th netting about $100.00 for their work.

On March 12 Miss Wilma Butler spoke to the Woman's Auxiliary of CHRIST CHURCH. Miss Butler is the Secretary-Treasurer of the missionary district of Alaska. The officers in charge of the promotion of missions from neighboring parishes were invited.

BRONX

The congregation of ST. JAMES', FORDHAM have already raised almost $8,000 ($10,000 required) to repurchase the option on their rectory site, and extensive repairs and redecoration have been made on the building itself. Considerable expense has been saved because of the skilled assistance of some of the men of the parish.

THE ANNUAL CORPORATE COMMUNION OF THE WOMEN OF THE BRONX was held at the CHURCH OF THE HOLY NATIVITY on the Feast of the Annunciation. The speaker was the Rev. Frank L. Titus of Syracuse, New York, formerly an Army Chaplain, and Acting Secretary of the Overseas Department of the National Church.

DUTCHESS

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH, BEACON, and ST. PAUL'S CHURCH, Poughkeepsie, are training their young people in Eucharistic worship by encouraging their attendance at the Lord's Service on stated occasions. St. Luke's provided a Corporate Communion for young people on the Second Sunday in Lent, followed by a Children's Eucharist on the Third Sunday in connection with the Church School. There will be Children's Eucharists also on Low Sunday and Rogation Sunday. At St. Paul's, in addition to the 9:30 celebration of Holy Communion on Thursdays, a Eucharist is provided for school-children (and others) at 7:00 A.M., after which breakfast is served to the children before they leave for school. The Lord's Service is celebrated at ST. ANDREW'S, POUGHKEEPSIE, every Sunday at 9:30 for the pupils and teachers of the Church School as well as others who find this service convenient and helpful.

St. Luke's Church, Beacon, provided a series of five Lectures on Church History on the Wednesday evenings in Lent between Ash Wednesday and Holy Week. The lecturer was the Rev. J. Benjamin Myers. At St. Paul's, Poughke-

At St. Paul's Church, Poughkeepsie, the Service at 10:45 was broadcast over the local radio station on March 23rd. This broadcast will be continued on the fourth Sunday of each month.

A Day of Devotion was conducted in ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH, POUGHEEPSKIE, on Friday, April 4th, from 9:30 A.M. to 3:00 P.M. The conductor was the Rev. W. Robert Hampshire, the rector St. Thomas' Church, Farmingdale, L.I., who is an authority on the Retreat Movement in the Church.

Classes for Confirmation are being formed throughout the Convocation, in anticipation of the Bishop's Visitations during Eastertide.

On the morning of Mid-Lent Sunday the men of CHRIST CHURCH, POUGHKEEPSIE, made a Lenten Corporate Communion at the 8 o'clock Eucharist, followed by a breakfast in the Parish House at which the speaker was Mr. Langdon Gilkey, assistant Professor of Religion at Vassar College. Mr. Gilkey gave an account of his two-and-a-half years' internment in a Japanese concentration camp in China, with special emphasis on the lessons of spiritual life in community which he learned during this experience.

ST. JAMES' PARISH, HYDE PARK, publishes a monthly paper appropriately entitled St. James' Epistle, after the book of the New Testament written by the Patron of the Parish, St. James (called "the Less," to distinguish him from the brother of St. John, who was the first of the Apostles to win the martyr's crown). The April number of The Epistle, just received, contains (besides items of parish news) a timely note on the meaning of Holy Week for us to-day, and also a list of Holy Week and Easter Services. Particularly striking is the quotation from Pascal, with which the paper concludes: "Because men do not fortify justice, they have to justify force."

The Bishop's Offering

It is a simple problem of facts and figures. The minimum approved requirement of the Diocesan Missionary Agencies for this year is $342,550. The total giving as the result of last Falls Every Member Canvass as declared by Parishes and Missions will amount to only $224,600 for those agencies. Obviously the missionary work of the Diocese is facing a serious curtailment of existing program and activities to the tune of $117,950.

The Committee on Allocations at the request of the Diocesan Convention wrestled for weeks with the problem this deficit poses. The sincere and sympathetic report of the Committee has been published. It will be discussed and acted upon at the Diocesan Convention next week. But some one must bear the brunt of the blow. From this fact there is no escape. Therefore the Committee recommended to the Bishop that a special offering be taken among the entire communicant strength of the Diocese for the purpose of meeting this deficit.

In a letter addressed to the clergy the Bishop has said "The Bishop's Offering will enable our people to share in providing a fund not only to take care of the most urgent unmet needs of existing agencies but also to allow the Diocese to take full advantage of new missionary opportunities that are d e m a n d i n g vigorous action."

The Committee on the Program of the Church has been requested by the Bishop to provide the parishes and missions with the necessary publicity materials to insure the widest possible participation in the offering. Posters and descriptive booklets have already been sent to parishes and missions. A special offering envelope is being p r o v i d e d. Announcements will appear in parish leaflets and in the press. It is vitally essential that every communicant be given the opportunity to share in this Offering. There are 98,967 communicants in the Diocese of New York.

It is just a simple problem of facts and figures.

THE BISHOP'S MESSAGE

WE are all eager, I am sure, that New York should not only fulfill its Missionary obligations and do its full part in supporting the program of the National Church, but also that it should meet the challenges that face the Church within the Diocese. As you know, our giving to the Program of the Church has greatly increased, but we do not provide through the Every Member Canvass, the necessary funds required by our Diocesan agencies.

In order to aid the vital work of some of our essential Diocesan activities, and also to meet some of the needs and opportunities as they arise, I am asking that a special offering be received in every congregation on Sunday, May 25, 1952. This will be known as The Bishop's Offering for Diocesan Work. This decision is in accord with the recommendation made by the Committee on Allocation of Missionary Funds.

A major share of the amount contributed through The Bishop's Offering this year will be assigned to four Diocesan agencies that face serious curtailment of their authorized activities. These agencies are: Service for the Aged, City Mission Society, Youth Consultation Service and Seamen's Church Institute.

The Bishop's Offering will enable you to share in providing a fund not only to take care of the most urgent unmet needs of existing agencies, but also to permit the Diocese to take advantage of new missionary opportunities that are demanding vigorous action. No one knows as does the Bishop the total Diocesan picture in terms of its needs and opportunities. No one is more eager than I to meet the challenges as they are presented.

I trust you will respond as generously as you are able to The Bishop's Offering, that our Church in this Diocese may minister more fully in the name of Our Lord.

"All things come of Thee, O Lord, and of Thine own have we given Thee."

—HORACE W. B. DONEGAN

CONSIDER REORGANIZATION PLAN

The annual Convention of the Diocese to be held May 13th will be asked by the Bishop to endorse the recommendations of a special committee appointed by him to study the system of government known as "The Bishop and Executive Council". In his address to the Convention a year ago the Bishop pointed out the "obvious and clear need" to coordinate and integrate work now functioning under many separate units. He asked for recommendations which upon enactment into canons would unify the work of the Diocese under a departmental council which "would operate in a way that would enable each department to see its own work in relation to the other departments and the overall life of the Diocese".

R. H. Mansfield, Treasurer of the Convention, was named Chairman of the Committee. Serving with him were the Rev. Messrs. A. A. Chambers, L. B. Henry, Leslie J. A. Lang, Hugh D. McCandless and Bernard C. Newman and Messrs. George W. Burpee, G. Forrest Butterworth, Ludlow S. Fowler, Theodor Oxholm and Charles S. Reid.

The Committee's report to the Bishop stated that in its opinion the present form of organization of the Diocese is antiquated and almost impossible of effective administration. Among the reasons given for this opinion were the lack of any relationship of the various boards, committees and commissions to each other or to any central authority except the Convention itself; the fact that the Bishop has a poorly defined relationship to some of the boards, committees and commissions and in one case no relationship at all, and the lack of uniformity in the manner by which board and committee members are chosen.

The report of the Committee states that all except six dioceses now employ the system of government known as "The Bishop and Council" and that in general the system has been instituted to integrate the missionary work within the dioceses. No need was found to reorganize the phases of the Convention's work related to the Episcopate or the functions of the Standing Committee.

The Committee recommended canonical changes which would place all of the missionary work in the Diocese under a Council with the Bishop as its President.

The Council would be composed of a maximum of 23 members, twenty-one when there is no Bishop Coadjutor and only one Suffragan Bishop. Of the twenty-one members, six would be ex-officio, ten elected and five appointed as follows:

The Bishop
The Bishop Coadjutor
The Suffragan Bishops
The Treasurer of the Convention, who shall be ex-officio the Treasurer of the Council
The Assistant Treasurer of the Convention who shall be ex-offico the Assistant Treasurer of the Council

The President of the Standing Committee

The President of the Woman's Auxiliary

Five Clergymen to be selected by Convention

Five Laymen to be elected by Convention

Five Persons to be appointed by the Bishop

Elected members would be chosen for two year terms, appointed members for one year and no member so elected or appointed would be eligible to serve more than four successive years.

The Council would divide its work among the following departments:

Department of Missions

Department of Christian Education

Department of Christian Social Relations

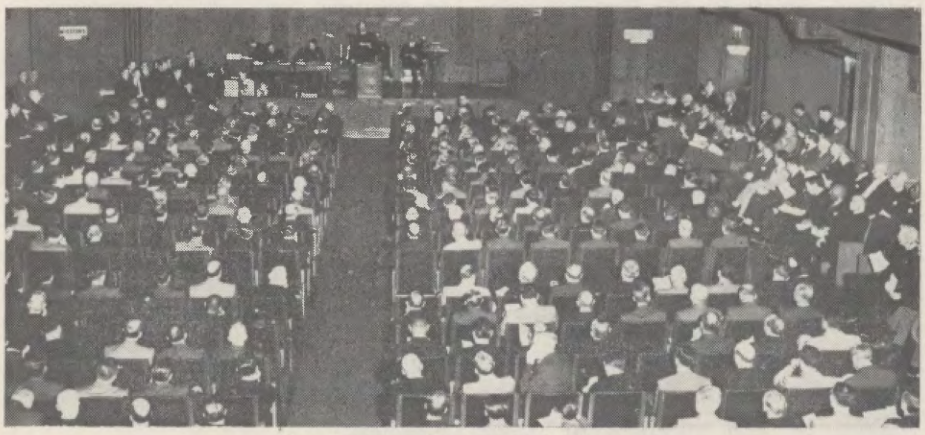
Department of Finance

Department of Promotion

The Bishop would be President of the Department of Missions and he would appoint the Chairmen of the other departments from among the Council members. Other elected or appointed members of the Council would be assigned to departments. Each department would have the power to expand its membership subject to confirmation by the Council.

The Commission on College Work under the new canon entitled "Of the Council of the Diocese of New York" would be a division of the Department of Christian Education and the Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society would constitute the new Department of Missions.

The prerogatives of the present Committee on Allocation of Missionary Funds would be assigned to the Council and Church agencies which are not integrated into departments and which seek appropriations of missionary funds would be related to the Council by the appointment of members of the Council to their governing boards.



The Diocesan Convention In Session

Under this system each agency receiving missionary funds would be represented on the Council. It was felt that this would encourage a close working relationship between all departments and agencies not included in departments and would result in more effective operation and coordinated budgeting.

To resolve the present confusion as to which of the many agencies in the Diocese are agencies of the Diocese, a new canon entitled "Of Diocesan Organizations, Institutions and Other Agencies" has been proposed for enactment. This canon sets forth eight requirements to be complied with by any agency seeking to represent itself as an agency of the Diocese. Among these requirements are that the agency shall have on its governing board at least a majority of persons who are members of the Church in this Diocese or canonically resident clergy; it shall submit an annual report to the Council; it shall comply with the provisions of the "Business Affairs" canon of the General Convention, and it shall permit an examination of its affairs by the Bishop or someone named by him to see whether it conforms to these provisions and whether adequate standards of work are maintained.

Another new canon devotes itself to the organization of missions and clarifies the authority of the Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society and the Bishop in the conduct of their affairs. It also provides a means for a parish to become a mission and establishes a form of government for missions closely related to that provided by the Religious Corporations Law for parishes so that a mission may operate as nearly as possible as a parish on its progress toward parish status.

It is felt that the canonical changes suggested will provide a framework adequate for present needs and flexible enough to meet any which may develop in the future.

The special committee has recommended that the plan be placed in operation as soon as possible after adoption to avoid difficulties in administration for existing committees, boards and commissions. The canonical changes which would place the plan in operation can be made at the May Convention, provided they are adopted by a two-thirds vote of both the clerical and lay orders. It would then be necessary to elect the members of the Council and this would necessitate action at another Convention because of the requirement of sixty days written notice of persons nominated for such offices. Because of these requirements it is recommended that a special convention be held in the fall. At this special convention the elective members of the Council would be chosen and the new plan would then go into operation. The Bishop has stated that he plans to call such a special convention if the plan is adopted.

CONVENTION NOMINATIONS

The Diocesan Convention on May 13th will fill many important offices by election. Principal interest will focus on the election of deputies to the General Convention of the Church which meets this year in Boston in September. The last meeting of the General Convention was held in San Francisco in 1949.

There will also be the election of four members to the Standing Committee of the Diocese. Ordinarily only two members are elected each year, but owing to the resignation of the Rev. Frederic S. Fleming, D. D. and the death of Mr. Charles A. Houston, there are two vacancies.

According to the Secretary of Convention, the Rev. Lawrence B. Larsen, the following nominations have been submitted:

CATHEDRAL HOSPITALITY HOUR

It was the last Sunday in March and the afternoon sunshine turned the western windows of the Cathedral into clusters of jewels. It touched the soaring arches of the nave with hints of rose and blue and purple, and shone upon a rather large congregation who were attending the Evening Prayer and Service of Music.

The Cadet Chapel Choir of the United States Military Academy at West Point were present with the Cathedral choir and sang the anthems and the West Point Hymn. Their closely harmonized voices enriched too all the hymns and responses of the services. The lessons were read by Major General Frederick A. Irving, Superintendent of the Academy.

In greeting the cadets and the congregation Bishop Donegan issued an invitation to what has come to be known as "The Dean's Tea". It has been issued at this service since the Rev. James A. Pike, J. S. D., became Dean of the Cathedral. It has also become the custom for the clergy to greet the congregation leaving the services and to assure them of a welcome if they would care to stay for the tea and for the discussion groups which follow.

Acceptance of the invitation has proved the teas to be a very popular and pleasant innovation, and the college and graduate group discussions have been known to continue enthusiastically far beyond the hour set for them. Sometimes as many as 150 have come to tea.

On this particular afternoon, perhaps seventy-five people sauntered across the Close to Cathedral House; then up the wide stairs, where on the landing leading to the second floor, a handsome oil painting of Bishop Manning looks down from the wall.

In the two large and graciously proportioned rooms above, the center of interest was the long tea table with its bright spring flowers, generous platters of sandwiches and cakes. The silver tea services which were in use are the property of the Cathedral Guild. Committees from the two hostess parishes poured tea and circulated among the guests to see that they were provided with refreshments and had a chance to meet the people around them.

Dean Pike in his purple cassock lent a touch of warmth and color to the scene. Mrs. Pike was present, also Canon and Mrs. Green, the Rev. and Mrs. Owen Thomas, and other members of the Cathedral family. A number of army officers from Governor's Island, representing the Chapel of St. Cornelius the Centurion were among the group.

This was the eighth tea since they were instigated on February 3 with a host and hostess committee from St. James' Church, Manhattan. Other parishes which have provided host and hostess committees are: St. George's, St. Bartholomew's, Incarnation, St. Mark's-in-the-Bouwerie, St. Thomas', Ascension, St. Philip's, Trinity, St. Cornelius the Centurion, St. Mary the Virgin, St. Bartholomew's, White Plains; Resurrection, Grace, Nyack; Christ Church, Bronxville.

The teas meet the need felt by the Diocesan College Work Commission for a gathering that would bring together college and graduate students from institutions in the Diocese. The Woman's Auxiliary through its Missions Promotion committee of which Mrs. Lawrence Rose is chairman has planned for the hosts and hostesses and the refreshments on a rotation system among the parishes.

The discussion group which gathers in the Dean's study following the tea is led by the Rev. Owen C. Thomas, Chaplain for College Work. Another group in Church History is open to all who may be interested and is led by the Rev. James Green, Canon Precentor of the Cathedral.

Thus, "in one package" is included an opportunity for members of the Episcopal Church in the Diocese to become more closely associated with their Cathedral and in a warm and informal atmosphere to combine fellowship with adult education. It gives the clergy too a chance to meet any strangers who may come and who may have some pastoral needs.

2nd ANNUAL LAYMEN'S CONFERENCE

The second annual Laymen's Conference of the Diocese will be addressed by Bishop Donegan on May 17th. The Bishop will speak on the subject "Laymen at Worship and Prayer". The theme of the Conference will be "What on Earth are you Doing" and will feature an address by Lee Bristol, Jr. of the Bristol-Meyers Corporation and a free-for-all, give-and-take discussion on "What on Earth are you Doing for your Church" lead by a panel composed of Mr. Bristol, Willard Pleuthner, Vice President of Batten, Bartin, Durstin and Osborn, Charles Bound, Guarantee Trust Company, and Rutledge Bermingham, Manager Marine Department of the Insurance Company of North America. The moderator will be Ted Gannaway, Secretary of the Program of the Church. A Workshop session by an outstanding leader in the field of Christian Social Relations is scheduled and, plane connections permitting, the Very Rev. James A. Pike, Dean of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine will speak to the Conference on the subject "The Faith of the Church".

All laymen in the Diocese are welcome at these annual conferences and the Diocesan Field Officer Corps, the Parish Keymen, and the Lay Readers are especially expected to attend. Return cards indicating the men who will attend from each parish and mission have been mailed out as widely as possible but it is not necessary to use them exclusively. Just send in your name, address and parish, and those of the men you are bringing with you, to the office of the Program of the Church, Diocesan House, 1047 Amsterdam Avenue, New York City and reservations will be made for you and your party. The sessions will begin at 2:30 Saturday Afternoon, May 17th and close by 8:30 o'clock in the evening. A buffet supper will be served. There is no fee charged for the conference or the supper. The Conference will be held in the Synod Hall on the grounds of the Cathedral Close at 110th Street and Amsterdam Avenue in New York City.

Woman's Auxiliary Delegates To Triennial

New York's Delegates to the Triennial Meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary to be held in Boston, Sept. 9-17 at the time of General Convention, will be Mrs. George W. Burpee, Mrs. John Whiteley, Mrs. Arthur J. Simpson, Mrs. William E Leidt, Mrs. Clifford J. Nuhn, Mrs. James B. Godwin. Alternates are: Mrs. Charles S. Reid, Mrs. Walker DeWaters, Mrs. Malcolm Tuttle, Miss Jessie Gillespie Willing, Miss Katharine B. Southmayd, Mrs. Isabelle Samuels-Belboder.

New Officers of Auxiliary

The Nominating Committee of the Woman's Auxiliary has presented the following to be candidates for new officers at the Annual Meeting on May 6: Vice-president in charge of Christian Social Relations, Mrs. Walker DeWaters; Vice- president in charge of Devotional Life, Mrs. Peter Oliver; Vice-president in charge of the District of Richmond, Mrs. Thomas Dobson; Treasurer for the United Thank Offering, Mrs. Harold Pim.

Daughters of the King Hold Annual Assembly

The Daughters of the King of the New York Diocese will hold their annual Diocesan Assembly on Saturday, June 7, 1952, at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, Amsterdam Avenue and 112th St., New York City. There will be a Communion Service at 10 a.m., in the Chapel of St. James, at which Canon Sparks will be the celebrant. Luncheon will be served under the auspices of the Transfiguration Chapter. All Daughters, whether presently attached to a member chapter or not, are cordially invited to attend.

Youth Sunday Observed

Sunday, May 4, 1952, was observed by the Youth of the Diocese with the celebration of a Corporate Holy Communion in many parishes and missions. Sponsored by the United Movement of the Church's Youth in cooperation with the Diocesan Board of Religious Education the service drew many young parishioners to the altars as they offered themselves in a rededication to the Church.

Archdeacon's Corner

During the winter months a group of city clergyman have come together regularly to study urban Church problems. Though it is commonly referred to as the Urban Priests' Missionary Group it has no definite organizational structure. By common consent the Rev. Paul Moore of Grace Church, Jersey City, has acted as moderator and through him and his associates much has been learned ot the methods used in the Van Vorst area of New Jersey.

Never unmindful of the first requisite of true priesthood, namely the conversion of the individual soul, the Institute has given much thought to methods and techniques leading to the revival of the city parish in changing and depressed areas.

Interest in the discussions has grown and participating clergy have come from several nearby Dioceses at the request of their bishops.

With the appointment by Bishop Donegan of the Rev. Alexander Stewart and Mr. David Weden (who will be ordained to the Diaconate soon) the "group clergy" plan will be adopted at St. Margaret's church, Bronx. The Church Vestry has assured full support of the program. St. Margaret's is in a section of the Bronx thickly populated with mixed racial groups. Intensive pastoral calling, alert work in the field of social relations will be but part of the primary function. In short everything undertaken will have direct relationship to the redemptive work of Christ and His Church.

The Diocese does not look upon this work as a novelty but as an opportunity.

—George F. Bratt

Training Conference For Instructors

Four laymen from the Diocese will attend a three day school at Seabury House, Greenwich, Connecticut May 9-11th. Messrs. Reid, Ward, Carter and Bussman of the Diocesan Field Officers Corps will represent this Diocese at the Laymen's Training Program Conference held for the selected representatives from the first and second provinces of the Church. The Training is under the direction of The Rev. Clarence R. Hayden, Jr. Executive Director of the Presiding Bishop's Committee on Laymen's Work of the National Council and Robert Jordan, Director of the Department of Promotion of the National Council.

Church Mission of Help Benefit

On Monday, April 28th, the Reverend Dr. Grieg Taber, Rector of the Church of St. Mary the Virgin, Manhattan, gave a discussion on "Some Modern Books" at a Tea at the home of Mrs. John G. Winant, the proceeds of which were for the benefit of the Youth Consultation Service of the Diocese of New York.

CAMPS AND CAMPING

St. George Camps

St. George's Church owns and operates three adjacent camps near Kingston, New York. The camps provide accomodations for 120 children at each of the two one month periods. For details address inquiries in care of the Rector, St. George's Church, 207 East 16th Street, New York, N. Y.

Incarnation Camp

The Church of the Incarnation operates a summer camp on a mile long private lake near Ivoryton, Connecticut. The month of July is for girls and August for boys. The Rev. Howard O. Bingley is the Director and further information may be obtained by addressing Chapel of the Incarnation, 240 East 31st Street, New York 16, New York.

The Ketchens at Holiday House

The Rev. and Mrs. Bradbury Ketchem, Sr. of St. John's rectory, Pleasantville, will direct the summer activities of Holiday House again this year.

Holiday House, a gracious old brick colonial home built in 1845 near the banks of the Kennebec River, on the Arnold Trail in historic Norridgewock, Maine, is for boys and girls from five to nine. A vacation home, it specializes in creating a homelike atmosphere for children away for the first time.

While Holiday House is not a "camp" in the usual sense of the word, it offers all of the advantages of camping, plus all-around family living — from comfortable beds to dining around the family table, together with all outdoor activities, including swimming in beautiful North Pond (one of the Belgrade Lakes). A trained nurse is on duty 24 hours a day. The water supply comes from deep-driven wells, tested annually. Meals are well-balanced, with fresh vegetables in abundance.

The enrollment is limited so that the best of family living in a Christian home may be offered at all times; a happy, normal mixed group of boys and girls who learn to share and become more thoughtful and considerate of others, as well as benefiting from a healthful, carefree summer in one of Maine's historic mansions.

Holiday House is open June 30th and will close on August 25th. The camp periods are for four or eight weeks. The fee is $200.00 per four-week period which includes all charges excepting transportation to and from camp. A deposit of $25.00 is due with registration. This is deducted from the final payment due June 28th. No reduction is made for late arrival or early departure. In case of withdrawal for any reason, financial loss will be shared equally by parents and directors. Arrangements are made to escort children from New York and Boston when requested by parents. Early registration is desirable. A medical examination record signed by the family physician must be presented one week before admission.

Grace Camp for Boys

The Grace Camp for Boys located on the shores of Lake Kanawanka in Bear Mountain Park, New York will open the summer season on June 27, 1952, according to an announcement by Mr. Peter C. Haeffner, chairman of the Camp Committee. Campers may enroll for either or both of two four week periods with the closing date set for August 22nd. Grace Camp has been operated by Grace Church, Manhattan for thirty-two years and enjoys a very high reputation for its facilities and program. For more detailed information address Mr. Haeffner at the offices of Grace Church, 802 Broadway, New York City.

Camp For Students

What is it? A new experience in social and human relationships. Ten to twelve selected students will live as a team in a labor camp of 750 to 900 migrant workers.

Where is it? In Kings Ferry, New York, on Cayuga Lake, north of Ithaca.

What is there to do? Instruction and counselling of children and adolescents in group play, the three R's and Christian living.

Who is eligible? Juniors and seniors in college, graduate students, and especially those with special talents in elementary teaching, craft, or swimming instruction, or music.

When will it be? June 25 to August 31, 1952.

How much will it cost? Transportation and incidental personal expenses. Room and board provided.

Who is sponsoring it? The work Camp Committee of the Department of Christian Social Relations of the Diocese of Central New York. For further information, or for Kodachrome slides and script on last year's project, write to 429 James Street, Syracuse 33, N.Y.

Deaconess Bazaar
At Synod House

A Bazaar will be held by the Woman's Auxiliary on Tuesday, May 6th, following the U. T. O. Service, in the Undercroft of the Synod House. The proceeds will go toward the Fund for the Deaconess Central House, to be located in Chicago, for training Deaconess Candidates, and as a headquarters for those on furlough, and as a place of refreshment between assignments to work. Articles on sale come from the various mission fields, where Deaconesses are now at work.

Church School Offering
To Be Presented

The annual presentation service of the offerings of the Church Schools of the Diocese will take place on Saturday May 24th. Registration blanks have been mailed to all parishes and missions and these are to be completed and returned to the offices of the Diocesan Board of Religious Education on or before May 15th.

Last year 232 parishes and missions participated in the Offering and more than three thousand children, priests and interested adults attended the service.

The offering amounting in the past to more than forty thousand dollars is used to further the missionary work of the Church.

Episcopal Social Workers Hold Annual Dinner

The Annual Dinner for Episcopal Social Workers in the public and private social agencies of the metropolitan area was held at St. Bartholomew's Community House, 107 East 50th Street, New York, on the evening of Tuesday, April 29th.

Mrs. Paul W. Guyler, Executive Director of the National Committee on Social Work in Defense Mobilization, spoke on social work in the Armed Forces and in the new defense industry communities. The National Committee, whose office is located at 1 Park Avenue, is sponsored by the five professional social workers' organizations: The American Association of Psychiatric Social Workers, The American Association of School Social Workers, and The American Association of School of Social Work.

Mrs. Guyler is a graduate of the New York School of Social Work, and was formerly Program Consultant for The New York Junior League. She is a communicant of St. George's Church, New York.

Chaplain Julian S. Ellenberg, St. Luke's Hospital, Tokyo recently returned from Korea told of the social work that has sprung up spontaneously among the officers and men of the Armed Forces, to serve South Korean civilians.

Wellesley Conferences At Wheaton College

The Wellesley Conference and the Wellesley Youth Conference for the entire Church will be held at Wheaton College, Norton, Mass. June 22-28, 1952. The keynote theme of the Adult Conference will be "The Redemptive Fellowship" and the Rev. John Heuss, Jr., Rector of Trinity Parish, Manhattan and retiring Director of the National Department of Christian Education will lead the course of study. He will be assisted by Mrs. Dora P. Chaplin, The Rev. V. D. Ward, Canon Theodore O. Wedel, and Prof. Reuel L. Howe.

The Youth Conference held simultaneously will keynote the theme "The Redemptive Fellowship and Youth" and will enjoy the same National Council team of leaders listed above. In addition the Youth Conference will offer courses in "Preparation for Christian Marriage" lead by the Rev. John B. Coburn and "Christianity of Main Street" directed by the Rev. Robert L. Curry. The question of "Why Read the Bible, and How" will be developed the Rev. Chandler H. McCarty.

The Conferences will be rounded out by discussions of such current topics as "Contemporary Social Groups speaking in the name of Christianity", the "Missionary Challenge of Today", "Serious Problems in Church Personnel", "Contemporary Religious Drama" and "Christian Doctrine and Ethics" of particular interest to adults.

The Youth Conference will attack such topics as "Women's Vocations", "Building One World in Christ", "The Meaning of the Prayer Book" and "Christianity and Politics" lead by outstanding priests interested in these fields.

Registration is open to all communicants and the full fee is forty-five dollars which includes room, board and registration. Details will be supplied by Miss Beatrice M. Hamilton, 1 Joy Street, Boston 8

European Churches Welcome Visitors

According to the American Express "News Bulletin", the greatest European tourist season in history is predicted for 1952. Spring and Summer Trans-Atlantic space is already at a premium.

The American Episcopal Churches in Europe, the Rt. Rev. J. I. Blair Larned, D. D., Bishop in Charge, are ready and eager to welcome all visiting Americans to their services and activities. They are: The Pro-Cathedral Church of the Holy Trinity, located in the heart of Paris, 23, Avenue George V., just off the Champs-Elysees, the Very Rev. Sturgis L. Riddle, Dean; the Church of the Holy Spirit, Avenue Victor Hugo, Nice, the Rev. Charles Shreve, Rector; Emanuel Church, Geneva, the Rev. Thomas L. Cox, Rector; St. Paul's Church, Rome, the Rev. Hillis Duggins, Rector; St. James' Church, Florence, the Rev. Victor Stanley, Rector. These Churches are among the most beautiful in Europe, and their clergy and congregations extend a most cordial welcome to all Americans.

Japanese Clergy Families Sent Easter Gifts

An Easter treat of canned foods, over a ton altogether, was sent by the Japan Committee of the Woman's Auxiliary for Japanese clergy families. Since most Japanese clergy spend five or six days a week in renumerative work apart from their parochial duties in order to provide for their families in these days of meagre resources in the Japanese church, this gift represents a real gesture of encouragement.

Contributions of sugar, soap, shortening, powered milk, canned meats, etc. were assembled at Diocesan House from many Auxiliary Branches from all Districts, from Dutchess to Richmond. Gifts of cash were used to cover packing for overseas shipment, insurance and freight and a sum was sent to Bishop Yashiro for expenses of distribution at the Japan end. Gifts received too late to go to Japan were given to needy Puerto Rican families in the Church in New York.

One Hundredth Anniversary Tea At St. Luke's Home

The One Hundredth Anniversary of St. Luke's Home for Aged Women was observed on Thursday, May 1st, at which Bishop Donegan cut the Anniversary cake.

WESTCHESTER

The Men's Club of SAINT MARK'S, Nepara Park, are planning a fishing expedition and everybody up there is getting excited about it. They have chartered a boat for May 10th which will leave City Island at 8:00 a.m. and carry them to Oyster Bay where they expect to wet there lines and garner the fish.

The Parish Bulletin also states that the beautiful oil painting of our Lord which was painted by Mrs. Bertram J. Mortlock and given to the Church in memory of Mrs. Albert Mitchell has been recently waterproofed.

A new Fair Linen Cloth for the altar has been presented to TRINITY CHURCH, Mount Vernon, by Miss Mary Hayward as a thanksgiving for blessings received. A lovely blue pad embroidered with the Cross for the large Alms Basin at the Altar was given to the Church by Miss Ruth Cramer as a thanksgiving for the privilege of working with the Choir Girls and with her Sunday School Class.

A very colorful service took place on Easter Day at CHRIST CHURCH, TARRYTOWN, during the Church School Service. Children of the Church came forward to the chancel and placed their Lenten Mite Boxes in compartments on the back of a huge cross and each child put a white carnation on the front at the same time. The result was a beautiful white floral piece symbolical of the season.

The following statement comes from The Spire, The bulletin of CHRIST CHURCH, Bronxville, N. Y., quoting the rector, the Rev. Harold F. Hohly, "Two weeks ago I was proud and happy to announce that Christ Church Parish stood first in Westchester, and eighth in the Diocese in our giving to the Mission of the Church. This the first time in nineteen years that our Parish has been first in the County." They exceeded their quota by five hundred dollars.

SAINT JOHN'S CHURCH, Larchmont, has completely renovated the Vestry Room of the Church. This work was done under the direction and with the help of Mr. William N. Gillette, who is an architect.

TRINITY CHURCH, Ossining, N. Y., plans to devote the whole of this year's Easter Offering to repairs on the main church buildings. According to the Trinity Church News this work is badly needed.

The rector of SAINT JOHN'S CHURCH, Yonkers, is very much pleased with the preliminary reports on pledges for the "Saint John's Building Fund." A campaign is now in progress in the parish to raise funds to completely renovate the Church buildings in preparation for the anniversary.

Many fine comments are being received by the REV. LEMUEL WINTERBOTTOM, Convocation Chairman of the Episcopal Church Radio Program in Westchester. This program is given every Thursday at 9:00 a.m. and the clergy of the Convocation are the speakers. They are given over Station WFAS White Plains, N.Y.

CHRIST CHURCH, Tarrytown, was beautifully decorated with flowers at Easter. Following the custom of many years, the Duchess de Talleyrand, a member of the parish brought the flowers from her greenhouse to the Church for the festival. The whole community share in this as the Church is kept open until late at night on Easter day for visitors.

On April 8th the congregation of ST. LUKE'S CHURCH, Tuckahoe, met as a body and voted to become a parish. The certificate of incorporation was filed on April 12th and St. Luke's is now incorporated under the name of the Rector, Churchwardens and Vestrymen of St. Luke's Church, Eastchester, N.Y.

The first wardens are Mr. J. E. Westerlund and Mr. J. Shriver. The first vestrymen are Messers. E. Driver, William Gottfreid, H. Hintermeister, J. F. Stanter, D. C. Andrews, D. Madinger, D. T. Madson, J. F. Metzger, C. Burgess, A. B. Peterson, D. Ruley, and H. Tietjen.

The Rev. Percy L. Johnson who has been Vicar of the Mission and who is acting as locum tenens until a rector is called, presided at the meeting.

MANHATTAN

Queen Juliana of the Netherlands and Prince Bernhard visited ST. MARTINS' CHURCH during the royal visit to New York. The carillon at St. Martin's, as well as the new swinging bells, were all cast at the Royal Dutch Bell Foundry in Holland. The Queen listened to a recital of Dutch airs given on the carillon by Dr. Kamiel Le Fevre, carilloneur at Riverside Church, and declared them to be "true Flemish bells." Both Queen and consort later signed St. Martin's Parish register and declared that they would "like to come back again."

An excellent copy of Murillo's "Madonna and Child" has been presented to ST. MARTIN'S CHURCH, by the Rev. Dr. Randolph Ray, rector of the Church of the Transfiguration. It is in memory of the Rev. John Wesley Johnson, for many years rector of St. Cyprian's where Dr. Ray preached his first sermon after his ordination as a priest, June 11, 1912.

The painting is the work of Carlo Falcini and is dated 1846. The original hangs in the Pitti Palace in Italy.

The Rev. G. Clare Backhurst has succeeded the Rev. Dr. Samuel Shoemaker as rector of CALVARY CHURCH. Mr. Backhurst was formerly Associate Rector of Calvary.

The Rev. John Heuss, D.D., S.T.D., will be instituted as the thirteenth Rector of TRINITY CHURCH on Tuesday morning in Whitsun Week, June 3rd, 1952, at 10:30.

The Easter Offering of ST. JAMES CHURCH was given for the extension of the Christian Ministry at home and abroad. The annual Spring Festival for the benefit of the Episcopal City Mission Society of New York was held on April 24 and 25.

The son of the rector of GRACE CHURCH, the Rev. Louis W. Pitt, Jr., was the guest preacher on April 20th.

The Junior Girl's Friendly Society of HOLY TRINITY CHURCH have accepted All Soul's School, in the Virgin Islands, as their missionary project.

Bishop DeWolfe of Long Island preached the Three Hours on Good Friday at the CHURCH OF THE TRANSFIGURATION. Dr. Ran-

The Vassar College Choir and the New York University Glee Club joined in singing Mozart's "Requiem" and Brahm's "Song of Triumph" at ST. THOMAS' CHURCH on Sunday, April 27.

The Convocation of Manhattan held its Spring Meeting at the HEAVENLY REST on April 23. An account of the meeting will follow in the next issue.

It is interesting to note that the following churches list parish libraries in their weekly bulletins: Intercession, St. John's in the Village, St. Bartholomew's, St. George's, Resurrection, St. James' and Trinity.

All Angels' Parish will hold the annual May-Fair on Saturday, May 10th from noon until midnight. Mrs. DuMont F. Elmendorf is the chairman in charge of the Fair.

Children of the first three grades of the Church School of the CHURCH OF THE HEAVENLY REST, presented The Stolen Prince and The Lost Princess, a Chinese play by Dan Totheroch, on April 30. It was presented in the Chinese manner, meaning no curtains or scenery.

William N. McKie, organist and master of choristers of Westminster Abbey, London, gave an organ recital at the CATHEDRAL OF ST. JOHN THE DIVINE the evening of April 29.

BRONX

A Spring Conference for the men and young men of the Bronx was held at the CHURCH OF THE HOLY NATIVITY, on four successive Mondays beginning with Monday, April 21. The subject for discussion was "The Faith of the Church" and the leader was the Rev. Frank L. Carruthers, rector of St. George's Church in Newburg. The Conference is sponsored by the Committee on Men's Work, Convocation of the Bronx.

The Spring Meeting of the Convocation was held at the Church of the HOLY NATIVITY, on Tuesday, April 22nd, Bishop Boynton presiding.

The Archdeacon of New York spoke of the new arrangements at SAINT MARGARET'S CHURCH, and the plans for the future of the work there, under the leadership of the Rev. Alexander Stewart. Fr. Stewart will have the assistance of a Deacon, beginning early in the summer.

The Annual Luncheon of the WOMEN of the CONVOCATION was held on Tuesday, April 29th. Every parish was represented. The Rev. Harold Hohly, Rector of Christ Church, Bronxville, was the speaker.

The Confirmation Class of 1952, at ST. PAUL'S, MORRISANIA, has presented a Paschal Candlestand, which was blessed on Holy Saturday.

The "Men of St. Luke's" (WILLIAMSBRIDGE) entertained the people of the Parish at a Communion breakfast, on Low Sunday. The speakers were the Rev. Dudley Cobham of St. Philip's, Harlem, and Dr. Alphonse Heninburg of the Welfare Department of New York City.

The St. James' Choral Society (FORDHAM) presented "The Mikado" to a large and appreciative audience on April 25th, and 26th.

The Rev. Howard D. Perkins, formerly of the Church of St. Mary the Virgin, Chappaqua, is now Vicar of the Church of ST. MARY of the ANGELS (along with ST. PAUL'S EASTCHESTER). This congregation was founded more than thirty years ago, by the Rev. Don Lorenzo di Sano, recently retired, and was at that time the only church in the neighborhood, for Italian speaking people.

It is with pleasure indeed that the Vestry announced that the Rev. Mr. Creech assumed his duties at ST. MARTHA'S on Palm Sunday.

Mr. Creech leaves behind him an outstanding record of service, progress and accomplishments at St. Andrew's, Beacon. This is due in part to the fact that he had the wholehearted support and aid of the congregation. We feel sure he will receive similar backing here. The men and women of St. Martha's are well know for their willingness to give bountifully of their time, talents and money for the work of the church.

DUTCHESS

A chapter of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew has been organized in GRACE CHURCH, MILLBROOK, with John Conover as director; Julian Carter, vice-director; Howard Evans, secretary-treasurer.

Three Missions, — REGENERATION, ST. JAMES' AND ST. THOMAS' IN PINE PLAINS, DOVER PLAINS AND AMENIA —all under the direction of the Rev. Kenneth Dresher, report progress in the monthly bulletin, "Episcopal Church Tidings." A new motion picture projector was used at a recent supper. The Dover Plains Church is being rewired and new center aisle fixtures installed. At Pine Plains, the outside sign is repainted and the guild has decided to redecorate the vestibule.

All eyes at ST. PAUL'S in POUGHKEEPSIE are fastened on the June bazaar the proceeds of which will go towards expenses incurred in repairs to the steeple, a local landmark, and a uniform heating system. A church school card party and a magicians' show with an all-star cast have already increased the repair fund.

The Easter garden, a replica of the Easter story similar to the Christmas Creche, was set up in the children's chapel at CHRIST CHURCH, POUGKEEPSIE, again this year. The church was open during Easter week and the children and their parents urged to visit. Christ Church has also been presented with a beautiful silver ciborium by the Rev. Canon George Kinkead in memory of his late sister, Miss Cornelia Dodge Kinkead. The ciborium, which was pictured recently on the cover of the Living Church, was made in London by the firm of Louis Grosse, Ltd.

Queen Juliana of the Netherlands attended service on Palm Sunday in ST. JAMES' CHURCH, HYDE PARK in company with Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, a communicant. As the Queen was leaving church, after receiving communion, she was given a palm frond and one of the palm crosses presented each year to the parish in memory of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

A chalice veil and stole of white brocade with gold velvet orphreys and a taffetta Episcopal church flag have been dedicated at ZION CHURCH, WAPPINGERS FALLS. On the Sunday after Easter, Clinton Dugger, was admitted as a lay reader in a formal ceremony at the late service.

Mansfield, chairman, Theodor Oxholm, G. Forrest Butterworth. Back row: Rev. Leland B. Henry, Rev. Albert A. Chambers, Rev. Leslie J. A. Lang. The Rev. Hugh D. McCandless, the Rev. Bernard C. Newman and Mr. Ludlow S. Fowler were also members of the Committee.

Children's Presentation Service

More than one thousand children from more than one hundred parishes and missions of the Diocese gathered on the grounds of the Cathedral Close on Saturday, May 24th to present their total missionary offering which this year amounted to forty thousand six hundred dollars.

The colorful processional got underway at two thirty in the afternoon and after winding about the Cathedral grounds passed in review before the Bishops and clergy standing on the balcony of the Laymen's Club.

At the service that followed the combined offerings were presented at the High Altar.

Church Finances Discussed

On May 7 the Finance Department of the National Council played host at 281 Fourth Avenue, N. Y., to an informal group of men, most of them diocesan officials. The purpose of the meeting was for a mutual exchange of ideas on matters of finance which are to be referred to the General Convention.

The meeting was presided over by Mr. H. M. Addinsell, Treasurer. It was the unanimous feeling of all those present that this discussion and study of Church business affairs was so valuable and necessary that the practice is to be continued in the future. Theodor Oxholm, Assistant Treasurer, represented the Diocese of New York. The agenda included a discussion of the method of apportionment of missionary quotas and the revision of the annual parochial report form and annual Diocesan report to the National Council.

THE BISHOP'S ADDRESS

TO THE 170th ANNUAL DIOCESAN CONVENTION

Brethren of the Clergy and Laity:

GRACE be unto you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ. It is a pleasure to welcome you to the one hundred and seventieth Convention of the Diocese.

We are here to review the work of the Church since the preceding Convention and to plan for the year ahead. In a far-flung Diocese such as ours there are few opportunities for the clergy and lay representatives of our congregations to meet together. It is therefore salutary for us to make the most of this opportunity for fellowship and common prayer, as well as to confer about the business affairs of the Church's life.

We miss the presence of our former beloved Father-in-God whose service to the Diocese is well known to us all. Bishop Gilbert is doubtless thinking of us today as we have him on our thoughts at this time.

At the outset I wish to thank all the members of the Diocesan staff for their dependability and cooperation. I would express my gratitude to Bishop Boynton, my loyal colleague, for his valuable assistance and partnership in our common task. My appreciation is also due to the Venerable George Bratt, our faithful Archdeacon, who is unwearying in cheerfully carrying out the many responsibilities of his office. I would acknowledge my thanks to Mr. Theodor Oxholm for his devoted interest in the life of the Church in this Diocese and for his helpfulness at all times; to Mr. Ted Gannaway, Executive Secretary of the Committee on the Program of the Church. My appreciation also to Miss Carol Rede, Mrs. George Adams and Miss Anne Weber, who on June first will have served the Diocese thirty-four years. The work of the Secretary and Registrar of Convention, The Reverend Lawrence B. Larsen calls for thanks on the part of us all. No one but the Bishop is fully aware of the time and energy given in the service of the Church by the Chancellor, Mr. Forrest Butterworth. He is to the Bishop and to the Diocese a tower of wisdom and strength. And so my gratitude to these people and to many others, the heads of Departments, the Cathedral staff, to the clergy and laity who help to make the office of Diocesan Bishop a pleasant task.

Second Suffragan Bishop

As you all know, the clergy and clerks of the vestries and advisory boards were notified by me some time ago that the election of a second Suffragan Bishop had been postponed. It was my carefully considered and prayerful judgment, in which the Standing Committee concurred, that it was in the best interests of the Diocese that the election of a second Suffragan Bishop should not be held at this time.

Official Acts

The canons of our Church require that the Bishop of every Diocese and Missionary District must report annually to the Convention on the welfare of the Church and submit certain statistical information. Accompanying this address is a detailed list of my official acts and required statistics. My journal and other data are filed with the Secretary of Convention.

I would, however, at this time report that during the past year 2,785 persons have been confirmed in the Diocese; 146 persons were received from the Roman Communion, 8 from the Orthodox Churches, and 1 from the Swedish Lutheran Church, making a total increase of 2,940 in communicant membership.

Again this past year there have been numerous changes in our Diocesan family. At the Holy Communion this morning we remembered before God the clergy and laity of Convention and others who since our last assembling together have entered into eternal life. May the souls of the faithful departed rest in peace and may light perpetual shine upon them.

Ten of our clergy have resigned from the active ministry since the last Convention, namely: The Reverend Messrs. David Bowen, Lorenzo Di Sano, Frederick S. Fleming, Robert Gay, John B. Myers, Francis S. Smith, Herbert R. Stevenson, George W. H. Troop, Leo Twinem, and William T. Walsh. We wish them health and happiness in their retirement.

I have received twenty-four clergy into the Diocese whom I welcome collectively and cordially to our fellowship; may their ministry here be joyful and fruitful. Twenty clergy have been transferred to other Dioceses. Fifteen clergy have been instituted as Rectors of parishes.

Since the last Convention I have ordained 15 Candidates for Holy Orders to the Diaconate and 13 Deacons to the Priesthood. It is encouraging to report that there are 53 postulants and candidates from this Diocese studying for Holy Orders and 36 pre-theological students. The complete list of official Episcopal acts will be found in the Journal.

New Dean

An important event in our Diocesan life this past year was the Installation by the Bishop of The Very Reverend Dr. James A. Pike as fifth Dean of our Cathedral Church of St. John the Divine. The Dean is well known to us having served in the Diocese a number of years as Tutor and Fellow of the General Theological Seminary, Rector of Christ Church, Poughkeepsie, and Chaplain of Columbia University. We are confident that Dr. Pike's leadership as Dean will be outstanding. He will always bear in mind the two great objectives of the Cathedral, the reverent worship of God and the faithful preaching of Christ, and he will, I know, carry forward the purpose of the founders of our Cathedral namely that it should be "a house of prayer for all people; an instrument of Church unity and a center of intellectual light and leading in the spirit of Jesus Christ."

Anniversaries

A number of parishes have held important anniversaries during the past year. A few weeks ago I officiated in a most impressive Centennial Celebration of the Church of the Incarnation, Manhattan. We congratulate that parish and its Rector, The Reverend John A. Bell. St. Luke's Home for Aged Women this month celebrated its 100th Anniversary. St. Luke's is an Episcopal Home whose ministry to the aged in this city gives us ample reason to be justly proud.

New Parishes

It is encouraging to report that since last Convention five congregations have become independent, self-supporting parishes and will no longer need Diocesan aid. In Richmond Convocation St. Anne's Church (formerly a mission) and the Church of the Holy Comforter (an assisted Parish) united to form the new and vigorous incorporated parish, St. Alban's, with the Rev. Donald Cheetham, Rector.

In Westchester Convocation, St. Mark's, North Yonkers, is now an incorporated Parish, with the Rev. Bertram J. Mortlock as Rector.

In Manhattan Convocation, St. Luke's, Edgecombe Avenue, is now the self-supporting parish of St. Luke, the Beloved Physician. St. Luke's, Tuckahoe, which has received no financial assistance from the Diocese for some time is now an incorporated Parish and has called as its first Rector, The Rev. Newell Lasher.

Mr. R. H. Mansfield presents the report of the Committee on Reorganization to the Diocesan Convention.

In the Convocaton of Ramapo, St. Stephen's, Pearl River, recently became an incorporated parish. The Reverend Ernest Churchill, who I am glad to say is rapidly recovering from an illness, will be the first Rector. We heartily congratulate the clergy, vestry and people of these new parishes on their accomplishments. Three of these parishes, St. Mark's, Yonkers, St. Alban's, Richmond, and St. Luke's the Beloved Physician were received into union with the Convention today.

New Buildings

During the past year two new church buildings have been completed. St. Luke's, Williamsbridge, in the Bronx, The Rev. Hugh Hudson Henry, Vicar, is a large and impressive structure, adequate for the needs of its growing congregation. The construction of St. Luke's Church was the last of the projects made possibe by the cornerstone campaign.

The first congregation to receive assistance through the annual budget provision for the erection of new churches is St. Augustine's in Yonkers, the Reverend Alger Adams, Vicar. This beautiful church will be dedicated by the Bishop next month.

The congregation of St. Francis, Elmsford, The Reverend Alger Adams, Vicar, now worships in the church moved by the Missionary Society from Rifton to the present location.

You will notice that these manifestations of vigorous life are not confined to any one area. They clearly show a renewal and growth throughout the whole expanse of our Diocese.

Finances

Last year I reported that our missionary giving in 1950 exceeded any amount previously contributed for the Diocesan and National Budgets of the Church. In 1951 we improved on this record and maintained our position as the largest contributor to the budget of the National Council.

However, despite this encouraging achievement, we were very far short of our missionary quota and, as a result, our approved Diocesan agencies have again had to struggle along on reduced budgets and, in some cases, on the part-time services of their officials. The National Council program has been similarly curtailed.

I would remind you that all missionary receipts which are applied to parish quotas are by canon of the General Convention subject to division between the Diocese and the National Council in the ratio that our Diocesan Budget bears to our National Council apportionment. Nearly two-thirds of every dollar contributed is paid toward our National Council obligation.

For some time we have questioned the equality of the system of apportionment approved by the General Convention and I am glad to report that a special committee of General Convention, appointed to inquire into this matter, has recommended changes in the method of apportionment which, if adopted, will result in a decrease in our share of the National Council Budget. Representatives of the Diocese appeared before this special committee to present arguments in favor of a change in the method.

But while a reduction in our National Council apportionment will make our total goal more realistic in terms of our ability to give, it is imperative that the parishes now meeting their quotas continue to contribute at the present level, although it may be beyond the mathematical quota assigned by the new apportionment. Whatever method of apportionment may be worked out by the Committee on Diocesan Finances for the distribution of quotas to parishes and missions, I urge upon you all that there be no relaxation in your efforts to increase your gifts and no reduction in the giving of any congregation.

The Bishop's Offering

I know that you are as concerned as I am that New York should support in its fullest dimensions the National and overseas missionary work of this Church. I believe also that you share with me a desire that New York should adequately support its Diocesan agencies and meet some of the challenges facing the Church within our Diocese. No one can know as does the Bishop the total Diocesan picture in terms of tasks and opportunities. No one is more eager than I to see the Church fulfill its ministry at home. But, as you are aware, the results of the Every Member Canvass for the past several years has not provided the necessary funds required by the authorized Diocesan missionary agencies.

The Rev. Lawrence Larsen, Secretary of the Convention, reads order of business at Diocesan Convention. Bishop Donegan, Bishop Boynton and Mr. G. Forrest Butterworth, Chancellor of the Diocese, check the calendar.

In order to meet this situation the Committee on Allocation of Missionary Funds, having heard the Diocesan agencies tell of their needs, unanimously recommended to me that there be a Special Offering to be known as The Bishop's Offering for Diocesan Work. I have therefore designated Sunday, May 25th, for The Bishop's Offering. The amount contributed will be assigned to the four agencies that are facing serious curtailment of their authorized activities, namely: City Mission Society, Episcopal Service to the Aged, Seamen's Church Institute, and Youth Consultation Service.

The offering will be expended within the Diocese and therefore will not apply to the parish quotas. I have asked the Committee on the Program of the Church to organize and direct a campaign to ensure the widest publicity and to provide proper materials for this purpose. It is my hope that you will give your whole-hearted cooperation in obtaining maximum participation by all your parishioners.

The Bishop's Offering will enable our people to share in providing a fund to take care of the most urgent unmet needs of existing agencies. I know that as your Bishop I can depend on you for your best effort in behalf of the Church and the Diocese in making this offering a most worthy one.

Clergy Salaries

A matter which gives me increasing concern in this inflationary period in which we are living is that of the inadequacy of the stipends which are being paid to our parish and mission clergy. The median cash stipend paid to the clergy in this Diocese is $3,600. This means that one-half of our clergy receive less than $3,600 per year. Not only is this completely inadequate when related to increases in the cost of living, but it is lower than that prevailing in many other Dioceses.

In our Missionary Society with limited funds we are trying desperately to bring the stipends of our clergy above this median and by the end of this year we hope to exceed it on the average. But for the parishes it is a problem that can be solved only by the vestries and the people themselves. Time after time, during the period I have been your Bishop, vestries which have lost their Rectors have found that they could not replace them at the stipends being offered. I might add that it is probable that within the next few years we will face a shortage in the National Church of more than 2,000 clergymen.

In an age when skilled and semi-skilled workers in industry earn wages of from $5,000 to $7,000 per year and need such wages to support their families, how can we expect our clergy to maintain their self respect, to devote themselves with consecration to their vocations and to raise and educate their children on levels of stipends that were barely sufficient five to ten years ago?

Men are not drawn to the priesthood for financial gain, but they have every reason to expect that a congregation of Christian people will see their clergy and their families are provided for in an adequate way.

I would like this Convention by appropriate action to bring this matter to the attention of our vestries and toward this end would suggest that the matter be referred to the Committee on Miscellaneous Business for a recommendation.

Reorganization of the Diocese

At my direction the clergy, vestries and advisory boards were sent copies of the report of the Committee on Reorganization of the Diocese about two months ago. It was my hope that this would give opportunity for full study so that when we gathered here today we should all be fully informed regarding the important changes in our canons which the report recommends. I am glad to tell you that only one suggested amendment involving policy has been made and it appears in the Calendar of Business. This in itself is a high compliment to the work of the Committee and I wish to add my own appreciation of their achievement. All the clerical members of the Committee are men who have had long service on many boards and commissions as they exist today and others have had valuable experience in Dioceses where the Council system has been in effect. The lay members of the Committee are either outstanding attorneys or business executives, all active in Diocesan affairs and having intimate knowledge of the Diocesan organization.

At the Committee's request its Chairman conferred with me several times during the course of the Committee's deliberations and hence were able to reach unanimous agreement.

There can be little doubt in the mind of anyone of the need of modernization of our present antiquated system of operation. It is clear that all our Diocesan agencies should function, not singly as independent units, but as part of our Diocesan family. In this way a spirit of cooperation is engendered that will help all agencies in their respective tasks.

I firmly believe that under the proposed new arrangement the membership of all our departments will be composed of fully qualified people fairly representative of all areas of the Diocese. Because of the special qualifications required in many cases, it is my opinion that the choice for members of Council should not be on a geographical basis except as the report recommends in connection with the Department of Missions. In the work of this department the parish clergy in the several Convocations are constantly needed for advice and consultation and in my judgment the membership of the Deans in the department is essential.

As I said in submitting the report for your consideration, I am certain that the recommendations, if enacted into legislation, will meet the present requirements of our administrative system and provide a frame-work which can adjust itself to changing conditions and eventualities. I trust that you will endorse the recommendations of the Committee.

If you adopt the canonical changes necessary to implement the recommendations of the Committee, I intend to call a Special Convention in October for the election of the members of the Council. This will make it possible for the new plan to be in operation by the end of this year. This is important, as already some of our agencies are marking time in view of the possible changes to be made in their status.

I also plan that we shall use this Special Convention as a means to inform our clergy and parish and mission delegates of the needs of the new Council for its work during the next year, and for reports from our deputies to the General Convention which by that time will have been adjourned. It would be an inspirational and educational meeting such as we have not had for some time. The Special Convention would take the place of the Annual Fall Clergy Conference at West Point.

Education

The matter of education, which is in the forefront of our Church's thinking leads me to make some observations on this whole subject. All of us are aware of the statement recently made by a noted educator to the effect that there is no room in our democracy for private school education. This brings in the question of the growing concern of our Church for Christian day school education. I was pleased that our Dean so admirably answered the criticisms and left no doubt in anyone's mind about our Church's attitude.

One of the most significant contemporary developments in the life of our Diocese is the increased attention being given to Christian day school education. This type of education is under attack by prominent educators, who are seeking to discourage the provision of religious-oriented education by the voluntary support of parishes and parents. They claim that such schools are inimical to American democracy. They make a great mistake; our American tradition is not one of totalitarianism in education any more than in any other aspect of life; it is one of freedom, freedom for parents to provide for their children the education which they believe will bring to them the finest fulfillment. We do not question the importance of public schools, but we do believe that democracy itself is furthered by education which is grounded in the true meaning of man's existence, which the Christian faith can provide, but which a secular frame of reference can never provide.

Naturally as your chief Pastor, I am concerned that the Church in this Diocese take advantage of every opportunity for the spiritual nurture of our young people. While we must support our church schools, we must also be alert to take advantage of the released time program of our public schools. We must not neglect the opportunity which is presented to strengthen the religious education of our young people in the public schools through the use of released time, now that the "green light" has been given this system by the Supreme Court of the United States.

The majority opinion makes clear that this system of cooperation between religion and the schools is in line "with our best traditions" and the approval of the Court now puts it up to the Churches to realize this opportunity to its fullest. We have not always done this. Often when the opportunity for such education has been available our parishes have either failed to provide any such instruction or have not given it whole hearted interest and support. The very best skill available in the parish, including the time of our clergy should be devoted to this task. Every effort should be made to procure the necessary consent from parents so that all of our children who are in the public schools may regularly be receiving this additional opportunity of religious instruction which can well supplement the very limited time which we give to religious instruction on Sunday mornings.

Committee on Drug Addiction

A matter of grave concern to all in this city is the fact of the alarming increase of drug addiction. On learning of the extent of narcotic drug addiction, especially as it affects young people, I appointed a special committee under the chairmanship of the Reverend Canon Charles T. Bridgeman to study the problem. I am grateful for the excellent report and the recommendations contained therein which I recently received and have now under consideration. It is clear to me that the study of the problem of drug addiction and its control sponsored by our church must go on and I trust that Dr. Bridgeman and his committee will continue their interest as a Special Committee of the Commission on Christian Social Relations.

Woman's Auxiliary

No report on the affairs of the Diocese would be complete without reference to the outstanding work of the Woman's Auxiliary. These women are of unfailing assistance in forwarding the work of our Church. I am profoundly grateful for their prayers, their loyalty, their unselfish devotion, and their missionary zeal.

Conclusion

Any meeting of the Church which directs our attention towards so many details of business may obscure the real function of the Church's life. In our reflection on all these matters let us be c e r t a i n we see clearly the spiritual realities they are meant to serve.

There is a pertinent suggestion in this post-Easter season. When St. Peter was at his business of fishing he became aware of the Risen Lord. Let us realize our Lord's presence in all that we do and say and plan here today. Thus shall our work not only be successful but also be sanctified. Important as our material resources are in carrying on our work, they are all secondary to the resources of our faith in Him Who strengthens us and makes us able for all things.

As St. Paul writes to the Corinthians, "One saith I am of Paul and another I am of Apollos: are ye not material? Who t h e n is Paul and who is Apollos, but ministers by whom ye believed, even as the Lord gave to every man.

I have planted, Apollos watered, but God gave the increase. All things are y o u r s; and ye are Christ's; and Christ is God's."

And so I conclude this report with gratitude for such advances we have made, fully aware how much your loyalty and cooperation have been responsible for the progress and achievements of the past year. The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with us all evermore.

New Chaplain of College Work

On June 30th the Rev. John W. Pyle, present Vicar of the Chapel of the Redeemer, Yonkers, will resign his post to accept the post of Diocesan Chaplain of College Work. He will assume the duties of the Rev. Owen Thomas who is leaving to become an instructor at the E p i s c o p a l Theological School, Cambridge, Mass.

Chaplain Pyle was born in Los Angeles, Calif., and received his bachelors degree from the University of California in 1936 and his masters in 1938. He attended the Divinity School of the Pacific graduating in 1941 and was ordained deacon that year. He later served as a navy chaplain.

The Bishop Commends St. Luke's Home

At the 100th Anniversary Tea at St. Luke's Home May 1st, The Rt. Rev. W. B. Donegan, Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of New York, said "the care of people of advanced years is a matter of concern to the Episcopal Church. It is a definite part of the Church's ministry. The state can provide certain economic securities for older people, but the state can never provide the affection and spirit which characterizes St. Luke's Home." (See the picture on page twenty-one).

DIOCESAN CONVENTION--1952

The 170th Convention of the Diocese of New York met on Tuesday, May 13th and accomplished much important business. Harmony and a cooperative spirit prevailed in all of its deliberations.

The adoption of a far reaching plan of reorganization of the Diocese was voted by the convention. This will make possible a much more efficient and effective management of the work of the Diocese. This reorganization plan was submitted by a committee, appointed by Bishop Donegan after the 1951 convention, and was accepted with few minor changes by an almost unanimous vote.

This plan of the reorganization of the Diocese was printed in the May issue of the Bulletin. The new Canons, as passed, create an Executive Council in the Diocese, under the leadership of the Bishop. This Council will be charged with carrying out the work of the Diocese between conventions. The various departments and agencies which have previously reported only to the convention and have had little or no relationship with each other, will now all be a part of the Council, which will meet regularly four times each year.

The membership of the Council will consist of various Diocesan officers, and five priests and five laymen elected by the convention, and five men or women appointed by the Bishop. The Council will then be divided into five departments—Missions, Christian Education, Christian Social Relations, Finance, and Promotion. These departments will be further organized through their chairmen and will meet regularly to work out their own programs under the direction of the Convention and the Council. These programs, however, will be integrated into the work of the Council, which will serve as a clearing house for all ideas, and will be a means of extending the influence of the work of each department.

Bishop Donegan announced at the convention that he would call a special convention in October to elect the ten members of the Council in order that the reorganization plan might be put into operation.

The convention expressed unanimous approval and sincere thanks to the committee on reorganization, headed by Mr. R. H. Mansfield, for the splendid report which they had made and the plan which they had submitted.

The 1953 Budgets

The convention adopted budgets as follows:

1. The assessment budget which includes the support of the Episcopate, the Diocesan Expense fund, and the Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society budget of $190,936. This is an increase of 4% over the past year.

2. The proposed Missionary Budget for 1953 which is less than that asked for this year, due to a revised plan of apportionment being recommended to the General Convention. While this new schedule will not be adopted until the General Convention meets in Boston, it seems likely that it will be passed. In which case the budget proposed will be $836,569, 59% (or $493,997) of which will go for the National Church Missionary budget, and the remaining 41% (or $342,572) will be for our Diocesan missionary work and our departments, and the agencies which the Diocese helps to support.

Three new parishes were admitted into union with the convention, and were given warm words of welcome and a rising vote of congratulation. They are: St. Mark's, North Yonkers; St. Luke, The Beloved Physician, Manhattan; and St. Luke's, Tuckahoe.

Bishop Donegan's Convention Address was an encouraging report on the state of the Church in the Diocese. However, by action of the convention his plea for a study and consideration of clergy salaries in the Diocese was implemented by a resolution requesting vestries to consider the matter as soon as possible.

The Bishop's emphatic words of encouragement to those at work attempting to set up released time schools of religion in connection with the public schools and also endorsing parochial and church schools, was also warmly approved by resolutions of the convention.

A consideration of the plan presented by a member of the Standing Liturgical Commission in regard to the revision of the Prayer Book was laid on the table, without action, because of insufficient time to consider the report thoroughly. The report carried a resolution to recommend to General Convention that the Prayer Book studies of the Standing Liturgical Commission be completed as soon as possible; that the National Council encourage the study and consideration of these Prayer Book Studies; that a trial use of suggested and revised services be recommended and authorized by action of Diocesan Bishops, where possible; and that a new revision of the Prayer Book begin in 1958.

Most of the reports of commissions and agencies were submitted by title in order to clear the calendar of business for the discussion of the reorganization plan. However, an additional report was given by the City Mission Society, indicating that seventeen Chaplains in our city hospitals and institutions had served directly 23,000 people during the year, and with additional contacts made, had actually administered to more than 30,000 different people. A similar additional note was made to the report of the Seaman's Church Institute, showing the far reaching effectiveness of their work.

The convention, having made an historic change in its organization and accomplished many things that bid well for the future life and work of the Diocese, adjourned.

THE GENERAL CONVENTION MEETS IN SEPTEMBER

G. W. Burpee of Christ Church, Bronxville, and the Ven. G. F. Bratt, Archdeacon of the Diocese, also are Deputies to General Convention. The Convention meets in Boston, September 7-19. Among the distinguished guests will be the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Most Rev. and Rt. Hon. Geoffrey Francis Fisher. who will give two addresses during the Convention.

BISHOP BOYNTON'S ADDRESS

IT is my privilege at this time to express the depth of happiness that has been mine during the past year to be of assistance to you all in the work of the Church in this Diocese. I have enjoyed to the full sitting in on the various Commissions and Committees, presiding at meetings and fall and spring convocations, preaching on special occasions, performing Official Acts assigned to me, and above all administering the Apostolic Rite of Confirmation in 110 parishes, missions and institutions to 1589 baptized persons, and receiving 82 from the Roman Communion and 7 from the Eastern Churches.

What I deem my highest privilege has been the many personal visits I have had either at the Cathedral or in the parishes and missions primarily with the clergy, but on no few occasions with the laity. A Suffragan Bishop's vocation, as I see it and have experienced it, is not administrative, but pastoral. And of all the aspects of the Episcopal Office, the pastoral is the one I treasure most. I only hope and pray that within the context of this pastoral ministry I have been privileged to give as much as I have in turn received.

Forgive me if I inject a personal note here. May I take this opportunity to thank you all for your sincere expressions of sympathy offered me on the occasion of my mother's recent death. Of course you do know how much it has meant to me and to what a marked degree your prayers have sustained me and mine. But I want you to hear me say it, for I want my expression of appreciation to be but one more instance of the reward which comes from the faithful performance of the personal and pastoral ministry of love and prayer.

Pastors of Souls

The faithful and competent administration of your work is important of course. The performance, with great dignity and awesome reverence of the Services of the Church is even more important, and your bounden duty. Without your untiring efforts to meet your parochial budgets, to maintain the fabric of your buildings, and to underwrite your Diocesan Assessment and Missionary Quota, the progress of organized religion as we know it would be seriously hampered. But all of these things are secondary to the "esse" of our Holy Religion; the expression of the love of God to His very own through His sacred ministers. Without that, all these other things would be soul-less.

If I am permitted to make a plea, it is that we all, clergy and laity alike, redouble our pastoral ministry during the coming year. There is no substitute for the personal call, in Christian love, and the preparing for that call and the climaxing of that call with prayer, whereby we bring ourselves, and the needs of those committed to our charge, to the Throne of God.

I need not remind you of how desperately the world of people need sympathy, understanding and love. People may not show it. All too often they put on an arrogant front. But we know that their very brashness is equalled only by the depth of their insecurity and yearning to be loved.

And we are God's chosen ministers of love. God so loved the world that he came and called on us all in the person of His Son. We are likewise so to love by coming and calling on His suffering world in the name of His Beloved Son. The world is suffering; and we must never forget that God had one Son on earth without sin, but never one without suffering.

The prayer, the visit, the kindly word, the written note of joy or concern, the warmth of hand-clasp, the understanding smile, the silent vigil—they are the trademarks of the priestly life, the pastoral ministry, which you have so recently revealed to me and which we beg that you reveal to all men.

Eighty-three student nurses, the largest class to enter New York's St. Luke's Hospital School of Nursing in peace time, were graduated on May 15th in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at the invitation of the Bishop of New York, the Rt. Rev. Horace W. B. Donegan, D. D. The Very Rev. James A. Pike, J. S. D., Dean of the Cathedral, delivered the commencement address. Diplomas were presented by Edwin S. S. Sunderland, LL. D., President of the Hospital. Others taking part in the ceremony were Dr. Paul C. Morton, President of the Medical Board, and Miss Ruth K. Moser, Director of Nursing.

THE UNITED THANK OFFERING

Among the gifts in the United Thank Offering of $19,498.49 presented at the Cathedral on May 6 was one from the oldest known contributor in the Diocese, Mrs. Thomas R. Almond of St. Thomas parish, Manhattan.

Mrs. Almond is 102 years old, her birth date being March 20, 1850. For many years she has contributed to the United Thank Offering and done her part to complete the knitting assignment of the Supply Department of the Woman's Auxiliary; and the Lenten Sewing Group. Children's sweaters, caps and baby blankets are her specialties. Mrs. Almond attends church regularly "weather permitting". She has many friends among the younger generations.

The United Thank Offering presentation on May 6 was the sixth of this Triennium and brings to $123,226.48 the sum now in hand to be taken from this Diocese to the Triennial service at Boston on Sept. 11. At this most impressive occasion of the Triennial Meeting, Mrs. John Whiteley, United Thank Offering Treasurer of the Diocese will place on the historic golden almsbason the gift of the women of New York.

These gifts represent tangibly the many thoughts and prayers of thanksgiving to God which women of New York have uttered, and they will be used to bring to others in many places near and far the blessings of the knowledge of God and His Church. Gifts which have not yet been sent in will be included in this Offering if they reach Mrs. Whiteley by Sept. 1.

A Corporate Communion will be held in many parishes on Thursday, Sept. 11 simultaneously with the service of presentation in Boston.

Woman's Auxiliary Plans Ahead

On Saturday, October 4, the Woman's Auxiliary will hold its Ninth Triennial Missionary Luncheon to honor the missionaries of the Church at the Henry Hudson Hotel. Missionary guests entertained at many parish tables, will be introduced; our Bishop will bring his greeting, and the speakers will be Bishop Binsted of the Philippines and Bishop Harris of Liberia. Reservations may be made through Mrs. Bedell H. Harned, 200 E. 66 St., New York 21.

To present the work of September's Triennial Meeting and to promote the winter's program, the Woman's Auxiliary plans three Conferences in place of the October Diocesan Meeting. For the northern section of the Diocese, October 16 at Poughkeepsie; for the evening branches, October 19 at the Cathedral; for the southern section, October 28 at the Cathedral.

The Woman's Auxiliary will cooperate in the School of Worship to be held each Monday in November at the Cathedral Church of St. John the Divine. A brief service, a lecture and seminar will comprise each program; the subjects are: The Theology and Psychology of Worship, The History of Prayer Book Worship, The Intention of Morning and Evening Prayer, The Centrality of the Eucharist.

Miss Muriel W. Ashwell, President of the Board of Managers of St. Luke's Home, watches the Rt. Rev. Horace W. B. Donegan, Bishop of New York, cut the 100th Anniversary Cake at the Centennial Tea at the Home on May 1st, while Mrs. Guy Beaver King, Honorary President of the Board of Managers, and the Rev. James A. Paul, D. D., Rector of Holy Trinity Church and President of the Board of Trustees, look on.

New Building For
St. Augustine's, Yonkers

On June 4th, a dream of over forty-years was realized for the people of St. Augustine's, Yonkers, when the Bishop laid the cornerstone and opened that congregation's new building at 81 Locust Hill Avenue.

The new building of slag block and fieldstone, with laminated wood trusses, was erected as the first project under the newly organized Diocesan building program. Under this plan, a certain amount is allocated each year for the construction of new churches in strategic areas.

When completely equipped the nave will seat approximately 175 persons. In the crypt, there are a guild hall, kitchen, washrooms, furnace rooms and storage rooms. A parking lot, with a black-top driveway, to accomodate approximately 35 cars was prepared at the rear of the church.

The vicar, the Rev. Alger L. Adams, said that response to the challenge of the new facilities had been excellent and that he anticpates that St. Augustine's will more than fulfill the expectation under which the building was undertaken.

Members of the Advisory Board are: Harold Fields, treasurer; Samuel Williams, clerk; Norman Downes, Warner Fields, William Hawkins, John R. Richardson, Philip Sanchez and Wilburn Smith.

Episcopal City Mission Society's Summer Camps

Thirty-nine Churches in the Diocese referred children to the Episcopal City Mission Society for summer camping in 1951.

The Society maintains two camps. The Edgewater Creche and Rethmore Home, located on a beautiful, old estate in Englewood, New Jersey, cares for 300 children aged 5 to 8 each summer. Eiko Lake Camps for boys and girls, located on a thousand acres of fields and woodland with a fifty-four acre clear water lake in the Catskills, take 1,000 children aged 9 to 15 during July and August.

The policy at both camps is to take children who need a country vacation and whose parents cannot afford to meet their need. Further information may be obtained from the Camp Registrar, Miss Elizabeth C. Klein, N. Y. Protestant Episcopal City Mission Society, 38 Bleecker Street, New York 12, N. Y. Telephone: Digby 9-0633.

Summer Work Camp For Youth of the Diocese

A unique experiment in the field of Youth work is being sponsored by three of our Diocesan clergy with the full consent of the Bishop. The Rev. David T. P. Bradley, Christ Church, Yonkers, the Rev. Robert C. Ward, St. John's Church, Cornwall in cooperation with the Rev. Charles H. Breiant, Vicar of Stone Ridge and Rosendale are recruiting twelve or more young Episcopalians between the ages of sixteen and twenty to form a work group. The purpose of the Camp will be to demonstrate the redemptive power of the Church to these young people as they engage in the physical rehabilitation of our mission Church in Rosendale, New York. The Campers will live a Christian family life together as the clergy, their wives and the young people share the work and responsibility of a common task.

The Parish House of the All Saints Mission will furnish the living accomodations and a full program of worship and recreation along with the carpentry, painting and repair of the interior of the Church is planned.

The costs per camper is to be held at a minimum and a fee of thirty-five dollars for a two week period is estimated to be adequate. All interested priests who have possible applicants are urged to get in touch with Frs. Ward or Bradley at their respective parish addresses as soon as possible.

2nd ANNUAL LAYMEN'S CONFERENCE

The Second Annual Laymen's Conference for the Diocese was held Saturday, May 17, 1952 with more than two hundred men representing parishes and missions in attendance.

Using the theme "What on Earth Are You Doing" discussion on various phases of lay responsibility were presented by outstanding laymen in the Diocese.

Mr. Lee Bristol, Jr. assistant to the Advertising Manager of the Bristol-Myers Corporation gave the keynote address emphasizing the seven day a week job of a practicing Christian no matter in what field of endeavor he is.

A panel composed of Messrs: Carter, Bermingham, Pleuthner and Bristol heckled and goaded by Charles Bound argued such questions as "Can you be a Christian and still make money?" "Why don't more men attend Church?" "Are modern advertising methods too undignified to be used by the Church?" "Are the activities and the services of the Church primarily designed to interest women and children?" The audience entered into the spirited give and take of the program with many ideas presented from the floor.

The Rt. Rev. Horace W. B. Donegan, Bishop of New York, offered a stirring charge to the men in his development of the subject "Laymen at Worship and Prayer" and the Commission on Christian Social Relations under the direction of the Rev. Leland B. Henry gave the men a glimpse of the workshop technique in presenting four phases of the Social Relations program.

Following a buffet supper served in the Undercroft, Dean Pike summarized the Conference in a discussion of the Faith of the Church highlighting certain specific implications for laymen.

Intermission at the Second Annual Laymen's Conference, May 17th. A few of the two hundred delegates join in an exchange of greetings in front of the Synod Hall.

Diocesan Summer Conferences

The Diocesan Summer Conferences for children and young people will have as their theme this year "Creed and Conduct". The conferences will be held again at St. Peters School, Peekskill, N. Y. and each conference will begin on a Sunday afternoon and continue through Saturday morning. The first period for youngsters six to thirteen years of age will begin on June 22nd and application for camp reservations should be made at once. The second period will start on June 29th and is for children ages 14 to 18 only. The third period is again for younger children ages six to thirteen and will start on July 6th.

The cost for a full week of each camp will be fifteen dollars and registrations should be sent in to the Board of Religious Education, Diocesan House, 1047 Amsterdam Ave., New York City.

New Director For Camp Pequot

Camp Pequot, the summer camp for boys run by the Holy Trinity and by St. James', will open for its 37th year on July 2nd. The new director of the Camp is Mr. Thomas N. S. Shaw, a member of the faculty of the Wooster School in Danbury, Connecticut.

Camp Pequot is located on Lake Stahahe in Bear Mountain State Park, about 35 mile from New York. The Camp accepts boys from 7 to 16 years of age. This year's season will end on August 27th. Parents who wish to enroll their sons should write directly to Mr. Shaw for application blanks.

St. Peter's School Benefit

The Headmaster of Saint Peter's School has asked us to extend his thanks for the support given by the people of the Diocese to the Annual Scholarship Benefit given at the Biltmore Hotel on April 25. The net proceeds for the Scholarship Fund amounted to $1400. In order that the date may be reserved for next year he is announcing that the Concert and Dance will again be held at the Biltmore on Friday evening, April 24, 1953.

Church Club of N. Y. Elects Officers

The 65th Annual Meeting of The Church Club of New York (club for Episcopal laymen) was held at the Club, in the Ambassador Hotel, on Monday evening, May 5th, 1952. The President, Douglas M. Moffat, presided at the meeting which was preceded by a dinner for the members.

The following Officers were elected for one-year terms:

President — Clifford P. Morehouse
Vice-Presidents— Marsden B. Candler
— John Gerdes
— Henry W. Mott
Secretary — Bedell H. Harned
Treasurer — Edwin Gibbs

The following Trustees were elected to the Board, for three-year terms:

Trustees, — Harry M. Addinsell
Class of 1955— Henry G. Hotchkiss
— Charles G. Proffitt

NEWS FROM THE CONVOCATIONS

BRONX

At the Spring Meeting of the Convocation, the following were elected to fill the offices of those whose terms had expired: the Rev. Gerald V. Barry, Christ Church, and Mr. Neilson Tomlinson, Trinity Church, members of the Council; The Rev. Wendell Roberts, Trinity Church, Secretary; Mr. Silas Gairing, St. Peter's, Treasurer; the Rev. Charles J. Buck, and Mr. Louis F. Stauss, Holy Nativity. Representatives to the Board of Managers; the Rev. Albert Campion, Mediator, Chairman of Christian Social Relations; Mr. John Pudie, Mediator, Chairman of Men's Work; Mr. Douglas Davis, St. Peter's, recommended Chairman, with canonical approval of the Bishop, of the Program of the Church; the Rev. Ernest Davies, St. Paul's, Chairman of Religious Education; Mrs. Joseph R. Kinney, St. Peter's, Chairman of Woman's Work; and the Rev. Gerald V. Barry, representative on the Committee of Episcopal Service to the Aged.

A Retreat for the Men of the Convocation was held at Wainwright House, Rye, from Friday night, June 6 through breakfast, Monday morning, June 9.

The Annual Outing for the congregations of the Bronx will be held on Saturday, June 14, at Rye Beach. It is expected that attendance will exceed the record of last year's thousand.

The Convocation branch of the Woman's Auxiliary held its annual Service and meeting at Simeon's. Enthusiastic reports of great progress were made, and two missionary films were shown, Strength to the Hills (work amongst the Dakota Indians) and Wings to the Word (the Church in Brazil).

The Choir of the CHURCH OF THE HOLY NATIVITY presented Gilbert and Sullivan's Trial by Jury, and Wolf-Ferrari's Secret of Susanna on May 22 and 23, in a benefit for the Parish House Fund, for the renovation of the kitchen.

Father Bishop, of St. Philip's, Harlem, was the speaker at the Men's Dinner, sponsored by the CHRIST CHURCH, Riverdale, Chapter of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, on May 16th. His subject: "The Church's

The Annual Spring Supper Party for ALL the parish and All their friends was held at St. Simeon's on May 15th.

The many friends of the Rev. William Krause, honorary assistant at ST. JAMES', Fordham, will be happy to know that his health is constantly improving.

At CHRIST CHURCH, Riverdale, an American flag has been presented by Mr. and Mrs. Billings Wilson, and a Church flag by Mrs. Clifford Infield and Mrs. Gustave Rees. These flags were dedicated on Rogation Sunday.

The Rev. Hugh H. Henry, Vicar of ST. LUKE'S, Williamsbridge, will celebrate a double anniversary on Trinity Sunday, that of his ordination to the Priesthood, and his coming to St. Luke's, eleven years ago.

The rector of ST. JAMES, Fordham, the Rev. Arthur V. Litchfield, presented Mr. Howard A. Simpson for ordination to the Diocanate on June 8th at the Cathedral. Mr. Simpson will preach his first sermon as Deacon in St. James Church on June 15th.

DUTCHESS

CHRIST CHURCH, Poughkeepsie, presented T. S. Eliot's Murder in the Cathedral as a Parish Play on May 9 and 10 this year. The part of Thomas Becket, Archbishop of Canterbury, was played by David DeGarmo Smith, the Clerk of the Vestry of Christ Church and a member of the Diocesan Board of Managers. The rest of the cast included:

Herald
Sabra Sutton, high school student

First Priest
John Covel, printer

Second Priest
Clarence Pelton, grade school principal

Third Priest
Raymond Aldrich, Jr., attorney and city alderman

First Tempter
Dorothy Gilbert, housewife
Second Tempter
The Rev. J. Jack Sharkey, Zion Church, Wappingers Falls
Third Tempter
The Rev. Robert E. Terwilliger, Christ Church, Poughkeepsie
Fourth Tempter
Langdon Gilkey, Lecturer in Religion at Vassar College
First Knight
John F. Collins, Jr., high-school student
Second Knight
Kenneth Duncan, journalist

Episcopal students at Vassar College and members of the parish worked together on the production. The students directed and played the roles of the Women of Canterbury and the singing chorus, as well as working on the stage crews.

The play was directed by Miss Nancy McCaslin, Assistant for College Work in the Ministry of the Episcopal Church to Vassar College. The mood of the presentation was vivid and exciting. The play was acted before a scarlet curtain; the tempo of the chorus was rapid and its members participated in the action of the scene.

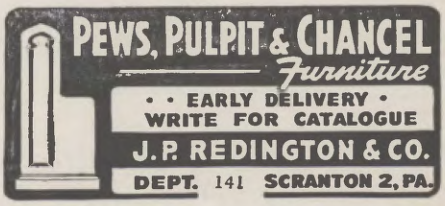
By these new departures it was intended to make this profound verse drama readily understandable to an American lay audience. This effort was rewarded by the great enthusiasm of large audiences.

The Rev. Gordon Kidd, rector of ST. JAMES' CHURCH, Hyde Park, announces that the Wardens and Vestry of the parish have received the major portion of a million dollar bequest to the parish by the will of the late Sylvia Green Wilks.

The Episcopalian, news bulletin of CHRIST CHURCH, Red Hook and ST. JOHN THE EVANGELIST, Barrytown, carries a full page by the Rector, the Rev. John Q. Martin, relative to the recent decision of the local school board to discontinue school-bus transportation for pupils released to the churches for religious education. Fr. Martin points out that the same buses are used for other "quasi educational" purposes on a discriminatory basis.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH in Poughkeepsie is faced with several major repair tasks according to The Kalendar. Repairs to the church steeple are being held in abeyance when it was discovered that the cost of scaffolding alone would cost at least $2,800. Attention is now turned to a study of the heating system by experts. A confirmation class of thirty-eight was recently presented to Bishop Boynton by the Rector, the Rev. William T. Gray.

The Vestry of ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH, Arlington, has decided to form an Associate Vestry which will attend regular Vestry meetings and serve on the various committees. The Rev. Gordon C. Graham, Rector, feels that such an organization will provide working lines more than social.



The Convocation held its Spring Meeting at GRACE CHURCH, Millbrook, on April 29th with the Rev. Ralph D. Bonacker, Rector and twenty-six of his men as hosts. At the business meeting, the Rev. Dr. Robert Terwilliger was elected Dean of the Convocation to succed the Rev. Gordon Kidd who completed a three-year term of office. Following supper, the Rev. Edward N. West, Canon Sacrist of the Cathedral spoke on The Setting of the Service.

The Rector of GRACE CHURCH, Millbrook, has organized a religious group among the girls at Bennett Junior College in Millbrook. They will affiliate with either the Student Christian Movement or the National Canterbury Association. A weekly celebration of the Holy Communion is held for the girls. This is one of the three colleges in the Convocation along with Vassar and Bard.

The Rector of CHRIST CHURCH, Poughkeepsie, has completed a post-Easter series of evening sermons entitled "The World of the Resurrection." The purpose of the series, which covered the five principal cities of the first century —Jerusalem, Rome, Athens, Ephesis and Alexandria—was to describe the environment into which the Christian appeared and to show it may be described as the fullness of the times.

The Rector of ST. PAUL'S and TRINITY PARISH, Tivoli, the Rev. W. Lever Bates, presented as preacher on May 25th, his father, the Rev. C. J. L. Bates, D. D., of Toronto, Canada. Dr. Bates was for forty years a missionary in Japan, during which time he was President of Kwansei Gakuin University.

The annual Quiet Day for the Woman's Auxiliary of the District was held on May 19th at the St. Clare's House for retired Deaconesses in Upper Red Hook. The Conductor was the Rev. Father Joseph, S. S. F. of the Franciscan Monastery in England, at present touring this country.

ZION CHURCH in Wappingers Falls, in an effort to personalize the missionary effort of the parish, has "adopted" a native Haitian missionary, the Rev. Octave Lafontant, by arrangement with Bishop Voegeli in Haiti and the permission of the director of the Overseas Department. Bishop John B. Bentley, Vice President of the National Council, just returned from a trip through the Carribean area, spoke at the local parish recently, telling of the work in Haiti and his visit with the "adopted" missionary and his wife, Lisette.

A taffeta Church Flag, the gift of the Rives family and Lay Reader Herbert Nussbickel, has been dedicated at Zion, and a banner, bearing the name of the parish and a Jerusalem cross in red on gold satin was first used in the procession at the Cathedral Presentation service.

HUDSON

The Parish Hall at ST. JOHN'S, Cornwall, proved to be too small for the number of delegates expected at Annual Spring Convocation of the Hudson, so the Masonic Hall was hired for the occasion. Nearly 150 men attended on Wednesday, April 30th. Bishop Donegan was present and asked the blessing. He then turned over the gavel to Dean Tongue who conducted the meeting. The Bishop told of his hopes and expectations for the Bishop's Offering this month. Mr. Heintz, president of the New York Assembly of the Brotherhood of Saint Andrew, spoke of the value of a Brotherhood chapter in a parish and the Rev. Edward N. West, Canon Sacrist of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York took the assemblage back to a Christian church of the fourth century and described its worship. Archdeacon Bratt and Mr. Ted Gannaway also spoke briefly. Dean Tongue reported an active year for the Dean and Council, and stated that all parishes and missions are staffed. At the annual election all officers were reelected with the following exceptions: Mr. Henry L. Shipp of Ellenville was elected to the Council to take the place of Col. Clinton G. Harris, who died recently, and Mr. Earle Houghtaling of Walden, elected to be Treasurer of the Convocation in place of Mr. Hubert Smith of High Falls who is too ill to continue his duties.

Twenty-seven laymen from Cornwall constituted the largest delegation from the Convocation. The Rector, the Rev. Robert C. W. Ward was reelected Chairman of Christian Education.

ALL SAINTS, Rosendale, commemorated the 75th Anniversary of its first service on Easter Sunday. The largest congregation in years filled the newly renovated Church for this service and heard an inspiring message from Bishop Boynton.

The women of ST. ANDREW'S, Walden, report the largest U. T. O. Spring offering ever to come from the Parish. The amount is $74.00

ST. JOHN'S Ellenville, the Rev. George R. Hiatt, Rector, reports a growing Church School with one third larger enrollment this year.

ST. JOHN'S, Kingston, reports the largest Easter Offering in years—$640.

The Rev. Raymond Cunningham, Jr., will join the clergy staff of GRACE EPISCOPAL CHURCH, Broadway at 10th Street, on September 1st, according to the Rev. Dr. Louis W. Pitt, the Rector.

ST. JAMES' PARISH gave a block party for The House of the Holy Comforter. Neighboring parishes, Epiphany, Heavenly Rest, Holy Trinity, Resurrection, St. George's, joined in the effort.

TRINITY, Wall Street, held its great Annual Ascension Day Services again this year. Canon Newman was the preacher.

ST. GEORGE'S announces the Children's Circus Carnival for June 7th—clowns, animals, games and rides, balloons and prizes—for children of all ages.

The CHAPEL OF THE INTERCESSION held a Fiesta on May 14 and 15, with dinner, handmade articles and food for sale, style shows, and Powers models.

CHURCH OF THE RESURRECTION held a Smorgasbord dinner—for the benefit of its missions quota—put on by its Clares and Friars Club.

ST. PETER'S, Chelsea, held a County Fair on Wednesday, May 7—food, games, and dancing. Money raised will be used to replace an entry, paint the fence. A fund is being raised also to repair the church tower.

The Manhattan correspondent notes, with interest, that some of the Manhattan parish bulletins contain sermon summaries, among them, St. Bartholomew's, Heavenly Rest, Transfiguration, St. George's, Ascension, and Incarnation.

RAMAPO

At GRACE CHURCH, Port Jervis, eighty delegates attended the meeting of the convocation on May 1st, heard talks on college work, the Brotherhood of S. Andrew, reorganization plans for the Diocese, religious education, and the New York State thruway. J. S. Bixby, vestryman, Christ Church, Poughkeepsie district, gave a careful and optimistic treatment of the human results of the numerous parkways and super highways that are being planned in the Diocese of New York. He laid stress upon the rapid expansion necessary in churches that will soon be affected, in Orange and in Rockland counties, and he pleaded for adaptability and liveliness in our parishes and missions, friendliness to strangers and willingness to expand our services to newcomers.

New Chaplain For College Work

The Diocesan Commission on College Work has announced the appointment of a new Chaplain for college work, Rev. John W. Pyle. The Rev. Mr. Pyle, a native of Los Angeles, holds both the Bachelor and Master of Arts degrees from the University of California. A graduate of the Church Divinity School of the Pacific, he has done graduate work at Union Theological Seminary in New York. Following three years as a Navy chaplain on active duty in the Pacific, the Rev. Mr. Pyle returned to California and came to New York as Assistant to the Rev. James A. Paul at the Church of the Holy Trinity in 1949. Last year he was Chaplain to Episcopal Students and Associate Director of the University Christian Association at New York University.

Social Research Has New Diocesan Head

The Rev. Benson B. Fisher has joined the Diocesan staff as the director of the Social Research Study that has been undertaken by the the Convocations of Manhattan, The Bronx and lower Westchester. Mr. Fisher came to the Diocese from Chicago where he has been a close associate of the Rev. Joseph Moore in making similar studies in various large population centers. Mr. Fisher is a graduate of Seabury—Western Theological Seminary and has held the rectorship of several parishes before interesting himself in the technical side of religious and social surveys.

New Vicar At St. Augustine's Chapel

The Rev. S. Kilmer Myers was appointed Vicar of St. Augustine's Chapel, Trinity Parish, Henry and Scammel Streets, as of September 15, by the Rev. Dr. John Heuss, Rector of Trinity Church.

Father Myers has been priest-in-charge at Grace Episcopal Church, (Van Vorst), Erie and Second St., Jersey City, since 1949, and his work there has become a model for the work of the Episcopal Church in industrial areas.

THE BISHOP'S MESSAGE

THE 57th General Convention of the Church, held last month in Boston, is over. The Bishops, delegates and visitors have gone back to their respective dioceses and parishes. They have returned, one is sure, with a clearer understanding of the primary mission of the Church, i.e., to bring people to the knowledge of God revealed in Jesus Christ as Judge and Saviour, and to present the Good News to those who know it not.

The reporting of General Convention was more accurate than has sometimes been the case. At one General Convention a local reporter, in describing the opening service, stated: "The Bishops moved majestically up the middle aisle vested in their rubrics." It would be repetitious to go into the details of the doings of General Convention; they have been reported in the Church press, daily papers and elsewhere in this issue of the Diocesan BULLETIN. However, I would call attention to the most important action which indicates the large vision of the Church for the work ahead, represented, in a mundane way, by the adoption of the largest budget in history in the amount of $5,924,043.38, which is $125,000.00 more than the one proposed by the National Council.

Cautious and conservative in other matters, General Convention reflected the determination of the Church to bear vigorous Christian witness in the coming years. This budget means "worldwide missions, the incorporation of men, women and children into the Sacramental life of the Church; their education in the Christian faith and fellowship and duty; and the application of Christianity to daily life." To make it a reality will require greater sacrifice and generosity on the part of all. Our Diocesan share of the total is $493,000.00.

I am enheartened by the increase in our giving to the National Church, and I am appreciative of the remarkable contribution of the women of our Diocese to the United Thank Offering of the Woman's Auxiliary. Truly we have made great gains but we must do more in order to reach our objectives.

Let every communicant this year give generously and sacrificially in a spirit of thanksgiving to God for His blessings. Then we shall keep pace with the present program of the National Church and also provide adequately for our Diocesan agencies.

This past summer two of our parochial clergy, the Reverend Worcester Perkins, for twenty-two years Rector of the Church of the Holy Communion, Manhattan, and the Reverend Alexander Ketterson, retired, formerly Rector of the Church of the Atonement, Bronx, were called into the Larger Life. We extend our sincere sympathy to the members of their families, and we commend their souls to God's loving care and mercy; may they rest in peace.

On St. Simon and St. Jude's Day, October 28th, I shall celebrate the fifth anniversary of my consecration to the Episcopate. For the great honor and privilege of serving as your Bishop, and for your loyalty and cooperation I am profoundly grateful. I have been your Chief Pastor long enough to realize how easily a Diocesan Bishop can become simply a busy administrator. It is my deep desire as the years go by never to neglect the pastoral function of my office. Only in this way can I be of service to the flock of Christ committed to my care.

As we begin a new season of work in the name of Our Blessed Lord may we seek His guidance and empowering grace.

—HORACE W. B. DONEGAN

TIME -- TALENT -- TREASURE

IN a few days you will be asked to make your pledge to the Church. You alone will decide whether it will be enough or too little. No one will ask you, in terms of dollars and cents, how much the Church means to you. But it may help you in deciding the amount of your pledge if you do some thinking about what the Church means to you.

There is an unbreakable bond between you and your Church. On the one hand, it is the united strength of you and your fellow members which gives physical substance to the Church and makes it possible for it to carry out God's will. On the other side, you have a deep dependence on your Church because it is your communion with God to Whom you owe everything, even the very fact of your existence.

The need for your pledge is a living proof that the Church cannot exist without its members. Your response will decide whether it will accomplish little or whether it can do much. You will not be making a gift or donation, perhaps it is a mistake even to use the phrase "giving to the Church." For the real question is not one of giving, but is this: How much of all that God has given you during the year will you return to Him through His Church?

The theme of the Every Member Canvass this fall is Christian Stewardship. This theme is a frank recognition of the fact that everything we have belongs to God: our Time, our Talents, our Treasure. We are merely the stewards or caretakers of these gifts. It is our responsibility to use them in such a way as to justify our stewardship.

The obligations of stewardship do not have limits; we cannot choose to be bound by them in one case and ignore them in another. They extend into the use of our gifts in everyday living, in raising a family, in leading a full life. It is our responsibility to temper our acts with generosity and friendliness, to raise our children to be better citizens, and in all ways to lead a Christian life.

A portion of what we receive, however, should be returned directly to God through His Church. There are ways in which we can give portions of our time and talents to volunteer work. But the most important way and the one open to us all is to give from our treasure, thereby providing the means by which the Church can carry on its work.

The question we all face is how much or how little our pledge will be. It should be ample, we know, but how much is a m p l e ? How much should we reserve for our pledge before we take care of our own needs?

It is not possible to put a finger on what constitutes an adequate pledge. T h a t is something you must decide with your own conscience. Those who have suffered illness or other misfortunes during the y e a r are giving generously when they make even a modest pledge. A family with growing children usually cannot afford as much as a couple who have only themselves to worry about.

Your Church has planned its Program, both at home and overseas, for next year. But its budget is only a listing of the minimum amount needed to carry out the Program. For every mission the Church operates overseas it would like to have two or five or ten. For every project it carries out in this country it would like to have many more. There are millions who need the help and guidance the Church could give; if it had the means to help them all.

Perhaps that should be the measure of your pledge: think of it in terms of human beings, of men and women and children at home and in distant places who depend on what you give. We are a fortunate people. Personal misfortune may strike some among us but most of us are richly blessed. We have freedom; hundreds of millions do not know what the word means. We are well-fed; and there are hundreds of millions who are hungry. We w o r s h i p God without hinderance; but countless persons c a n n o t. Many of the everyday features of our lives appear miraculous and completely unattainable to a big part of the world.

As Christian Stewards we are caretakers of the greatest blessings on earth. It is a thought which should make us humble and not arrogant. It should also help us to see that we, more than anyone else, have an inescapable duty to render back to God a big share of our time, our talents, and our treasure.

The opportunity to show your humble gratitude to God lies in the way you support His work through His Church. Will you use the opportunity well?

THE 57th GENERAL CONVENTION

by The Rev. John Heuss, D. D.
Rector of Trinity Parish, Manhattan

The Fifty-Seventh General Convention held in Boston brought to the members of the House of Bishops and the Clerical and Lay Deputies many contrasting moods and emotions. The Convention opened with one of the most moving services in my recollection. The Boston Garden was filled to overflowing with more than 15,000 people. It is always a very thrilling sight to me to witness again the long procession with which the Opening Service begins. Here one sees gathered together in one place a great cross-section of the leadership of our Church. Everyone was moved again, as we have been in the past, by the stirring words of the Presiding Bishop as he set the key-note for the Convention's work and vision.

Tragic Death of Dean Sprouse

The very next morning all of us were stunned by the sudden tragic death of the President of the House of Deputies, the Very Reverend Claude W. Sprouse. For many of us this was a personal loss beyond description, because he had been our friend for many years. It was a source of great satisfaction that the Reverend Dr. Theodore Wedel, Warden of the College of Preachers, was elected on the first ballot to succeed this important post.

The Diocese of New York can take much pride in the election by the Convention of the Rt. Rev. Horace W. B. Donegan, D.D., and Mr. William B. Given, Jr., a vestryman of Trinity Church, as members of the National Council to serve for the next six years.

At every General Convention where there is need to elect a Missionary Bishop, there is always added an element of excitement. Two splendid young men, who have already served the Church with great devotion, were elected by this Convention. The Reverend C. Gresham Marmion, Jr., Rector of the Church of the Incarnation, Dallas, Texas, was elected to the Missionary District of Spokane, and the Reverend Lyman C. Ogilby, Brent School, Baguio, Philippine Islands, was elected as the second Suffragan of the Missionary District of the Philippines.

An Important Convention

This was a General Convention that is difficult to summarize in a phrase or two. It produced no great new program, and to the outward observer it may have appeared that it was dealing with secondary matters. It was clear, however, to anyone who had been privileged to see the General Convention operate over a period of years that it was one of the most important Conventions ever held. In the life of the Church there is a time for a great call to lift the sights of all of us and to move up higher. There is also a time when it is as deeply important to strengthen the work already begun and to deepen the foundations. This Convention quite clearly was of the latter type. If you were to examine the program and budget adopted by this Convention, you would find that it calls for no startling new work to be done by the Church as a whole. Its major concern was to strengthen the capacity of our missionaries at home and abroad to do more competently the work, which has already been started. To this end, missionaries' salaries were increased, as they desperately need to be, and additional help was given to those who work in the missionary fields to carry forward their responsibilities. Help was given to the Church in Japan, where it is badly needed.

Delegates to General Convention: Dr. Heuss, Dr. Brooks, Bishop Boynton, Mr. C. G. Michalis, Bishop Donegan, Mr. G. W. Burpee, Archdeacon Bratt, Mr. C. P. Morehouse, Dean Pike.

Authorizes Capital Campaign

Perhaps in the triennium ahead the most important aspect of program was left to the decision of the Presiding Bishop and to the National Council. The theological schools in the United States, St. Luke's Hospital in Manila, certain institutions in Japan, the American Church Institute for Negroes and St. Just's School in Puerto Rico all require substantial capital investment. The Convention voted to instruct the National Council to inaugurate and promote during the coming triennium a single campaign to meet urgent capital requirements of the Church in these areas. This means that we shall soon hear of plans in which all of us will be asked to participate for the raising of a substantial sum of money for capital additions.

One of the most heartening aspects of the Convention was the admission of one of our domestic missionary districts as a diocese. This is the first time in fifteen years that it has taken place, and it was with great joy that the Missionary District of New Mexico and Southwest Texas was admitted to the General Convention as a self-supporting diocese.

The Convention could also be described as one that was extremely conservative in legislative matters. It voted not to permit women to serve as deputies, and this was a disappointment to many, including everyone in the New York delegation. The House of Bishops voted to take away the right of a retired Bishop to a vote, but this was defeated in the House of Deputies. Proposals to provide for administration of a chalice by licensed laymen and to define members, communicant and communicant in good standing were defeated. On the other hand, a canonical change providing for the perpetual diaconate was approved. A number of resolutions having to do with national and international problems, particularly on the subject of racial discrimination, human rights, the United Nations and alcoholism, were adopted. It was my own feeling that the original resolutions as presented to the House of Deputies had not been carefully thought through nor properly worded in advance, and I believe that the debate which followed in open session did not express the mind of the Episcopal Church at its best.

The Budget Carefully Studied

It seemed that a great deal of time was consumed in discussion of the General Convention budget, and this was largely brought about by the introduction of two new items. Provision is now made to allow up to $25,000 to the host diocese for the expenses of holding the General Convention. In 1954 the Pan-Anglican Congress will take place in Minneapolis, and, in order to help prepare for part of the expense of this important gathering of the Anglican Communion, it was voted to include an item of $50,000 in the budget.

As is always the case, the presentation of the United Thank Offering of the women of the Church was the outstanding event of stewardship in the Convention, and the New York delegation took enormous pride in the fact that the women of the Diocese of New York had made the largest contribution of any diocese in the Church.

This year for the first time the Children's Offerings were recognized in a special service in which all of the Bishops of the Church and a large number of children from the Diocese of Massachusetts participated. It was realized, I believe, for the first time that the Children's Offerings are nearly as important as the women's offering, amounting in this past triennium to well over $1,600,000.00.

Fellowship A Vital Factor

These were a few of the matters with which the Convention dealt. Far more important perhaps than any legislative action which was taken is the fact that for two weeks this is the fellowship of the Church, gathered together in its strength. No person can attend General Convention without being impressed with what he sees. There is a spirit to be found there which is a spirit of the Church at its very best. One always comes away wishing that every priest and every parishioner might for once share this great experience with the others who are privileged to go. It is always a wonderful thing for the diocese in which the Convention is held. There many hundreds of people, who have never seen the Church assembled in this fashion, who come to realize the scope of our National Program and come to see the Church, as God sees it, as an army marching with banners. The Diocese of New York has not had a General Convention since 1913. I could not help thinking what a splendid thing it would be for all of us if we were privileged in the not too distant future to be the hosts in New York City to this great conclave of the Church.

TWO YOUTH WORKSHOPS THIS FALL

The Youth Committee of the Board of Religious Education of the Diocese will sponsor two Diocesan Youth Workshops to introduce the 1952-1953 program of the United Movement of the Church's Youth and to follow-up the National Youth Convention which was recently held in conjunction with the General Convention.

The first will be held in Christ Church, Suffern, on Friday evening and Saturday, October 24th and 25th. The second will be held at St. John's Church, Tuckahoe, Friday evening and Saturday, November 14th and 15th. Both workshops will have identical programs. Two young people from each parish in the Diocese may attend either Workshop. Between 20 and 40 priests of the Diocese will be asked to assist the Youth Committee which is chaired by the Rev. L. J. Winterbottom.

Highlighted on the program will be the reports of Candie Nichols of Suffern and John Simonds of Nyack who were the delegates from the Diocese to the National Youth Convention.

The Theme of the Workshops is that of the National Youth Convention, "Youth Faces God". A Committee of ten young people from the various convocations and seven clergy is in charge. The fee for each delegate to the Workshops is two dollars.

New York Represented On National Council

The Rt. Rev. Horace W. B. Donegan, Bishop of New York and the Hon. William B. Given, Jr. Vestryman of Trinity Parish, Manhattan were elected for terms of six years each to the National Council by the House of Bishops and The House of Clerical and Lay Deputies to the General Convention. This is the first time in many years that the Bishop of New York has served on the National Council.

Tea is served on the Grounds of the Cathedral by Parishes of the Diocese following the afternoon services.

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY TRIENNIAL

Eight thousand people were gathered in the Boston Garden on Sept. 11 for the Corporate Communion and Presentation of the United Thank Offering of the women of the Church. Often the scene of athletic events the Garden was transformed into a scene of beauty and inspiration for this occasion when thirty missionary bishops from all over the world assisted the Presiding Bishop of our church.

The offering which women all over the church had been gathering for three years was presented by representatives of each diocese. The gifts of the women of New York were placed in the historic alms basin given to the American Church one hundred years ago by the University of Oxford by our United Thank Offering Treasurer, Mrs. John Whiteley.

The total amount of the Offering made on Sept. 11 was $2,488,193.30 of which the women of New York contributed $131,053.91. This amount was the largest from any diocese, which is proper, since New York reports the largest number of communicants.

These gifts representing tangibly the many thoughts and prayers of thanksgiving to God which women of the church have uttered during the past three years will be used to support and improve the work of the church at home and overseas. Provision for women missionaries of salaries, pensions, supplies and buildings are the basic items. Among the special items included is one for $8000 to provide a new airplane for the Bishop of Alaska, to whom an airplane is as essential for his pastoral visits as motorcars and trains are to other bishops.

General Convention and the Triennial Meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary which were held in September will greatly affect the activities of the Woman's Auxiliary in this Diocese. During the month of October two important occasions are before each woman.

On Saturday, Oct. 4 at the Henry Hudson Hotel was held the Ninth Triennial Missionary Luncheon with many missionaries present as guests of the women of various parishes; the Bishop of the Diocese and Bishop Boynton greeting the group and Bishop Binsted of the Philippines and Bishop Harris of Liberia speaking.

In place of the October Diocesan meeting, three identical conferences will be held to one of which each woman will be able to go. The conferences will present the same program, but time and place are arranged to be convenient for all: for the northern section of the Diocese, October 16 at Poughkeepsie; for the evening branches, October 19 at the Cathedral; for the southern section, October 28 at the Cathedral.

Delegates who attended the Triennial will bring the news of that event and interesting group conferences on various aspects of the work will be held. All Woman's Auxiliary officers and members will find here information and inspiration for the winter's work.

St. Martin's Presents Original Play

What is believed to be the first interracial play ever to be given in a New York Episcopal Church was given September 28 at St. Martin's Episcopal Church, 230 Lenox Ave. Entitled "SARABAND FOR A SAINT", it was written by Gordon Langley Hall, director of publicity at St. Martin's.

Based on the morality plays given in European churches during the Middle Ages, it is set in a bombed Italian church during World War II. It tells the story of the meeting of a Negro soldier and a British underground agent, who find during their short friendship that there is more than one kind of prejudice in the world.

Immediately preceding the play, the rector, Dr. John H. Johnson, blessed the players. They are Lloyd Grant, Gordon Langley Hall, Dolores Moran, Wilfred Wylie, Mary Kenny, James Chaplin and Raymond Smith. Kim Andrews of New York is director; Ann Paris, assistant director; George Hall, organist at Holy Apostles Church, organist; Dr. Hayward Van Wood, technical adviser to Mr. Hall; Maureen Wetch, Lula Bryant, Cyril Robinson and Adie Parker, effects.

Informal Luncheon At Cathedral

At an informal luncheon at the residence of the Rt. Rev. Horace W. B. Donegan, D.D., Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of New York the Republican candidate for the Presidency, General Dwight D. Eisenhower, discussed with the General Eisenhower and Bishop Donegan following the luncheon at the Cathedral Close.

Bishop many matters of national interest. Bishop Donegan stated "General Eisenhower has a deep grasp and understanding of the principles underlying the issues of the day at home and abroad". The other guests at the luncheon included the Rt. Rev. Charles F. Boynton, D.D., Suffragan Bishop of New York: the Very Rev. James A. Pike, J.S.D., Dean of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine.

Sunday Forums For Faculty And Graduate Students

The Rev. John W. Pyle, new Diocesan Chaplain for College Work, has announced plans for a Faculty-Graduate Forum entitled RELIGION AND INTELLECTUAL FRONTIERS, to be sponsored jointly by the Dean and Chapter of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine and the Commission on College Work. The first series of four lectures and discussions began October 5th and run through the month of October.

The Rev. Dr. W. Norman Pittenger spoke on "Religion and Modern Poetry" on October 5th; on October 12th, the Very Rev. W. R. Matthews, Dean of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, will present "Religion and Modern British Philosophy"; "Inverted Utopias" is the title of the address the Rev. Chad Walsh will give on October 19th; and on October 26th, the group will hear the Rev. Otis R. Rice on the subject "Religion and Mental Health". The lectures will start at 5:30 P. M. in the Cathedral House, with an informal discussion to follow. At 6:30, a fireside buffet supper will be served at a nominal charge, and those attending are invited to stay on after supper as long as they like. Informality will be a keynote of the forum-discussions, and all faculty and graduate students in the Metropolitan area are invited to attend.

Geissler Observes 75th Anniversary

R. Geissler, Inc. is celebrating its 75th aniversary in the service of the Episcopal Church with the publication of a beautifully illustrated 100 page catalog on Church furnishings. The catalog is available free to any rector, vestrymen, Altar Guild president, or any other person responsible or interested in the furnishings of his own parish church. A note to R. Geissler, Inc., 23-06 - 38th Avenue, Long Island City 1, N. Y. will bring this lovely catalog to you.

Seabury Press Bookstore At 281 Fourth Avenue

The new Seabury Press bookstore is modern in every detail and is finished in bleached oak. The built-in shelf and cabinet units and display cases have the same light-colored finish. Large display windows run along two sides of the store, giving the interior a feeling of spaciousness. While the store is small in area, efficient use of space makes it possible to carry a considerable quanity of stock. At the present time, it carries all Seabury Press titles, National Council titles, Forward Movement titles, a complete line of Bibles, Prayer Books, and Hymnals, the titles in the Parish Libraries, the Children's Bookshelf, the Resource Publications, and a wide selection of religious books of other publishers.

The Seabury Press Bookstore will handle over-the-counter sales only, and forwards mail orders to The Press office in Greenwich, Connecticut, for shipping.

The new store, which was set up to serve the needs of the Episcopal Church, is a model of the small Church bookstore. It provides Church people in the vicinity of New York and those who visit the city, with a convenient place where they may examine, purchase, or order any Church-approved publication.

School Of Worship For Women Of The Diocese

A School of Worship for the women of the Diocese will be held at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine on four Monday mornings,—Nov. 3, 10, 17 and 24. The program for each day includes a service in St. James' Chapel, followed by a lecture and seminar in Cathedral House. The subjects are The Theology and Psychology of Worship, The History of Prayer Book Worship, The Intention of Morning and Evening Prayer, The Centrality of Eucharist.

Ascension Begins Anniversary

The Church of the Ascension, Manhattan, opened the celebration of its 125th anniversary of the formal admission of the parish into the diocese at the service on October 5th. The Rector, the Rev. Roscoe Thornton Foust, announced at the service that healing services would be conducted each Wednesday at noon by the Rev. Clinton J. Kew who is now on the staff.

COMMITTEE URGES LENT PROGRAM

The Westchester Committee on Evangelism under the chairmanship of Mr. Samuel Thorne recommends that consideration be given to an early planning of the Lenten program by all parishes and missions. An unusual plan for such a program was carried on at Trinity, New Rochelle last year and certain important details are offered herewith that may be of use to parishes that may wish to conduct such programs.

THE PLAN

Under date of January 17, 1952, Reverend Philip M. Styles, Rector, mailed a "Parish Wide" letter, inviting consideration of a plan which would make available a noonday Lenten Service. The proposal service (planned to take twenty minutes) to consist of Organ Prelude, Prayer, Scripture Reading, a brief sermon by a guest clergyman and the Blessing.

The letter of proposal contained excellent reasons why such a service would be helpful, with the cooperation of a goodly number of parishioners as a working nucleus. A reply postcard was enclosed for comment, on which writer could indicate desire for coffee and sandwich luncheon at a popular price.

This preliminary proposal was supplemented by announcements as to "progress" in the weekly Church leaflet, as well as public announcements by the Rector, as seemed required. Each week a leaflet was mailed to the entire parish outlining the program for the coming week and naming a preacher.

(2) Response to Proposal:

There were 234 replies received; of that number 187 persons said that they would attend at least one such service each week and encourage their friends to accompany them. Some said that they expected to attend more than one service a week; 47 expressed approval, and although unable to attend promised to tell their friends about the services and to encourage community-wide attendance.

A tabulation of replies to February 5th follows:

(3) Acceptance of plan announced, and publicity:

The Rector sent a well prepared letter on February 7th to all who replied to the proposal, attaching an alphabetical list of those who responded and a list of clergymen scheduled to speak. A separate "mailing" again went to all parishioners requesting their support. That letter also listed the days of the proposed services and the speakers.

Four large attractive billboards were displayed in strategic locations, thoughout the entire period, announcing the program and inviting the general public to services.

The New Rochelle, Standard Star, (daily paper) on February 27th commented editorially on the program. recommending the services to the general public.

THE RESULTS

Approximately 3250 persons attended the thirty three services held from Ash Wednesday to Good Friday. This latter service which climaxed the series was attended by 1250 people between the hours of noon and three p.m.

It was encouraging to note that attendance did not primarily consist of the regular Church goers.

Advance publicity was of extreme importance in the success of the program.

No offerings were taken but alms basins were placed in the rear of the Church.

Fall Convocation Meetings Feature Missionaries

The seven Fall Convocation meetings of the Diocese were completed on October 9th with the final meeting being held in St. Paul's Parish, Spring Valley, Ramapo Convocation. Each meeting was unusually well attended and the featured speakers in each meeting were missionary bishops or priests returning from General Convention. Bishop Harris of Liberia addressed the delegates of the Convocations of the Hudson and the Bronx. Fr. Appel, Dean of the Holy Trinity Cathedral at Alegre, Brazil and Bishop Melcher of Brazil spoke to the Convocations of Richmond and Manhattan respectively. The Rev. Plino Simoes of the Philippines presented the missionary cause to the Ramapo Convocation. The Most Rev. Michael Hinsuke Yashiro, Presiding Bishop of the Holy Catholic Church in Japan captured the hearts and imaginations of the more than two hundred who attended the Westchester convocation. Rev. Plino Simoes and Fr. Albert Masferre presented the missionary cause to the Ramapo and Dutchess Convocations.

Bishop Donegan met with the Convocations of Manhattan, the Bronx and Dutchess and highlighted the important decisions made by General Convention. More especially he emphasized in no uncertain terms the necessity for every communicant to take the implementing of the Church's program most seriously this year to guarantee the Church will have the necessary means to carry out the program it has unanimously established for itself. Bishop Boynton attended the remaining four meetings and in his addresses stressed most vividly the fact that meeting and surpassing quotas was an imperative if the Church was to move forward and fulfill its obligations in this Diocese. W. Ted Gannaway Secretary of the Program of the Church addressed all meetings on the subject of the abolishment of the quota-like regard with which the annual "expectations" are held.

Royster Ordained Priest In Solemn Ceremony

"Bob" Royster, former chairman of the Laymen's Field Officers of the Richmond Convocation who left that work to become a priest of the Church was ordained by the Rt. Rev. Reginald Mallett D. D., Bishop of the Diocese of Northern Indiana in solemn ceremonies, September 27th in St. Paul's Church, La Porte, Indiana.

Fr. Royster left an important job with the Port Authority of New York to begin his studies at the seminary and said that one of the principle reasons for his decision was the insight into the Church's needs and opportunities gained while serving as a lay worker in the laymen's movement in this diocese.

COMMUNISM: A JUDGMENT UPON US

by James A. Pike, D. D.

Excerpts from a General Convention Address

Christians cannot view any historical movement, however demonic, simply as something to be opposed. The Bible reminds us that even "the Assyrians are the rod of God," and we must in humility bring ourselves under judgment at the same time as we judge the Communist movement as hostile to Christianity.

We gain a clue to the meaning of Marxism for us when we remember that Marx was a pious Jew who in turn became a Lutheran and a secularist. From his Judaism he gained the concept that history has meaning and the messianic hope of a righteous society; in the Lutheranism of his day he saw a Christianity doctrinally committed to political inaction and "at ease in Zion". Knowing no other kind of Christianity, he turned to an earth bounded materialism as the best possibility for the achievement of the ideal social order.

So the Marxist movement judges us in two ways: First, it exposes our laxness in pursuing the Christian task of bringing about a righteous society.

Second, Communism being the working secularism of Western man, pushed to its logical limits, it should make us very uneasy about the actual materialism and earth-boundedness by which so many of us in fact live—in spite of our professions to the contrary.

This emphasis on self-criticism is not intended to weaken our opposition to Communism. In fact we will be better equipped to oppose it if we have cleansed ourselves and clarified our Christian objectives.

Church Congress Elects New President

The Very Rev. James A. Pike was unanimously elected new president of the Church Congress at its dinner held in Boston. Dean Pike, who is the former Chaplain and Chairman of the Department of Religion at Columbia University, in now Dean of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York City. For the past five years, the Rev. Theodore P. Ferris, Rector of Trinity Church in Boston, has presided over the Church Congress. The Congress is a national organization of clergy and lay people who wish to promote intelligent discussion of vital issues facing Christians in the world today. The group is non-partisan, and attempts to set forth the various points of view which are found within the Church. In describing the future of the Church Congress, which has already been active for eighty years, Dean Pike expressed the hope that leadership would be developed on a broader national basis, and that types of questions affecting many segments of the Church population would become topics of discussion. In the recent past two conferences have been held under the auspices of the Church Congress, one at Princeton, New Jersey, and one at Seabury House, Greenwich, Conn.

NEWS FROM THE CONVOCATIONS

BRONX

At CHRIST CHURCH, Riverdale, Mr. Allen Dennison has been appointed Director of Religious Education. Because of the increased enrol'ment the Church School has been set up on a two session bas's . . .On Friday evenings and Saturday mornings the Riverdale Synagogue, whose congregation has been "dispossessed" will use the facilities of Christ Church parish house.

The Reverend Steele Martin, Fellow and Tutor of the General Seminary, is serving as Priest-in-charge of the CHURCH OF THE GOOD SHEPHERD, pending the election of a new Rector.

SAINT MARGARET'S CHURCH has instituted a monthly Family Evening of social, educational, and parish planning activities; has organized a chapter of the Girl's Friendly, a Cub Scout troop, and Released Time School. All members of this week-day school are required to be present with their families for Sunday Worship. Church going at St. Margaret's now begins at two years of age! Fr. Stewart has asked all men of the parish who take seriously the words of the Prayer of Consecration, "and here we offer and present unto Thee ourselves", to volunteer their assistance in making the many repairs and improvements which are necessary immediately.

When the organist of SAINT PAUL'S, Morrisania, was married recently at the Church, the whole parish was invited to the nuptial celebration of the Holy Communion. Fr. Brown and Fr. Roberts assisted Fr. Davies, and those who were invited came "without excuse".

SAINT PETER'S Westchester, observed the 250th anniversary of the setting apart of the Parish, on the Feast of Saint Matthew. The foundation day was Sept. 21, 1693, and the Rev. John Bartow came as first Rector just 250 years ago this coming November.

The Annual Fall Meeting of the CONVOCATION was held at ST. PETER'S on Thursday, September 25. Bishop Donegan presided at Evensong, and Bishop Harris of Liberia was the principal speaker.

ST. MARGARET'S also wishes to announce that 16mm projector is available for rental through arrangement with the Vicar. —Leslie J. A. Lang

HUDSON

Early in August ST. JOHN'S, Kingston celebrated the 120th anniversary of the parish. TRINITY CHURCH, Saugerties, topped all previous records both in attendance and financial returns at their fair in August. Net returns: $2,134.50. ST. ANDREW'S, Walden and the Convocation has suffered a great loss in the sudden death of Mr. Walter E. Byrnes. A consecrated layman, in addition to his work in St. Andrew's he was also one of the Field Officers from this Convocation and lay representative to the Board of Managers. The Rev. G. M. Brewin of Cornwall died on September 6. Since his retirement as rector of Grace Church, Toledo, Ohio, Father Brewin has assisted at the Church of the GOOD SHEPHERD, Newburgh and for several months was in charge of ST. LUKE'S, Haverstraw. A requiem was held at the Church of the Good Shepherd with the rector, the Rev. George M. Jones as celebrant. Several of the clergy of the Convocation were present. Burial took place in Toledo. The Rev. William E. Ridgeway, assistant of ST. GEORGE'S CHURCH, Newburgh, will assume the Rectorship of ST. PETER'S CHURCH, Peekskill, October the twelfth, succeeding the Rev. Raymond O'Brien. Father Ridgeway came to St. George's in the early summer of 1948 to be director of youth activities and religious education.. Upon the death of the Rev. O. Roy Greene, who was then choirmaster and organist, he assumed these additional duties. In 1949, he began to study for Holy Orders, and was ordained to the Priesthood June 10, 1951, by the Rt. Rev. Horace W. B. Donegan, D. D. Father Ridgeway is known to hundreds of children throughout the city of Newburgh and the Diocese as the Director of Camp St. George, Parksville, N. Y.

During World War II, he was attached to the Medical Detachment of the Army as Supervisor of Radiological Technique at Camp Davis. Earlier in his career, Father Ridgeway was assistant organist and Superintendent of the Church School at St. Barnabas Church, Hudson, and organist and choirmaster at St. John's Church, Wilmington, N. C.

Father and Mrs. Ridgeway have two sons. —Peter W. O. Hill

MANHATTAN

Summer is usually a quiet time for the Manhattan parishes. The services go on but without the bustle and at a more leisurely pace than is the case in the other seasons of the year. Guest preachers are in most of the pulpits. Among those who were in Manhattan during the summer were the Right Reverend C. K. Jacob, a Bishop of the Church of South India at SAINT JAMES CHURCH, Madison Avenue, and the Reverend Alexander Gemmell, minister of Nairn High Church in Scotland at SAINT BARTHOLOMEW'S CHURCH, Park Avenue.

SAINT MARY'S CHURCH, Manhattanville saw a busy Saturday afternoon in June when there were three large weddings in the Church and many pictures taken afterward on the Rectory lawn. The Reverend Charles Breck Ackley, S. T. D., the Rector, reports that to have three weddings all in one afternoon was a record for his Parish.

All friends of social work and of the late Mrs. Mary Simkhovitch will be pleased to learn that the Vicar and people of SAINT LUKE'S CHAPEL, Trinity Parish, Hudson Street plan to plant a tree in her memory in front of the parish house sometime during October.

SAINT AMBROSE CHURCH, West 130th Street was urging its people to help the drive for funds for the installation of a new heating system. A worthy project indeed, but one which must have taken a great deal of imagination to bring to peoples' attention in the midst of the summer heat wave.

The Rev. Darby W. Betts, S.T.M., Head Master
Cathedral Choir School, Cathedral Hgts., N.Y. 25

The Rev. George A. Butterick, Pastor of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, and The Rev. Arthur Lee Kinsolving, Rector of St. James' Episcopal Church, have announced their common sponsorship of a fall series of lectures by prominent Christian laymen.

The general theme of this Tuesday evening series is "Christendom Can Again Make History in a Hostile World".

The series opens on October 21st with Dr. George Van Sanvoord, Headmaster of the Hotchkiss School, Lakeville, Conn., speaking on "Disastrous Consequences of an Indifferent Christianity". The second lecture will be given on October 28th by Dr. Theodore M. Greene, Professor of Philosophy and Master of Silliman College at Yale University, on the subject "Re-thinking Our Theology".

SAINT PAUL'S CHAPEL, Trinity Parish, will celebrate its one hundred and eighty-sixth birthday on October 30. There will be special choral and instrumental music for the Anniversary, and the Rector, Rev. John Heuss, will visit the Chapel, and preach. —James Morgan

WESTCHESTER

Gove B. Harrington, organist and choirmaster of St. Luke's Church, Katonah, has successfully passed the Choir Master Examination of the American Guild of Organists, and has been awarded the designation "Ch. M." (Choirmaster). This is an unusual honor for the volunteer director of a mission choir, as it is usually awarded only to full-time professional choirmasters.

Under Mr. Harrington's leadership, the junior and senior choirs of St. Luke's have become known throughout northern Weschester for their high quality. Mr. Harrington has also gained a wide measure of recognition as an organ recitalist and music critic.

Robert Huntington Terry completed sixty-six years of service as organist and choirmaster when he arose from his seat at the organ of St. Andrews Memorial Church, Yonkers on August 31st. He began his long and faithful tour of duty at the old St. Chrysostom's Parish under the rectorship of the Rev. Thomas Sill in 1885 and served two more parishes: Church of the Redeemer, on West 136th Street, New York which was closed in 1914 and finally his present post at St. Andrews. The Bulletin offers congratulations to musician Terry and expresses to him the gratitude of the thousands who have enjoyed his music throughout the years.

Plans for the "Harvest Fair" to be held on November 12th and 13th at ST. THOMAS CHURCH, Mamaroneck, are well on the way to a fine state of organization under the capable chairmanship of Mrs. Harvey DuBois of St. Margaret's Chapter according to an announcement by the Rector in the latest issue of "The Tower".

The Rev. Fenimore Cooper, rector of TRINITY CHURCH, Mt. Vernon, has been spending the summer touring England with his family. In his interesting letters to his parishioners, he gives a very vivid account of his visits to the cathedral country and to many old English Churches.

At CHRIST CHURCH, Bronxville, they discontinued the 11:00 a.m. and the 9:00 a.m. service and held a combined service at 10:00 a.m. during the summer months. The emphasis at this service was placed upon congregational participation with special attention to the singing.

A good deal of interest was aroused recently in Getty's Square, Yonkers, when the workman on ST. JOHN'S CHURCH removed four iron crosses from the church building. These crosses were seven feet high and they had to be handled carefully because they are rigidly cast in a scroll pattern and will not bend. The crosses were removed in order that they might have gold leaf applied to them. This is a part of the renovation program of the 200 year old parish.

The children of the Church School of TRINITY CHURCH, Ossining, have been busy attempting to build a MILE OF PENNIES. Each child was given an envelope in which to deposit the pennies and they will be counted on the opening Sunday.

A news release of the National Council made the following statement concerning GRACE CHURCH, White Plains:

"Cooperation between the parish and the press was illustrated recently in White Plains, New York, when the managing editor of the local newspaper met with the staff of the Episcopal parish paper to help them work out a more effective public relations program. The newspaper man was Benjamin H. Carroll, Managing Editor of the White Plains Reporter Dispatch, who had received a letter from the rector of Grace Church in that community, the REV. ALFRED C. ARNOLD, asking for his comments and suggestions on his church's publicity program. This letter prompted not only a lengthy answer from Mr. Carroll, but also an offer to meet with the staff on the ANGELUS, Grace Church's monthly paper. At this meeting the staff heard a trained newspaperman's viewpoint on the parish publicity setup, and benefited from his specific suggestion on how to make their paper more interesting and 'alive'." —Kenneth C. Ackerman

DUTCHESS

The Rectors of the four Poughkeepsie parishes; CHRIST, HOLY COMFORTER, ST. PAUL'S and ST. ANDREW'S published before Whitsuntide a common statement in the local paper, regarding the significance of the day and urging church attendance. They propose, by quarterly consideration of mutual problems, to make evident the unity of the Episcopal Church in the city.

The attractive weekly bulletin of GRACE CHURCH, Millbrook, directs the attention of the congregation each week to two different outstanding pieces of available literature.

ZION CHURCH, Wappingers Falls, had its seventh year of perfect weather for the Saturday after Labor Day Harvest Fair. By spreading fourteen attractions around Zion park in the heart of town, they made nearly $2000 in one afternoon. The parish has sent a new Missal Stand to Church of the Ascension, Ontonagon, Mich.

A special effort to have church school pupils attend summer services, by providing attendance cards and awards, was made by ST. ANDREW'S, Poughkeepsie, ZION, Wappingers Falls, and MESSIAH, Rhinebeck. ST. PAUL'S, Poughkeepsie, continued special services for young people at the same hour after Church School closed. ST. PAUL'S AND TRINITY, Tivoli, bases its selection of Christmas pageant cast and presentation of Christmas gifts on Church School attendance.

New pew edition hymnals were dedicated recently at CHRIST CHURCH, Red Hook, as a memorial to Deaconess Amy Greer Thompson. Clergy and choir copies were blessed as memorials to Harry Buckland Hart.

Plans have been completed for the erection of a $35,000 parish house at MESSIAH, Rhinebeck. The new building will be placed parallel to the church and fifty feet away in compliance with insurance regulations.

What seems to us a very excellent custom and worthy of imitation in other parishes has been instituted in ASCENSION CHURCH, West Park, by their Rector, the Rev. Harold C. Swezy. Following the custom of the Cathedral to remember a particular parish or mission of the Diocese each Sunday, Fr. Swezy, has assigned a particular Sunday to each family in his parish as their "Family Day." On this day the Holy Eucharist is offered with special intention for God's Blessing upon each member of that family and special prayers are said on their behalf. During the week Fr. Swezy calls on the family to be remembered on the following Sunday to remind them that the next Sunday is their "Family Day" and to urge them all to attend service in a group.

The practice is meeting with much success and Fr. Swezy says he feels that it is doing much to bring all members of the parish into a closer relationship in the larger family of God.

RAMAPO

The Rev. Ernest W. Churchill, dean of Ramapo, and rector of ST. STEPHEN'S, Pearl River, is able to do a fairly large amount of parish work, after twelve months of illness.

ST. JOHN'S, Goshen, lays emphasis upon the choir, of which the Rev. Edwin R. Smythe, rector is musical leader. A prayer group meets once a week all through the year. The Lee Memorial Library features the newest publications of Seabury press.

ST. PAUL'S Spring Valley, is housing classes of public school children for the third successive year; looks forward to being host of Convocation; has a vicar, The Rev. Gustave A. Zeltner, who makes the churchyard a beauty-spot, with flowers and small fruits, vegetables and trees.

In CHRIST CHURCH, Warwick, the parish house kitchen was remodelled and modernized, rectory and main meeting room of parish house were painted during the summer. On September 14th a special service was held for the board of education, officials and teachers of the Warwick school system. In August the annual fair netted $6.00 a minute, $900 total. Church attendance for July and August: 99 (average).

The Rev. Wendell W. Phillips, rector of CHRIST CHURCH, Rye, preached in Nyack, at baccalaureate exercises in the high school. Authors in GRACE CHURCH, Nyack, are invited to compose letters on "The Happiest of Sundays." The rector, Rev. Harold B. Thelin, will give a prize.

New Field Consultant For Girls' Friendly Society

Miss Thelma E. Caruso of St. Albans Parish, Staten Island has just been appointed Field Consultant for the Diocese of New York by the Girls' Friendly Society. She will make her headquarters in the Dicesan House on the Cathedral Close but will spend the major part of her time assisting parishes and missions in organizing branches of the Society throughout the Diocese.

Miss Caruso has been the librarian for the Church Missions House of the National Council and is well known throughout the Church. She has been serving as Worship Chairman of the Young Peoples Fellowship and has been connected with the Church publishing house of Morehouse-Gorham. She served as a staff sergeant in the Marines during the war but retained her interest in the Church.

In an interview with the BULLETIN, Miss Caruso declared, the major goal this year is to lend a hand to individual parishes and missions in developing this important work among teen age girls.

Advent Meeting of The Woman's Auxiliary Dec. 2

The Advent Meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary will be held at the Cathedral on Tuesday, December 2 from 10:30 to 3 o'clock. This is the great meeting held each year to which women will come in great numbers from all parts of the Diocese. Six hundred attended in 1951. The service of Holy Communion at 10:30 in the Cathedral is the occasion of the fall presentation of the United Thank Offering and will have a missionary sermon by the Rt. Rev. Richard S. Watson, D.D., of Utah.

A box luncheon held in the undercroft of the Synod Hall expects as guests of honor: Cathedral clergy and members of the Diocesan staff as well as missionaries now in New York. The afternoon meeting to be held in Synod Hall will be on the subject of the United Thank Offering with Mrs. Perry B. Strassburger of the National Executive Board as the speaker. The record made by the Women of the Diocese in sending to the Triennial at Boston in September the largest offering ever given makes this an especially interesting occasion.

THE BISHOP'S ADDRESS

To the Special Convention of the Diocese,
Tuesday, October 14, 1952

My Brethren in Christ, Grace be unto you and peace

AS directed by the last Annual Diocesan Convention we are now assembled for the purposes set forth in the call and notice of this Special Convention.

Later on this morning after the ballots have been cast the Presiding Bishop will speak to us. This afternoon we shall hear reports from some of our delegates to the General Convention, and also hear from the Suffragan Bishop, and the Archdeacon.

Ordinarily at this time we of the clergy would be gathered together for Conference at West Point. The proximity of the dates of the sessions of General Convention, and the need for the Special Convention at this time, made it necessary to forego the Clergy Conference this year. We remember the fine spirit and benefits of the Clergy Conferences in the past, and I shall of course plan one for next Fall.

The Diocesan Council

The establishment of the Council should mark the beginning of a new era in our Diocesan Missionary work. We shall now be able to co-ordinate all of the many Diocesan agencies; this has never been possible before. The co-ordination of our work should prevent overlapping of the functions of the various agencies of the Church, and should make for more efficient administration.

We are prone as individuals to have special interests which occupy our thinking and our time, to the exclusion of other interests. The Council representing all interests will give b a l a n c e to our whole program.

The success of our new venture will depend to a great extent upon the qualities of leadership and devotion to the Church's total mission of those who are chosen by you, and appointed by me as Diocesan, to the membership of the Council and its departments. We must have clergy and laymen who have proved their concern and zeal for the missionary cause. They ought to be qualified by interest and experience to give leadership in the areas represented by the five departments of the Council. They must be men who as your representatives will call forth the respect and support of the Diocese. Let it be understood that membership on the Council will not be an empty honor, but a trust and responsibility which should only be accepted by those who are willing to give generously and sacrificially of their time and abilities, to our common affairs.

The Department of Missions

This Department will be faced with the greatest challenges and opportunities of the century, presented by the rapid shifts in population, the emergence of large public and private housing developments, the fast growing communities in the suburban and rural districts of the Diocese.

Due to altered conditions some of our urban churches cannot be dominant spiritual forces in their respective neighborhoods without Diocesan sponsorship, with old and large buildings, expensive to operate; with diminished finances and inadequate clergy and lay staffs these churches cannot by themselves maintain the services of worship, and the program of week-day activities essential to a vigorous presentation of the faith in these changed and changing communities.

The Department of Missions will by direct counsel and such financial aid as is available, strengthen these churches and enable them to make a real impact on the neighborhood, in the name of Our Lord and His Church. The exciting missionary opportunities today in the urban field are familiar to us all.

The missionary work in rural districts and suburban areas will also be the concern of this department. With the continued trends to suburban life, new communities are growing up rapidly in many parts of the Diocese. So fast has been the development in some areas that today there are no churches at all. Here are genuine opportunities. These communities with initial assistance could soon assume full responsibility for their churches.

Clearly it is important and indeed essential that we must devise an overall plan of strategy, and develop a definite program in order that we may respond intelligently and adventurously to the challenges, and utilize the unparalleled opportunities for missionary work throughout the Diocese.

Christian Social Relations

This Department will make available accurate information regarding social, political and international matters. We must know the facts before we can deal wisely with the complex and bewildering social issues of the day. We need to have carefully thought out evaluation to guide us in order that our action in these realms may be Christian and intelligent.

Many things are lost by default. No one takes an interest while pressure groups succeed in getting through legislation whose total effect is contrary to the Christian gospel. This department will awaken us to situations where our united Christian action will be most effective. The corporate impact of the Church's life must be brought to bear on some of the critical legislation of our times.

Christian Education

The Department of Christian Education following the leadership of the National Council will provide us with a new approach to the teaching ministry and guide us in Church School administration and curricular development. It will sponsor the training of Church School teachers and officers, summer conferences, youth work adult education, and through the College Commission promote the work of the Church with students and faculties of institutions of higher learning within the Diocese, and foster the organization of Episcopal student groups, and provide for pastoral work among college students.

We have in this Diocese resources of ability to build up the strongest Department of Christian Education in the Church.

Department of Promotion

The function of this Department will be to present the Program of the Church. It will keep us informed with vital information concerning the work of the different Diocesan agencies, and most important of all will show us the missionary need and opportunities at home and overseas.

It is a great encouragement to me and I know it is to you that our Diocese is now more generously, than heretofore, supporting the missionary enterprise of the Church. Last year our contributions to missions were the largest in history. We have made great gains but we must increase if we are to assume our full share of the Church's program. The Department of Promotion will help us to reach our missionary objectives.

Finance

The Department of Finance will study and evaluate the material need of all branches of our Church's life in the Diocese. On the basis of the study and continuous review the department will make recommendations concerning the apportionment of our income.

This, of course, will be the unpopular department of the Council.

To deal with this particular task will require not only familiarity with figures, but also a genuine interest and concern for the varied aspects of the Church's missionary program.

As we all know there are agencies directly connected with our Church which have independent boards of trustees governing their activities; City Mission Society, Youth Consultation Service, Seaman's Church Institute, and the Episcopal Service to the Aged.

It will be the responsibility of the Council to see that the work of these agencies is maintained, strengthened and extended.

In the future the Diocese will be closely related to these agencies, and rightly so, for they all recognize the Christian faith as the basis of their efforts, and are in a real sense extensions of the Church's ministry.

My purpose in giving this summary is to make clear the importance which attaches to these elections today.

Anniversary Message

Now let me turn for a moment to a personal matter. The Feast of St. Simon and St. Jude, October 28, will be the Fifth Anniversary of my Consecration as a Bishop. I shall celebrate the Holy Communion on that day in the Cathedral at 11:00 o'clock.

Naturally I would like to invite all of you to be present and share in this Service with me, but I know the lay delagates have business responsibilities and I appreciate their taking the time out to be here for this Convention. I would like as many of our clergy who care to do so to join with me in the Service of Holy Communion at the Cathedral, and after the Service to be my guests at luncheon in the Undercroft of the Synod House.

These past five years have been enriching ones to me, because of the whole-hearted co-operation which I have had, and I would like to express to you, and ask you to take back to the people you represent, my word of affectionate appreciation. I have been keenly aware since my Consecration of what indeed I already knew, that there is a deep devotion on the part of our people to this great Church of ours, and a silent admiration from those outside our fellowship.

Our Key Position

"We occupy a special key position in the true witness and growth of the Church of Christ," as the Archbishop of Canterbury stated in his address at the General Convention and went on to say "we hold that position by the will of Our Lord Jesus Christ declared in our history; we hold it by virtue of the depth and strength of our Anglican tradition, Scriptural, Catholic, Evangelical and firmly Protestant, against errors, denials, confusions, and false accretions in doctrine which from the time of the Reformation onwards we have steadfastly rejected."

Let us then in a spirit of renewed loyalty to our own Communion, and in a spirit of charity towards others, approach our task, with hope and courage, loving and serving the Lord, rejoicing in the power of the Holy Spirit, that we of the Diocese of New York may make our true contribution to the cause of Christ and His Church.

THE SPECIAL DIOCESAN CONVENTION

THE members of the Convention of the Diocese came together on Tuesday, October 14, 1952, to elect the members of the new Diocesan Council, which it had set up at its regular meeting in May. It gathered first at the altar of the Cathedral for a celebration of the Holy Communion, and later to hear the Bishop's Charge, (printed elsewhere in this issue), setting forth the function and purpose of the various departments within this new Council.

After this address the Convention proceeded to elect the following delegates:

THE REVEREND SHELTON H. BISHOP, '54
THE REVEREND JOHN HEUSS, D.D., '54
THE REVEREND ARTHUR L. KINSOLVING, D.D., '53
THE REVEREND JOHN A. BELL, '53
THE VENERABLE GEORGE F. BRATT, '53
MR. G. FORREST BUTTERWORTH, '54
THE HONORABLE HUBERT T. DELANY, '54
MR. RUSSELL ALDRICH, '53
MR. ELLIS H. CARSON, '53
MR. EDWARD K. WARREN, 53

These, of course, do not make up the whole Council since the Bishop has the appointment of five additional members, and each department may co-opt others.

Although the Convention came together to hold an election, and to have lunch, which it did next, it stayed to hear some excellent addresses by the Presiding Bishop, the Suffragan Bishop of the Diocese and the Diocesan Delegates to the General Convention.

The Presiding Bishop

Bishop Sherrill, who was in excellent form, spoke to the Convention about the work of the Church, particularly from the parochial point of view. "The primary unit", he said, "of the life of the Church is the parish. It is in the parish that boys and girls are being baptized and learning the fundamentals of the Gospel." The parish that is the chief missionary unit of the Church. "There are millions of people hungering and thirsting for the bread and water of life, many of them thirsty and hungry and not even knowing it. Many of our people are on our rolls and yet haven't any real conviction, and I long to see a revitalization in every parish—a spiritual awakening."

On this next point the Bishop received spontaneous applause, perhaps mostly from the laity. "I am going to make a very old-fashioned, and, what out of almost forty years' experience in the ministry, I believe essential, suggestion to the clergy, if we are to have this spiritual revitalization, and that is to get out and make parish calls. Now I r e a l i z e I am old-fashioned—my point is that the people who really need religion are many times the last people who would go to a rectory or parish house and ask advice."

Bishop Donegan Greets Bishop Sherrill

The Presiding Bishop had, however, some strong suggestions to the laity for working out from their parish into the larger life of the Church. "I would", he said, "say to the laity that no team of clergymen can meet this task alone. The laymen can be tremendously effective—a layman telling what his Church means to another layman." Yet a parish cannot live alone. It needs the diocese just as the diocese needs the whole Church and its world-wide outlook.

Bishop Boynton

"The matter with which we are actually concerned—namely that of Christian Stewardship resulting in regular, proportionate and sacramental Giving", said the Suffragan Bishop, "is not primarily financial but educational, and above all, spiritual." He led up to this theme by showing that of the 100,000 communicants, represented by the delegates to this Convention, some 30% are not pledging to the support of the Church's missionary work at all, and many of those who do are not doing so according to their adjusted means. Consequently 134 of the 214 parishes and missions failed to meet their quotas. It was interesting to note that 63% of those who failed so far have not sought the advice or the help of the Committee on the Program of the Church nor availed themselves of the National Council and Diocesan promotional material to support their canvass efforts.

Looking ahead Bishop Boynton pointed out that we must raise roughly another $100,000 more next year if we are not to curtail our own work, of which we have given our full approval. "All that is necessary," he said, "is for those already pledging to increase their giving on the red side of the envelope by 12 to 15 cents a week and we would more than meet the total increase." "No one," he continued, "would not g l a d l y make such a trifling increase if only he realized with every faculty of his being that behind the cold words and colder figures of the budgets are men and women and children in dire need of food and clothing, and in even deeper need for the Bread of Life."

Bishop Boynton summarized Giving as having to do with the whole theological concept of ownership; with the truth or falsehood of the phrases "All things come of Thee, O Lord; and of Thine own have we given Thee", "And here we offer ourselves, our souls and bodies, to be a reasonable, holy and living sacrifice"; as the conviction that the Church's Program is the most important business Churchmen can back with their Time, their Talents, and their Treasure; and ultimately with our own personal, eternal salvation.

The Delegates

The Rev. Roelif H. Brooks, D.D., addressed the Convention on the subject of the Church Pension Fund and reported on the details of the proposed plan for use of mutual funds operated by investing companies in place of the present actuarial plan. Dr. Brooks explained why the Convention did not pass the proposal and gave a clear and concise statement of the workings of the present plan. Dr. Clifford Morehouse then spoke on the work of the Program and Budget Committee of the General Convention telling of the many hours of hearings, the careful scrutinizing of each item in the budget and the final decision which resulted in the actual increase of the budget for the general Church program above that asked for by the National Council. The increase was voted in order to meet the absolute needs of native clergy in the overseas fields whose stipends are woefully inadequate according to Dr. Morehouse who served as a member of the Committee. The Very Rev. James A. Pike, Dean of the Cathedral, told the Diocesan Convention of the proposed changes in the Church Canons and indicated the reasons for their adoption or rejection. Dr. John Heuss, rector of Trinity Parish, Manhattan, told of the progress of the work being done by the Department of Christian Education offering a brief resume of the underlying policy being followed and the results that were to be expected. The Archdeacon of the Diocese, the Ven. George F. Bratt described his impressions of the Convention from the viewpoint of one who had never been a delegate before. He emphasized the impact that the great services that were held made upon all the delegates and visitors who attend General Convention and what a feeling of strength, unity and oneness of purpose there was apparent throughout the whole convention.

YOU AND YOUR DIOCESE

by Clifford P. Morehouse

Lay Member of the Standing Committee

The word "diocese" comes from two Greek words meaning "to manage a household." Thus the diocese, in the long history of the Christian Church, has traditionally been the basic unit of Church administration, under the bishop, who might be termed the overseer or manager of the household.

As Episcopalians, therefore, our loyalty is not simply to our parish, but through the parish to the diocese, and through the diocese to the whole Church. Every communicant of the Church is a member of the diocese, and, since this is a democratic Church, each has his part in the government and the work of the diocese. The clergy and lay representatives of the parishes and missions elect the Bishop and under his leadership the diocese co-ordinates the work of the parishes and maintains its missionary, educational, and social ministry.

The diocese of New York is the largest in the Episcopal Church, in Church population. It has, according to the 1952 Living Church Annual, 136,721 baptized members, including 98,967 communicants. These are organized in 172 parishes, 19 parish chapels, 37 organized missions, two unorganized missions, and two preaching stations, and are ministered to by 379 clergymen.

Yet the diocese of New York does not include all of New York state. Indeed, there are six dioceses in the state: New York, Long Island, Albany, Central New York, Rochester, and Western New York. Our diocese includes the counties of Bronx, Dutchess, New York, Orange, Putnam, Richmond, Rockland, Sullivan, Ulster, and Westchester. In short, it extends from Staten Island, through Manhattan and the Bronx, eastward to the Connecticut state line, north along the Hudson to northern boundary of Dutchess County and west to the Delaware River.

We commonly think of missionary work as something more or less remote; yet within the diocese of New York there is a large and varied amount of missionary work. There are urban-industrial missions and rural missions, as well as missions to people of many different national and racial origins. The Episcopal City Mission Society and other diocesan organizatons reach into prisons, hospitals, and other institutions to carry the message of Christ and His Church.

The great Cathedral of St. John the Divine is the central church of the whole diocese. It is the Bishop's church; but it is also the church of every communicant. It has no parochial organization of its own, but the members of every parish have equal rights in it, and it is frequently used for large diocesan or community services that could not be held in any one parish church.

So whether you live near the Cathedral or in a distant part of the diocese, it is your Cathedral, and your diocese. And as St. Paul was proud to be "a citizen of no mean city"—Rome—so we may be proud to be citizens of no mean diocese, the diocese of New York. By virtue of our membership in our own parish church, we have also the privilege, and of course also the responsibility, of being a member of the diocese, and a supporter of the missionary, social, and educational work carried out under its auspices, and under the leadership of the Rt. Rev. Horace W. B. Donegan, our elected and consecrated bishop, the head of this portion of the household of Faith which we call the diocese of New York.

Laymen Adopt Three Year Program Of Evangelism

Harvey S. Firestone, Jr., Chairman of the Presiding Bishop's Committee on Laymen's Work presented a three year program of Evangelism which was enthusiastically adopted by both houses of General Convention. The program calls for the first year to be devoted to a period of intensive preparation by all laymen and for this purpose a study course consisting of nine programs especially designed for men's groups has been published by the Committee.

The second year contemplates the actual two-by-two visitation of the indifferent and unchurched in the various communities in which our parishes and missions are located to the end that the laymen will sponsor the largest confirmation classes in the Fall and Winter of 1953 that the Church has enjoyed in it's history. The third year will be devoted to thorough integration of the communicants sponsored in confirmation by these laymen in the life and activities of the parish.

Organized under the direction of the Laymen's Division of the Diocesan Department of Promotion an intensive campaign of organizing and developing men's groups in the parishes and missions which do not have them now will be carried on and the use of the material for the nine program meetings is earnestly recommended.

THE SEAMEN'S CHURCH INSTITUTE

The Seamen's Church Institute of New York is the largest shore home in the world for active merchant seamen of all races and creeds. For one hundred and eighteen years seafarers, carrying cargoes all over the world, have used the facilities of the Institute as a home and hotel when in the Port of New York.

Volunteers are needed to carry on this great work. The Christmas Room will be open until December 15, Mondays through Fridays, and two evenings a week. There the women wrap and prepare 6000 boxes which will be put aboard ships, sent to seamen in hospitals and given to seamen staying in the Institute on Christmas Day. More knitters are needed throughout the year to complete the 8000 garments required, in order that one can be included in each Christmas box and also that requests for outfits can be filled.

On Christmas Day women may serve as hostesses during dinner, as we endeavor to have a homelike atmosphere for the men away from home. In all these volunteer services one's own life may be enriched with the spirit of the Master as we strive to serve our brother men who are equally sacred in His sight.

NEWS FROM THE CONVOCATIONS

BRONX

A CONVOCATION LAYMEN'S DAY, patterned after the Diocesan Laymen's Day was held at the CHURCH OF THE GOOD SHEPHERD, Wakefield, on Saturday, October 11. Holy Communion, celebrated by the dean of the Cathedral, was followed by breakfast and an address by Dr. Pike. After luncheon at a local restaurant, the Rev. Moran Weston of the National Council spoke on "The Church in the Atomic Age; its Opportunity and Responsibility". Women and children of the Convocation then came to witness a showing of "The Light of the North" and all joined in Evening Prayer at 4 o'clock. Those responsible for the day, report a good attendance, a meeting of real spiritual depth and refreshment, and a deep sense of our fellowship within the Episcopal Church. Plans were laid for a Men's Service at Trinity, Morrisania, on Nov. 9.

SIXTY-FIVE DISTRICT OFFICERS of the Woman's Auxiliary met at ST. PETER'S CHURCH, Westchester, on Friday, October 10. The Women feel that this indicates the strong and increasing interest in and carrying out of the Missionary Enterprise in the Convocaton.

At the CHURCH OF THE MEDIATOR, Mr. Edmund Penn, a student at the General Seminary, and the first candidate for Holy Orders in the history of the Parish, is now serving as lay assistant to the rector.

A NEW PRAYER GROUP of twenty members is now meeting at ST. JAMES', Fordham, for Holy Communion, breakfast, discussion and devotion. The rector also reports that there are now six organizations in the parish for boys and girls from eight years of age through their teens with a diversified program of devotion, athletics, music, arts crafts and fellowship.

SAINT SIMEON'S,Melrose, opened the new active season with a GREAT 1952 RALLY SUNDAY PROGRAM and the presentation of the summer "Gift of Grace" Rally Banks for material improvements in the church buildings.

"WELCOMERS", members of the Woman's Auxiliary, and others, at CHRIST CHURCH, Riverdale, will share the privilege and responsibility of becoming acquainted with the many "newcomers" from the community to the parish church, and acquainting them with others on each Sunday.

plan for consolidating the church property by locating parish buildings hitherto occupying three geographical areas, in the churchyard itself, is moving forward. The rectory, built in 1851, without need of any fundamental structural changes, has become the new home of the Westchester-Bronx Y. M. C. A. Plans have been drawn for a new rectory within the church yard. The church basement, unused for a century except for a furnace, has become an undercroft with two large meeting rooms, choir room, model kitchen, storage rooms and lavatories. Ground has been broken for an addition to the church which will house the Church School through the third grade, the released time school, and will provide clergy and secretary offices, file and record room and library-meeting room.

THE HOUSE OF THE HOLY COMFORTER is an Episcopal home for chronically ill women, situated on the Grand Concourse at 196th Street. Each year it has a bazaar, which is really a sale of work and articles made by the patients and friends. The proceeds from this affair go towards the support of the home. The date for the bazaar this year is Saturday, November 15th at 2 p m.

MANHATTAN

An interesting, tangible way for the Christian to show his interest in education, especially on the higher level, has been started by the CHURCH OF THE HEAVENLY REST, Fifth Avenue, through whose care a full tuition, four year award has been established at Trinity College, Hartford. It is part of an effort to arouse interest among all young Episcopalians to attend a college related to their Church.

While on the subject of education, the dedication of the new school buildings of GRACE CHURCH, Broadway, on Sunday, October 19th ought to be mentioned. Dean Pike was the preacher at this significant event, and the new buildings were open to inspection. The additional space has been made available by remodeling and by expansion into buildings formerly used by commercial houses.

On the evening of the first Sunday in Advent, November 30, at eight o'clock, Canon Bryon Green, of Birmingham, England, will be the preacher at a special service at ST. BARTHOLOMEW'S CHURCH, Manhattan.

This service will give an opportunity to all in the area who profited from his previous Missions, to hear him again; and, of course, anyone interested in coming will be most welcome.

The service will be conducted by Bryan Green himself; there will be singing by the congregation, and plenty of time for an address by him.

THE CHURCH OF THE TRANSFIGURATION (The Little Church around the Corner), East 29th Street, prints on the back of its weekly bulletin a short summary of the way in which one becomes a member of the Episcopal Church. It would seem to be a helpful paragraph to add to most bulletins in these days when there is so much inquiry about the Church, both from Church people and others.

During the summer, most of the plant of SAINT THOMAS CHAPEL, East 60th Street, was done over with the stone-work on the outside being pointed and the walls being painted on the inside. New kitchens were installed for Chapel affairs. They will see their greatest use during the Annual Bazaar on November 12th and 13th.

The series of lectures sponsored jointly by SAINT JAMES CHURCH, Madison Avenue and the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church on Tuesdays at 8:15 o'clock on the general topic, "Christianity can again make history in a Hostile World", will continue on November 11th when Dr. Henry Smith Leiper speaks on "An Immediate Strategy for the World Church" and will close on November 18 when Dr. Douglas Steere speaks on "An Immediate Strategy for the Individual Christian" These last two lectures will be held in the Madison Avenue Church.

A special service of prayer and dedication was held the day before Election Day—Monday, November 3—at noon at TRINITY CHURCH, Wall Street. This service was in line with the recent appeal of the Presiding Bishop for services in all churches on that day for God's blessing and guidance on the decisions of the day. Bishop Sherrill was the Preacher at TRINITY CHURCH.

The custom of corporate communion services continues to grow, and it is a good sign of the spiritual vitality of the lay people. The St. George's Assocation of R. H. Macy's held such a corporate communion at the CHURCH OF THE INCARNATION on Sunday, September 28.

Saint Luke's School, SAINT LUKE'S CHAPEL, Trinity Parish, Hudson Street, was featured in the issue of September 23 of LIFE magazine. The article told of some of the mural painting done last Spring by some of the pupils of the School.

THE CHURCH OF THE RESURRECTION, East 74th Street, started this Fall an interesting and informative bulletin which is mailed to members of the Parsh and friends on the first and the fifteenth of each month. THE DIOCESAN BULLETIN wishes the Messenger every good wish for its constant success.

THE CHURCH OF THE ASCENSION, Fifth Avenue, is celebrating its 125th Anniversary this year. In addition to the usual round of events, it is adding to its staff the services of the Rev. Clinton J. Kew who will be available

The Rev. Percy Deacon, a member of the clergy staff at ST. MARTIN'S CHURCH, New York Cty, has returned to his duties following his first vacation spent with his family in Britain for 50 years.

In a sermon preached at St. Martin's, October 12, he said that people he had not seen for 60 years turned out with their great-grandchildren to greet him at the reception given him in his childhood parish.

THE CHURCH OF THE EPIPHANY, York Avenue, sent a questionnaire to all the parish asking each one to list his vocation and to mention what parish work he was doing. About a third of the parishioners answered the questionnaire. It ought to serve as a basis on which to build a realistic parish program.

On the afternoon of Saturday, November 29, there will be dedicated a tablet on the north side of the Tower of SAINT PETER'S CHURCH, Chelsea, in memory of Clement Clarke Moore, founder and a benefactor of that Parish. While better known as the author of A Visit from St. Nicholas, Dr. Moore was also closely connected both with Saint Peter's and with the General Seminary.

ST. BARTHOLOMEW'S CHURCH, White Plains N. Y., has recently received a gift of singular beauty and meaning for its new parish House. The gift was a landscape in oil, painted by Mr. Robert Lawrence. The Lawrence family were formerly associated with the parish.

Part of the popular radio team, Rayburn and Finch, George Rayburn and his family, have recently moved to Mamaroneck and are now affiliated with ST. THOMAS' CHURCH of that community.

The Dean of the CONVOCATION OF WESTCHESTER, the Rev. Fenimore E. Cooper, brought the sad news of the passing of Mr. Harvey J. Wood to the Convocation Council meeting in October. Mr. Wood, a communicant and vestryman of TRINITY CHURCH, Mt. Vernon, N. Y., was the treasurer of the Convocation. A resolution expressing the deep sympathy of the membership was sent to the family.

Mr. Edward G. O'Brien, of ST. JAMES THE LESS CHURCH, Scarsdale, N. Y., was elected to fill the vacant office.

The Rev. Lemuel J. Winterbottom, Convocation Chairman of the Episcopal Radio Program, which is heard each week over Station W. F. A. S., White Plains, N. Y., announced recently that the day of the broadcast has been changed from Thursday to Friday. The time is 9:00 a.m.

CHURCH SCHOOL TEACHER'S INSTITUTE, sponsored by the Convocation of Westchester held two meetings during last month at GRACE CHURCH, White Plains, N. Y. The speakers were the Rev. Dr. Frederick Underwood and the Rev. Dr. Victor Hoag. The co-chairmen of the committee were the Rev. Lemuel Winterbottom and the Rev. Osborn Budd.

Approximately seventy-five young people attended the first fall meeting of the Sound Youth Group held at ALL SAINT'S CHURCH, Harrison, N. Y. All of the churches were represented. On November 19 the group has been invited to St. Peter's School, Peekskill, N. Y.

ST. FRANCIS, Elmsford, the Woman's Auxiliary have resumed their regular meetings for the coming year. New officers have been elected and will be installed on Sunday, November 16.

The ladies from St. Francis who attended the luncheon on October 4 were honored by the presence of Canon and Mrs. Green at their table.

HUDSON

The Rev. A. H. Tongue, rector of ST. ANDREW'S, Walden, vicar of St. Andrew's, Montgomery, and dean of the convocation becomes assistant minister of ST. GEORGE'S, Newburgh on December 1. Rev. F. L. Carruthers, rector of St. George's, writes: "Dean Tongue has accomplished during his rectorship at Walden an outstanding work in all fields of endeavour. He is known by many throughout the diocese as a leading counsellor, advisor and teacher." Fr. Tongue is a graduate of Architecture from Drexel Institute of Technology and holds the degree of B.A. from St. Stephen's College and B. Sacred Theology from Philadelphia. Before coming to Walden, he served in the Diocese of Bethlehem, Pa.

The Rev. Sydney C. Newhouse, vicar of HOLY COMMUNION, Liberty, has been given additional responsibilities and is now vicar of ST. JAMES, Callicoon. Improvements to the parish properties are reported from three parishes: Ellenville has re-roofed the church at a cost of $1700 and is now installing a new furnace costing $3500; at Highland, the men of the parish have re-roofed Trinity Church and with the help of the Diocesan Missionary and Church extension Society, a new heating system has been installed; at ST. JOHN'S, Cornwall, the men have painted the Parish Hall and kitchen and a new lighting system has been installed in the church.

At ST. JOHN'S, Cornwall, a Parent Teachers' Guild has been formed in connection with the Church School. A very popular event in the Hudson Valley is the Flower Show held at the ASCENSION, West Park, each year in September. Entries and attendances were excellent this year.

Bishop Donegan Presides at Patriotic Societies Service

The Bishop presided at the thirty-first annual service of the Patriotic Societies which took place at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine on Sunday, November 23rd. The Rt. Rev. Charles K. Gilbert, retired Bishop of New York, was the preacher.

The field of music of the Veteran's Corps of Artillery, an organization which has functioned continuously since 1790 preceded the military escort of the Societies' colors as they came up the full length of the Cathedral. After the offertory anthem the flags and banners were carried in procession to the High Altar and where Bishop Donegan blessed them.

The Senior Societies that were represented and the dates of their founding are as follows:

|---|---|
| St. Andrew's Society | 1756 |
| St. George's Society | 1770 |
| The General Society of Mechanics and Tradesmen | 1785 |
| The Veteran Corps of Artillery | 1790 |

The next six were formed between the year 1800 and 1842:

|---|---|
| New York Historical Society | 1804 |
| General Society of the War of 1812 | 1814 |
| Old Guard of the City of New York | 1826 |
| St. Nicholas Society | 1835 |
| St. David's Society | 1835 |
| Order Sons of St. George | 1842 |

THE BISHOP'S MESSAGE

CHRISTMAS is the affirmation of the most amazing truth in history. This is expressed in the doctrine of the Incarnation which means that God appeared in bodily form in the coming of Jesus Christ. Christmas commemorates the entrance of the Infinite God into human experience. Before Christ was born it was asked, if God existed why did He not reveal Himself so that His character, His purpose, and the meaning of His world might be known. There was a longing in the hearts and minds of mankind for some sure word of God to lighten their path and to guide them into truth. Christmas was the answer. "The Word became flesh and dwelt among us." The life which began its earthly existence at Bethlehem, was the manifestation of the life and love of God. Jesus said, "He that hath seen Me hath seen the Father." We believe we see the Everlasting God in the Child of Mary. In the mature life of the Divine Infant, born in humblest surroundings, God has spoken—His thoughts have been expressed, His purpose disclosed, His answer to the deep needs of life has been given. Our deepest need is for God. We believe—and keep believing—in the truth Christmas affirms, that "we have seen the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ."

Amidst the gladness, and momentary goodwill, of this festive Season there comes the abiding truth of the Incarnation. We know that the One Who was born in a manger in Bethlehem on a starlit night, while the angels sang, was more than a great prophet, or a fearless crusader, or a spiritual idealist. He was none other than God's only-begotten Son. He was, and is, "God of God, Light of Light, Who for us men and for our salvation came down from Heaven." The Christian faith is firmly fixed in the historical fact of Jesus' birth which we celebrate at Christmas. Jesus is the Word made flesh, God's Incarnate Son, the manifestation of truth and ultimate reality, the revelation of the eternal purpose, and the fullest meaning of the world.

We, who believe in the Incarnation, can rejoice. We can rejoice not because of the annual observance of a seasonal holiday, but because we know that "The Dayspring from on high hath visited us; to give Light to them that sit in darkness, and to guide our feet in the way of peace."

I send you my affectionate greetings in the spirit of the Eternal God, "who makes us glad with the yearly remembrance of the birth of His only-Begotten Son."

CHRISTMAS IS A QUIET TIME

By Roscoe Thornton Foust
Rector of the Ascension, New York City

CHRISTMAS will dawn again this year upon a world of men in a hurry. In a world with all the time there is, they are obsessed by the fear that there is never time enough. Never sit still when you can be on the march, never walk as long as you can run, and fly whenever you can, faster now than sound itself. Driven by the basic anxiety that life ends all too soon, we go to extremes in all directions at once; we plumb the depths while we grasp for the heights, and by the turn of a dial "tune in" every quarter of the globe in a moment. Then we make our plans to flee or fly, driven by the news that is bad or good.

But alas, there is no place that can reward flight with safety,—or haste with success or lengthening of days. Our security is always with ourselves, as well as our failure and our triumph. We cannot escape from ourselves and the fears that infest our hearts—nor can we find another, better self to replace the present faulty one in some place where the fates may be kinder and the opportunities riper. We may move ourselves about at will, as fast as we may and as far, but we shall still have ourselves on our hands, for better or worse, for richer or poorer, as long as we live.

This truth would be proper ground for the most abject despondency—were it not for that other truth of Christmas, the true story of God who slumbers not, nor sleeps, yet who is never in an impatient haste. Our God would not that one of his children should perish, either from their vain foolishness or from their mad designs which they imagine against each other, but he will not compel the obedience by which they may find their salvation. That would be the frantic way of the rulers of this world whose crowns sit uneasily on their little heads because every wind that blows brings them rumor of revolt and revenge. Imprisonment, war, slaughter—these fruits of naked strength are the harvest on which their fragile security feeds. Herod was neither the first nor the last to bolster a tottering dynasty with the killing of innocents, if not their helpless bodies, then their defenceless minds.

It is into this fearful frantic world that God comes—not as a powerful King "to slay their foes and lift men high"—but as "a little baby thing that made a woman cry." Not with a rush, for it took a long time to prepare the world for his coming,—not in a blaze of glory, did he suddenly appear in the midst of men to overwhelm them with his divine authority, but at long last, in the fullness of time he was born of a maiden after weary months of watching and waiting. And even then the world would have to learn patience while the unhurried, patient God brought His Son to the fullness of the stature of Christ. Only God could afford to take all the time necessary to save men, for he would not do it in spite of them, but only when He had won their confidence and their love.

Sigrid Unset has written "Through the poetry and dreams of the Middle Ages one vision persists: Anti-Christ when he comes, (whenever he comes) will suddenly appear as a full-grown man. He cannot make himself so small and humble as to become the son of a woman, for has he not brooded for aeons over his great plan of revolt and world destruction? He cannot, therefore, possibly find time to play in a village street with other children in a land which is only a small offshoot of a world power. It is only the Almighty who has created and upheld the universe who can afford to lie and rest among the shavings that are scattered on the floor of Joseph's workshop and hold Mary's hand when she goes to the well outside the town walls to fetch him water."

What God is saying to anxious men at Christmas is this, "It takes time to make a man, time in which he will soil himself as all men do on earth, and time to wash him clean. There are no short-cuts to manhood. The way leads through bogs and thorns not to be escaped by speed, or wealth, or royal birth. Man is born and bred in a briar patch, and he cannot exchange his lot for a new start or himself for a more talented inheritance. He cannot escape from himself, or hide from himself, now or ever. And his precious time is wasted if he tries.

But he is not condemned to live without God. God comes to him where he is, in all the rudeness and pain of human life at its worst with words of assurance and peace—the promise of freedom from fear, within and without, that comes only from taking time to live with Him, day after day, in the unhurried patience born of confidence that God is surely working His purpose out as year succeeds to year.

God's life in and with men has small beginnings. It's growth may be discouragingly slow—but it is sure. No matter how long it takes to overcome the demons of anxious fear that gnaw at our hearts, it will happen.

God came to men a small and helpless child that they might have a chance to do something for Him, and in the doing be freed from the dreadful burden of their petty sordid selves. He came that we might do things for each other, as men of good-will, in the name of God, and at last, each day bringing us closer to Him, find in Him our true heart's desire.

Life always begins again at Christmas; that is the miracle for everyman. What a pity to take it in our impatient stride, going back to our feverish work, when the holly has withered, as if it had never been; as if we still had to struggle and strive alone in a lost world, powerless to keep time from running out, as if God were dead.

ADDITION TO ST. LUKE'S HOSPITAL

Following impressive services at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine with the Bishop preaching the sermon, a large and interested crowd moved across the street to the site of the new addition to St. Luke's Hospital and observed Bishop Donegan as he laid the cornerstone of the new building on the afternoon of Sunday, November 2.

Taking part in the ceremony was Mr. J. Stewart Baker, President of St. Luke's Hospital (shown at the extreme right) also many official guests, officers of the hospital and visiting clergy.

At the service in the Cathedral and at the exercises at the laying of the cornerstone, the regular Cathedral Choir, the Choir of St. Paul's Chapel, Columbia University, and the Nurses Choir of St. Luke's Hospital took part.

Following the President's opening address, Mr. Myron Taylor, former special representitive to the Vatican made an address.

In an announcement just made public, St. Luke's Hospital and the Woman's Hospital have completed plans to merge the two institutions which will make this one of the largest medical units in the city.

Recent College Work Appointments Announced

The Diocesan Commission on College Work, through Chaplain John W. Pyle, has announced Bishop Donegan's recent appointments of three new Chaplains to Episcopal Students on campuses in the Diocese.

The Rev. Gerald F. Gilmore, Rector, St. Paul's Church, Yonkers, has taken over the ministry to Episcopal students at Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville. He succeeds the Rev. Owen C. Thomas in this post. Mr. Gilmore will work with an Advisory Committee consisting of the Rev. Harold F. Hohly, Rector, Christ Church, Bronxville, whose parish is the nearest for the College, the Rev. and Mrs. Richard L. Harbour (St. Barnabas', Irvington), and Chaplain Pyle.

The new Chaplain to the Canterbury Club at Hunter College(Park Avenue campus), is the Rev. James F. Martin, Assistant, St. James' Church, Manhattan. He joins Miss Adelaide D. Simpson, the Club's Faculty Adviser, in working with the students.

In the Bronx, the Rev. William G. Weinhauer, Vicar, St. George's Church, Williamsbridge, has been appointed Chaplain to Episcopal Students at both New York University (Heights Campus) and Hunter College (Bronx campus).

First Metropolitan Faculty Communion Held

On November 15th, twenty-seven metropolitan New York college and university faculty members met at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine for a Corporate Communion at 8:30 A.M. Bishop Donegan celebrated, assisted by Dean Pike.

The service was followed by a Breakfast in the Cathedral House. The group heard an address by the Rev. J. V. Langmead Casserley, Professor of Dogmatics at the General Theological Seminary.

Planned by a committee consisting of Miss Virginia D. Harrington, Barnard College; Miss Adelaide D. Simpson, Hunter College; Miss Katharine Duffield, Provincial Secretary for College Work, and Chaplain John W. Pyle, the meeting was the first of its kind that has been held here. Since the meeting was so well received, plans are under way for similar future ones.

Change Of Time For Graduate-Faculty Meetings

Beginning Sunday, December 7th, the Graduate-Faculty Discussion Group, which has met this fall at 5:30 will meet in the evening instead. The meeting will now start at 7:30 and is open to all interested faculty members and graduate students. Light refreshments will be served.

On December 7th and 14th, a short series concerning "The Church and the Individual" will be given. The first week Canon Green will present the subject, "Spiritual Counselling" for discussion by the group, and the second Sunday, "Confession in the Anglican Church" will be discussed, under the direction of the Rev. Albert A. Chambers.

The Graduate-Faculty meetings are under the leadership of the Rev. John W. Pyle, Diocesan Chaplain for College Work, and are co-sponsored by the Chaplain and the Dean and Chapter of the Cathedral.

St. James Parish Offers Consultant Service

St James' Church under the sponsorship of the Rector, the Reverend Arthur Lee Kinsolving, has for the past two years made available to all seeking help in personal problems the services of an Episcopal priest and consultant psychologist, the Reverend R. Ridgely Lytle, part-time member of the staff. The latter is available for consultation by appointment Tuesdays from four thirty to six thirty o'clock and Fridays from two to four o'clock in the St. James' Parish House. This service is offered without charge to members of all congregations as well as to the general public.

Mr. Lytle, member as a consultant psychologist of the National Psychological Association for Psychoanalysis, is on his fifth year as a member of the staff of the psychiatric clinic of the American Foundation of Religion and Psychiatry.

A native New Yorker and a candidate for the ministry in this Diocese, Mr. Lytle is a graduate of Princeton University; a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford from New York State; and a former Captain of Field Artillery in the United States Army.

CATHEDRAL SCHOOL OF RELIGION

To hundreds of women of this Diocese, the Cathedral of St. John the Divine has come alive through the School of Worship for women held there on the four Mondays in November. This opportunity for participation, instruction and application of the worship of the Church registered 342 women from 82 parishes and five other dioceses. Sponsored by the Dean and Chapter of the Cathedral and the Woman's Auxiliary of the Diocese, each Monday's program included a service carefully arranged to illustrate either ferial or festival form of worship.

Lectures by four distinguished scholars of our Diocese and a highly valued talk by Miss Helen Turnbull, Director of Windham House were presented: The Very Rev. James A. Pike, J.S.D., on The Theology and Psychology of Worship; the Rev. Powel M. Dawley, Ph.D., on The History of Prayer Book Worship; The Rev. Canon Edward N. West, D.D., Litt.D., on The Intention of Morning and Evening Prayer; The Rev. Cyril Richardson, Th.D., on The Centrality of the Eucharist.

On two occasions a coffee recess in the Cathedral House broke the length of the morning and allowed the women to become acquainted, going refreshed to their seminar groups.

Those attending were assigned to twenty small groups to consider a topic related to the lecture of the day under the chairmanship of a woman leader with a priest of the Diocese to provide resource material. The help given by the twenty clergy who served in this way cannot be overestimated.

Plans for the School were made in response to the request of many small groups for study and prayer which were held in the Diocese last year. The hope that opportunity for definite instruction from our clergy on "The Worship of the Church" might be combined with the small group technique in use in the Woman's Auxiliary was laid before Dean Pike. With his enthusiastic approval and cooperation the plans were developed. The Rev. Canon James Green was Director of the school and group leaders and resource clergy were selected from all parts of the Diocese.

On the final day, three minute summaries of these seminars were given by one woman from each of the twenty groups. These were interesting in their variety and also in the fact that all stressed a new, broader, deeper understanding of our corporate worship, greater appreciation of our heritage, and gratitude to the clergy for their cooperation in this venture. The Cathedral came to be a reality to the out-of-town women, the small groups provided a chance for women of different parishes to know each other, the scholarship of the lecturers deepened our faith, the precision and beauty of the services filled hungry hearts and another series is hoped for by all next year! Typical comments: "Now we see through a glass less darkly!", "Why didn't someone tell us sooner?"

Sixth Annual Convention Brotherhood of St. Andrew

The New York Assembly of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew held it's sixth annual Convention at St. James Church, Fordham, on December 6th. The following slate of officers to serve for the coming year was presented:

President for 1 year term: Robert E. Heintz, St. James', Fordham.

Chaplain for 1 year term: The Rev. Warren Scott, St. Philip's, Manhattan.

Members of the Executive Committee for 3 year terms (three required), Fred Williams, St. Philip's, Manhattan; William Donawa, St. Luke's, Manhattan; Britton A. Lowden, Christ Church, Riverdale.

The Rt. Rev. Charles F. Boynton, Suffragan Bishop of the Diocese welcomed the members that attended and installed the newly elected officers.

Mr. Robert E. Heintz, President of the Assembly gave a report that indicated the progress that was being made in Brotherhood work and the vitality that the organization was showing in completing the most successful year in the history of the Assembly.

Partners in Fellowship Woman's Auxiliary Theme

Partners in Fellowship will be the theme of the January Meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary which has been arranged jointly by the Departments of Supply and Missions Promotion. A series of living pictures will show the interdependence of the women of the Church in parishes and in missions; in cities and in rural areas; in our own land and overseas. Since the date of this meeting falls on the Feast of Lights, the entire action will be against the background of the Epiphany message: Tuesday, January 6, 10:30 A.M. at Synod Hall.

Charles Mackie Passes To Greater Service

Charles Y. Mackie of St. Stephens Parish, Woodlawn entered the larger life on November 8th. Mr. Mackie was one of the original members of the Diocesan Field Officers corps and was one of the leading laymen in the Diocese. The entire laymen's organization in the Diocese mourns the loss of a true friend and a loyal churchman who served long and well.

Memorial Plaque Honoring Clement Clarke Moore Unveiled

On Saturday, November 29th at St. Peters Church, Manhattan a memorial plaque in honor of the old Chelsea poet and author, Clement Clarke Moore one of the original founders of St. Peters was unveiled. The memorial address was delivered by Dr. Samuel White Patterson and the Bishop of New York and Judge Pecora spoke briefly to the large group that assembled to commemorate this occasion.

NEWS FROM THE CONVOCATIONS

RAMAPO

All choirmasters and ministers in Rockland county were invited to the November meeting of the American Guild of organists in Spring Valley, to discuss the relationship of musicians and the clergy. Many parishes have planned special musical events for 1953, to stimulate interest in good church music. The Rev. Fessenden A. Nichols is chaplain of the Rockland county chapter; his organist, Mrs. Harold Peter Rednour, is secretary.

CHRIST CHURCH, Suffern, has purchased a new organ, acted as host to the first diocesan Youth Workshop, and had two meetings of a church school teacher training institute this Fall. The Christmas Story will be presented in a chancel drama, December 18 and 23 at 8:30 p.m.

GRACE CHURCH, Middletown, which entertained the Ramapo clericus on election day, plans to remodel several sections of the parish house, and hopes to do a good job in Youth work this year.

In GRACE CHURCH, Nyack, a diocesan youth council met on November 9th and laid plans for 1953. Officers: Carolyn J. Nichols of Suffern, president and John Simonds of Nyack, Vice-President; both from Ramapo convocation. The Rev. Harold Thelin reports the gift of chalice vestments in memory of Ralph Dondero, and brass vases in memory of William G. Lang, former vestryman.

Christmas Eve services will be held in GRACE CHURCH, Nyack, for the children at 4:30 p.m. and for adults at midnight. Mrs. Leland Sneden is in charge of music. The children's choir sings on Christmas day.

The Rev. Claude Francis Stent, rector of TRINITY CHURCH, Garnerville, is pushing youth work; and as vicar of ST. JOHN'S IN THE WILDERNESS arranged a service of dedication of a memorial window for the Rev. Walter F. Hoffman, Sunday afternoon, November 16th. The Ven. George F. Bratt officiated. A big crowd came to the dedication. —Fessenden A. Nichols

BRONX

Professor Thomas C. Pollock, Dean of the Washington Square College of New York University, chairman of the Diocesan commission on college work, and a prominent layman of the Diocese, was the speaker at the Advent Corporate Communion breakfast, at the CHURCH OF THE MEDIATOR.

Two memorial lanterns, one given by the Junior Warden, Walter E. Thwaite, in memory of his wife, and the other by Mrs. Dorothy Farmer Marrone, in memory of her aunt, Elizabeth Archer, were dedicated in November at SAINT JAMES', Fordham. They were designed by Mr. F. O. Simmons, who also made the other lanterns in the church. These two lanterns hang in the sanctuary of the Chapel. The 100th anniversary at SAINT JAMES' will be heralded by a great display of tulips, outlining in red the numerals, "100", framed by a border of yellow. Over nine hundred bulbs have been planted on the church lawn by the Grounds Committee.

At SAINT MARTHA'S, Van Nest, a successful drive has meant the raising of $1300 for the installation of a new oil burner. The Rector has instituted a monthly celebration of Holy Communion at 9:30, especially to encourage confirmed children and young people to make their Communions regularly. Robert Bruce Leve, a communicant of Saint Peter's, and a student of David Hewett, Organist and Choirmaster of Saint Mark's-in-the-Bowerie, has been appointed in a similar capacity.

Thanksgiving Day was the occasion of the Annual Harvest Home Festival at SAINT SIMEON'S, Melrose. Gifts of fruit, vegetables, and food of all kinds were solicited and given to those in need.

The ANNUAL CONVOCATION VESTRYMEN'S DINNER, was held Wednesday, December 3rd, at Mayer's Parkway Restaurant. This year all interested men of the Bronx parishes were invited to be present whether or not they are now serving on vestries. Bishop Boynton was present, and extended greetings, and Mr. Willard Pleuthner, author of Building Up Your Congregation made an address.

Westchester, several timbers from the first church edifice, built in 1700, have recently come to light. After the War of the Revolution this building was sold and moved away for secular purposes. When it was finally torn down one of the older residents who knew its history salvaged some of the lumber, preserved it in his cellar, and has restored it to the parish. It is planned to make some specific use of it to insure its preservation.

The Rev. F. Gray Garten, recently retired as Rector of SAINT STEPHEN'S, Woodlawn, because of disability, is making excellent progress, and is now living at 126 Carthage Road, Scarsdale, in the Parish of St. James the Less.

At ST. JAMES', Hyde Park (where the Church is used in summer and the town Chapel in winter) a new modern kitchen has been installed in the Chapel Undercroft.

A memorial window in memory of Mrs. William C. Knieriemen has been dedicated at ST. PAUL'S, Poughkeepsie. The preacher at the dedicatory service was the Rev. Roland J. Bunten, former Rector of the Parish.

MANHATTAN

SAINT JOHN'S IN THE VILLAGE, Waverly Place, has published an attractive pamphlet which welcomes new people in the neighborhood and lists the services and activities of the Parish. Pictures of the Church and Gardens make this an interesting and attractive production—and good advertising too.

A warm, friendly gesture is the custom at the CHURCH OF THE ASCENSION, Fifth Avenue, of serving coffee for everyone after the 11 o'clock service on Sundays. This is a natural way for strangers in the church to become easily and quickly old-timers.

SAINT STEPHEN'S CHURCH, West 69th Street, prints a monthly bulletin in which all services are listed, even to the hymns and anthems. This seems like a splendid idea, provided that clergy and organist can get together that far ahead on their selections of music!

Most of the City Parishes which still continue the custom of Evensong on Sundays find that their congregations have been dwindling for some time. Some of them have special musical services. SAINT JAMES CHURCH, Madison Avenue has been trying different services each Sunday. One Sunday, there is a service of Compline; another Sunday, there is an old fashioned Hymn Sing.

The best and most intensive Every Member Canvass material which has come to this correspondent's attention (and he has received a great deal!) is from the CHURCH OF THE RESURRECTION, East 74th Street. Not only is there an official listing of the work of the Clergy, but there is also a prayer for the canvass and the workers on it. The entire production is very well done.

On Sunday, November 23rd, the Family Eucharist of the CHURCH OF THE HEAVENLY REST, Fifth Avenue, was held in Saint Ansgarius Chapel of the Cathedral in buses. This would be a fine way to bring the fact of the Cathedral to the attention of the parishioners.

Most parishes are having bazaars and fairs this time of year. The most unusual one in a long time is the Toy Fair held on Friday, November 7th at the CHAPEL OF THE INTERCESSION, Trinity Parish, West 155th Street. The Fair was sponsored by the Church School and offered great bargains in toys, games and books for children.

SAINT BARTHOLOMEW'S CHURCH, Park Avenue, offered a School of the Bible on the Tuesdays in November. With the great interest in the new translation of the Bible, this series filled a great need. The weekly Message of this Parish gives a list of daily devotions for each day of the week.

Among the many services and activities which TRINITY CHURCH, Wall Street, offers for its people, is a constant series of teaching lectures. For the last two Tuesdays of November and three Tuesdays of December, the Reverend Dr. Powel M. Dawley, Professor of Church History at the General Seminary spoke at 6:30 o'clock on The Prayer Book of the Church. The lectures take place in the Parish Hall, 74 Trinity Place under the auspices of the Tuesday Evening Hour, a group of young people.

The service leaflet of SAINT THOMAS CHURCH, Fifth Avenue, not only gives the services for the first Sunday of the month, and the activities and services of the month, but carries on the front cover some picture of this glorious Gothic church. —James Morgan

WESTCHESTER

Andrew F. Wissemann of ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH, Hartsdale, was recently elected secretary-treasurer of the Senior Class at the General Theological Seminary for the 1952-53 session.

CHRIST CHURCH, Tarrytown, announces the appointment to the parish staff of a new curate, The Reverend H. Albert Welch. Mr. Welch was formerly associated with Calvary Church, New York City. He began his duties at Christ Church on December 1st.

TRINITY CHURCH, Ossining, recently made awards at the Family Service to the children of the Church School who were out-standing in their attendance during the summer months. Those receiving gifts of Prayer Books were Marilyn Graham, Patricia Graham, Linda Hartling, Bonnie Vaughn, William Lyon, Axel Orberg and William Blume. Silver Crosses were given to Patricia Hales, Alison Keppie, Robert Augustine Jr. and William Vaughn Jr.

The annual Autumn Fair at CHRIST CHURCH, Yonkers, was a most successful project. The total receipts have not as yet come in but a preliminary report indicates that the total will be over two thousand dollars.

They are the last of 34 people placed in this country by the rector of All Saints' Church, the Rev. E. Walter Chater, in the past four years.

The Prayer Group, under the guidance of Mrs. Edna Williams, meets every Tuesday evening at 8 p.m. for one half hour of meditation and prayer. The attendance has been very gratifying.

Following a custom which is being practiced in many of the Hudson River Parishes, ZION CHURCH, Dobbs Ferry, held a very colorful Halloween Party in the Parish Hall on Saturday afternoon, October 25th. These Halloween parties are run for the benefit of the Church School and they have replaced the old spring outings.

The men of ST. PAUL'S CHURCH, Yonkers, have planned a very active fall program. It began with a meeting at which Dean Pike of the Cathedral of St. John -the-Divine was the speaker and which was attended by over eighty men last month. The next event was the Annual Corporate Advent Communion.

A reception was given at ST. PETER'S CHURCH, Peekskill, N. Y., in the Parish Hall on Wednesday, October 8, welcoming their new rector, the Rev. Fr. William E. Ridgeway.

A Poem (written by a high school junior at TRINITY CHURCH, Ossining)

It's God to whom I always go
With each and every trouble and woe.
It's God to whom at close of day
I kneel with folded hands to pray.
It's God who shows me right from wrong,
Helps me when weak to be more strong.
It's God who shows me how to live;
It's God to whom I'll always give
My life, my heart, and all my love,
That I may live with Him above.

Peace in a World of Strife

"PEACE IN A World of Strife" is the general theme of a series of three Services and Panel Discussions to be held at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 4 P.M. on the Sundays of Feb. 15, Feb. 22, and March 1. The series is sponsored jointly by the Dean and Chapter of the Cathedral and the Department of Christian Social Relations of the Diocese, with the co-operation of the Diocesan Commission on College Work, the Diocesan Woman's Auxiliary and the Laymen's organization.

At the conclusion of Evensong and the Address in the Cathedral, there will be a panel discussion in the Synod House, where the Preacher of the day will be joined by two competent discussants. The discussants will comment on the address, and there will be full opportunity for questions and comments from the floor.

The detailed program is as follows:

General Chairman: The Rev. John A. Bell, Chairman of the Department of Christian Social Relations

Feb. 15 HOW CAN WE ACHIEVE A PEACEFUL COMMUNITY?

Address: The Very Rev. James A. Pike, J.S.D., Dean of the Cathedral

Moderator: The Rev. Leland B. Henry, Executive Director, Department of Christian Social Relations

Discussants: Hon. Hubert T. Delany, Judge of the Domestic Relations Court

Hon. Charles H. Tuttle, Jurist and attorney

Feb. 22 HOW CAN WE ACHIEVE INTERNATIONAL PEACE?

150 Year Old Church on Staten Island Is Still Healthily Growing

Has One of Few Parochial Schools On The Island

Church of The Ascension, Staten Island

THE CHURCH of The Ascension, West New Brighton, Staten Island, brings to a close its celebration of one hundred and fifty years of parochial life. It began as Trinity Chapel, a mission of St. Andrew's Church, and is the second oldest Episcopal congregation on the Island. A stone building was erected in 1870 when the congregation became an independent parish.

After sixty years it became necessary to move the church location to a center which would be more advantageous. The north shore buildings were closed, and the parochial life was centered in the Mansion which had been part of a large estate on Manor Road. The dream of a new church building came to realization in July of 1948, when ground was broken on property acquired only a few months before, facing on Brooks Pond Park.

In March of 1949, Bishop Donegan opened the church for worship. It was the first new building in the Diocese since before the 2nd World War. The church is of early English style, and appointments, vestments, ceremonial, and even the landscaping has been kept in the spirit of that period. In the three and one half years since the opening, the parish has paid off more than a third of the mortgage on the Church.

The Reverend Raymond G. Rogers concludes his tenth year as the tenth Rector of the Church. Of long standing tradition is the parish breakfast served after the early celebration of the Holy Eucharist. The 9:30 A.M. Family service fills the church to capacity each Sunday, with the total of adults only slightly less than the number of children. During the class period which follows the service, parents meet with the Rector for discussions on history, faith and worship of the church. For several years a group of twenty-five to thirty women attend the Wednesday Eucharist and remain for a light breakfast and lecture-discussion group led by the Rector. The 11:45 A.M. service on Sunday alternates with 9:30 so that there is always a Choral Eucharist as well as Morning Prayer.

Ascension Day School, one of the few parochial schools in the Diocese, is in its twenty-first year, running at full capacity of sixty-four students. Although chiefly interested in serving church families, the

Woman's Auxiliary Active in Study Groups

Many groups of women gather in the churches of the Diocese each year to study various aspects of the Church's work and teaching. The study of the missions of the Church which is carried on through the Woman's Auxiliary will receive its introduction at two meetings soon to be held. The overseas work to be considered this year is that in Africa where the Episcopal Church is responsible for the church in the republic of Liberia. The home mission subject is "Home Missions and Human Rights" and will be developed through a study of migrant agricultural workers who travel from place to place to assist in planting and harvesting, having no settled homes for their families.

On January 21, a leader's conference will be held at the Cathedral with a speaker on each of these subjects. Beginning at 10:30 with a Celebration of the Holy Communion in St. James' Chapel, to be followed by coffee at the Cathedral House, the speakers will be Miss Edith Lowry on "Work among Migrants", and the Rev. F. Gale Miller of Balomah, on the "Work of the Church in Liberia".

On Tuesday, February 3 at eight o'clock at St. Bartholomew's Community House will be held an Evening Diocesan Meeting at which the speaker will again be a priest of the Church from Liberia.

Because of the great need of an educated leadership among the Liberian people the Church has established Christian primary schools at various missions. Institutions of high school and college grade are also at work, among them Cuttington College and the well-known schools, St. John's and the House of Bethany, at Cape Mount as well as Emery Hall at Bromley. For the healing of the sick, St. Timothy's Hospital at Cape Mount has long been a demonstration of Christian concern. Tropical diseases are evident and the much-feared leprosy claims its victims. To help those who are ill, and their families, the church has a medical and religious work for lepers at Massateen Island.

It may seem strange to find Mexi-

So - - You Knew The Answer

You are in front of the microphone.

You have just answered the question that doubled your money the fourth time. Should you risk it all on one more question?

The MC says, "All right, you have $32. Will you go for the $64 question: — You will? Here it is, $64 or nothing, 'What is the New York Protestant Episcopal City Mission Society and what does it do?'"

You breathe again. This is easy.

You answer, "The New York Protestant Episcopal City Mission Society is a Diocesan agency with the Bishop as President of its Board of Managers. It is now 121 years old. It operates six programs to help people who are troubled.

"Its 26 Chaplains are the official Chaplains for all Protestants in 40 public institutions scattered through every Convocation of the New York Diocese. They help over 26,000 people every year in homes for dependents, prisons and hospitals.

"It operates two summer camps: Elko Lake for children aged 9 to 14; and The Creche for youngsters aged 5 to 8. The Society sends 1300 needy boys and girls to these camps each summer.

"It operates Saint Barnabas House, a temporary shelter for children aged 2 to 11. When a family situation makes it impossible for a child to be cared for at home, he or she can receive kindly, understanding care at Saint Barnabas House. About 500 children are given shelter each year.

"The Society maintains a Family Service Department that helps more than 500 individuals a year with problems that threaten disaster to families.

"It has a worker at the state reformatory for girls at Westfield State Farm. She counsels, and finds residence and employment for about 175 girls a year who could not otherwise be paroled.

"And the Society has a worker at Ellis Island who aids and advises about 2000 newcomers to America each year.

"Altogether, the Episcopal City Mission Society helps over 30,000 people every year, and its budget for this year is $398,000."

Instructions and Devotions for Saint Barnabas House Children

At this point the astounded MC hands you the $64, and faints. Your friends call you up and ask, "How on earth did you happen to know the answer to that question?"

You have the answer to that one, too. You say, "I am an Episcopalian in the New York Diocese. Why wouldn't I know?"

What's Going On In College Work

COLLEGE WORK is the Church's missionary endeavor in academic communities. Its prime purposes are to keep the Church in contact with the students; to encourage the interest of faculty members in the Church and College Work; to work for the establishment of Christian thought as a live perspective on the campus.

AMONG THE FACULTY

Faculty Episcopalians of the New York Metropolitan area will have their second meeting of the year on January 17th. Luncheon will be served in the Cathedral House at 1:30 P.M. with Canon T. R. Milford, Chancellor of Lincoln Cathedral, England, as speaker. The planning committee for these meetings consists of Professors Virginia D. Harrington, Barnard College, and Adelaide D. Simpson, Hunter College; Miss Katherine Duffield, Provincial Secretary for College Work; and Diocesan Chaplain for College Work, John W. Pyle, with the cooperation of the Cathedral.

The Annual Conference for Faculty Episcopalians in the Second Province (New York and New Jersey) will be held at Alumnae House, Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, New York the week end of February 6-8, 1953. Speakers will include the Rev. Gerald B. O'Grady, Chaplain of Trinity College; Prof. T. S. K. Scott-Craig of Dartmouth College; and the Rev. Prof. Cuthbert A. Simpson of the General Theological Seminary.

On January 11th, a new series of Graduate-Faculty Forums was launched at the Cathedral of St. John Divine, co-sponsored by the Dean and Chapter of the Cathedral, and the Chaplain for College Work. The meetings are held in the Cathedral House at 7:30 P.M. on Sunday evenings and include lecture-presentations of discussion subjects, discussion, sung Compline, and refreshments. Informality is the keynote, and all graduate students and faculty members are invited to come for any or all of the program and to stay to talk informally for as long as they like. The new series is called "The Faith of the Church" and is programmed as follows: January 11th, "The Validity of Theology" presented by the Rev. John McGill Krumm, Chaplain of Columbia University; January 18th, "Revelation and Reason", by Canon T. R. Milford (because of Canon Milford's schedule, this meeting will be held at 5:30 instead of at 7:30); January 25th, "Incarnation and the Church", led by the Rev. W. Norman Pittenger; February 1st, "Justification and Atonement", by Dean James A. Pike of the Cathedral; and on February 8th, Canon Edward N. West of the Cathedral will discuss "The Sacramental Life".

The Rev. W. Turner Levy of the Faculty in English at City College, is conducting a voluntary course in religious values called "The Unconsidered Perspective". This course was started in response to requests from students who desired a better understanding of the Judeo-Christian tradition. Among the topics considered have been The Book of Job and the prophetic books of the Old Testament. An analysis of the works of Dante is planned for February. Mr. Levy is also part-time assistant at All Angels' Church, Manhattan.

WITH UNDERGRADUATES

New York University (Washington Square) Episcopal students are continuing their regular weekly luncheon discussion meetings at the Church of the Ascension. Topics for the new term will be based on "The Worship of the Church". The discussions are led by the Chaplain to Episcopal Students at N.Y.U., the Rev. John W. Pyle. The luncheons are prepared by the Woman's Auxiliary of the Church of the Ascension.

Sarah Lawrence College students are planning to hold monthly supper meetings at the home of Mrs. Russell D. Morrill, who lives close to the campus. The Rev. Gerald F. Gilmore, Rector, St. Paul's Church, Yonkers, is serving as Chaplain to this group helped by Committee for the work of the Church at Sarah Lawrence consisting of the Rev. Harold F. Hohly, Rector, Christ Church, Bronxville, the Rev. and Mrs. Richard L. Harbour, St. Barnabas, Irvington; and Chaplain Pyle.

Episcopal students of Vassar College meet at the Christ Church Rectory with their Chaplain, the Church's Rector, Dr. Robert E. Terwilliger on Friday evenings. The program begins with buffet supper (cost shared by students and parishioners), followed by a speaker and discussion. Among the recent speakers have been Bishop Boynton, Bishop Chase of Ripon, England, and the Rev. Rolf Lyshoi of the Church of Sweden. A series on the Sacraments, led by Dr. Terwilliger, is scheduled for January. The Vassar group also holds a midweek service of Holy Communion on the campus. Bishop Donegan preached last fall at the College Chapel on Sunday.

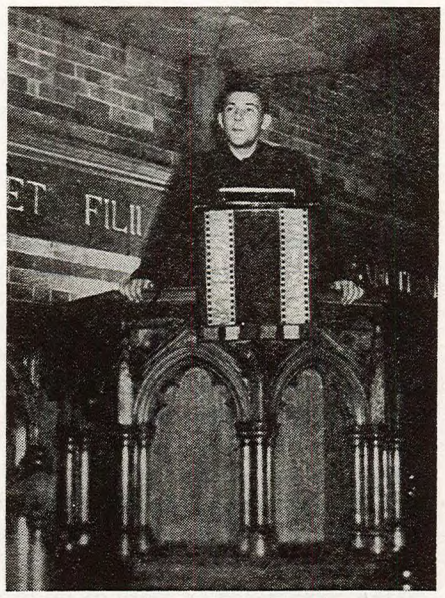
A NEW FILM STRIP FOR THEOLOGICAL EDUCATION SUNDAY January 25, 1953

By The Very Reverend Lawrence Rose, Dean
General Theological Seminary.

A colored film strip on the vocation, training and work of a priest has been produced by the Associate Alumni of the General Theological Seminary. Prepared by the Association's Committee on Theological Education Sunday, the strip is now available on loan or by purchase from the Office of the Alumni Association, 175 Ninth Avenue, New York 11.



The Bishops, clergy and laymen of the Church who were gathered in Boston in September for General Convention were quite obviously stirred by the reports that had to do with the supply of clergy for the Church's world-wide ministry. They were alarmed at the estimated shortage — nearly 700 actual vacancies at present, and a rate of supply inadequate to keep up with increasing demands, let alone make good the deficiency; the shortage promises to get worse rather than better. Delegates were impressed by their inadequate resources and their over-expanded enrollment of students. They passed resolutions encouraging expansion of some of these institutions, urging increased support for all, the directing various agencies of the Church to lend their help to these ends; and they summoned the whole Church to a new concern about the vocation of young men to the sacred Ministry.

General Convention's resolutions in affairs of this kind can be fruitful only as they are taken to heart by the members of the Church in parishes throughout the land. This is true of action looking to more widespread observance of Theological Education Sunday and increased offerings for the seminaries that train the clergy. It is especially true of so intimate and personal a matter as the demand for attention to vocation to the special office and work of a priest in the Church.

"Ye shall pray for a due supply of persons fitted to serve God in the Ministry" is the Prayer Book's direction to Christian people in their parishes and in their homes — a direction that is vain and empty unless there is a will to bring it home to those who grow up in our congregations and our families.

The ways in which young men are led to offer themselves for the sacred ministry are many and varied. The need of the world and of the people in it may overwhelm them; it is a need for God, for the "joy and peace of believing" in Him, and for His holy community, the Church. Or they may come at it from the other end in a compelling sense of the reality of God and of His will and power to save men from themselves; a conviction of the truth of the Gospel of Christ and the essential place of the Church in God's economy. The example of the clergy may be a factor, giving insight into the relevance of pastoral, prophetic and priestly ministrations to people in the darkness, bewilderment and even madness of these times.

For some young men, their application to the Bishop to be made Postulants for Holy Orders, and their embarking on the long training required of them will be quite simply the natural outcome of the bent of their lives as boys and youths in home and Church. For others, facing sharply the question of the meaning of their lives, God's call may be made known in a crisis of revelation, decision and self-

THE MANHATTAN CONVOCATION

TRINITY CHURCH, Wall Street and SAINT PAUL'S CHAPEL, Trinity Parish, Fulton Street are among the few Parishes which offer an Advent series of special preachers similar to the usual series offered almost everywhere by parishes during Lent.

SAINT PHILIP'S CHURCH, West 133rd Street, has announced that there will soon be available for parishioners an insurance policy on a collective basis. Offered by one of the largest insurance companies in the City, this plan ought to prove a boon both to the people of the Parish and to the Church too.

SAINT THOMAS CHAPEL, East 60th Street, hung a wreath of forest greens on which are fixed four candles, above the Altar. Lighted during services, one candle for each week in Advent, these candles and the wreath were part of a continental custom which would add much to our celebration of Advent.

The Rev. Arthur L. Kinsolving, D.D., Rector of SAINT JAMES CHURCH, Madison Avenue, is offered a series of seminars on the Gospel of Saint John on the last Tuesday of November and the first three Tuesdays of December. The seminars aided greatly the Advent devotion.

THE CHURCH OF THE INCARNATION, Madison Avenue, offered a panel discussion on Tuesday, December 9th, on "Meeting the needs of the Pre-School Child". Few more important subjects at this time could be imagined.

The Executive Committee for the Clement Clarke Moor Memorial at SAINT PETER'S CHURCH Chelsea, has prepared a most attractive booklet, complete with pictures of the author of "A Visit of St. Nicholas", and of the Church in the days when Chelsea was one of the garden spots of Manhattan. The purpose of the memorial tablet dedicated on Saturday, November 29th in the Tower of the Church, was not only to honor an early benefactor of the Parish but also to stimulate community support for this historic Parish which is now playing so important a part in a ministry to people living in a depressed area.

THE CHURCH OF THE HEAVENLY REST, Fifth Avenue, has established an "ecclesiastical" baby-sitting service for young married couples and their children. A children's nurse will be in attendance. This Parish really has the interests of the average young couple at heart. Here is something for parishes to imitate, if they have not already done so.

The Layman And His Church

BY E. TOWNSEND LOOK

ONE OF the questions most frequently asked is, "Why doesn't the Church do something about this or that?" and I always answer, "Well, why don't you do something, you also are the Church." This reply causes perplexed astonishment and of course is not real help in solving the question. The layman's feeling of frustration with the Church and his relation to it lies much deeper. Why is he not doing more for the Church, why has the Church all over the world lost her once commanding position? Is it his fault and how can the situation be remedied before our Western Civilization — our Christian Civilization — is engulfed in materialism, communism or some ancient "ism" resurrected from the forgotten past to enslave the world again?

The layman has none of these feelings of frustration with the Red Cross, the Hospitals, the Boy Scouts, Old Peoples' Homes, all sort of Foundations, the Universities, etc. where he expends a certain amount of time and money, expressing in this kind of work his interpretation of the Second Commandment. Yet all these organizations are the children of Mother Church, nutured and fostered by her from the earliest of Christian times, but now, oddly enough, flourishing almost entirely outside her orbit, for better or worse as the case may turn out to be. He feels out of sympathy, separated from the Church. Is he too impatient with the lack of business technique in the Church — the seeming waste of time, money, material and personnel? (Many excellent priests are sadly miscast, finding themselves in positions for which they are unfitted and sometimes even untrained.)

Then too and most provoking, the Bishops seem unsympathetic to such simple business methods as hiring and firing personnel, particularly the latter, when expenditures are not justified by the results. In fact the Churchly Hierarchy seems somewhat aloof to those things that have made the layman a success. Yes, he says, "They accept my money, but my ideas on the Church and her mission leave them cold." Could he be wrong? Might there be another way? — No, the church must be wrong, it is she who has lost her once commanding position.

Perhaps after all there is another way. We might try to resurrect that Fourth Order, Laos or Laity, in the Church which the late Dom Gregory Dix tells us existed in the early Christian centuries until the other three orders — Bishops, Priests and Deacons — let it fall into abeyance in the 5th Century. However it seems to me, that this is just what the Bishops, under the leadership of our Presiding Bishop, are trying to do by encouraging the various Laymen's groups to learn about the Church and then assume some of that work and responsibility which have been hampering our Bishops and Priests in their Pastoral Duties. It is only by the reinvigoration of the Pastoral Ministry, as expressed in Christ's command "Feed My Sheep", that this ebb tide, which is besetting our Christian Civilization, can be stemmed.

When the four orders are again united in Christian Endeavour, it will be easier to relate our Christian Heritage to modern living. Then our magnificent Cathedrals, our great Churches, with their incredibly well equipped Parish Houses, will become the spear heads of our Country's fight against crime, delinquency and corruption.

When the real meaning of Christian Stewardship is more widely taught and understood, it may well inspire those who hold the serious responsibility of being Trustees and Directors of our great Institutions to take steps which will make unnecessary many of the witch hunts now under way.

Let us also hope that the time will come when teachers of Economics, doctors of Chemistry and Physics and professors of Atomic Energy will also be teachers of Christianity, thus enabling the layman to see science in its rightful proportions. Then perhaps momentous decisions, made for the emergency and exigency of the moment, will give place to those taken with an eye on eternity and more in keeping with man's destiny as a child of God and an inheritor of the Kingdom of Heaven.

*ED. NOTE: E. Townsend Look is the first layman member of the Faculty at The General Theological Seminary. His course, "The Layman Looks At His Priest", includes lectures on business methods, trial Vestry meetings, and consultation on practical Parish matters such as the laymen usually deal with. Always a Churchman, he served as treasurer and vestryman in his own Parish; on the Standing Committee of the Diocese of New Jersey; member of The National Council 1943-49. already this year and is formulating plans for the annual Canterbury Conference which will be held in the spring. The Commission officers are: Eleanor Goebel, Hunter College (Bronx campus), Chairman; Catherine Derrick, Hunter College (Park Avenue campus), Vice-Chairman; and Barbara Turner, New Paltz State Teachers College, Secretary.

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY

The Woman's Auxiliary is very much interested in and aware of College Work, and considers it one of its main responsibilities. Most local parishes have a Chairman of Missions Promotion, and the Diocesan Vice-President in charge of Missions Promotion, Mrs. Lawrence Rose, is an ex-officio member of the Diocesan Commission on College Work. The local representatives in the Woman's Auxiliary promote backing for college work and students from the individual parishes who are in college assist the rector in following up the students at college, help him plan and give holiday corporate Communions for the students and help provide other suggestions for activities in the parish for vacationing students or ways to keep in contact with those away from home.

The Diocesan Department of Promotion Outlines A Program

ARE you prejudiced in regard to the word "promotion"? For many years, serious thought has been given in order to find a substitute. Words such as "publicity", "propagation", "propaganda", "public relations", "Program of the Church" — all fall short in one way or another.

Part of the difficulty may be that "promotion" has been exclusively thought of in terms of money raising. This is a most important part of its work, particularly for the missionary objective of the Church. But promotion is more than that. It is "the propagation of the Christian faith within and without the family of the Church, with every available technique possible being used, covering every area of the Church's life."

This definition has far reaching effects. It is nothing less than the extension of God's Kingdom by whatever means or devices are at hand.

The Church's task is two-fold. In St. John 21:15-17 our Lord's command given to Peter and all the apostles is to "feed my lambs, feed my sheep, feed my sheep." The Church exists to care for her own. The priest must be a shepherd. By sacrament, by counsel, by pastoral care, by preaching of the word, by comforting, by educating, he feeds and tends those who are committed to his spiritual care. The care of the flock is important.

Yet there is another side to the work of the Church. In St. Matthew 4:18-20 is the reminder that the disciples must also be "fishers of men." In St. Matthew 28:19— "Go ye therefore and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost; teaching them to observe whatsoever I have commanded you." And Acts 1:8— "But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me . . . unto the uttermost part of the earth." And remember that at the first appearance of the risen Christ to the disciples He said: "As my Father has sent me, even so send I you."

Thus we may define the task of the Church as two-fold: to care for the flock and to be fishers of men. Every Christian stands in the world to fulfill this two-fold task. A Christian must know Christ as the saviour of his own soul. But that is not the end of the matter. A Christian is commissioned. He is saved for a purpose. Every Christian is in the world as a fisher of men, because every Christian shares in the divine command.

Too many Christians are self centered and comfortable in their conception of the Christian life. They are faithful and devout. They live the sacramental life. They are seriously concerned with putting into their daily living the practical and moral teachings which our Lord lays upon them.

But how few of them are alert to their missionary responsibility? Yet without fulfilling the missionary command they cannot be convinced disciples.

It is important that we come back to our definition. Promotion is propagation of the Christian faith within and without the family of the Church with every available technique possible being used, covering every area of the Church's life. If we are really convinced Christians we will be concerned with the spread of the Gospel everywhere. The missionary frontiers are not only in far-off countries. There is not one single area in the United States of America that does not offer, in one way or another, peculiar and rewarding missionary opportunities. This means, therefore, that we must use every technique available to reach those who are untouched by the Church and who do not know the joy of the service of our Lord.

Your Department of Promotion will strive to bring you materials and opportunities to assist you in presentation of the missionary objective. Like charity (which begins at home but does not end there), our missionary work begins at home and entends all over the world where our Church is at work. We hope to present to you, with conviction and persuasiveness, the unparalleled opportunities for the extension of God's Kingdom, with complete confidence that if the needs are adequately made known, the objectives will be fulfilled. No great cause has ever gone unsupported when its real need has been made known. The missionary work here in our diocese and in our National Church is the greatest cause laid upon us. We can win support for it and give greater support to it ourselves if we are informed of it.

This your Department hopes to do. But we can do it only with the help and response of our whole Diocesan family. This we trust you will give, that together we may let our light shine in a world of darkness.

cans living in Michigan, but such is the case. Having followed the crops northward with the sun, many Mexicans work each summer in the crops of western Michigan. After some experience of life in the north, some of the migrants have stayed on and made their homes on or near the farms on which they have worked. Migrants still come each summer to handle the crops which are now more diversified than the original onions which made the region famous. The Mission of St. Francis at Orangeville, Mich. now has permanent members of Mexican origin, as well as their summer visitors.

Mr. G. Donald Swinton, a Candidate for Holy Orders, and his wife now live at Orangeville. He is in charge of the Mission and carries on the ministry of the Church there, which includes services, library, vacation church school for children, and social and educational groups for their parents.

In addition to their study of these mission fields, women's groups are studying "The Worship of the Church" by Massey H. Shepherd, Jr. as they have previously studied earlier books in the Church's Teaching Series; The Holy Scriptures, Chapters in Church History, and The Faith of the Church. Special impetus for the new study comes from the three hundred women who recently met for four Mondays at the Cathedral for a study experience in worship. (See December Diocesan Bulletin).

On Sunday, November 30th, the 11:00 AM service of the CHAPEL of THE INTERCESSION, Trinity Parish, West 155th Street, was transferred to 1:00 PM so that the service could be carried on the national telecast of "Frontiers of Faith" over NBC-TV. The Rev. Dr. Joseph S. Minnis, the Vicar, conducted the service and preached. The Technical Director for the special service was Ogden E. Bowman, a communicant of SAINT THOMAS CHURCH, Fifth Avenue.

A Boys' Basketball Team has been organized at HOLY TRINITY CHURCH, Inwood. The boys will play members of the Metropolitan Episcopal Basketball League.

SAINT GEORGE'S CHURCH, Stuyvesant Square, celebrated Christmas in the best way that has come to this correspondent's desk. At the Parish Christmas Service on Sunday, December 21st, the pupils of the Church School were hosts to eighty-five children and twenty mothers from the Department of Welfare's Family Shelter on East Fifth Street and four bus-loads of children from the Children's Center on East 104th Street. The family Shelter accommodates mothers and their children who have been evicted for non-payment of rent, or because of the incapacity of the wage earner, or for other reasons. The children of the Center are not delinquent, but are legally dependent or neglected, and either have no homes or are not wanted. It does not seem possible to find a better way to gain the real meaning of Christmas than the warm, generous welcome which the people and children of SAINT GEORGE'S gave their young friends.

In this same Parish, SAINT GEORGE'S, there is the community project of decorating the Church for Christmas. All in the Parish and the community are invited to come help decorate the Church. The Choir sings carols while the work goes on.

It is well known in musical circles that the Organist and Choir of SAINT LUKE'S CHAPEL, Trinity Parish, Hudson Street, always present some of the most interesting sacred music heard anywhere in the City. The music is heard during the regular services and should be forming an instructive addition to the preaching and the service itself in its teaching of the parishioners.

Chopin Recital For Missions

A Chopin Recital will be given by Constance Beardsley (Mrs. Hugh DeHaven) on Saturday, Jan. 31st at three o'clock at the H. Percy Silver House, 209 Madison Avenue, for the benefit of the Elizabeth Saunders Home for Children at Oiso, Japan. The Home has in its care many children whose fathers were in the occupation troops and whose mothers are Japanese girls. The children are not really welcome either in the land of their fathers or their mothers. The Japanese Church is attempting to alleviate their pathetic plight, with some assistance from members of the Church in the United States and elsewhere. The Japan Committee of the Woman's Auxiliary will welcome all who care to come to the Recital for which advance tickets will not be required.

THE DUTCHESS CONVOCATION

The Rev. Kenneth G. Drescher,. assisted by Sister Florence Nisco, C. A., has the oversight of CHURCH OF THE REGENERATION, Pine Plains, ST. JAMES' CHURCH, Dover Plains and ST. THOMAS' CHURCH, Amenia Union. The exterior of ST. JAMES' has been completely painted, and plans are underway to sand the floors and carpet the aisle in the spring. At ST. THOMAS' the masonry, window sills, belfry and chimney are being repaired.

The annual fair of CHRIST CHURCH, Poughkeepsie had for its theme in decoration and advertising the streets of Paris complete with Eiffel tower. A full page advertisement in the Parish Courier began:

"Alons enfants" – come on, you all,
And join ze gaietee
Eet ees a day of great beeg fun
For priests and laietee . . ."

Advent corporate communion services for men and boys were held in nearly every parish in Dutchess Convocation. Several had breakfast served in conjunction. At CHURCH OF THE MESSIAH, Rhinebeck, the Bishop of New York was the speaker; ST. JAMES', Hyde Park had more than fifty present; GRACE CHURCH, Millbrook, had the Rev. M. Moran Weston of the National Council's Department of Christian Social Relations: and seventy-five men heard the Rev. John H. Evans of the Marine Hospital in Staten Island at ZION CHURCH, Wappingers Falls.

The Wardens and Vestry of ST. PAUL'S CHURCH, Poughkeepsie, have announced the receipt of a thousand-dollar legacy from the will of the late Wiletta K. Grobe.

The Canterbury Guild of ST. PAUL'S AND TRINITY PARISH, Tivoli, sponsors each December a Christmas White Elephant Auction Sale. They draw a crowd with free refreshments.

The Bishop's Message

At the beginning of a new year what do we who are members of our great Church envision as its greatest task? The answer to the question is as direct as it is simple – the primary task of our Church this year, and every year, is to bring to all mankind the Eternal Gospel of Jesus Christ. We are apt to give so much attention to other matters of the Church's life that we lose sight of its supreme task. The Gospel, as Dean Inge once said, is not good advice but good news. It is the announcement that life is not the product of blind force; it is the creation of God. And God is personal. He lives. He is a Father who loves His children, who may love Him. Life not only has purpose and meaning; this is its purpose and meaning. It is designed to train men and women for life with God here, and hereafter. The Gospel is the good news of the love of God – news which has transformed the lives of millions, bringing them out of mere existence into the radiant fulness of life in Christ.

The world is in need of the Gospel as never before. There are so many people who want to know what is the meaning and purpose of life. They want to know if there is a present, personal God. They are bewildered, confused, disillusioned and spiritually sick because they have become separated from the Source of life. They know that nothing can save them and their world except Christianity. Here is our opportunity. There is a willingness to hear what the Church has to say. "As far as the readiness of people to listen", says Dorothy Sayers, "we have not been in so strong a position through the centuries."

The primary duty of the Church is ever the same – to spread the Gospel that the world may be brought to God, "Who so loved the world that He gave His only Begotten Son, that all who believe in Him might not perish but have everlasting life; for God sent not His Son into the world to condemn the world, but that the world through Him might be saved." The Son of Man came to seek and to save, therefore, the Church must be ceaselessly concerned with winning the world to God, and mediating His love to all mankind. "If the Gospel really is a matter of life and death," said William Temple, "it seems intolerable that any human being should live his life without ever having the chance to hear it and receive it."

Though its primary aim is to reach individuals with the words and promises of the Eternal Gospel the Church must constantly work for a better world. It is not the function of the Church to advocate particular economic and political systems but it is the duty of the people of the Church to apply the teachings of Christ to every detail of life. The appeal of the Gospel must be addressed to individuals in the first instance, but it must not be limited to that. The purpose of our Lord is to build a kingdom and the Church is His chosen instrument to carry through that task and this world is the area in which it is to be discharged. The Church must seek to bring every existing institution and organization under the authority of the Lord.

May we of the Church never lose sight of our Divinely appointed task – the salvation of souls. We are commissioned by our rightful Lord to spread the good news. Our orders are quite clear – "Go ye therefore, and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: teaching them to observe all things whatsover I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world."

dedication. (It is estimated that very nearly half of the men now in our Church's seminaries come from a family background outside the Episcopal Church). Whatever brings them, and whatever their personal experience in coming may be, they are in for a life of unparalleled demands and unparalleled rewards in the service of Jesus Christ, in whom all pain and suffering in the world find their focus, and all joy and triumph their completion.

Theological Education Sunday is a time for corporate self-examination by the Church in respect to its whole responsibility in raising up a due supply of persons "apt and meet, for their learning and godly conversation, to exercise their ministry duly, to the honour of God, and the edifying of the Church."

THE RAMAPO CONVOCATION

GRACE, Nyack, and CHRIST CHURCH, Suffern, provided in December for their villages a sacred cantata, "The Christmas Story", by Heinriche Schuetz, founder of German church music, 100 years before Bach. Orchestra, solists, actors and organist united in this cantata which is described by critics as having "charming simplicity and music of fresh melodiousness. The pageantry is colorful, costumes gorgeous in texture and styling."

ST. STEPHEN'S, Pearl River, is mourning the loss of Miss Nancy Churchill, daughter of the beloved priest and rector and of Mrs. Churchill. Her death occurred as she, and five other college students, were driving to their homes for the Thanksgiving holidays.

At the Advent Season Pearl River Episcopalians were re-reading the Gospel of St. Luke: youth suppers were held, other churches were invited from nearby Protestant parishes. Sunday school roll, 125. The men in the newly constituted parish are clearing up the church grounds.

GRACE CHURCH, Middletown, mimeographs the annual reports of all organizations for the annual parish meeting: thereby every one can read and study the achievements of the Parish. The Rev. Herbert M. Barrall, new rector says in his report: "One clergyman could be kept busy just calling in the three hospitals (in Middletown) and on sick and shut-ins at their homes. In time we ought to have an assistant (priest) besides the care of our own parish. I have been called upon to assist with occasional services at GRACE CHURCH, Port Jervis, where the parish has been without a Rector for about a year, also at THE CHURCH OF THE GOOD SHEPHERD, Milford, Pa., where the young Rector has been hospitalized with polio. We must bear one another's burdens, and the blessed confidence we have in the Faith is that God always gives strength sufficient for any emergency to those who would be His servants."

Carol singing in Rockland State Hospital, December 21-24th gave an opportunity to many neighboring churches to provide a bit of happiness to the mentally ill. Young people and choir members did this labor of love.

Thirty-one young people and 9 adult advisors from seven churches in Ramapo convocation cooperated in the Diocesan youth workshops at Tuckahoe and Suffern. A convocation youth rally will be held on March 15th, 1953. Theme: "Mexico".

Only two priests got thru to the second meeting of Ramapo clericus on the day of the blizzard: the rectors of Warwick & Suffern. The Rev. Samuel P. Holiday, rector of ST. PAUL'S, Chester, and GRACE CHURCH, Monroe, was host.

GRACE CHURCH, Nyack: has 220 students in church school. A need for added space, separate classes, and other improvements especially, two stories, instead of one, in Memorial Hall is becoming evident. It is hoped that $21,000 will be pledged in the 1953 canvass. The bazaar brought in $1,479. The Rev. Harold Thelin, Rector, asks the people to name 100 best hymns, and he will endeavor to use as many of his parishioners' favorites as possible: a difficult assignment, in view of seasons and other requirements.

Says he: "it is worth a try, almost anything is worth a try when one considers the level of church attendance". . . . He promises to publish the list of most popular hymns.

CHRIST CHURCH, Suffern, has a new organ, intends to study "The Worship Of The Church" and the companion to the 1940 hymnal: "so that all shall have a chance to know why Episcopalians do what they almost thoughtlessly and automatically say in matins, evensong, and in the Holy Eucharist".

Since The American Guild of Organists, Rockland county branch, encourages all clergy to buy the Church Pension Fund edition of the Hymnal Companion, a study will be made of our sacred music. The rector is Chaplain of the Guild. Pledges for parochial support are $1200 higher for the coming year: missionary pledges are better too. All the families were visited in the past two months.

The Birth of a Chapel

The hospital visiting chaplains of the Seaman's Church Institute feel there is more to their job than stopping at the beds of patients for a few minutes a day. Such a man is Rev. John Evans, Resident Episcopal Chaplain at the U. S. Public Health Service Hospital in Clifton, Staten Island. In his work at the Staten Island hospital, where most of the patients are merchant seamen, he has been conducting religious services in the recreational hall for some time. It has long been apparent, however, that these services could be much more satisfactory for the patients and their relatives if they could be held in an atmosphere more conducive to worship and meditation. Thus, the idea of a nonsectarian chapel was conceived. The hospital authorities were sympathetic with the project, but there was the problem of space and provision of facilities. Chaplain Evans offered that he would somehow provide the furnishings if the hospital would find the space.

And so the new chapel of the Staten Island hospital came into being. The list of those who contributed in turning a bare little room into a chapel tells a story of churches of many denominations and persons of disparate faiths joining together to create a place where all creeds can meet at a time when reaffirmation of religious faith is especially comforting. The lectern was donated by the old Italian Church of the Holy Redeemer, the pews from the Roman Catholic Church of the Blessed Sacrament, the dossal from St. Andrew's Church, and the organ from the Seaman's Church Institute. The metal work was refinished by Arthur Storms, and the wood work was done by Leroy Richards — both patients at the hospital. An American flag was given by the Church Women's League for Patriotic Service. Many others — too numerous to mention—have given and helped.

The chapel was dedicated on December 17th, in time for Christmas. Reverend M. A. Frier, rector for nearby St. Johns, said the dedication prayers; and Dr. James C. Healey, Senior Chaplain of the Seaman's Church Institute, read the scripture. The dedication statement was read by Dr. Alexander Banach. Greetings from the hospital were extended by Dr. K. R. Nelson, Medical Officer in Charge. Dr. Nelson in his talk pointed out that hospitals had their beginnings not in the knowledge and development of modern science, but in the human emotions of fear, pity and sympathy — together with civic consciousness and religious zeal. History, Dr. Nelson indicated, shows this to have been the order of growth. Chaplain Evans, who also spoke, thanked those who had helped in making the chapel a reality and stressed the need of further gifts to meet expenses and complete the furnishings. Contributions may be made through Chaplain Evans at the Seaman's Church Institute, 25 South Street, New York.

School of Worship Resumes

THE School of Worship will this Spring again be offered for the women of the Diocese by the Dean and Chapter of the Cathedral in collaboration with the Department of Devotional Life, Education, and Missions and Personnel of the Woman's Auxiliary.

The subject for this year will be "God the Creator, Redeemer, and Sanctifier" as revealed in the Holy Scriptures. Each Monday session will begin as it did the past fall year with a service of corporate worship in the Cathedral, followed by a lecture by an outstanding scholar in the field. There will be an opportunity for members to make a choice of their field of special interest in the discussion group: family life, teaching children, group relationships, intercession and healing, the way of meditation, and Biblical criticism for advanced students.

This year there will be a training program for leaders on Monday, April 13, and Monday, April 27, from 10:30 to 1:00.

The Dean's Column

THE CATHEDRAL CHURCH, having no parishioners of its own, exists primarily to serve the Diocese, and hence it is both appropriate and personally gratifying that as Dean I am to have a few words each month with the people of the Diocese.

The first use I want to make of this privilege is to express my great appreciation for the heart-warming interest and practical cooperation which we have had from so many of you in the new prejects we have undertaken. Any success which we have had in our program is due as much to the effects of the clergy and laymen who have worked with us as it is to what my brethren of the Chapter and I have attempted to do. I will have more to say about this from time to time in connection with discussion of various phases of our program.

It is being increasingly recognized in our Church that worship is incomplete without some opportunity for fellowship among the worshippers. Thus many of our parishes have initiated breakfast after the early service and a "coffee hour" after their late service.

Our own experience of this principle is the Tea after Sunday Evensong, to which we invite the entire congregation. We have chosen this time because it is the service at which we have more visitors from the parishes of the Diocese and because groups from the parishes are able to provide the Teas without conflict with their Sunday morning obligations to their own churches.

The Cathedral clergy are of course gratified at the opportunity these Teas provide for personal contact with scores of visitors. But even more satisfactory is the experience of working cooperatively with a group of "genuine" parishioners — the score or so of men and women a parish sends up each week as hosts and hostesses. This is especially welcome to us who have no parishioners and are nostalgic about our days as parish priests.

It is not widely enough known that this plan was the inspiration of Mrs. Lawrence Rose, Chairman of the Missions Promotion Committee of the Woman's Auxiliary. It is inspiring that she and her committee so readily envisioned this activity as embraced within "missions promotion"— and that it is; for by this means we are provided better opportunities not only to be hospitable to visiting Church people but also to reach strangers and "seekers" who are on the edge of the Church's life, especially among the many students who accept our hospitality.

Inaugurated in connection with these teas was our program for graduate students and faculty, which had been recommended by the Commission on College Work. After an encouraging period of experimentation in the Spring, the program was launched full-grown this Fall under the joint sponsorship of the Dean and Chapter and the Chaplain for College Work — with as many as 125 attending the larger lectures and about 40 attending Chaplain Pyle's fine discussion meetings.

The Preamble to the Constitution and Statutes of the Cathedral call upon us to be "a center of intellectual light and leading in the spirit of Jesus Christ". To better fulfill this challenge the Chapter has been laying plans for adult education programs for various groups in the Diocese, whereby the Dean and Canons, each in his own special field of knowledge, augmented by others (especially in the fields in which no one of us here has special competence) may offer courses designed to meet the needs of various groups in the Diocese. In each case we want to collaborate with the lay leadership available. Illustrative of the approach is the School of Worship for the women of the Diocese held in November. The Cathedral Chapter, in collaboration with four Departments of the Woman's Auxiliary, developed the program. For the lectures Professor Dawley of General, and Professor Richardson of Union, were added to the lecturers from the Cathedral Staff. The Woman's Auxiliary appointed thirty women to lead discussion groups and the Chapter invited clergy

THE HUDSON CONVOCATION

WOODSTOCK: The village has welcomed its newest group of worshippers who on semi-monthly occasions for the time being, hold services in their Chapel on the property of Mrs. Frederica Milne. Known as ST. GREGORY'S, they hold early evening services at 4 p.m. on the second Sunday in each month and morning services at 11:45 on the last Sunday in each month. Leader of the group is the Rev. Herald C. Swezy, pastor of the CHURCH OF THE ASCENSION, in West Park.

Bishop R. E. Campbell, O.H.C. on behalf of the Bishop of New York advanced Brother Herbert O.H.C. to the Priesthood on Dec. 10th in the CHAPEL of THE HOLY CROSS MONASTERY, West Park. The candidate was presented by the Rev. Herald C. Swezy, Rector of the CHURCH OF THE ASCENSION, West Park, and the sermon preached by the Rev. R. Williams of Greenwich, Conn. Following the ordination a luncheon & reception was held in the Parish House of the CHURCH of THE ASCENSION, West Park. The newly-ordained priest celebrated his first Eucharist on Dec. 11th in the CHURCH of THE ASCENSION, West Park.

The Dean of the Convocation, the Rev. Alan H. Tongue celebrated the 25th anniversary of his ordination to the Priesthood on St. Thomas Day, December 22nd. He will offer the Holy Sacrifice at ST. GEORGE'S, Newburgh, at 11:00 a.m. A luncheon will follow the service.

Both Kingston parishes, ST. JOHN'S & HOLY CROSS, report very successful Christmas Bazaars. ST. JOHN'S has recently installed an oil-burner in the Church and is also modernizing the Parish House Kitchen, a fine new restaurant type cooking range having been installed already.

The Rev. Charles H. Briant, Stone Ridge, has been among the speakers broadcasting on "Morning Devotions" over the Kingston Station during Advent.

THE ART TREASURES OF THE CATHEDRAL CHURCH

by Canon Edward N. West, D.D., Litt. D., Sacrist

(1) THE HEAD OF CHRIST — painted by Luis Morales (1509-1586) called "the Divine". This painter, of the School of Estramadura, was the first Spaniard to have a place among the Masters of Painting in Europe.

Given by The Misses Steward, 1939. Located in the North Ambulatory.

THE same Lord who warned us not to lay up treasures upon earth, hallowed by his own example the receiving of precious things in the service of God; the alabaster box of ointment of spikenard very precious was a free personal gift from a loving heart, and such a gesture is always acceptable. Christ praised the widow who gave all the money she had, but excoriated the temple Clergy who misused such gifts. The saints have known for centuries that it is not only more blessed to give than it is to receive, but it is also a lot safer spiritually.

The authorities of our own Cathedral Church have always been aware of the danger involved in accumulating treasures, and have, therefore, fixed upon a policy which is intended to avoid any misuse of the Peoples' Alms or any appearance of undue wealth, in a community which may not share it. The policy is this: never to spend the Cathedral's money on chalices, crosses, paintings, tapestries, or other ornaments, and to accept as gifts only such treasures as are genuine works of art depending for their value upon the skill of the craftsman involved rather than upon the costliness of the materials used.

On these two pages are shown six examples of the Cathedral's collection of paintings — a collection which is growing constantly through the generous gifts of individuals.

(2) POLYPTYCH — painted by Giovanni di Paolo, a master of the Sienese School, shortly before 1440. This five panelled painting is of particular value to the student since the portions remaining have never been touched by the restorer.

Bequest of The Reverend Robert J. Nevin, D.D., L.L.D., 1906. Located in the entrance to the Chapel of St. Ansgarius.

(3) PIETA — School of Avignon, late 15th Century. This painting, reputedly hung in one of the Chapels of the Papal Palace at Avignon, shows strong traces of Flemish influence.

A Memorial to The Reverend Alexander C. Hensley, given by A. M. Bushfield, Esq., 1943. Located in the Chapel of St. Ansgarius.

(4) THE MYSTIC MARRIAGE OF ST. CATHERINE — this superb painting has, by one group of experts, been attributed to Raphael (1483-1520), and, by another group of experts, to Bartolomeo Ramenglia, (1484-1542) called "il Bagnacavallo." The latter was influenced by the Bolognese School and by Raphael.

Given by Mrs. Emmanuel Gerli, 1941.
Located in the Chapel of St. Ambrose.

(6) THE GREAT IKON OF THE PATRON — painted in characteristic Byzantine style by the monks of Mount Athos. This Ikon of St. John the Divine was made especially for the Cathedral; His Holiness the Ecumenical Patriarch Benjamin I had requested the work done.

Given by The Patriarch of Constantinople and the Holy Synod, 1936.
Located in the North Ambulatory.

(5) THE BAPTISM OF CHRIST — from the atelier of the brother and sons of Paul Veronese. It is signed in Latin with the firm name under which Paul's associate continued painting after his death in 1588. AEredes Pavli Caliarii Faciebant.

Given by The Kleinberger Galleries, 1926.
Located in the entrance to the Chapel of St. Ansgarius.

St.Luke's Nurses Wanted in Many Fields

"How does it feel to be wanted, and needed, to have a choice of many fields in which as a nurse you can find interesting employment?" This question was addressed by the president of the hospital's medical board to a recent graduating class of the St. Luke's Hospital School of Nursing, in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine.

It would be easy to list St. Luke's graduates at present actively working in such varied fields of service as hospital staff and private nursing, rural hospital work, outpatient and clinic services, maternity and midwifery, pediatric, psychiatric, orthopedic or other specialties, public health, visiting nurse service, schools and camps, industrial nursing including aviation, doctor's offices, nursing education, nursing for the government including military services, nursing in the foreign mission fields. Hundreds of others who are homemakers are finding their nursing training an invaluable source of strength for their families and their communities. Since the school was founded in 1888, upwards of 2,600 young women have been taught here.

Such training is not a simple, easy matter. Nursing as a profession offers to young women unusual opportunities for service and growth. It likewise demands that those who wish to enter this work must possess intelligence, scholastic achievement, sound physique, emotional stability, moral stamina and a deep desire to serve those less fortunate than they. The spiritual concept so essential for complete care of patients is emphasized at St. Luke's as well as the scientific and social backgrounds for the practice of professional nursing.

Applicants to the St. Luke's Hospital School of Nursing are carefully screened for the needed qualities, as well as for scholastic credits. Even then the cherished school cap is not granted to students until they have stood the tests of the first six months of pre-clinical training. The dignified "capping" ceremony, when the caps are awarded and scholarships granted is a high spot in the three year course.

The first six months at St. Luke's opens up a new world to the young women, who are accepted. It is always interesting to members of the hospital staff to watch them as they don the becoming blue-checked uniform and preclinical cap; as their posture and general appearance of neatness and healthy confidence develop. Their presence in the hospital adds a spirit of youthful hope and cheerfulness which is invaluable to patients and staff alike.

Their voices are heard through the hospital each afternoon as they sing in the chapel at Evensong. To many, the Chapel becomes "the heart of the hospital", as a graduate nurse recently expressed it. The Director of Religious Work is on the Teaching staff of the nursing school, and throughout the three years emphasis is laid on the meaning of the motto of St. Luke's, "Corpus Sanare, Animam Salvare," giving to the students a strong sense of the importance of the person of each patient as well as his physical ailment.

In the preclinical period the training is chiefly in classrooms. Anatomy and physiology, chemistry, microbiology and sanitation give the foundations of the biological and physical sciences; social foundations of nursing, psychology and sociology of the social sciences; nursing arts, nutrition and cookery and pharmacology of practical nursing and allied arts. Under careful supervision, the students become acquainted with the hospital wards and are given simple preparatory experience in assisting the nurses in charge.

These first experiences are exciting and unforgettable to the students — as are the later ones: receiving the St. Luke's cap; first experience in the operating room, assisting the staff nurses; first night duty; first affiliation work; the blue band denoting that one is a senior; and finally the goal accomplished — graduation in the Cathedral.

A well qualified faculty headed by Miss Barbara L. Tate, R.N., A.B., M.A., includes also members of the administrative staff of the hospital's nursing service, under whom the students receive their clinical training. Miss Ruth K. Moser, R.N., S.M., is Director of the school of nursing and of the nursing service in the hospital. A Board of Managers committee on the school of nursing includes the director of the school, the executive director of the hospital and the president of the medical board.

Total enrollment in the school is approximately 300, the classes entering in two sections — one in September and one in February, each year. Students, faculty and some graduates live in the Eli White Memorial Residence, across 114th Street from the hospital and connected with it by a tunnel under the street. An auditorium, lounges, library and smaller rooms for entertaining occupy the first floor, which is attractively planned and decorated. The educational unit, including classrooms, laboratories, library and offices, occupies the third floor. Dining rooms are on the second floor and on floors above the living quarters are a gymnasium, game room, infirmary, solarium, and sun decks. Each student has her own room.

The school's glee club gives two concerts each year and usually sings at the opening of the United Hospital Fund drive. In recent years they have sung in the Rockefeller Plaza, the subtreasury building on Wall Street and at the Waldorf Astoria for this purpose. They have also been asked to sing a Christmas program on the radio. Dances at the school are gay and popular. A picnic at the St. Luke's Convalescent Hospital is a happy event. Basketball, swimming and other gymnasium activities, field trips about the city to community agencies and to the sights of New York combine to fill in the complete and full life of the student nurse, as she develops into a mature person as well as a professional nurse.

The Office of Deaconess
A 2,000-Year-Old Vocation

"SHE IS A Deaconess of the Church." "What does that mean?" "It means that she felt so dominating a sense of vocation to serve Christ with detachment and under obedience to His Will that she responded by offering herself in lifelong service in the Church's canonically established ministerial office of Deaconess."

The office of deaconess is an ancient one. The records of the early Church indicate the existence of the Deaconess throughout the first centuries. Gradually her distinctive function, the anointing of women in Holy Baptism, was done away with and, as adult baptisms became more rare, the particular need for Deaconesses passed. During the Middle Ages the office of Deaconess fell into temporary disuse. The rough character of those years gave rise to the convents because only behind protecting walls could teaching and works of mercy be carried on.

In the nineteenth century, the sweep of civilization brought social reforms. The Church was stirred to a sense of responsibility toward the great masses of people crowded together in the cities. The over-tasked Clergy needed the help of women — devoted, capable, free of all claims of family responsibility. Bishops in England and in our own country, recalling the work of the Deaconess in the early Church, determined to restore this office. They singled out souls adventurous for Christ, set them apart as Deaconesses and gave them the responsibility of training others.

In our own country, the General Convention of 1889 restored and canonically established the Deaconess Order. Canon #51, "Of Deaconesses" provides for its continuance and regulation.

Today how can a woman avail herself of the opportunity to serve the Church in the special Deaconess way? When her sense of vocation to the Deaconess life is definite and clear, the woman should consult her Rector or Bishop who, in turn, will point out the canonical requirements: references; health reports, physical and mental; examinations after supervised, intensive study; and practical experience. Normally the two year period of candidateship is spent in a school under Deaconess supervision — a place of training where the Chapel dominates the house and work. Here the candidate's sense of vocation is tested, strengthened, deepened; her

ONE OF the major problems which the Church faces today is that of the small city parish in a crowded so-called "depressed area." With its transient population, increased crowding, declining housing conditions, and its mounting crime and delinquency, the "depressed area" offers a great challenge to the Church. But there the Church is usually weak, the victim of changing conditions, and is often unable to meet the situation adequately.

Saint Margaret's Church in the South Bronx is such a parish. Many of its old members have moved away, and it was not strong enough to reach out to the great numbers of un-Churched, including many lapsed Episcopalians. The congregation was small and could only afford a supply priest, and many repairs were needed on the parish plant.

Seeing the need for a strong center of redemptive activity, the Bishop decided to start a team ministry at Saint Margaret's with the hope that the Church might again become a powerful Christian force in the community. With the help of the Urban Missionary Priest's group, the Reverends Alexander Stewart and David Weden were contacted, and began work in the parish last June.

Utter confusion marked the first service on Whitsunday. As Fr. Stewart celebrated, the men of the parish worked valiantly to keep rain buckets under the many leaks in the roof. On one of the hottest days of June when Fr. Weden brought his wife and baby from Boston to their new home, they found an eighty year old woman prostrate on the front steps. Within a few hours, Mrs. Weden had fed three hungry men, two who spoke only a few words of English.

Thus began the work of reviving the Christain community with its life and work centered at God's Holy Altar. The first objective was to become acquainted with the faithful, and to build among them a stronger sense of community fellowship. Coffee hours were instituted after all the services and all were encouraged to attend and become better acquainted with each other and the clergy. People who had lived for years in the same block, and sometimes even in the same house, were introduced for the first time. The coffee hours and the regular parish-wide evening gatherings seem to be a help in combating the coldness of the city block with its one to two thousand odd inhabitants.

The rectory is open all the day and evening. Realizing this, the people of the neighborhood are beginning to bring their problems and needs to the Church. Most of these have no previous parish connection, but the Church stands ready to help them. Evictions, marriage quarrels and desertions, unemployment, sickness, and many other such problems are brought to the rectory. Many who come are recent Puerto Rican immigrants and speak only very limited English. Shortly after the team arrived, a boy who had been arrested for a stabbing came for help. Fr. Weden went to court with him, obtained a good lawyer, and the boy received treatment as a Youthful Offender and not as a hardened criminal. A girl is pregnant and afraid, and the Diocesan Youth Consultation Service is contacted and arrangements made for the girl to go to a shelter. Such contact spreads the good news that there is always a welcome at Saint Margaret's.

The team emphasizes the liturgy in its teaching, and stresses the responsibility of each person's participation in the Eucharist. Against the secular symbols of mass-society, an attempt is made to bring sacred symbols of the Christain faith into daily life. Weekday services offer the Eucharist to all who desire to come.

The worshipping community has grown to about a two hundred average on Sunday as the team has attempted at first to salvage the inactive and the lapsed. Added to the team have been two seminarians and a Postulant from the Diocese from Puerto Rico who takes Evening Prayer in Spanish. Parish groups have been revived, and the Young People's Fellowship has had several work parties with other parishes, going out into social agencies and Churches armed with paint brushes and tools to help where needed. Last summer, the Vacation Bible School had eighty students and the

A special service of Thanksgiving was held recently at ZION, Dobbs Ferry, at which the rector, the Rev. Charles E. Karsten blessed the new roads which have been paved around the Church and the Parish Hall. This work was under the direction of Mr. Elliott Bray, Jr., chairman of the Grounds Committee.

Last month it was stated in this column that the Rev. Lemuel J. Winterbottom and the Rev. Osborne Budd were in charge of the Convocation Religious Teacher's Training Course. There was an error in this announcement. The co-chairman with Mr. Budd was not Mr. Winterbottom but the Rev. Arnold A. Enton, rector of SAINT THOMAS', Mamaroneck. The new rector of SAINT PETER'S, Peekskill, Father Ridgeway, was formally installed in office on Sunday, November 16th, by the Rt. Rev. Horace W. B. Donegan D.D.

The guest speaker at the annual Corporate Parish Communion and Breakfast held at CHRIST, Tarrytown, under the sponsorship of the Associate Vestry was Canon Edward N. West D.D. of THE CATHEDRAL CHURCH of ST. JOHN THE DIVINE. Approximately one hundred and sixty were in attendance.

On Sunday, November 30th, at SAINT BARTHOLOMEW'S, White Plains, the guest preacher at the 11:00 a.m. service was the Rev. John J. Lloyd. This was the Fall United Thank Offering Service. Mr. Lloyd is the nephew of the late Rt. Rev. Arthur S. Lloyd, a former rector of the parish. Bishop Lloyd is at present on furlough from his work in Kyoto, Japan.

SAINT PETER'S, Portchester, reports that they had a very successful Church Fair. Messrs Robert Schnautz and Hazelton Wellstood, the co-chairman, did an excellent job and the receipts to date total $2501.00.

Success seems to have crowned the efforts of many of our parishes with the annual fairs this year. TRINITY, Ossining, reports a return of $2493.23 on their Harvest Fair and SAINT THOMAS'S, Mamaroneck, collected a total of $2452.81 under the leadership of Mr. Ralph Spuehler and Mr. Edgar Voneiff, co-chairmen. Special credit went to the Country Store Committee at the latter fair for its unusual appeal.

Church Periodical Club Sends Out Many Books

THE WIFE of one of our clergy recently wrote: "My husband and I, throughout our years in rural mission churches, have always considered the Church Periodical Club as the greatest missionary force within the church. It pioneers for God in small parishes, among the isolated and lonely and upholds the hands of those priests who are laboring in the sparsely populated areas of these United States and abroad. It ministers to those who, without it, might often be tempted to class themselves among the forgotten men. For many missionaries are lonely people: they are rarely rural or country bred: they come from cities, from college and seminary and willingly take up the burden of the small churches which serve large areas of this country . . .

"When you wrap up a book or magazine and drop it in the mail, do you feel that you are simply sparing and sending on an article which you had read and let it end there? A far greater fact lies behind that actions of yours: you do not simply wrap and mail a magazine: you are making yourself responsible for the future care of a human soul: you are helping to bring a lonely, despondent and often a seeking soul to God. Your book may be God's instrument for the building of a new church to His Glory: your periodical may be the nucleus of a new congregation of men and women who are seeking God and without your help would not find Him."

She also wrote of an instance of sending a child's book which she had received from the Church Periodical Club which, in time, happened to lead to the nucleus of a new church: "A new church, a community made Christian: and it all grew from a child's picture book. I have often wished that I could remember who sent that book: that book, which, coming into that home in a time of need, directed the thoughts of that mother to the church. It wasn't merely a toy book wrapped and mailed: it was a SEED OF A CHURCH."

It may be of interest to our Diocese to know that the last report of the Church Periodical Club of this Diocese shows that: 70,000 periodicals, 8,000 books and 40,000 miscellaneous articles were sent out during the year to missionaries, retired clergymen, hospitals, prisons, individuals in the United States and in many foreign countries. Letters received from recipients show how much this material was needed.

Almost all of every dollar received by the Church Periodical Club goes to fulfill requests for magazines and books needed by our missionaries, and many individuals where reading material is not available. Often circumstances are such that our contributions are needed desperately by those a long distance from home and from libraries. It means much to know that their Church is thinking of them.

You can help by sending books and recent magazines to the Church Periodical Club secretaries in your parish. Addresses may also be obtained from Diocesan Office, 110th Street and Amsterdam Avenue.

Recently a new idea for the work has been added to the Church Periodical Club program which will be most helpful to the candidates for Holy Orders in our seminaries. The plan is to give each seminarian from our Diocese from one to four books a year, according to the price of the books he selects, so that he will have the nucleus of a reference library when he leaves the seminary.

7 Deacons Advanced to Priesthood by Bishop Donegan

On Sunday morning, December 21st, 1952 at the 11 o'clock service in the Cathedral Church of St. John the Divine, The Right Reverend Horace W. B. Donegan, Bishop of New York, ordained 7 Deacons to the Priesthood. The Deacons advanced are as follows:—

Charles Halsey Clark, assistant minister, Grace Church, Hamden, Conn. Presented by The Reverend Harry R. Pool.

Elmer Edwin Hood, assistant minister, St. Mark's Church, Jackson Heights, N.Y. Presented by The Reverend Raymond L. Schofield.

Roy Edwin MacNair, assistant minister, All Saints Church, Belmont, Mass. Presented by The Reverend Roelif H. Brooks, D.D.

Michael George Mayer, fellow and tutor, General Theological Seminary, 175 Ninth Avenue, New York City. Presented by The Reverend Wilfred F. Penny.

Arthur Frank Widlak, assistant minister, Holy Trinity, New York City. Presented by The Reverend Richard E. McEvoy.

For the Bishop of Massachusetts:

David Bernard Weden, assistant minister, St. Margaret's, Bronx, New York. Presented by The Ven. George F. Brätt.

For the Bishop of Bethlehem:

Douglas Evart Wolfe, priest in charge, St. Luke's, Haverstraw, N. Y. and vicar, All Saints', Valley Cottage, N. Y. Presented by The Reverend Kenneth W. Mann.

George Trueman Cobbett, assistant minister, St. Mary and St. John's Church, Cowley Road, Oxford, England, was advanced to the Priesthood by The Bishop of Ely, acting for The Bishop of New York, in Ely Cathedral, England, on December 21st, 1952.

George Jackson Macfarren, priest in charge, St. Thomas Church, Weirton, W. Va., and St. John's Church, Brooke Co., W. Va., was advanced to the Priesthood by The Right Reverend Wilburn C. Campbell, D.D. Bishop Coadjutor of West Virginia, acting for the Bishop of New York, on December 22nd, 1952.

Herbert S. Bicknell, O.H.C. was advanced to the Priesthood on December 10th, 1952 by the Right Reverend Robert E. Campbell, acting for the Bishop of New York, in the Chapel at Holy Cross Monastery, West Park, N. Y.

The Ordination Sermon was preached by the Very Reverend James A. Pike, Dean, Cathedral Church of St. John the Divine. The Dean said, in part:

The Bishop Ordaining

"No profession has a ceremony of induction as impressive as that for the ministry and there is none which seems to set a man so much apart for the exclusive exercise of functions. In other words, in no profession does there seem to be such a separation between the place of the professional and the place of the layman. Yet the exact opposite is the case. The doctor can write a prescription and apply the scalpel; the layman can't. The laywer can appear in court for others; the layman can't. But there is no function of the priest which is not the function of the whole body of the faithful. He is "out front" to be sure; by the liturgical and other official actions exclusively reserved to him he dramatizes what is the task of all; by his training and full-time dedication he is able to underline what should be the dedication of all.

"It appears that it is he that celebrates the Eucharist; actually the whole congregation celebrates the Eucharist. By his hands alms, bread and wine, are offered at the Altar; actually the whole congregation is thus offering its common life to be conjoined to the sacrifice of Christ. The priest is, in a conspicuous way, a means of grace to men; all Christians are called to be precisely that to others — though generally in less obvious ways. The priest as teacher expounds the Faith to men; all Christians are meant to express the Faith to others in their words as well as their lives. The priest as prophet is called upon to utter the judgment of God against personal and social unrighteousness; each Christian, in the ways available to him, has this responsibility. The priest may bind and loose in God's name; so too the whole body of Christ, and every member of it, by standing in judgment on wrong and by the forgiving spirit, mediates God's judgment and God's grace, His righteousness and mercy.

"So today, representing the whole Catholic Church of Christ, we honor these men and glory in their dedication; but in so doing we honor the whole body of Christ and recommit ourselves — clergy and laity alike — to the task of saving the world in His name and through His power."

In his charge to the ordinands Dean Pike said, "This understanding of the priesthood does not make your ministry less important; it makes it more important. For the old adage is true, 'Like priest, like people'. To the degree that you exercise your ministry to that degree are your people likely to exercise theirs. On your loyalty to the ordination vows made today hangs more than the success of your own labors; upon it may hang the success of the ministry of those committed to your charge."

parish had two baseball teams which played against teams from the other urban missions. This fall a Released Time Religious Instruction program has had fifty students meeting regularly with a few members added each week.

I hesitate to write about the team at Saint Margaret's and its operation for only six months, but this short time adds to the evidence that the intensified team ministry which identifies itself with the people wherever possible, seems to provide the best answer for truly redemptive work in the depressed slum area.

The Use Of Life

By FREDERICK WARD KATES

- "The great use of life is growth unto God." This challenging theme was chosen by Dean Kates as a particularly appropriate one for the Lenten season. In this new book for devotional reading he shows that nothing less than this high goal can give meaning and purpose to the small and dull things of life that often seem so meaningless.
- Written in straight-forward and appealing language, the book takes the heart of Christianity and shows its importance and attractiveness to everyman. Nothing could be more appropriate for the Lenten season.

Books in Review

Bishop Donegan has selected as the Second Annual Bishop of New York Book, The Hope of Glory, by John S. Higgins (New York, Morehouse-Gorham). One of our earliest memories is memorizing the Prayer of Thanksgiving in Morning Prayer (Prayer Book, page 19). And it is this familiar prayer that Mr. Higgins has taken as the framework for "brief essays on the vast themes of our faith — God in His threefold activity as Creater, Redeemer, and Sanctifier, and the doctrines of sin, grace, sacraments, prayer, and praise. The essays are pictures," continues Bishop Donegan in his Foreword, "for they give clear and helpful insight into the teachings of the Church . . . (They) are not exhaustive treatises on theology."

Let me underscore this last remark. This is a book for laymen, the language is clear and simple; the essays are replete with allusions that remind us that our faith permeates all life. Archbishop Temple once said "There is nothing secular but sin." The Hope of Glory reiterates this fact in a way to make it applicable to our daily living.

This book is another milestone in the career of a man who is soon to give his abilities to the episcopate. A few weeks ago John Higgins, rector of St. Martin's Church in Providence, R. I., was elected Bishop Coadjutor of Rhode Island. Previously he had served parishes in Chicago and Minneapolis. Besides holding various diocesan offices, he has just completed a term on the National Council where he made a distinguished contribution as Chairman of the Division of Health and Welfare Services. He is the author also of several books including The Expansion of the Anglican Communion and The Anglican Communion Today.

In this column, month by month, I am going to give special attention to books by Episcopalians, both men and women. The Hope of Glory is a particularly appropriate title with which to begin, and the next title "In Review" is by a New York layman, a member of the Church of St. Joseph of Arimathea, Elmsford, Willard A. Pleuthner. He has written, "With the Assistance of Several Hundred Clergy and Church Workers", a provocative book called More Power for Your Church: Proven Plans and Projects (New York, Farrar, Straus & Young, $3.75).

Certainly every Christian is eager that the Church exercise the power of which it is capable. And Mr. Pleuthner's words are practical and effective. Not only are they based on his own wide experience, but he has augmented them by contributions from others. These contributors include Lee Hastings Bristol, Jr., Assistant Advertising Manager of Bristol-Myers Co., who is an active layman in our own Diocese of New York; the Rt. Rev. W. C. Campbell, Bishop Coadjutor of West Virginia, who was formerly Executive Director of the Presiding Bishop's Committee in Laymen's Work; Joseph E. Boyle, another New York layman, a vice-president of J. Walter Thompson Co., who serves the National Council of Churches of Christ as chairman of its Central Department of Public Relations, and was formerly Director of Promotion of the Episcopal Church; W. Ted Gannaway of our own diocesan staff; the Rt. Rev. Richard S.Emrich, Bishop of Michigan in whose diocese interesting progress in the developing of tithing is being made; and others.

This book can release more power in the Church if it is read carefully, and its suggestions followed. I am convinced of this not only because of the contents but because of the attention this book has received in the press. In recent weeks I have noticed reviews and notices in every church periodical I have seen. And that was no accident. Before the book was published Mr. Pleuthner wrote long hand notes to each editor calling attention to its forthcoming publication. Those notes were of such a character as to impel the editors to take notice. And they did!

Here is a method of releasing power which our parish clergy can easily make their own. In the parish it would be called the pastoral ministry. It is another aspect of the "bell ringing" of which the Presiding Bishop spoke at a recent clergy conference of this Diocese.

There is much more that could be said about More Power for Your Church, but perhaps it is sufficient to note that it is Mr. Pleuthner's of the Diocese to serve as resource persons for the groups. In addition to the lectures, discussions, and coffee interludes, the Chapter provided services of worship according to the Cathedral use. The large attendance (over 300) and the enthusiastic participation has encouraged us to develop similar schools for men, for women engaged in the daytime, and for men and women together in the evening.

Evolving out of the School of Worship is the Liturgical Forum which now meets from time to time in the Cathedral. The clergy who participated in the School of Worship got into so many conversations as relevant as possible to the teaching of the Faith and the needs of our people, that we decided to get together to continue this sort of conversation and to draw others into the experience. It is a good thing when clergy from St. George's and St. Ignatius — and everything in-between — are eager to get together on this basis.

Similar to the School of Worship in its type of collaboration, is the plan for a series of addresses and discussions on "Achieving Peace in a World of Strife". Each Sunday afternoon beginning February 15th. This series (summarized in this issue on page 1) is sponsored jointly by the Dean and the Chapter of the Cathedral and the Department of Christian Social Relations, with the cooperation also of the Woman's Auxiliary department of the same name. During this three week period the Cathedral graduate student and faculty program will be tied into this special series, but with opportunity for separate discussion and fellowship for the latter group. As to all these opportunities for joint action with the working units or our Diocesan family, we voice the words of the Psalm Ecce quam bonum: "Behold how good and joyful a thing it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!"

Also promising are new steps taken in the realms of pastoral work and worship — but the allotted space has run out; so I must close, expressing the hope that you will return to this column next month and let me tell you about these other phrases of our common concern.

school accepts children of any religious background. More than half of the enrollments are from the local and neighboring parishes. Father Rogers, who is also Headmaster of the school, believes that many parishes could have parochial schools, with tuitions kept to a minimum, if a similar plan to that used at Ascension was followed. The school day is confined to the morning hours, similar to the plan of some English schools, with intensive class work and very minor amounts of "fill in" activities except for the Kindergarten and first grade. Each day begins with Morning Prayer in the Chapel, and ends with class prayer in the individual class rooms. Most of the students are transported to and from school in two station wagons owned and operated by the school. The teaching staff is made up of qualified teachers who do not wish to be tied to a full day program in public schools, and find in the system at A.D.S. an opportunity to carry out their professional life and still manage to run their homes and be with their own children. The school occupies the building formerly used for a church, which has been remodeled and redecorated, and provides an administration office, Chapel assembly room, large kindergarten room and class rooms, recreation room, and sexton's quarters.

It is the hope and plan of the parish to undertake the construction of a Rectory and school as soon as financial conditions permit. With the enthusiasm, hard work and lively interest shown by the parishioners, this would seem to be no idle dream.

The Dilemma Of The Urban Parish

THE JOB of the Urban Parish is the same as that of every parish everywhere: — to bring men to a knowledge and love of God and of His Son Jesus Christ our Lord, and to continue the work of the Incarnate Lord in the world. However, parishes in the heart of a huge city must carry on their work in a rather different manner than those in "bedroom suburbs", "Middletowns", small towns, or open country. In all, the ideal is to serve the community in which the parish is situated, but since the community is different, so is the work.

In order to speak to modern man about his problems, in terms which he understands, the church needs reliable information about who lives in particular areas and how to reach them. This is no longer a simple problem for the parish clergyman, to be solved by a comparatively few calls when he first comes to the parish. His own parish members may not live in the area, or those who do may not be representative. It is not a problem for one clergyman, or for one parish alone, nor for one conference; instead the solutions will be found only in continued consultation by many working in the field, together with the best factual information that can be gathered.

The anonymity of the city is an ever present fact of life. One may never know the persons in one's apartment house, much less the many individuals in one's block. The inhabitants of one block may be so diverse in background, education, race or color, economic and social competence that acquaintance in any way except by residential proximity is unlikely. These facts, plus the artificial barriers which city people use to protect themselves from unwanted contacts, have wide and deep implications for urban parish visiting and propaganda.

Furthermore, in urban areas the great majority have few roots and can move quickly when something better in jobs and accommodations offers. Many times the change brings a different type of people than the area has been accustomed to: in race, in national background, in economic status, in education, or in religion. Or the area may change from a residential to a commercial or light industrial section (although these changes are usually more gradual). Or a housing project may tear down all building for blocks around and build a new community entirely.

The Social Research Study which the Diocese of New York has underway is an effort to study the change in community character, and to try to foresee the implications of coming change for individual parishes and the Diocese, beginning in Manhattan and the Bronx. The Study is first trying to find out what is the situation in these boroughs, and what our parishes are doing in their programs to meet their current problems. Then it will attempt to find trends and proposed changes in community areas so that parishes can make intelligent long-range plans for meeting altered circumstances. As is apparent, this is not a "quickie" program. It is not a survey to be accomplished in a short time and pronounced finished. As the city is constantly changing, so must the study continue work to keep informed about the changes.

The general method of the study is to compare the United States Census materials with that of a special study of the Episcopal Church, together with vital statistics and parish program information. This comparison reveals how well the parish is meeting some of the needs in the area, and not infrequently suggests ideas as to how the parish should alter its program strategy to meet particular needs. Thus the study can ofttimes help the parish to do its own job better, as well as help the Diocese with overall strategy.

The Diocese of New York realizes, in common with other urban Dioceses in the Episcopal Church, that one of the greatest mission fields in the world is found right here at home in our metropolitan areas. Indeed, here we have many of the features of the foreign mission field, in differing cultures, backgrounds, languages, mores and ethical standards of the people which make up New York City. But instead of these factors being thousands of miles apart, here they are found not only in the same city or borough, but ofttimes within the same city block.

In the great mission field of the City new techniques are required, based on solid factual information of the city's character and complexion. To provide the latter to suggest the former is the study's function, to aid the urban parish to better minister to all God's children "that all they may be one in Christ Jesus".

Ed Note: Working with The Committee on Social Research, under the Department of Missions, The Bishop of New York has appointed the Rev. Benson B. Fisher, to carry on the work of the New York Metropolitan Study begun several years ago with the consultation of the Rev. Joseph G. Moore of the National Council's Unit of Research. The new Executive-Secretary came here from the Diocese of Chicago where he had been in the Department of Christian Social Relations.

Youth Consultation Starts a New Year

A NEW YEAR, and a new life! We make resolutions to do better, to meet our obligations, to extend a helping hand, and we find ourselves caught sooner than we thought in the habits and ways of the previous years. This happens also to the young women helped by Youth Consulation Service, a Diocesan agency offering professional case work to adolescent girls and young women.

Sometimes a crisis helps us to become more the kind of person we wish to be. The crisis of unmarried motherhood can help a girl change, too. There are times, though, when a crisis paralyzes and becomes more serious because there is no one to step in and help. Youth Consultation Service steps in to help with planning for care in a maternity home, for hospitalization during confinement. At the same time it also helps the young expectant mother to plan for the future of her baby and this may mean putting her in touch with a qualified adoption agency or a foster home service. With the necessities arranged, the young women facing a new year can use her intelligence, her wish for change and her ability to be honest with herself to face a new life. It is not easy to move into understanding of oneself, to expose one's mistakes, and to use help. It takes courage and strength. That courage and strength form the basis for case work treatment, a therapy aimed at recognition of what one does with the gift of life.

To the high school girl who faces other problems there is frequently no crisis to motivate a change. There is only a gradual and increasing difficulty in family relationships, in school work, in feeling content with oneself.

It is more like the increasing toll taken by a chronic infection. The decision to see a doctor, or a social worker, is filled with fear that the trouble may be more serious than one thought. Sometimes a parent or teacher or friend must point out the need for help to overcome this hidden terror of the unknown. Once the trouble has been diagnosed, through interviews, psychological testing, psychiatric conference or spiritual counselling it is not so overwhelming and the treatment program begins. It is a "talking treatment" with self-understanding at the end, a mutual work between the girl and the social worker.

Youth Consultation Service cannot remove problems. The work done by the Agency enables a girl to solve her own problems, using her courage to face them and her intelligence to resolve them. So long as there is life there are new years with new problems, but with self-understanding they can be met. It is this help that enables troubled young women to face a new year with new courage and hope and to know that she can make resolutions which can be practiced.

1953 will be Youth Consultation Services' 42nd year of service to the Diocese of New York. It serves girls between the ages of 14 and 25 from all social and economic levels without regard to race, creed or color, who need understanding guidance and sympathetic counsel. Its three offices are located at 27 West 25th Street, New York; 384 East 149th Street, Bronx; and 904 County Office Building, White Plains.

character and personality developed; academic and practical experience acquired.

During this two-year training period the candidate discovers that the way of discipleship is the way of discipline. She endeavors to live consciously in God's presence, filled with His Power so that a pattern of living is set which she will try to follow faithfully when, as a Deaconess, she may find herself working in an isolated region.

It is pointed out to the candidate that there is no room for ambition or self-seeking; the diaconate for women is not a stepping stone. The General Conventions of 1931 and 1949 reaffirmed the resolutions of the Lambeth Conferences of 1930 and 1948 "that the Order of Deaconesses is for women the one and only Order of the Ministry which we can recommend our Branch of the Catholic Church to recognize and use."

This two-year training leads directly to the stirring experience that grips the Candidate when the Church formally and publicly accepts her offer of lifelong dedication in the Setting Apart Service. "The Bishop, laying his hands severally upon the head of everyone of them kneeling before him, shall say: "Take thou Authority to execute the office of a Deaconess in the Church of God, whereunto thou art now set apart." The first act in her Deaconess-life follows immediately, receiving the Holy Communion. The enveloping sense of joy and fulfillment cannot be described. It can only be experienced.

What work will the newly-set apart Deaconess do? Because of the character of her vocation with the special emphasis placed on her spiritual training and her own spiritual, disciplined life, what a Deaconess is is of greater importance than the type of work she does. Her talents, native and acquired, will guide the decision as to what and where her share in the Church's work is to be carried on.

Deaconess Lydia Ramsey at Saint Mark's-In-The-Bouwerie

The "chief" functions that may be entrusted to a "Deaconess" are prescribed by Canon #51. The strong canonical emphasis on teaching women and children affords the ministerial office of the Deaconess a singular opportunity to exert influence on family life.

Where may the Deaconess work? She may work wherever she may be called provided that the canonical requirement is met, viz. that she "shall not accept work in a Diocese or Missionary District without the express authority in writing of the Bishop of that Diocese . . ." (sec. 10)

During 1952, four women were formally accepted as Deaconess Candidates by their Diocesans (two by the Bishop of New York) and in December two others announced that their applications were under consideration. In the course of time they too will be set apart with the special authorization and blessing of the Church, and under her direction they will go forth as labourers into His harvest – their joy full and inward compensation rich.

THE BRONX CONVOCATION

The Bishop has formally designated the Rev. William C. Weinhauer, Vicar of SAINT GEORGE'S, Williamsbridge, as Chaplain for the New York University (Heights Campus) and Hunter College (Bronx Campus.)

The Rev. Hikara Yanagihara, son of the Bishop of Osaka, Japan, was the speaker at the Annual Corporate Communion breakfast of the Men's Club of SAINT MARTHA'S, West Farms, on Sunday, December 21st. Fr. Yanagihara is a graduate of the Imperial University of Japan and of Episcopal Theological Seminary, and is now studying at Teachers' College.

The Rev. Edward Tower Theopold celebrated his twentieth anniversary of Ordination to the Sacred Priesthood, on December 14th, in SAINT SIMEON'S CHURCH, Melrose, at a special service and a reception arranged in his honour by the Vestry.

The Girls' Friendly Society observed the seventy-fifth anniversary of its founding at a Service of Thanksgiving, followed by a tea, at SAINT ANN'S CHURCH, Morrisania, on Sunday, December 7th. The first branch in this Diocese was established there in 1881.

At the CHURCH OF THE ATONEMENT a memorial Service for the late Rector, the Rev. Alexander Ketterson, was held on Sunday, November 23rd. A Parish Memorial Resolution was presented by the Rector, the Rev. Frederic H. Meisel. Bishop Boynton presided and confirmed four candidates. A choir of thirty-five voices, under the direction of Glenn Wilder, assisted at Choral Evensong. A memorial pavement has been laid in the sanctuary, chancel, and nave, in memory of Mr. Ketterson, and is a gift of the present Rector and his family.

From the HOLY NATIVITY BULLETIN: "The Parish had a very special reason for giving thanks last Thursday (Thanksgiving Day) for Father Buck's recovery which now permits him to take up part of his priestly duties."

Clifford Mandeville and John Shaw, Vestrymen of SAINT PETER'S, WESTCHESTER, have built a model of the present church building, drawn to scale, and complete with a clock in the tower, and shrubbery and trees. All the furnishings, including the memorial tablets on the walls, and hymnals and prayer books in the pews, have been reproduced in minature, and there is a complete lighting system and vested clergy and choir. The work took almost two years.

THE NEW COUNCIL OF DIOCESE HAS FIRST MEETING

THE NEW Council of the Diocese of New York, authorized by the Annual Convention last May for the purpose of coordinating and integrating all of the missionary activities of the Diocese, held its first meeting on December 16th. The Bishop as President presided and the Right Reverend Charles F. Boynton, Suffragan Bishop, was elected Secretary.

The Bishop outlined the purposes and aims of the Council and led a discussion as to how the Council should perform its functions. It was decided for the time being to hold Council meetings in January, May and October and to delegate to an Executive Committee, composed of the Chairmen of the five departments and two other members appointed by the Bishop, authority to act in the name of the Council between meetings.

The Council at present is composed of twenty-one members as follows:

Ex Officio

The Bishop, President, and Chairman of the Department of Missions
The Suffragan Bishop, Secretary
R. H. Mansfield, Treasurer
Theodor Oxholm, Assistant Treasurer
Mrs. George W. Burpee, President, Woman's Auxiliary
The Reverend Randolph Ray, D.D., President, Standing Committee

Elected by the Convention

The Reverend Shelton Hale Bishop
The Venerable George F. Brätt
The Reverend John A. Bell, Chairman, Department of Social Relations
The Reverend John Heuss, D.D., Chairman, Department of Christian Education
The Reverend Arthur Lee Kinsolving, D.D.
Mr. Russell E. Aldrich
Mr. G. Forrest Butterworth
Mr. Ellis H. Carson, Chairman, Department of Finance
The Hon. Hubert T. Delany
Mr. Edward K. Warren

Appointed by the Bishop

The Reverend Osborne Budd
The Reverend Albert A. Chambers, Chairman, Department of Promotion
The Reverend Robert E. Terwilliger, Ph.D.
Mrs. Robert C. W. Ward
Mr. Billings Wilson

The Chairmen of the several departments proposed for election to their departments the names of clergy, laymen and lay women to serve in the departments and the Council confirmed the election of these members.

The department Chairmen were authorized to present additional names for election to membership in their departments as they find need in the development of their programs.

The next meeting of the Council will be held on January 30, 1953 at which time the Council will revise its budget for 1953 on the basis of pledges of the parishes and missions of the Diocese.

The membership of the five departments of the Council as now constituted is as follows:

The Bronx Convocation

Forty members of the Urban Priests' Group met recently at SAINT MARGARET'S CHURCH. Six of the Bronx clergy are members. Special guests were the Archdeacon of New York, and the Rector of Trinity Church, Manhattan.

Three gifts have been presented to St. JAMES', Fordham. A credence table has been given by the family of Frederick Kuhlman, in his memory, and that of his wife, Amourette, and his daughter, Dorothy. Friends of the family are presenting a sanctuary chair. Also, a gold plated sterling silver Baptismal Ewer has been blessed, in memory of Florence Lang Thwaite, who for eleven years was the director of the Guild of the Christ Child.

The Rev. Howard Simpson, a candidate from this Diocese, and a communicant of SAINT JAMES', Fordham, has been ordained to the Sacred Priesthood, and celebrated his first Holy Communion at ST. JOHN'S CHURCH, Woodward, Oklahoma, on the Third Sunday in Advent. The Christmas Pageant at St. James' this year was written by Mrs. Ruth Simpson. At this service a "real live baby" was "by Holy Baptism born into the Holy Family created by our Lord".

second book to be chosen as a Pulpit Book Club selection. His earlier book was Building Up Your Congregation. Between writing books and sparking surveys on religious matters such as that conducted this past summer by Guideposts on favorite sermon topics, Mr. Pleuthner is a vice-president of Batten, Barton, Durstine, and Osborn.

The third and final Book in Review this month hardly needs mention in this Diocese where it already has had a wide distribution. It is the fourth column in the Church's Teaching series, The Worship of the Church by Massey H. Shepherd Jr., Professor of Church History in the Episcopal Theological School (Greenwich, Seabury Press, $2.50).

Writing in Forth for December 1952 (p. 5 ff), the Rev. John W. Suter, D.D., Custodian of the Book of Common Prayer, describes Mr. Shepherd as "a sound historian with a generously furnished mind and a good eye for balance." And of the book itself, it "is a first rate book, and if Episcopalians will read it, they will learn a lot that is good for them to know."

Bishop Donegan Appoints Personal Chaplain

The Reverend Hikaru Yanagihara of Osaka, Japan, and currently a student at Union Theological Seminary and Teachers College, Columbia University, has been appointed by The Bishop of New York to be his personal Chaplain.

The duties of the Bishop's Chaplain are generally to personally assist the Bishop, particularly at services at the Cathedral.

The Reverend Hikaru Yanagihara

The Reverend Yanagihara was born in Osaka, Japan 35 years ago. He attended the Primary, Middle, and Higher Schools in Osaka, and then attended Tokyo Imperial University, majoring in history and Science of Religions (Old Testament), from which he graduated with a B.A. degree, December 1941.

Following his graduation he served as a Reserve Officer in the Japanese Imperial Naval Coast Guard and, after the War, as Interpreter and Translator of Civil Information and Education in the Osaka Military Government of The U.S. Army.

During the above period he attended the Graduate School of Kyoto University, and then in September 1948 entered the Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, Mass. Graduated in June 1951 with the Degree of Bachelor of Divinity.

The Reverend Yanagihara was ordained by Bishop Nash of Massachusetts, at Trinity Church, Boston, and in his graduating class were the sons of four Episcopal Bishops – those of Bishops Sherrill, Peabody, Whitmore, and himself, the son of the Rt. Rev. Peter S. Yanagihara, Bishop of Osaka, Japan.

The Reverend Yanagihara is the third generation of native Japanese Christians. His Grandfather on his mother's side, Bishop Naide, was one of the first native Japanese Bishops. His father, the Rt. Rev. Peter S. Yanagihara, was Suffragan, and now currently Bishop of Osaka.

The Bishop also is a graduate of the Episcopal Theological School at Cambridge, Mass., and has a Degree of Doctor of Divinity conferred upon him (in absentia) by the Virginia Theological Seminary at Alexandria. Yanagihara's mother was educated at St. Mary's School, Knoxville, Tenn.

At present the Reverend Yanagihara is majoring in Religious Education on the Joint Program of Union Theological Seminary and Teacher's College, Columbia University, towards his Degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

Mistaken For God

"The Biblical account of the slaughter of the Holy Innocents points up the always terrible problem of the suffering of innocent people. A cruel king set out to destroy the little Child who would some day become a rival king, and in the process killed all the boys who would be of the right age; they were, as a whole number, mistaken for God.

"The horror of the incident is heightened by the fact that these little children had done no wrong; but the real horror of sin is that it always hurts the innocent.

"The irony of Herod's sin only become apparent on that day when the Child he sought to kill identified himself with the least of his brethren. In persecuting the innocent, Herod had attacked God himself. It is no mistake to find God among the little and the helpless; the mistake is ever to forget it."

"In The Time Being"

"The poet, W. H. Auden concludes his poem, 'The Christmas Oratorio', with some reflections on the days just after the Christmas holiday:

'The Christmas feast is already a fading memory
And already the mind begins to be vaguely aware
Of an unpleasant whiff of apprehenhension at the thought
Of Lent and Good Friday, which cannot after all now
Be very far off. But, for the time being, here we all are,
Back in the moderate Aristotelian city
Of darning and the 8:15, where Euclid's geometry
And Newton's mechanics would account for our experience.
. . .To those who have seen
The child, however dimly, however incredulously
The Time Being is, in a sense, the most trying time of all.'

after the Christmas holidays. He is speaking rather of a problem which besets at all times Christian people, who having been lifted and inspired and thrilled with a vision of God's purpose incarnate in Jesus Christ must then turn to face a world of drab routine and common-place uninteresting duties. If we could live always in the thrill and wonder of great vision, in sheer unforgetful adoration and joy, then the Christian life would be no great task. Or if we could alternatively live in the midst of a dramatic struggle against the evil of life, contending with suffering and sacrifice against some clearly defined deviltry — that is to say, if we could live in the moving and terri-trying atmosphere of Good Friday — that too would be satisfying and exciting. But to live 'in the time being' — that is another and more difficult task.

"Our own generation has this special task: to live responsibly and effectively in a time which is neither one of great vision nor of dramatic and all-consuming struggle. And in such a time we must be aware of the special temptations of our situation and its responsibilities and opportunities.

"Such a time as our own is specially tempted to glory and to reminisce nostalgically over an unreal past. One is reminded of the complaint of the Children of Israel when they came upon discouraging days in their trek through the wilderness. 'Would God we had died in the land of Egypt, when we sat by the flesh-pots, and when we did eat bread to the full.' But the 'good old days' were not as luxurious as we like to think. The children of Israel had had very little to do with flesh-pots in Egypt; they had forgotten that those were days of slavery and oppression and unspeakable agony from which they had groaned for deliverance. And it is so with us. 'The good old days' of which we speak so easily were often days of immaturity and carelessness. Rich and prosperous as some of our people were, there was also grinding poverty and unrelieved oppression and exploitation. The ill treatment of labor, the existence of unspeakable slums, the general neglect (except by a few private charities) of the problems of the aged, the diseased, the unemployed — no, there were not so many flesh-pots as we have sometimes supposed. And as for America's role in international affairs, the good old days were really days of total irresponsibility, protected as we were by Great Britain and her domination of the seas and henceforth of Europe, Africa and Asia. Today we are deeply committed to the struggle for world security and order; we are beginning to feel something of the burden of decision and responsibility, some of the burden too of taxation and of the demand for manpower. It is a persistent temptation to look back at what seems now a golden age, and to curse the villains who got us into this difficult period of transition with its unrelenting pressures of responsibility. Not just the machinations of Communists or the plotting of internationalists but God Himself has called us to this new responsibility, this task of living in 'the time being'.

"Another temptation is to try to force the issues of history in some dramatic way. One of our widely read magazines features a series of cartoons called: 'Dreams of Glory', in which a scrubby, unprepossessing little boy imagines himself in some great adventure in which he plays the role of hero. Many modern Americans indulge in these 'dreams of glory'. How America would make everyone sit up and take notice if we just asserted ourselves a little more. And how this noisy braggadocia alarms our friends in other countries, who are afraid that this braggart will stumble unwittingly into this fight he seems to be spoiling for. Here again we find it difficult to live 'in the time being' with its compromises, its tensions, its uncertainties. Mr. Auden goes on to say in the poem from which we have already quoted:

'We look around for something, no matter what, to inhibit
Our self-reflection; and the obvious thing for that purpose
Would be some great suffering. So once we have met the Son
We are tempted ever after to pray to the Father:
'Lead us into temptation and evil for our sake.'

" 'The time being' makes it clear that God is best served by the development of steady and dependable patterns of living rather than by the emotionally satisfying moments of vision and great suffering. Is our trust in God strong enough to abide patiently the day of His coming with power? Is our love for men deep enough to survive recurring disillusionment and strong enough to overcome our natural resentments and prejudices? These are questions that are answered not in the thrill and radiance of Christmas nor even in the dramatic struggles of Good Friday but rather in the continuing and routine problems and decisions of life. As a nation, we please God more surely as we develop quietly those patterns of patience and long-suffering and restraint than we do in rash boasting of strength or soul-stirring promises of what great crusades we shall wage for freedom and decency. So Mr. Auden concludes:

'. . . the happy morning is over,
The night of agony still to come; the time is noon;
When the Spirit must practice his scales of rejoicing
Without even a hostile audience, and the Soul endure
A silence that is neither for nor against her faith
That God's will will be done.'

"At the outset of this new year we ought to see this as our particular calling under God — to live in a tense and ominous time with a vision of God's purpose for life always beckoning to us and yet frustrated and hindered by persistent problems that will not yield to simple and speedy solutions. To live 'in the time being' requires God's continuing grace and power, a daily drying to sin and rising to newness of life. And this is the Church's offer through her life of worship for a generation such as our own."

"Except The Lord Build The House . . ."

Full text of Bishop Donegan's address at the Church Club Dinner, January 26

Last Tuesday every citizen of these United States must have been reassured by President Eisenhower's Inaugural address. It was an inspiring message within the framework of moral and spiritual values. The fact that the President went to church on the day of his inauguration, and offered his own prayer to God before he took the solemn oath of office, symbolized his own religious faith and his recognition of his need of God's help to carry out the responsibilities that are now his — duties as great as any President of the United States has ever shouldered.

It is obvious that President Eisenhower understands that "except the Lord build the house they labor in vain who build it." He knows that only as we build our society on moral and spiritual foundations can we have stability, healthy prosperity and peaceful days.

If those associated with the President are equally aware of these truths, there is no doubt but that there will be a cleansing of corruption and bureaucracy, and no doubt America will give leadership worthy of her unique place of responsibility among the family of nations.

But the new administration will be unable to bring about the anticipated reforms unless every community, the country over, is supporting the new administration by cleansing the corruption in every local situation.

We who live in this community have a singular obligation to uphold the President in this respect. Indeed our own situation is a menace to our whole nation, for dishonesty, incompetence, and corruption in our cities sends its poison through all the arteries of our national life.

Furthermore, in the eyes of the rest of the world New York is synonymous with the United States of America. This makes the situation more critical that New York

ST. SIMON, NEW ROCHELLE, COMES INTO ITS OWN

The Effect of Hope, and Prayer, and Work

The Old . . . and . . . The New

ST. SIMON IN New Rochelle, as it now stands, is an old dream come true. Around the year 1913 two families, formerly Anglicans, became the nucleus of what was later to become St. Simon. This nucleus found a church home in the parish house of Trinity, New Rochelle. It did not remain there too long but moved to humbler quarters — quarters that it could call its own. For a number of years the mission had an up-an-down existence. During most of its life it had no priest of its own but was served by one who was responsible for one or two other stations.

In 1946 The Rev. Hamilcar Hannibal was appointed Priest-in-charge, and during the twenty-three months of his tenure, the work began to show signs of revival. In April, 1948, the Rev. S. Alexander Walcott, then a practicing physician and curate at St. Ambrose in Harlem, was appointed to succeed the Rev. Mr. Hannibal, who had been called as rector of a parish

For at least twenty years the congregation had been worshipping in a crypt, which had been intended to be the foundation of the future church building. But owing to its faulty construction, the idea had to be abandoned. They had constantly looked forward with hope to the day when they would be able to build a suitable structure where they would be able to worship without the fear of embarrassment. When the new vicar saw the church in which the congregation had been worshipping, he expressed surprise,

Christian Social Relations Activities of The Woman's Auxiliary

IT IS THE privilege and duty of the Woman's Auxiliary to assist in many aspects of the Christian Social Relations work of the Diocese and parishes. Many Diocesan agencies are aided by gifts and services from women of the Diocese; the work of the City Mission Society at Ellis Island being a specific example. The Auxiliary plans to cooperate as fully as possible in the work of the Department of Christian Social Relations of the Diocesan Council which is described as follows:

"It shall be the duty of this Department to encourage and promote the application of Christian principles in the solution of problems affecting human welfare and in the furtherance of justice, good-will and peace in industrial, racial and international relationships. To this end it shall acquaint the Clergy and other Church workers with the facilities offered by existing welfare agencies and cooperate with such agencies, as occasion may require; provide information regarding legislative proposals, municipal, state, and national, when in its judgment such measures should be of concern to Church people; and engage in such other undertakings as may enable the Church to play its part more effectively in the establishment of a Christian social order."

The Diocesan Meeting on March 3, at 10:30 A.M. at Synod Hall will be devoted to an aspect of this program. At that time Miss Anne Guthrie will speak on the subject: "Today: A Grand and Awful Time."

Miss Guthrie comes to speak out of a wide experience as world traveler, teacher, lecturer, former National Executive of the Y.W.C.A., also as Accredited Representative of the International Alliance of Women to the Economic and Social Council and a member of the Speakers' Research Committee for the United Nations. An exhibit of the work and program of Youth Consultation Service will be held at the same time. All women whether active in the Woman's Auxiliary or not are cordially invited to attend.

"Except The Lord Build The House"

has fallen on evil days, and I cannot remain silent about the serious situation today, much as I was tempted to select a more serene subject for this evening's address.

The facts have been made known by the newspapers and the surveys and reports that have been made available by civic groups. Yet in reviewing the situation, unfortunately there seems to be antipathy on the part of the public.

Certainly the Church to date has not risen to the challenge the situation presents; and this statement is true whether by "Church" you mean the Episcopal Church, the Christian Church, or all the religious forces put together.

Now let me say at once that being a churchman, clerical or lay, does not mean that one is an expert in political matters, criminology, or urban sociology. So I do not intend now or later to speak on this subject from any such perspective.

But a churchman, clergy or lay, is supposed to know something about righteousness and decency and to have a passion for it.

This concern, acting on the facts available, can result in a great reform movement of the type that in other similar periods has distinguished the history of this city.

So, lest in the security and comfort of this place, you forget the actual conditions, let me cite a few illustrations.

Consider the sub-standard housing conditions. In 1951 there were 64 deaths in tenement fires. In 1952 there were two shocking tragedies in buildings that had contained violations of tenement laws for years. Inspection is inadequate. Follow-up of violations is almost non-existent until a fire actually occurs.

The result of an inspection made of buildings in a sample area between 89th, 90th, and 91st streets between Columbus and Amsterdam Avenues revealed the most horrible conditions of filth, overcrowding and slum living that have ever existed in the history of New York. Particularly bad are some of the five story, six-room apartment houses that have been converted into rooming houses.

Some of these rooming houses in the area investigated have as many as nine occupants in one room. In some of these squalid, rat-infested buildings, according to the complaints of the tenants, one toilet had to suffice for the use of as many as fifty persons.

Tenants pay for one tenement room as much as twenty dollars per week. Some persons pay as much as $17.50 per week for rooms without water, kitchen, or toilet facilities. These conditions can only create moral depravity, crime, disease, and racial tensions, and they ought not to be allowed to exist in a city and a country that prides itself on its high standard of living.

Furthermore, it is a profitable business to transform an apartment building of this sort into a rooming house – slum-running is the technical term of this operation.

The ceiling price rent of this type of structure, as an apartment house, brings to the owner an annual gross rental of approximately five thousand dollars, but when converted into a rooming house of the sort described, the same building yields an annual rent of about twenty-five thousand dollars.

Look at the public school situation. The over-crowding is worse than ever. A year ago the most crowded school was P. S. 115 in Queens; having an official capacity of 713, it enrolled 1,415 children. The building was used 198 per cent of its capacity. Now there are five schools in that borough in which the enrollments are over 200 per cent of capacity. P.H.S. 54, built for 1245, has 1800 students.

This year there are 22,000 more pupils than last year, but not enough new teachers to take care of them. It means more crowded classrooms, more harassed teachers, and inadequate attention to the individual student.

There are two million children in this city. They keep coming at the rate of a half a million every ten years. They ought to be the most vital concern of the city.

The health of the children in public schools ought to be a matter of concern, yet 31 out of 54 academic high schools have no health service at all.

When the part of the city budget covering most children's services is slashed, there is no protest from the politicians; no one gets excited when requests for more social workers and probation officers are cut out of the budget.

As Judge Frank stated in an address before the Citizen's Committee on Children, "Of course the children do not vote. The policeman, fireman, and even teachers can and do fight for their wage increase, their paid vacation and their pensions. They have effective public relations, and they mean votes; so somehow the money is found to meet their demands. But the children, and most of the professional people who serve children, have no lobby to further their interests.

"But some day a clever politician running for mayor will appeal to parents and those who are ardent friends of children with an intelligent program, and he will probably be successful, for the concern for children is the great common unifier which cuts through all racial, religious, and political differences."

The Right Reverend Horace W. B. Donegan, Bishop of New York, and Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands, attend a service at St. Mark's In-The-Bouwerie marking the Tercentenary, Feb. 1st, of New York City's founding in 1653.

Think for a moment of appointments to the Board of Education. This Board has the tremendous task of providing adequate education for more than 800,000 boys and girls. To deal with these problems requires leadership of experience and vision.

Yet, last May when Mr. James Marshall's term of office was ended, he was not reappointed, though he had been a most useful and effective member for seventeen years, and though his reappointment was favored by the Public Schools Association and by practically every group and individual interested in the public schools of the city.

Last October, after service of fourteen years, Dr. Harry Carman was not reappointed to the Board of Higher Education, though as the retired Dean of Columbia University he brought to the Board a unique knowledge and experience and the prestige of his nation-wide experience.

It is true, as a former member of the Board stated in an article in the New York Herald Tribune, that "various forward strides have been taken since 1935 by all levels of the school system, but much more might have been accomplished were it not for political interference, maladministration, and public irresponsibility."

Then there is the matter of inadequate police protection. The wife of one of our clergy was beaten and robbed at nine o'clock in the evening walking from St. Luke's Hospital to 110th Street.

Last fall, on two occasions, women members of the Choir School staff were beaten and robbed on the Cathedral grounds in broad daylight. This sort of thing happens elsewhere in the city.

The New York Police Department survey prepared by the Institute of Public Administration under the direction of Mr. Bruce Smith for the Mayor's Committee on Management Survey states that our police force can be more effective in dealing with crime and other pressing problems.

Over 2,000 police now perform duties that can be better done and for less money by other civil service classifications. More than 1500 men could be quickly shifted to restore neglected foot patrol and traffic point duties. Estimates regarding undermanning vary from 500 to 5000 men.

St. Simon Comes Into Its Own

and some of the members did not hide to say that if Dr. Walcott had been any good at all he would surely never be coming to St. Simon. But the Bishop had assured him that it would not be long before he would help the congregation to build a church. He took the Bishop at his word and immediately after taking charge planned for the time when the congregation would be asked to play its part in helping to build for itself.

The present building just referred to was used for divine service and often also had to be converted for social gatherings. When the bazaar was held, there could be no midweek communion; and occasionally a dinner was held in the same building.

During the tenure of the Rev. Mr. Hannibal the congregation had purchased a building which it had intended to convert into a vicarage and had also procured a sizable plot of land in a growing section of the city for the site of the new church.

About a year after the new vicar took charge the Corner Stone Campaign was launched by Bishop Gilbert. This was a fund intended to be raised to help a number of needy churches to build for themselves. The goal was one hundred fifty thousand dollars. St. Simon was one of the first to benefit from this campaign. The congregation was told that the Diocese was willing to erect a new type of church building of steel and concrete, sufficient to house three hundred seventy-five persons, and at a cost of forty-two thousand dollars. It would contain the minimum, and the congregation would be expected to provide the balance. It would consist of a first floor in which the congregation would worship, and a basement for utility rooms and space suitable for social gatherings.

During the three and one-half years of the tenure of Dr. Walcott the mission raised a sum of over eight thousand dollars towards the building project, most of which was turned over to the treasurer of the Diocese to be spent in the building. The adult congregation consisted of approximately one hundred fifty persons, and this was the nucleus which had to do the job. The old church, which had only one room serving as place of worship and community house at the same time, was sold for the price of eighty-five hundred dollars, and the building which had been intended for a vicarage was also sold for a similar sum. All of this was put into the project. That meant that the Diocese furnished approximately forty-three thousand dollars, and the mission approximately twenty-five thousand.

The Diocese did its part as promised. The mission covered the cement floors with an asphalt tile, furnished the rails and guards for all of the stairways, erected a thirty-two foot steeple at the front end of the building, painted the metal work of both floors, bought a stainless steel sink for the kitchen, furnished all of the light fixtures, and erected a steel fence enclosing the entire property. The congregation also furnished the additional cost for tinted glass panes for the windows, and paid the cost for their communion rail and kneeling cushions. It also paid for the landscaping, both for the clearing of the plot for building, and for beautification after the building was completed. A suitable drive-way of asphalt was built, and a parking lot for the accommodation of approximately twenty-five cars was prepared and covered with cinders.

A modern vicarage was erected at the expense of the congregation at a cost of twelve thousand dollars, with four rooms on the first floor, one large unfinished attic room, and a one-car garage.

During all of this the rank and file of the congregation cooperated fully, and the members of the community, as well as many of the other churches, lent a helping hand. The congregation moved into the new building on the last Sunday of November, 1950. The pattern was entirely more than anyone had ever anticipated or prayed for. Here the members were moving from cramped quarters that had served as a house of prayer as well as for social activities, and for years had been referred to by many as a hole in the ground, to a place that looked like a dream. They were all happy that a dream they had long cherished had come true.

It was all made possible through gifts of the Diocese to the Cornerstone Campaign, and the cooperation of the people at St. Simon's.

When Dr. Walcott resigned he was succeeded as Vicar by the Reverend Arthur C. Moore. Under Fr. Moore's able leadership the congregation and the Church school have greatly increased, and the Church has become an important spiritual force in the community.

To make all of this possible the congregation had worked hard, and had done anything and everything that was honest to help in the work. Trinity Church and its Rector, The Rev. Philip Styles, were very kind to them, and many of the suppers and affairs held to raise funds were held at Trinity Parish house.

Thus was accomplished something that was long overdue — a proper place of worship for a group that had long hoped and prayed for it.

Woman's Auxiliary Overpaid Two Pledges

IN 1952, THROUGH the earnest effort of all its Branches, the Woman's Auxiliary overpaid its $50,000 pledge for the Missionary Quota for the Program of the Church by $4,634.71, a total gift of $54,634.71; and exceeded its pledge of $3,400 for Christian Social Service by $72.81, a total gift of $3,472.81.

Dept. of Promotion Names Committees

THE DEPARTMENT OF Promotion held an organizational meeting last month and laid out its program. The Department will work through seven committees as follows:

A committee on the Every Member Canvass materials, under the chairmanship of Mr. Joseph Boyle. This committee is charged with the responsibility of preparing materials to present the Diocesan Missionary program and the program of the National Church suitable for use in the parishes and missions of the Diocese. This committee will also present the Canvass appeal in the October and November issues of the Diocesan BULLETIN and report to the Diocese in the March issue of the BULLETIN each year.

A committee on consultant service for the Every Member Canvass was approved, with the chairman to be announced later. This committee will be prepared to consult with Vestries and Canvass committees in parishes and missions who may desire and request assistance to help them lay out their Every Member Canvass program. They will also study missionary giving in parishes which consistenly fail to meet their quotas.

An editorial committee, under the chairmanship of Mr. Clifford Morehouse, will prepare stories of missionary work in the Diocese and General Church for use in parish papers as well as the Diocesan BULLETIN. We hope that later on this committee will have funds with which to prepare film strips and even possibly motion pictures to present the missionary program.

A radio and television committee, under the temporary chairmanship of Mr. William J. Moll, will endeavor to secure time and plan programs for the use of these media in presenting the life and work of the Episcopal Church in the Diocese. It is hoped that Bishop Donegan will be able to speak to the entire Diocese by radio or television several times each year, and certainly at the time of the Canvass.

A Committee on Convocation programs is under the chairmanship of the Rev. George Nichols. The Diocesan Canon places the responsibility for the Fall Convocation meetings on this Department. This committee will strive to plan effective Convocation meetings, as well as regional vestry meetings, for a persuasive presentation of the budget of the Diocese.

A committee on Diocesan and National Church cooperation, under the temporary chairmanship of the Rev. Albert A. Chambers, Chairman of the Department, will seek to keep the Diocesan family in-

THE BRONX CONVOCATION

On the Feast of the Conversion of Saint Paul a piece of marble from the High Altar of Saint Paul's Cathedral was dedicated at SAINT PAUL'S CHURCH, Morrisania. This marble, taken from the war-destroyed altar, was the gift of the Dean and Chapter of the London Cathedral. The preacher on the occasion was the Rev. Canon Darby Betts.

"Nine Girls", a mystery drama, was presented by the Theatre Guild of SAINT JAMES', Fordham, on February 4, 5, and 6, the entire net proceeds to be applied to the youth program of the parish.

Among the gifts recently presented to SAINT MARTHA'S, Van Nest, are: a set of purple Bible markers, in memory of Caroline Packwood, from her daughter, Lillian; hymn boards and cards, in memory of Harry Manley, from Mrs. Manley; and a white frontal, in memory of Mae Mullen, from her family. The Rector designed the frontal, and the sewing and embroidery were done by Mrs. Marion Prichard.

The District Meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Convocation was held at SAINT PETER'S WESTCHESTER on January 12. After Solemn Evensong Father Lang made a report on the School of Worship recently held at the Cathedral under the auspices of the Dean and the Diocesan Auxiliary.

The Rev. Richard A. Isaac was instituted as second Rector of SAINT STEPHEN'S, Woodlawn, by the Bishop of New York, on Sunday, January 18. Father Isaac was graduated from the General Seminary and has been Pastor of a newly formed congregation at East Meadow, Long Island. A reception was held in the parish house in the afternoon for the parish and for the priests and people of the Convocation.

The EPISCOPAL CHURCH LEAGUE of the Convocation has begun its annual basketball season, with twenty games scheduled. The participants are the parishes of the HOLY NATIVITY, ST. ANN'S, ST. JAMES', ST. PAUL'S, and ST. PETER'S. Stephen Ray of ST. PETER'S is chairman of the League.

The Bishop of New York administered Holy Confirmation, celebrated Holy Communion, and gave First Communions to those who had been confirmed or received, at 11:00 A.M. on the Feast of the Conversion of Saint Paul at SAINT PETER'S WESTCHESTER. Later he blessed the new church

The Bishop's Message

ONCE AGAIN, THE CHURCH CALLS us to observe the Season of Lent. Through the years Lent has been regarded as a time of preparation for the Easter festival, but originally it was a time when the laity took it upon themselves to share in the training of those who were preparing for baptism at Easter. Eventually Lent became, as it is today, a season of penitence and prayer. "The importance of Lent", as Dom Gregory Dix says, in The Shape of the Liturgy, "was that it was not one more ascetic exercise for the devout, but that it was recognized as being of universal obligation. Lent was intended to be a strictly corporate effort of the whole Church, from the Bishop down to the humblest catachumen, to live at least for a season as befitted the body of Christ in fervent and frequent prayer, in order that at their Easter corporate communion all might be found truly members of the Body. There was a great wholesomeness about this annual requirement of a season of serious self-discipline and intensification of private prayer. It reminded the careless and the sinful Christian as insistently as it did the devout of the claims of the Christian standard 'Be not conformed to this world but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind.'"

We would all agree that we need Lent to remind us that the Christian way of life is not do-as-you-please, but a disciplined way of living. We need a season in which to intensify our prayers, to really work at our religion, and to strive earnestly to walk in the Christian way. Vagueness is the enemy of Christian life; so to help you to be definite about your observance of Lent I suggest this simple, minimum, seven-point rule:

1. To be more faithful in personal prayer and reading of the Bible.
2. To receive the Holy Communion each week after careful preparation the night before.
3. To share regularly in the work of the Church.
4. To mark Ash Wednesday and Good Friday as Fast Days, and to observe all the Fridays and Ember Days by abstinence and a special act of devotion.
5. To make a true effort to put aside some unnecessary indulgence or pleasure in order to have more time for the things of the spirit.
6. To make a self-denial and put the cost of it in the Easter offering.
7. To read at least one Lenten Book.

THE BISHOP of New York Annual Lenten Book for 1953 is The Hope of Glory, by the Right Reverend John S. Higgins, D.D., recently consecrated Bishop-Coadjutor of Rhode Island. Based on the Prayer of Thanksgiving in Morning Prayer, this book is concerned with some of the searching and penetrating applications of Christianity to modern life. Each chapter gives a clear and helpful insight into the teachings of the Church. The Hope of Glory has a freshness and vitality which will appeal to the busy man and woman of our hurried age. Modern man is eager to know more about the Christian religion and its application to his personal and corporate needs in our day. This book will bring illumination, and I trust it will have the wide response it well deserves.

This year let us all, clergy and laity alike, observe Lent more strictly than ever before; then our religion will become a greater power in our lives, and our Church will be stirred with new zeal to do its work for God.

THE RICHMOND CONVOCATION

ST. ALBAN'S, Eltingville, has formed a Mr. & Mrs. Club, under whose auspices the early English custom of celebrating Epiphany with a 12th-Night Ball was revived, with dancing, musical games, songs, and buffet supper, the proceeds going to the Organ Fund.

On January 9 a meeting for all women of the parish was held, at which a panel discussion on Christian Social Relations was conducted by Mrs. Ellarson Stout.

The Rector reports that the goal of 100 Church School members has been accomplished.

The work of Missions' Promotion was the subject of an overall Woman's Auxiliary Meeting conducted by Mrs. Frank Sims and Mrs. Alma Rountree, with the showing of a film of the Church's work in Hawaii.

CHRIST CHURCH, New Brighton, extends thanks to Mr. William Atkinson for his gift of an amplifying system.

On the fourth Sunday of every month Mr. John Welzin is showing films for the Church School, which withdraws from the 11 A.M. service, just before the sermon, to the Parish House. Already shown are "Simon Peter, the Fisherman", "The Prodigal Son", and "The Conversion of St. Paul". Among others to follow are "The Calling of Matthew" and "Who Is My Neighbor?". The films have been greatly appreciated by the young people.

About 250 children together with adults attended the annual Christmas Candlelight Service and party. Mrs. F. W. Dillingham directed a Christmas pageant, enacted by the Y.P.F. in the Church. Later all gathered in the Parish House for refreshments under Miss Wasserman's charge, for movies by Mr. Welzin, and carols and a visit from Santa Claus.

Mrs. C. W. Atkinson, assisted by Mrs. J. Williams, is adult supervisor of the Y.P.F. Miss Nancy McKeever is president.

The annual Rectory tea was sponsored by St. Elizabeth's Guild, Women's Guild, and Woman's Auxiliary. The proceeds as usual are to be given to the Youth Consultation Service.

Sunday afternoon, December 28, a special rendition of Christmas music, including an interesting selection of carols of different nations, was presented, with both the Junior and Senior Choirs participating.

ST. MARY'S, Castleton, held a corporate Communion - breakfast for men and boys on Advent Sunday with 65 attending and 50 staying for breakfast.

The Institute had cordial cooperation from the present Commissioner in making the studies. It is the judgment of the Institute that the rank and file of police are sound to the core, but that far-reaching changes in administrative structure and organization are necessary.

There is the water-front racket, presently receiving attention from the press. The testimony before the State Crime Commission appointed by Governor Dewey is a record of kick-backs from labor, extortion from shipping companies, theft of cargoes, violence, and murder, to protect the system, and a clear tie-up with government which is at least complacent, often friendly, and possibly corrupt.

There is no question about the facts. For months they have been on the front page of every newspaper. The corruption, organized vice, widespread illegal gambling activities, the brazen effrontery and defiance of law and decency, the flight of witnesses, the unexplained bank accounts, the overwhelming evidence of shameful wrong-doing, evasion, concealment, and obstruction is a matter of public knowledge.

Naturally this is not the occasion for a comprehensive survey of the situation. Nor is it my intention this evening to fix the blame for any or all of these situations. BUT at the most obvious level they would seem to suggest a need for a change.

NOW, WHERE does the Church come into the picture? Let us be clear about a number of things. It is not the Church's task to endorse candidates for office. It is not the Church's task to propose or endorse particular legislation, administrative regulations or techniques for reform. It is not the Church's task to engage in the enormous and complicated work of fact-finding and investigation of wrong-doing.

BUT IT IS THE CHURCH'S TASK AND DUTY, AND I CANNOT SAY THIS TOO STRONGLY, TO CONDEMN CIVIC UNRIGHTEOUSNESS, and to hold up before the people within the Church and without, the aims and concern which should arouse constructive action — the needs of the helpless — the health and education of children — the safety of men and women on the streets.

To allow that the Church should hold before people ideals of individual morality, and be silent on questions of public morality, is to forget the scene of St. Ambrose barring the Emperor Theodosius from Communion; it is to forget the prophets of the Old Testament, Isaiah and Amos, denouncing evil in high places; it is to forget Our Lord cleansing the Temple, and his piercing denunciation of wrong-doing.

The Church must not only speak out against evil in whatever form it expresses itself, but also the Church must place it on the conscience of its people to act in their own particular sphere of influence.

Church people should be more conspicuous in their activity in such groups as the Civic Affairs Committee, to which Bishop Gilbert and Mr. Walter Hoving, a member of our Church, are giving fine leadership, the Citizens Union, and the Citizens Committee on Children, and similar organizations.

We must firmly declare that we stand for the principle that behind our concern for our city, and consecrating that concern, stands the figure of the Everlasting God of Righteousness and Truth.

Wherever there is know evil; wherever misery cries out for succor; wherever there is exploitation, prejudice, intolerance and injustice; there is God's work to do in the world, and we cannot remain in our habitation warming our feet by the fire.

There is sufficient skill, leadership, and influence in this room to work a mighty change. One cannot think of these present evil days without recalling a similar situation in 1932 when Judge Seabury, descendant of the first Bishop of our Church, aroused the community by his exposure of evil, culminating in action that cleansed the civic administration and gave New York an honest government, under the leadership of Mayor LaGuardia who I am proud to say was a faithful and devoted member of the Episcopal Church.

So tonight I call upon you, and, through you, all Episcopalians of the city to give serious attention and study to the crisis we are in, and to work individually and through representative civic bodies to effect a change in our wretched situation.

There is sufficient influence in the Episcopal Church to work a reform, but we are not alone. There are men and women of goodwill in various Church traditions whose respective religious commitments compel them to concern and action.

This is a very appropriate level for interfaith cooperation and already has proven results. I need only mention the new hope that has been given to the West Side by the fact of the collaboration of our Dean and Cathedral clergy, with a Roman Catholic Priest, and a Jewish Rabbi, in the leadership of a

Council Has Important Meeting

THE Council of the Diocese of New York convened for its first meeting of the year in the Bishop's office on the afternoon of January 30th. This meeting was of unusual importance as it involved the approval of By-laws to govern the operation of the Council and the adoption of budgets for the years 1953 and 1954.

In adopting its By-laws, the Council provided for meetings on the third Thursday in January, May and October, with the annual meeting to be the one held in May. The powers of the Council between meetings were delegated to an Executive Committee consisting of the Bishop, Chairmen of departments and two other members of the Council by appointment. The present make-up of the Executive Committee is: The Bishop, The Suffragan Bishop, the Reverend Messrs. John A. Bell, Albert A. Chambers and John Heuss, and Messrs. Ellis H. Carson and Theodor Oxholm.

For administrative purposes the Council also established an Administrative Cabinet consisting of The Bishop, The Suffragan Bishop, the Assistant Treasurer and the principal staff members of the departments.

Thus the full-time and part-time executives of the Council will meet regularly and co-ordinate their activities. Through constant consultation with the chairmen of the departments, there will be at all times a complete understanding of objectives and a united approach to the total program of the Council.

The matter of the employment of executive personnel was delegated to the Executive Committee of the Council, and other personnel will be engaged and assigned by the Department of Finance.

The By-laws make the Department of Promotion responsible for the purchasing of books and office supplies, and for all printing, mimographing and mass mailing. Heretofore these activities have been undertaken separately by each predecessor department and it is expected that considerable savings will be effected by the new arrangement.

Mr. Ellis H. Carson, on behalf of the Department of Finance, presented his department's analysis of the financial needs of the departments and associated agencies for

THE WESTCHESTER CONVOCATION

THE WOMAN'S AUXILIARY of Westchester is responsible this year for five of the Radio Programs on station WFAS, White Plains, New York, on Fridays at 9:00 A.M. They are as follows: on January 30, Mrs. Walker De Waters is speaking on "Christian Social Relations"; on February 25, Mrs. Lawrence Rose on "Our College Program"; on April 3, Good Friday, Mrs. William M. McDonald, III, on "Devotional Life"; and on May 29, Mrs. Harold E. Pim on "The United Thank-Offering".

SAINT ANDREW'S MEMORIAL CHURCH, Yonkers, announces that on Sunday, December 28, the Rt. Rev. Charles Francis Boynton, D.D., presided at a service of Dedication and Blessing for four new church memorials: a new window in memory of Fannie D. Clark, the gift of her daughters, Mrs. Kenneth C. Quencer and Mrs. H. Milton McCormack; new Chancel Prayer Books, the gift of Mrs. Robert P. Fink in memory of Marie and Jennie Hackett and Anne Hackett; the Snowden Fund, the gift of Alice W. Snowden and Joseph A. Snowden in memory of their parents, Eliza T. and George H. Snowden; the oil burner, the gift of Mr. John K. Lovell in memory of his parents, Mr. & Mrs. John Wurtele Lovell.

SAINT PETER'S CHURCH, Peekskill, has been fortunate in securing the services of a new Organist and Choirmaster, Mr. William D'Amato, of Forest Hills, Long Island. Mr. D'Amato has had many years of experience in parishes in the Dioceses of New Jersey, Massachusetts, and New York.

SAINT PETER'S CHURCH, Port Chester, recently dedicated a new Lectern Bible given by Mrs. Kenneth Cole in memory of George Atwood Slater.

Several parishes in Westchester are conducting Schools of religion this year. At CHRIST CHURCH, Bronxville, a School began in January. It will be conducted by the Rector, The Rev. Harold F. Hohly, and the textbooks used will be "The Faith of the Church" by Pike and Pittinger, and "The Worship of the Church" by Massey H. Shepherd, Jr.

The Rev. Charles E. Karsten, Rector of ZION CHURCH, Dobbs Ferry, was recently honored by his parish for completing his thirtieth year as a priest of the Church and for serving twenty-eight of those years in his present parish.

On January 20, at CHRIST CHURCH in Pelham Manor, the

Our Guest Editor

President-elect of Trinity College

I HAVE CHOSEN for my topic: "The Great Crusade", a crusade that had its most inspiring impetus two thousand years ago in a manger in Bethlehem. I speak of a spiritual, moral, and religious crusade never more vitally needed than today if the free world is to survive; of a spiritual regeneration, a restoration of faith – faith in the truth, in our way of life, and, yes, faith in God.

Why do I consider this so essential? I do so because of the times in which we live.

These are times most challenging to human freedom and human progress. We are engaged in a world-wide conflict of prolonged duration, a conflict involving two opposing and utterly irreconcilable ways of life, two opposing and utterly irreconcilable concepts as to human relationships and political organization – the one upholding individual rights, belief in God, and self-autonomy for all peoples; the other denying the dignity and integrity of the individual, divine worship and seeking, and through statism world domination.

To meet the challenge of this conflict and to control wisely the vast power modern science has placed in our hands, free men throughout the world must, in the words of St. Paul, "Fight the good fight of faith"; in the words of our new President: "beseech God's guidance; and proclaim anew our faith". This is "The Great Crusade".

The strength of a republic such as ours is its moral strength, the strength of its individual citizens. The free way of life depends upon there being a sufficient number of persons who have the inner spiritual values which we associate with a readjustment of one's inner personal standards in the light of God's judgment and grace, pointing to a new level of conduct. We get a free society by having as a leaven a sufficient number of citizens who are dominated inwardly by religious and moral controls from a common source; citizens and leaders qualified to distinguish between right and wrong, to utilize for the good of mankind the vast power unleashed by scientific genius; equipped to make wise decisions on policy and trained to discharge effectively the responsibilities that are theirs.

I am constantly reminded of the miraculous power of moral as compared with physical forces. The birth of Jesus in the stable of a small inn in a far corner of the Roman Empire passed unheralded and unnoticed except by the wise men and a few shepherds. Yet after all the clash and blare of Caesar's legions had long since subsided and the Caesars themselves turned to dust, Jesus and His truth have continued amidst all the confounding perplexities which man has erected, His great teaching stands forth as the light and the way. In all the uncertain weather of man's experience the brightest interval has been the birth of Jesus into the world and the extension of His life and influence through the Church.

Recall too the travail, the injustice and the challenge to human dignity which existed at the time of Christ's birth, the courageous Christians who faced martyrdom. Today the forces of evil and oppression opposing Christianity are even more sinister and complex – "no god but force"; treason and deceit; no sanctity of the individual nor of truth. Yet if an infant Christianity could triumph two thousand years ago, it surely can today. The truth can and will penetrate the iron curtain.

Many of you recall the quotation used by President Eisenhower on Election Eve: "I sought for the greatness and genius of America in her commodious harbor and her ample rivers – and it was not there; in

THE RAMAPO CONVOCATION

The Rev. Fenimore E. Cooper has accepted a call to SAINT MARY'S, Tuxedo, effective March 9.

High School youngsters of GRACE CHURCH, Nyack, are led by John Simonds, E.Y.P.F. president.

Russian Orthodox boys and girls visited the church in the evening on Christmas Day.

College young people came to the early service on December 28.

The County Chorale, Symphonette, and soloists presented the "Christmas Story" by Heinrich Schuetz on December 30 to a crowded congregation at GRACE CHURCH.

The same group gave the cantata again in CHRIST CHURCH, Suffern, wherein a Baldwin organ greatly assisted in the thrilling production. 300 persons saw the pageant.

Eight men prepared the dinner on January 13 for the 94th Annual Meeting in CHRIST CHURCH. The Presbyterian minister in Suffern, The Rev. Redolph H. Wissler, loaned and operated his projector to show a film entitled "Strength of the Hills".

Thirty-five students are enrolled in Released Time classes, grades 7-12. They have courses in Old Testament (How the Bible Came to Be), the Life of Christ, and Church History. The pupils, consisting of Methodists, Presbyterians, and Episcopalians, meet in the new parish house of CHRIST CHURCH.

ST. JOHN'S-IN-THE-WILDERNESS, Stony Point, has paid its missionary quota.

On December 27 the church had a patronal festival, after which eighty parishioners went into the "old barn" across the highway for a party.

Electricity will soon be installed, and the church is to be redecorated.

THE MANHATTAN CONVOCATION

"The Parish Messenger" of THE CHURCH OF THE RESURRECTION, 74th Street, prints a sage bit of advice from the Church Mouse: "Regarding Gossip, it isn't hard to make a mountain out of a molehill. Just add a little dirt."

THE CHURCH OF THE HOLY COMMUNION, West 20th Street, is planning a memorial shrine in honor of the great and saintly founder of the parish, Dr. William Augustus Muhlenberg. This surely seems like a worthwhile venture for the memory of this outstanding man whose labors resulted in so many charitable and religious societies.

Every so often, the Sunday leaflet of the CHURCH OF THE TRANSFIGURATION, "The Little Church Around the Corner", East 29th Street, prints a short, almost thumb-nail statement of the Faith, or of the Sacraments, or of Christian ethics. Scarcely more than a paragraph in length, it is just the thing to catch the eye and rivet the attention and force the mind to seek further about these things.

The Clergy of THE CHURCH OF THE HEAVENLY REST, Fifth Avenue, are joining the growing group of churches which are offering instruction in the Faith to all who are interested. Not necessarily only for persons interested in Confirmation, the series at Heavenly Rest are being held on eight consecutive Monday evenings from January 5 through February 23.

SAINT BARTHOLOMEW'S CHURCH, Park Avenue, had a neighborhood Christmas tree this year. There was singing around it on Christmas Eve. Neighbors, friends, and parishioners all joined parish is asking support for the in this lovely custom. The same "Big Sisters" Movement for use when youngsters are brought before the Juvenile Court.

Work has begun on the demolition of the two buildings which were purchased almost two years ago for the new living quarters of the Choir School of SAINT THOMAS CHURCH, Fifth Avenue. It is expected that the new building will be ready for use in the Fall of 1953. Several years ago a modern building for classrooms and gymnasium was erected on West 56th Street. With the buildings now being planned, the forty boys of this distinguished Choir will have a worthy home. The Christmas Eve Service at SAINT THOMAS was televised nationally and locally over the ABC-TV network on December 24. The commentary on the Service was given by the Rev. Dr. P. M. Dawley of the General Seminary.

THE CHURCH OF THE INCARNATION, Madison Avenue, was host to all who cared to come at a Carol Sing on December 30, – a splendid way to bring the small-town atmosphere into the midsts of a great City Parish.

About ninety parishioners of SAINT JAMES' CHURCH, Madison Avenue, will be making over five hundred calls on members of the parish during January. The principle objective of the calls this year is to explain the forthcoming Mid-Winter Parish Mission to be conducted by Bishop Coleman of the Diocese of Qu'Appelle, Canada.

SAINT LUKE'S CHAPEL, Trinity Parish, Hudson Street, now has found additional space for the many meetings which take place there. A house at 96 Barrow Street will be used as an "auxiliary Parish House".

The Sunday leaflet of GRACE CHURCH, Broadway, asks for cooperation in a problem which besets all the Manhatan churches – that of people who attend services regularly, and who may support the church, but who are not communicants. A note explains the differences in status between "confirmed persons", "baptized persons", and "communicants", and urges that those in all but the last group see the clergy about making their standing more in line with canonical procedure.

TRINITY CHURCH, Wall Street, yearly sets up a large Creche on the north side of the Tower. There is a Christmas tree on the south side. During the Epiphany Season, the addresses at the Noonday Services on Wednesdays were given by members of Trinity Vestry – laymen who, as laymen, spoke, individually, on "What Religion Means to Me." This witness was found to be of real value to all who attended these popular services.

TRINITY CHURCH has paid $100,000 as its quota for 1952 in the Program of the Church allotsigned to Trinity Parish," said the ments for parishes. "The quota as-Rev. John Heuss, the Rector, "was $95,337. Of the total paid, the congregations of the Parish (mother church and chapels) contributed $33,481.39, an increase of $4,200 over their contribution in 1951."

On December 27 the Bishop consecrated the newest in a long line of chapels which this oldest parish has established. SAINT CHRISTOPHER'S CHAPEL, Henry Street, with its beginnings in a rented house, serves a large congregation in one of the city's housing developments.

The Feast of Lights and Pilgrimage to the graves of Clement Clarke Moore of "A Visit from St. Nicholas" fame, and Alfred Tennyson Dickens took place on December 24. This is an interesting annual event among the Christmas services at the CHAPEL OF THE INTERCESSION, Trinity Parish, West 155th Street.

An interesting – and worthwhile – new feature for advertising Lenten services has been worked out by the Rectors of TRINITY CHURCH, Wall Street, SAINT THOMAS CHURCH, Fifth Avenue, and SAINT BARTHOLOMEW'S CHURCH, Park Avenue. Posters have been prepared listing the services and the hours in each of these three parishes. The posters will be sent to churches in Westchester and Rockland Counties for display. It is to be hoped that parishioners who are commuters and are in the locality of the three cooperating churches will come to services in the Manhattan parishes. This is a new and valuable instance of parochial fellowship which might be followed elsewhere.

Taxes, and Christian Social Relations

THE DEPARTMENT OF Christian Social Relations has taken the initiative in mobilizing the Christian forces of the State in an effort to obtain exemption from assessment by special tax districts for churches, educational and charitable institutions.

The issue arose two years ago in the village of Harrison, where the Fire District levied an assessment on the churches of the village. Up to that time it had been assumed that the exemption of such properties from the general land tax carried with it an exemption from special assessments as well (except for street paving, sidewalks, sewers and water supply, where the institution received direct benefit).

A bill to clarify what was undoubtedly the intent of the law was passed by the Legislature in the 1951 session, but was vetoed by Governor Dewey on the ground of imporper drafting. A new version, redrafted to meet the Governor's objection, was introduced in the 1952 session, but died in committee during the legislative jam that marked the closing days of the session.

The matter is of serious importance, for there are several thousand special tax districts of one kind or another in the State, and if all of them followed the example of the Harrison Fire District the assessments against village and rural churches might well amount to several hundreds of thousands of dollars a year.

The Department of Christian Social Relations took action on the matter in December, and Kenneth H. Guild, Esq., a member-at-large, was designated to represent the Department. The Executive Director, the Rev. Leland B. Henry, got in touch with the Chancellor of the Arch-diocese of New York, the State Council of Churches, and the Inter-diocesan Committee on Legislation, which represents the six Episcopal dioceses in the State, and of which he is chairman. As we go to press Mr. Guild is planning to go to Albany to meet with representatives of the Roman Catholic Church, the State Council of Churches, and members of the Legislature.

Letters have been sent by the Department to all churches in the northern Convocations, setting forth the facts in the case, and urging them to take action. Last year the bill had the support of the chairmen of the Committees on Taxation of both houses of the Legislature, and there is every reason to believe that a concerted effort will result in the passage of the bill.

Bishops are thought of by many as constantly balancing the budget, but our Suffragan attests that it is much harder to balance one's tea cup and lunch.

THE DUTCHESS CONVOCATION

CHRIST CHURCH, Poughkeepsie, was illuminated entirely by candles for the annual Community Feast of Lights on Epiphany. The procession was composed of the clergy and choir together with representatives of the religious, educational, civic and benevolent institutions in the area. The chaplain of Vassar College and the minister of the First Presbyterian Church were the Lectors, and the Rev. John Heuss, Rector of Trinity Parish, Manhattan, was the Preacher.

A cast of twenty-one presented a pageant, "The Adoration of the Kings and Shepherds" at ST. PAUL'S AND TRINITY, Tivoli, on the Sunday before Christmas. Special Safety Electric Candles, the gift of Dr. and Mrs. David E. Block, were used in the production.

Lucia Van Keuren, Gail Shaw and John Bailey are the newly-elected officers of the Young People's Fellowship at GRACE CHURCH, Millbrook.

Miss Harriet Brennan has resigned her position as Directress of the Altar Society of ZION MEMORIAL CHAPEL, New Hamburg, the chapel of ZION CHURCH, Wappingers Falls. She had directed the work for thirty years. The Rector of the parish, the Rev. J. Jack Sharkey, has returned from a two-week visit to the missionary fields of Puerto Rico and Haiti. While in Haiti he visited the Rev. Octave Lafontant, "adopted" missionary of the parish.

ST. JAMES' CHURCH, Hyde Park, announces with pride that for the first time the parish has exceeded its Missionary Quota. For four successive years, the parish has met its quota by voluntary contributions from the members. ZION CHURCH, Wappingers Falls, and ZION MEMORIAL CHAPEL, in New Hamburg, are also listed as surpassing the minimum share.

The Rev. Dr. Robert Terwilliger recently told his Supper Club at CHRIST CHURCH, Poughkeepsie, about his last summer trip to England and France. The subject of his talk was "How We Went Through Chipping Camden and Passed by Pity Me."

The Dean's Column

BECAUSE THE Cathedral Church is not a parish, people often ask me, "Don't you miss pastoral work with people?" The answer is "No" — because the fact is that we do a great deal of counselling at the Cathedral and indeed have recently expanded our pastoral work in two important ways. This month I would like to talk a little about this particular side of the Cathedral's life.

There are a number of reasons why people come to the Cathedral clergy for help: One of them, interestingly enough, is the very fact that we are not a parish. This is the case with the many "seekers", whose interest in Christianity generally, or in the Episcopal Church specifically, is new and who are not yet willing to "get involved" in parish life. Our aim with them of course is to bring them to the point where they are willing to relate themselves to a parish and thus assume the genuine responsibilities of life in the Church. We are willing to have them tarry with us only if they are in a transient situation, such as being at Columbia, or St. Luke's or other Morningside Heights institutions. Also at the Cathedral we have conferred with a number of seminarians and Protestant ministers and Roman Catholic priests who are considering coming into our priesthood.

Quite often too our help is asked in "mixed marriage" problems, where the very issue is the religious future of the couple and hence their parish connection, if any, is not firm at the moment. Also some people want to talk to someone at a place where they are not known.

When as an agnostic I first visited the Cathedral one week day years ago I told myself that my interest was aesthetic but underneath I was really looking for God. This personal experience has given me a great interest in the large number of sightseers and the visitors to the Cathedral. My brethren of the Chapter share this interest, especially Canon Green who has succeeded Canon Sparks as pastor and who, as he did, spends some time in the Cathedral available to pepole, but whose other duties do not permit anything like "complete coverage." So this fall we inaugurated what we call "the Pilgrims' project." It is now in the charge of the Rev. Alexander Dewdney, a Canadian priest, who has assisted us in services at the Cathedral for some time, but having finished his residence work for a Ph.D. in Religion at Columbia, is now able to devote virtually full time to ministry right in the Cathedral. He now greets all tour groups and invites them to pray before leaving the Cathedral. Associated with him are three senior seminarians, who are in the Cathedral, in cassock, two afternoons each, and are on the look-out for strangers. Their aim is to move from friendly conversation to religious subjects. Often they are asked about the meaning of the Faith and practice of the church; often personal problems come to the surface and if the latter make appropriate the services of a priest the seminarian takes the visitor to him.

A most touching incident the other day: a young couple, recently married by a justice of the peace, asked the seminarian to pray with them for their marriage. After the prayers, they had a long talk and the seminarian related them, for "follow-through", to the rector nearest where they lived. One day a depressed visitor, with suicidal intentions, was gotten into the hands of a psychiatrist, through the cooperation of her family. Once (along the lines of the "Jesus among the Doctors" story) a child lost by its parents, who were part of a big tour, was found and comforted until her parents missed her and returned to the Cathedral.

The seminarians have been gaining rapidly in the art of "making contact" and talking to people naturally about religion. It thus contributes to their training for parish work and will doubtless reduce the awkwardness of the first parish calls. Because of the training values of the project we are working out a plan with Dr. George Barrett, Professor of Pastoral Theology at General Seminary whereby next fall six seminarians will

St. Peter's School Observes 15th Birthday

St. Peter's School, Peekskill, is this year observing its fifteenth anniversary. Opened in 1938, it has sent 92% of its graduates on to colleges and universities. During the past year two St. Peter's boys were ordained to the sacred ministry and one other will be ordained this year.

The school is beginning a campaign to raise a $15,000 anniversary fund to be used to provide additional athletic facilities and to provide part scholadships for several worthy boys of the Diocese.

After its tour of Florida, the Glee Club of Saint Peter's will present its annual benefit concert and dance at the Biltmore Hotel, New York City, on Friday evening, April 24. Tickets are now on sale and may be ordered through the school. They are $10, $5, and $2.50. Boxes to seat ten are $100.

THE CHAPEL of St. Columba, done in the austere Norman style characteristic of many ancient British churches – notably Durham Cathedral – is a perfect setting for British style grisaille windows.

The side windows are done in colouring characteristic of the famous Five Sisters window in York Minster. The central window is done in the even cooler tones of gray which account for the word grisaille – grayish. (the adjective grissly) – gray – comes from the same word)

The gray quality never means that other colours are ruled out. This central window, for example, has a rich display of ruby glass involved in its borders. Jewel-like spots of blue and green add to its general richness. The over-all effect, however, is one of cool serenity. Nothing in the window detracts from the dominance of the Altar itself.

The Chapel was given in memory of Mary Leroy King. William Herbert Burnham, of Boston, made the central window; and Clayton and Bell, of London, made the side windows. The architects – Heins and LaFarge.

THE ART TREASURES OF THE CATHEDRAL CHURCH

by Canon Edward N. West, D.D., Litt. D., Sacrist

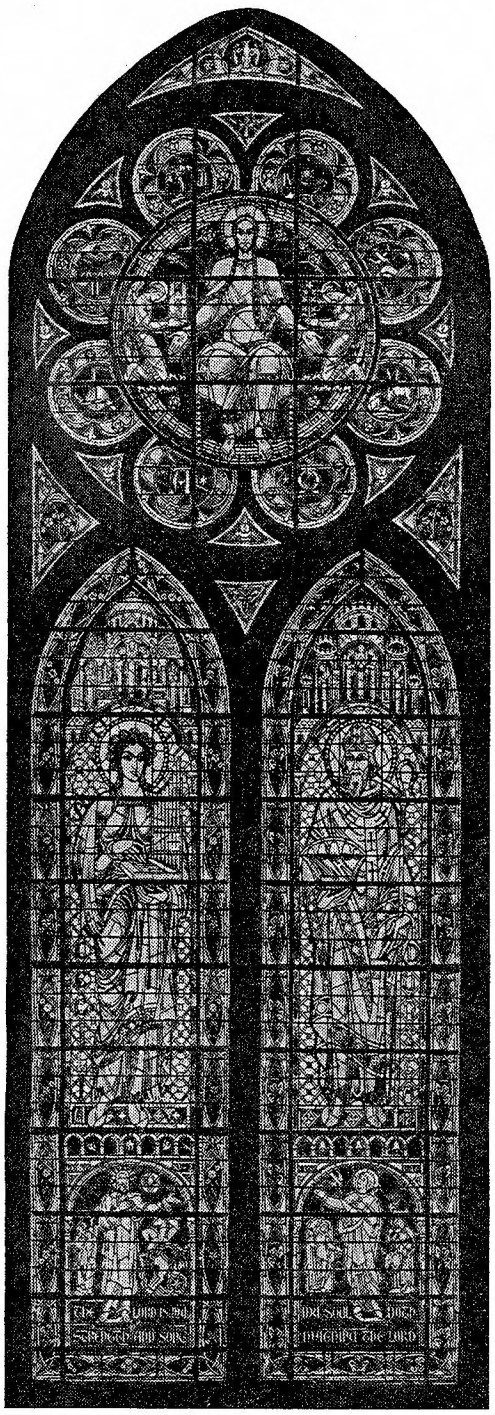
THE PICTURES on these two pages illustrate the types of windows which are regarded by experts as appropriate to Norman and Gothic styles of church building. The function of windows in these two particular styles of architecture is to let in light sufficiently reduced in intensity to make the building an harmonious unity.

The great mediaeval style of grisaille works on the theory of reducing the glare of naked light by a combination of predominately gray coloured glass heavily broken up by an almost geometrically regular cob-web of leading. The advantages of this type of window have become increasingly apparent as men have more and more valued the advantages of light in the performance of the Church's services for people who are able to read. Very strict liturgiologists tend to prefer this style since everything is then subordinate to the Altar itself. The best ancient examples are in York, Salisbury, Angers, Soissons, and Poitiers. It is interesting to note that St. Bernard found even these too distracting!

The deeply coloured figured windows, commonly associated with France, are the finest products of the sense of mystery in religion. As a style they are never tolerant of naturalistic portrayals, and their contribution to the general richness of a Gothic building will be found to be effective in direct proportion to their degree of other-worldly orientation. A saint is more than a kindly person; a saint is a personality so dominated by the Spirit, that the Spirit shines through and changes the very physical appearance itself.

Figured windows in the great tradition are portraying, light-bearing souls; they are not attempting to produce candid shots. The Cathedral is rich in various types of windows; those illustrated here are among the best.



THE CLERESTORY Window in the Arts Bay is one of the richest of the Continental-type figured windows – a type which reached its height in the Cathedral of Chartres.

← The two figures chosen as patrons of the Arts are St. Cecelia and St. Dunstan. St. Cecelia wears the band of roses which recalls the legend of angelic visitation. She carries in her left arm a primitive form of the organ, of which she is the legendary inventor. In the arcading below her feet, are three singing birds.

St. Dunstan, Archbishop and Confessor, wears the vestments of his office, but holds – in addition to his pastoral staff–a hammer and chime of bells, since he is patron of both artisans and musicians.

The predellae show the two great songs of religion: the Song of Moses and the Song of Mary – the Magnificat. The rose shows Christ as the Teacher of Beauty, with angels offering the Lillies of the Field, God's Gift, and a model of the Cathedral, man's gift. The whole window is rich and deep in colour.

The position of the window is in the Second Bay on the North Side of The Cathedral. The window was made by Charles J. Connick.

THE grisaille and medallion window on the South Side of the Great Rose is a combination of the austerity of the grisaille style combined with the dramatic punctation derived from flaming medallions.

The seven archangels are the subjects of the seven medallions. In the Rose above, St. Michael holds the flaming sword and the scales of God's justice and power. In the medallions below each archangel holds the symbol of his particular service to God. Gabriel holds the lilies of the Annunciation; Raphael, a fist; Chamnel, a chalice; Uriel, a radiant sun; Zadkiel, a sacrificial knife; and Jophiel, a sword.

The splendor of this particular window is best seen on an overcast day from a position one third of the way up the South Aisle. It has the quality of a shimmering mass of pearl and silver, accented with jewels of colour. The advantage of this type of window is that it is highly luminous without being thin or garish.

The Window is a Memorial to Emma W. Scott. The position of the window is above the South Aisle Portal. Charles J. Connick made the window.

THE LESSER Rose is a fine example of rich colour confined within the almost monotone pattern of grisaille. It is an over-all development of the reiteration of the number seven in the Revelation of St. John the Divine.

All the movement of the design starts from the center – our Lord – symbolized by the first three letters of His Name, in Greek – I H C (C being the old form of the letter S) Symbolic fountains of living waters come forth from the center. The grape vine of fruitfulness grows out and through the fountains. Pairs of doves symbolize the manifold gifts of the Spirit. In the cusps, encircled by clouds and tipped with flames, are the seven five-pointed stars of the New Dispensation.

her fertile fields and boundless forests – and it was not there; in her rich mines and in her vast commerce – and it was not there; in her democratic Congress and her matchless constitution – and it was not there. Not until I went into the churches of America and heard her pulpits flame with righteousness did I understand the secret of her genius and power. America is great because she is good, and if America ever ceases to be good, America will cease to be great."

But have we exerted and are we exerting, as the leading Christian nation, our full moral force? Are our schools, colleges, and universities playing their part? Have we practiced spiritual as well as physical containment of communism? Are we exerting our full dynamic forces, the forces of freedom, voluntary cooperation, and Christianity which have wrought such miracles? This January of 1953 the disturbing query of God, voiced to Peter as he retreated from Rome, again echoes to us: "Quo Vadis?" ("Whither Goest Thou?") Although terrorized by Nero and harried from Rome on the threat of death, there could be but one answer for Peter to that question – he returned to Rome and martyrdom.

Today a global struggle is being waged for the hearts and minds of men. This conflict challenges our fundamental faith, the dignity and integrity of man. This dangerous menace must be met by the sword of the spirit. Soviet Russia, with one-fourth of our national income, is maintaining military forces far larger than ours but is spending far more for propaganda. They are using every means of subversion and deceit. In the words of our President: "Whatever defies them, they torture, especially the truth." Yet morally aroused, we have the means to triumph.

In the current struggle the center and source of freedom-loving, God-fearing people is found in this nation. We must muster and rally our moral and spiritual resources, with their source-spring in the dignity of mankind which the United States has fostered in the continuing noble experiment launched by our founding fathers. Basic in all this is the power of Christ's teachings and the Christian ideology. Empires and dynasties have risen and fallen, but the truth of these teachings has always marched on. "Know ye the truth and the truth shall make you free." Again I say, in a republic it is the citizens who determine the moral and spiritual tone. And we through our churches, our schools and in the home have the matchless power of Christ's teachings to establish the moral and spiritual tone and to direct policy in such lines and with such force as will make human freedom a reality for mankind.

If we as people work together as a Christian nation and if all other Christian nations so work together, we have that inspiring, uniting and miraculous force of which President Eisenhower spoke. Our resolves must be to fill our churches, to unite our voices in common prayer, to mobilize our moral and spiritual resources for common prayer, to mobilize our moral and spiritual resources for the greatest crusade in human history. Dr. Henry P. Van Dusen, President of Union Theological Seminary, put it well when he said that we must restore "religion to a position of necessary and unchallenged centrality;" and acknowledge "the reality and regnancy of the Living God as the foundation of both learning and life."

Let us humbly and sincerely dedicate ourselves to "The Great Crusade" in which we are engaged – the conflict against the forces of slavery and oppression and the wise control of the power of science.

ED. NOTE: Albert C. Jacobs, for the past three years Chancellor of the University of Denver, has recently been elected the fourteenth president of Trinity College, Hartford, Connecticut. He is highly regarded in educational circles as one of the leading administrators in the country. Graduated from the University of Michigan in 1921, he won a Rhodes scholarship and was named "don", the only American ever to hold a lecturing fellowship at Oxford. He lectured on jurisprudence at Oriel and Brasenose Colleges while earning the Bachelor of Arts in 1923, Bachelor of Civil Law in 1924, and the Oxford Master of Arts, considered the equivalent of an American doctorate, in 1927.

Fresh from Oxford, he came to Columbia University, New York City, in 1927, as a lecturer in law; became an assistant professor in 1928, associate professor the next year, and a full professor in 1936 at the age of thirty-six. He served in the Naval Reserve during World War II and upon his return to Columbia was made assistant to the president for veteran affairs; then assistant to the president for general academic administration. One of his first interests after the war was student activities, and when Dwight D. Eisenhower was named president of Columbia in 1947, Dr. Jacobs was made provost – becoming General Eisenhower's "principal assistant", and acting as his "alter ego and successor during the president's necessary absences from the university or in event of any emergency."

Deeply interested in religion, he was instrumental in the development of a Department of Religion, and it was this aspect of his responsibilities that caused the Rev. James A. Pike (now Dean of the Cathedral Church of St. John the Divine) to accept the call to be chaplain of the university.

Council Has Meeting

the years 1953 and 1954. He pointed out that while a budget of $342,572 was approved by the Diocesan Convention for 1953, it appeared at this time that receipts from parishes and missions would not exceed an amount which would make available more than $243,294 for this work. Agencies had revised their askings to $325,123, there was $10,460 carried over unappropriated from 1952 and a surplus of $10,000 in operating cash in the hands of the Council Treasurer. This meant that the budget would have to be reduced to a total of $263,754 in order to be in balance.

There was a long discussion of the serious situation and of its possible solution. It was finally decided that since the departments of the Council are limited to financial resources within the parishes and missions, the departments should have a prior claim on missionary contributions and that steps should be taken by a special appeal to raise sufficient additional funds for the agencies suffering from the budget reduction and for advance work which would otherwise have to be postponed.

The Council approved 1953 budget expenditures for its departments totaling $205,954 and appropriated $195,954 to implement them. $32,500 was appropriated for the New York Protestant Episcopal City Mission Society; $10,000 for the Seamen's Church Institute of New York; $5,300 for the Episcopal Service to the Aged; and $10,000 for the Youth Consultation Service.

The Council adopted a budget of $385,592 for 1954 for submission to the Committee on Diocesan Finances and the Convention to be held in May. Of this amount $263,565 was for Council Departments and $122,027 for the work of the four other agencies receiving funds in 1953.

Upon the recommendation of the Executive Committee, the Council authorized the formation of The Bishop's Committee on Laymen's Work directly responsible to him although financed for 1953 and 1954 through the Department of Promotion. This Committee would be responsible for all laymen's work except the work of laymen in the field of promotion.

Other departmental reports were brief owing to the short time during which the Council has been in operation. The Department of Christian Education reported that it was seeking a director for the department, but that in the meantime the work was being carried on by committees. The Department of Christian Social Relations reported that its first major project for 1953 would be a panel discussion with addresses on the topic "Peace in a World of Strife" to be held on three successive Sunday afternoons, beginning February 15th, at four o'clock in the Cathedral.

The Department of Promotion asked for and received approval to elect to its membership Mr. Howard Richardson and Mr. Ernest Eidlitz. The Reverend Albert A. Chambers, speaking for the Department, promised a broad program of activity. He said that "promotion" must be considered as the propogation of the Christian faith within and without the family of the Church with every available technique possible being used, covering every area of the Church's life. "Your Department of Promotion", said Fr. Chambers, "will strive to bring you materials and opportunities to assist you in presentation of the missionary objective. Like charity (which begins at home but does not end there) our missionary work begins at home and extends all over the world where our Church is at work. We hope to present to you, with conviction and persuasiveness, the unparalleled opportunities for the extension of God's Kingdom with complete confidence that if the needs are adequately made known, the objective will be fulfilled. No great cause has ever gone unsupported when its real need has been made known. The missionary work here in our Diocese and in our National Church is the greatest cause laid upon us. We can win support for it and give greater support to it ourselves if we are informed of it. This your department hopes to do. But we can do it only with the help and response of our whole Diocesan family."

Missionary Giving Shows Slight Increase

Missionary giving of members of the Church through their parishes and missions in this Diocese in 1952 again showed a tendency to stabilize near the level first reached in 1950. Total receipts of the year amounted to $611,462 as against $611,203 for 1951 and $601,550 for 1950.

This leveling off in giving in the face of the continued rising cost of carrying on the work of Missions, both in the Diocese and in the field of the National Church, is giving great concern to the new Council of the Diocese recently formed for the purpose of integrating all Diocesan missionary work. Chief concern has been that the Church was unable to accept new challenges in any field, as increases in giving have only been sufficient to offset inflated costs. Now there is danger that the "line" of present work cannot be "held".

With indications from the parishes that 1953 giving may not exceed $600,000, the Council at its meeting on January 30th was forced to cut Diocesan agency budgets from $342,572, approved by the last Diocesan Convention, to $263,754. At the same time it approved of a special appeal and authorized the newly formed Department of Promotion to plan and execute a much more comprehensive program of education and promotion in preparation for the Every Member Canvass next fall.

The contribution of the Diocese to the National Council of the Church in 1952 was $378,673 compared to $383,626 in 1951, and in 1953 it is estimated it will be in the neighborhood of $350,000. While this was the largest contribution in 1952 of any Diocese in the Church, it falls far below the $552,108 apportioned to the Diocese as its share of the National Council budget.

The Suffragan

THE RT. REV. CHARLES F. BOYNTON, D.D., S.T.D. SUFFRAGAN BISHOP OF NEW YORK

NO ONE WAS too surprised to read recently that an Indian fakir by the name of Reykan fasted for 77 days and 2 hours, for fasting like that is an old Indian custom. When a German by the name of Willy Schmitz just a month ago broke the world's record by fasting for 79 days and 3 hours, one still wasn't too surprised, because he must have been a bit on the odd side. Didn't he prove it by breaking his long fast with champagne?

To learn that the custom of fasting is not only for Indian fakirs and publicity-seeking Willys, but also a discipline for Episcopalians, may come as a surprise indeed to some. But it is true. There is a page in the first part of the Book of Common Prayer headed TABLES AND RULES. And the first table and rule listed is as follows:

A Table of Fasts

Ash Wednesday — Good Friday

Other Days of Fasting, on which the Church requires such a measure of Abstinence as is more especially suited to extraordinary Acts and Exercises of Devotion

I. The Forty Days of Lent.
II. The Ember Days at the Four Seasons, etc.
III. All the Fridays in the Year, except Christmas Day, etc.

Fasting and Abstinence, therefore, is a discipline enjoined upon all of us; and the Church's intention is that it be accepted with the same willingness, obedience, and seriousness as any other Precept.

We note first that there are two days in which we are required to keep a strict fast, namely, Ash Wednesday and Good Friday. A strict fast means the "going without food as a more severe practice of self-discipline than abstinence." It is easy to see why these two particular days were chosen as strict fast days. Ash Wednesday is the first day of the Season in which we are bidden to lament our sins and acknowledge our wretchedness. And Good Friday is the anniversary of the day on which Christ "was contented to be betrayed, and given up into the hands of wicked men, and to suffer death upon the cross."

Traditionally, the fast has been kept by not eating anything until after sundown, and many still keep it this way. But it is not contrary either to the spirit or the letter for a layman to partake of a little refreshment in the morning when practical necessity dictates.

The rest of the days listed in the Table of Fasts are called days of Abstinence. Such a fast is defined as "the reduction of food for the sake of self-discipline." And for our immediate interest we note that "the Forty Days of Lent" as well as "all the Fridays in the Year" are official days of abstinence.

All will readily agree that there should be no difficulty for any of us in keeping the abstinence requirement. Our doctors are constantly urging us to eat less for our health's sake; and many of us are doing just that periodically and for substantial lengths of time. Since modern hygiene has more than caught up with the Rule of Abstinence which the Church has required as a spiritual discipline throughout its entire history, it is all the more important that we keep the rule especially and precisely on the days mentioned in the Table. Actually now the only way we can make abstinence a spiritual discipline is to reduce the amount of food we eat on the days the Church requires rather than only on the days our doctor or even our discomfort requires. Isn't that true?

Another very practical way to differentiate the spiritual discipline of abstinence from the purely physical is to follow the ancient custom of substituting fish (or cheese, or eggs) for flesh meat on the Church's Days

THE HUDSON CONVOCATION

ST. GEORGE'S CHURCH, Newburgh, had its annual Parish Meeting and Dinner recently with excellent attendance. The Rev. James Harry Price, Rector of ST. JAMES THE LESS, Scarsdale, spoke on "The Law of Nature and the Law of God." The Rector, the Rev. Frank L. Carruthers, announced an increase of $4,000 in pledges for 1953.

The Feast of Lights held on January 11 was attended by 87 young people and adults from the Newburgh and surrounding parishes. Charlene Doolittle presided at the meeting, at which reports were given by Barbara Burger and Charles Doolittle on the recent workshops at Suffern and Tuckahoe and by Martha Huddleston on the Peekskill reunion. Charles Doolittle represented the Convocation at the Youth Workshop at Seabury House on January 26-28.

At ST. JOHN'S CHURCH, Cornwall, an Altar Cloth, presented by the Altar Guild in memory of Mrs. Richard Emslie, life-member of the Altar Guild, was dedicated recently and used for the first time on Christmas Eve.

The clergy of the Convocation gathered at ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH, New Paltz, on February 10, for a Quiet Day, which was conducted by the Rev. Canon James Green.

When Mrs. Ida Martin was baptized recently at TRINITY CHURCH, Saugerties, her great granddaughter, Janet Marie Martin, was baptized at the same service.

In Advent a beautiful pair of solid brass three-branch candelabra was blessed by the Vicar, the Rev. Harold H. R. Thompson, at ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH, So. Fallsburg. The gift was made by Mrs. Nicholas Bird, Mrs. R. H. Stratton, and Mr. & Mrs. Melvin Stratton, in loving memory of Rienzi Holmes Stratton and Walter Manette Stratton.

Here's a Missionary Saga That Will Open Your Eyes

Ed. Note: This story came in from the Mission of Saint Francis of Assisi, Upi, Cotobato, Mindanao, Philippines, where the priest-in-charge is the Rev. Vincent H. Strohsahl, who is one of our missionaries from our own Diocese — and whose mother is Altar attendant at the Cathedral Church of St. John the Divine.

Fiesta — a bamboo pole well greased with lard, small boys climbing, sliding, trying again and again, singly or boosted by companions, until finally one, clothes and body grimy with dirty grease, reaches the top and triumphantly grabs the paper pennant, good for three pesos ($1.50) in prize money.

Fiesta — the pillow fight: two contestants straddling a bamboo bar, holding on with one hand, pummeling each other with burlap sacks filled with rice straw; it is never much as a fight but good for many laughs each time one goes down with ridiculous suddenness.

Fiesta — the sack race, the three-legged race, the potato race — and the games: softball, basketball, volleyball, keen but friendly rivalry: Mission against outsiders.

Fiesta — one hundred sixty-four of the faithful at a celebration of the Holy Communion on Saint Francis' Day, a Saturday (October 4) at 6:30 A.M.; two hundred twelve at the early service on Sunday, one hundred forty-six receiving the Blessed Sacrament; two hundred forty-six at the 9:30 A.M. service.

Fiesta — a week of spiritual preparation, saying the prayer of the Saint: "make me an instrument of thy peace . . ."; the searching of souls, penitence and confession.

Fiesta — visitors from remote places, most conspicuous among them the thirty boys and two small girls from Timanan. Led by their teacher, Mr. Guiambra Ariston, they hiked nearly the whole day of Friday, down precipitous hillsides made treacherously slippery by rains, across swollen streams and up steep paths, each with a load of hand-pounded rice in a woven grass bag strapped to his back. Father Strohsahl, the priest-in-charge, found them the same Friday evening gathered on the Rectory porch; they had been waiting almost an hour while he was conducting a choir rehearsal, eager with a surprise. The door was opened, the bright kerosene pressure lanterns lighted, and in they streamed. Without explanation the teacher asked for three burlap sacks and with rising excitement the children began to empty their bags of rice into them. They were giving the rice to the Mission; three large sacksfuls, approximately 370 lbs.! Each boy had carried an average load of more than twelve pounds in addition to his own food supply!

Meanwhile, hospitality was a-preparing in the kitchen: ice cubes in pitchers, canned pineapple juice poured over them with a tablespoon of sugar added for the sweet-toothed youngsters; served in Dixie cups, the container and contents were equal wonders. And there was a second round for all. The phonograph — a talking, singing, and music machine: never mind that they could not understand what they heard; they could not understand how they heard.

A visit to the kitchen to see the machine that makes ice, even more puzzling because it is a Servel Kerosene Refrigerator with a flame and heat at the beginning of the process; the remaining ice cubes given away as samples. A stove that burns without smoke, water on tap and not from a bamboo tube. And in the bathroom: a controlled rain! These boys are from the mountains, just a little advanced from primitives.

"Maraming salamat sa inyong lahat" ("I thank you all") seemed an inadequate phrase, for here were children (not yet of God by Holy Baptism) learning from the beginning: "Freely ye have received, freely give." The Mission had sent almost all of its supply of used children's clothing to them last July so that they could go to school; and now they were giving something in return. Others, it often seems, think of Christianity only in terms of a Christmas hand-out; these, uninstructed though they are in the Faith, did something more like Good Friday.

IN RETROSPECT—the Priest-in-charge visited Timanan in March; how he wished that the Mission had a helicopter. Eight hours is a long time to walk, especially when there are no mileposts to indicate how much further one still has to go. A trip to Mt. Piris by truck, river launch and hiking was similarly exploratory. The Tiruray are nomadic, and baptized and confirmed members of the Mission are scattered widely; most are inadequately shepherded, due to lack of personnel for the trekking.

Father Strohsahl makes a three-station circuit each month, celebrating the Holy Communion where six or a dozen communicants can be gathered, but given the consecrated Bread and Wine, they may not "perceive within themselves the fruit of Christ's redemption" for lack of continual instruction and experience in the sacramental life. Hundreds of baptized children have no opportunity to learn the Creed, the Lord's Prayer and the Ten Commandments and all other things that a Christian ought to know and believe to his soul's health. "Give of your sons . . ."

REPAIRS, REPAIRS, AND MORE REPAIRS: The Girls' Dormitory was being destroyed by termites; three 8 x 8 x 20 posts and several heavy structural members had to be replaced. The wooden cover on one of the water cisterns collapsed. Everywhere exposed wood is having to be replaced. Two out-station Chapels need extensive repairs; one place waits for a Chapel to be built. And the annual budget item for all repairs is $125.00. "Give of your wealth . . ."

NEW CONSTRUCTION: A permanent residence for Father Moiket and family in Nañgi; cost: $1,600.00 from the Reconstruction and Advance Fund.

IS THERE A TRAIN IN? This place will never see a steam locomotive, but the insistent summons of an engine sounds "over hill and dell". The Mission has a four hundred pound bell, gift of the Jersey Central Lines. Saint Andrew's Chapel in Nañgi has a bell from the Reading Railroad, and the public school at Sibutu, one from the Baltimore and Ohio.

OTHER ACQUISITIONS: A new baptismal font; octagonal, of beautiful hardwood (narra), it has a nine-inch sterling silver bowl; it was paid for from two years' accumulation of Baptismal and Birthday thank-offerings. — A new side Altar also of narra is of unusual design, being a copy in wood of the Altar at the tomb of Saint Francis in Assisi, Italy.

NOTEWORTHY EVENTS: Bishop Binsted's Visit in mid-June when thirty-eight were confirmed and thirty-seven received from the Roman Church. He administered Holy Communion to one hundred eighty-eight at the Bishop's Eucharist. — Whitsunday: a veritable Pentecost when four hundred seventy-five were present at the 6:30 A.M. service, some having walked more than five miles over muddy trails through the tall wet grasses. "All with one accord in one place". The week before four Seminarians on vacation field work assignment went out "into the highways and hedges" . . .

IN PROSPECT: A Jeep station wagon with four-wheel drive, low gear range and tractor tread tires for rough and muddy going; to be purchased from this year's annual grant from the Missionary Society of the General Theological Seminary. — A toyful Christmas from parishes in the Diocese of Long Island.

The Men's Club at CHURCH OF THE MESSIAH, Rhinebeck, has closed a pleasant and profitable year under the direction of retiring president, William J. Nichols. The membership increased from 33 to 58 and the treasurer showed a balance of $300.

THE CHURCH OF THE REGENERATION, Pine Plains, is embarking upon a program of visual education. They have purchased a slide and filmstrip projector, and several film strips through the efforts of the Church School Guild, the Church, the Church School and several private contributions.

The Rev. Raymond DeWitt Mallary, with his family, have moved into the Vicarage of TRINITY CHURCH, Fishkill. He will have charge of the Fishkill Church, and also ST. ANDREW'S, Beacon, and ST. MARK'S, Chelsea.

WHO IS Henry Drummond? The rector had just given to the newly wed couple a copy of The Greatest Thing in the World, and being asked by the groom "Who is Henry Drummond?" found he had no adequate answer. This, despite the fact that he had been giving copies of this famous "Christmas Booklet" to all the couples he had married since the beginning of his ministry.

The question became a challenge; a challenge which led the rector to Scotland to New College, Edinburgh, to Trinity College, Glasgow, to the University of Edinburgh, to Drummond's own parish church, and even at one time, to walk all the way from New College, Edinburgh, to Haddo House, Aberdeen.

Out of the inspiration of this trip grew Henry Drummond: An Anthology edited, and with the story of his life, by James W. Kennedy (New York, Harpers, $3). That life was a significant one in the last half of the nineteenth century. This was the period in English and American life when the great religious awakening, symbolized by Dwight L. Moody and others, was coming into conflict with the new scientific discoveries and theories of the time. At the same time that he worked effectively with Moody, he taught natural science in Scotland. A great Christian, writer, lecturer, and evangelist, Drummond "changed the spiritual climate of his half century."

It is particularly appropriate that this anthology is introduced by a man, who like Drummond himself is known as an "evangelist, a friend of students and of down-and-outers," the Rev. Samuel M. Shoemaker. Now rector of Calvary Church, Pittsburgh, Shoemaker was for a quarter century rector of Calvary Church on Fourth Avenue, New York.

The book itself is divided into three parts: the first one Kennedy's story of Drummond's life and the other two carefully edited and annotated selections from Drummond's writings. These two sections, particularly, reveal how well this book has been designed and manufactured to clarify to the utmost the author's message. Each selection is accompanied by explanatory text and to avoid so far as possible any confusion, the explanatory text is set in italic; not an ordinary italic but an italic which approaches an oblique. To achieve this, the designer selected a contemporary type face, Electra, which has such an italic for this book. And the whole is enclosed in a two color cloth binding, sides in natural linen, spine in rust stamped in black ink.

Part III of the book containing Drummond's methods includes his writings on Spiritual Diagnosis and the Inquiry Room. Of the former, Shoemaker in the introduction writes: "The knowledge of the human heart contained in Spiritual Diagnosis, written — mind you — when he [Drummond] was only twenty-two, has never, I believe been superseded. Henry Drummond is a 'must' for men who would deal with human souls in the light of the accumulated wisdom of the new science of psychology but with the purpose of leading them into the unfading Light of the everlasting Christ."

Henry Drummond has long been on reading lists given by college pastors to the young men and women who come under their care. Perhaps this new anthology will widen that audience.

At least such has been the case with everything that Kennedy has undertaken in his ministry. The publisher's blurb on the book jacket says that he has "combined in successful proportion a writing career and the calling of the ministry". But it all has been an expression of his ministry; his effort to lead men "into the unfading Light of the everlasting Christ." Six months ago Parson Jim, as he was known during his ministry in Virginia, stepped off a boat from Europe where he had been one of the official interpreters at the Third Conference in Faith and Order at Lund, Sweden. The next day he was atop Symphony Hall, Boston, at the con-

The monthly showing of films on the Life of St. Paul, after the 9:30 A.M. service, was inaugurated on Advent Sunday. Already shown are "The Stoning of Stephen", "The Conversion of St. Paul", and "The Years of Apprenticeship". These films have made a great impression on adults as well as on the young people and are felt to have had much educational value, particularly in giving such a correct idea of the life and customs of the period.

The members of the Sunday School are to be congratulated on their generous gifts and offerings at their Christmas Eve Service, which were turned over to St. Barnabas House. Their Advent Mite Box Collection will be turned over to the City Mission Society.

ST. JOHN'S, Clifton. The Rev. Alexander A. Frier, Rector, reports a new roof on the Church building. The parish is now looking forward to the badly needed work of redecoration.

A very impressive Candlelight Service was held on Sunday evening, January 18. The service used depicted the Story of Light, from the Creation through the Incarnation, and was written by the Rector. Nineteen men participated and a choir of thirty sang.

Annual Meeting of Youth Consultation Service

THE FORTY-SECOND Annual Meeting of Youth Consultation Service of the Diocese of New York, Inc. will be held on Thursday, February 19, at 3:00 P.M. at the Community House of St. Bartholomew's Church 109 East 50th Street. All clergy of the Diocese and all parishoners and friends of the Agency are cordially invited.

The Rev. Anson Phelps Stokes will welcome the guests to St. Bartholomew's and give the Invocation. The Rev. Otis R. Rice, Chaplain of St. Luke's Hospital and a member of the Board of Trustees of Youth Consultation Service, will speak on "Religion and Psychiatry." Annual reports will be given by the President, the Treasurer and the Executive Director. The Bishop of the Diocese will be present and will give the Benediction.

Following the meeting a reception and tea will be held to honor the Bishop, who is Honorary President of the Agency.

participate and also have the experience of guiding the pilgrims in tours, thus giving them good experience in extempore religious lecturing.

The other principal new development has been the addition of a priest-psychotherapist to the pastoral staff. He is the Rev. Kenneth W. Mann, trained both in theology and clinical psychology (in the latter field he holds the M.S. degree from the University of Michigan and is now completing his thesis for the Ph.D.). As I wrote the clergy of the Diocese in October, he is available by referral from them.

A Confirmation class starts in February.

TRINITY CHURCH, Garnerville, held a reception for new members, to which eighty parishioners came, on the 7th of December, a party for vestrymen and choristers on the 11th, and a pageant on the 30th. The Ramapo Clericus met in the rectory January 6, and there was a taffy pull late in January. Future plans include a square dance in February for young people, and a redecoration of the parish hall to be financed by the women.

175 people attended the Christmas Midnight Celebration.

Many additions to the parish are reported: a tract rack, a sign board, doors, the enlargement of the chancel, radiator covers, lamp fixtures, hymnals, prayer books, a guest book, and a "Book of Remembrance". All these improvements were proposed last Easter by the Vicar, the Rev. Claude Francis Stent, S.T.M.

Released Time classes are conducted by the four ministers in Monroe in cooperation with the Rev. Samuel P. Holiday, Vicar of GRACE CHURCH. Christmas attendance was 64 in Monroe and 78 in Chester (ST. PAUL'S CHURCH), with a total offering of $500. Both of these parishes, no longer dependent upon the Diocese of New York, are self-supporting as of January 1. Monroe has a Church School led by Mrs. George Mitchell, with four teachers and 19 pupils.

The Rev. Dr. Oliver Shaw Newell was celebrant at the Christmas Eve service at GRACE CHURCH, Port Jervis, at which there were 133 communicants. The offering was $190.36. The Minister-in-charge is the Rev. John Daniel Chequer, a Deacon, who has become active in The Dutch Arms (a study group under the Reformed Church), the Masonic order, and the Ministers' Association. He reports a Church School party for 36 youngsters, at which Santa Claus lost his pants while giving out the presents!

Choir School Has New Vital Program

TO THE CASUAL attendant at the Cathedral, and to the average communicant of the Diocese, the program of the Cathedral Church of St. John the Divine, is exclusively concerned with inspiring services of worship on great occasions. This is indeed its chief function, but there are five other institutional buildings on the Cathedral Close that have a real part in the life of this central church of the Diocese. As well as providing an inspiring and monumental setting for worship, the Cathedral is charged with being "a centre of intellectual light and leading in the spirit of Jesus Christ". Schools of worship, forums for graduate students and faculty, conferences of theologians, and other gatherings, meeting regularly and periodically, all contribute toward the fulfilling of this charge. But the biggest and most constant effort in this direction is conducted at the Cathedral Choir School under the leadership of the author of this article.

Again, contrary to most thinking, the chief job of the Choir School is not to teach boys to sing, but to prepare them to live successful lives according to the will of God in a world that is determined to thwart them in this hope. As far as education goes the world does this by turning knowledge to destructive ends. Christian education, on the other hand, has as its central aim the use of knowledge to man's salvation. In both cases it is the same knowledge but the end results are as different as God is from the Devil. The teaching of the arts and sciences for self aggrandizement is the way the world traps us. The teaching of the arts and sciences in such a way that they are dedicated to God through service to our fellow men in the living of an abundant and godly life is the aim of Christian education. Every pull and inducement of a world in which we must compete to make a living is applied against this Christian purpose. We can hope to achieve this purpose only when education is tied closely to the church where Grace and power to fulfill the will of God is readily available. Education is one of the chief areas of that warfare to which we are dedicated, when we are baptised "to fight under His banner against sin, the world and the Devil".

The Cathedral Choir School has always had this Christian warfare as its aim, and now seeks to make this program even more effective in a new effort that will include the rethinking of its whole curriculum so that God will be in the center of every class in arithmetic, literature, languages and science, as well as in the daily classes in religious studies. The God-Man relationship must be basic to all learning, and we intend to re-write our text-books and employ new teaching techniques to this end, with no lowering of our high scholastic standards.

However the experiment must not stop here, we must expand our enrollment as well. Ninety-five percent of American education ignores or denies the God-centeredness of all christian teaching. To leave our children to the unchristian and self-centered educational principles to which they are now exposed in most schools, is to deny our charge to guide Christ's children in His Spirit. It is up to us to expand our school to the limit in order to take as many boys as we can from secular elementary and secondary schools that are leading them away from God to the worship and destruction of themselves. The knowledge of God must be at the heart of the knowledge of His creation, and only a bonafide church school that seeks to please God alone can hope for the unity of purpose and dedication and sacrifice that are required.

Already the Choir School has admitted non-singing day boys. Beginning next September we shall also admit non-singing boarding boys in so far as space is available through increased dormitory facilities, at rates that will be commensurate with our desire to serve rather than to profit. To complete our program of expansion it will no longer be required that boys leave the school at the end of the Ninth Grade, when most of their voices have changed, for beginning in September of this year we will add a Tenth Grade, and a grade every of Abstinence. This practice has the advantage of furnishing us a basis for real recollection as to why we are abstaining; and the "why" is as important as the discipline itself.

The reader will be as interested, and amused, as the writer to learn that in post-Reformation days in England, Acts of Parliament stated as the reasons for forcibly ordering the abstaining from flesh meat on all days of abstinence, not only "for the better subduing of the body to the soul and the flesh to the spirit" but also "for the preservation of the breed of cattle, the encouragement of mariners, and the increase of shipping."

Our Lord Jesus Christ Himself is the one who defined as the supreme trinity of spiritual habits Prayer, Fasting, and Almsgiving. And as Prayer is the fullest expression of the Christian's attitude toward God, and Almsgiving his attitude toward his neighbor, so Fasting summarizes the Christian's attitude toward himself.

It has been truly said, "if man is a hierarchy of powers, self-discipline, with a view to obtaining self-mastery, is evidently man's first duty. Until a man is 'master in the house of his own being', he cannot be certain of performing any other duties." Self-mastery – namely "that the flesh may be subdued to the spirit" because man is above all a spiritual being, is the reason why the Church requires her children to fast or abstain on days of deep religious meaning. If the Church to which a man belongs lays down certain rules of fasting and abstinence, to be observed by her members, it would seem to be the duty of an honest man, while he remains a member of that Church, to obey those rules. And this he will do for the sake of self-discipline, obedience to lawful authority, and in the knowledge that the Church honestly judges it to be useful for all her children.

September thereafter, until our college preparatory program is complete. From that time on a singing, or non-singing boy can enter this school at the Fourth Grade and stay here until he goes to college, being fully equipped with twelfth grade Christianity as well as twelfth grade arts and sciences. Too many of our young people have been lost to the church by having been forced to compare kindergarten religion with college psychology. The elimination of this sinful foolishness is at the heart of our planned expansion, and we hope our facilities will be used to the full.

"It Is Evident To All Men . . ."

It is evident to all men diligently reading Holy Scripture and Ancient Authors that from the Apostles' time there have been these Orders of Ministers in Christ's Church – Bishops, Priests, and Deacons.
–Preface to Ordinal

THERE IS a certain air of finality, a sense that the whole matter has been canvassed and an absolute and irrevocable conclusion reached in the solemn simplicity of these opening words of the Preface to the Ordinal. The ministry is fixed, and the individual minister is fixed in his office, for all time. This same finality appears in the theory and law of the Church that in ordination an indelible character is imparted to the minister. Once ordained, always ordained. That is, when it happens that one who has been made a deacon, priest, or bishop falls into error of belief or moral delinquency so that he must be deposed from his ministry and removed from his office, but later repents and is restored, he is not again ordained, for in spite of the ban under which he has been placed, he has never lost the character, the spiritual brand, so to speak, which was placed upon him.

"This finality of the ministry has often been a source of awe, or even terror, to those who know themselves called – so that they feel they must rebel. Jeremiah, you remember, wrote of his call to prophesy that God had said to him, " 'Before I formed thee in the belly I knew thee, and before thou camest forth out of the womb I sanctified thee, and I ordained thee a prophet unto the nations.' Then said I, Ah, Lord God: behold I cannot speak, for I am a child." Amos tried to imagine that he did not need to exercise a ministry. "I was no prophet, neither was I a prophet's son; but I was an herdsman, and a gatherer of sycamore fruit: And the Lord took me as I followed the flock, and the Lord said unto me, 'Go, prophesy unto Rector, the Rev. Lawrence B. Larsen, officiated at two celebrations of the Holy Communion. A large number of the business men of the parish attended the first service at 7:00 A.M., meeting afterwards for breakfast and fellowship. One of these men, Dr. Robert Burgess, was recently appointed by President Eisenhower as Director of the Census. At this service prayers were offered for the new President, Vice-President, and Cabinet Members by name, and there were general prayers for all others taking office in government. The congregation sang "The Star Spangled Banner" and "Faith of Our Fathers". The service at 10:00 A.M., for homemakers, was also very well attended.

At CHRIST CHURCH, Tarrytown, the Rev. Canon Edward N. West, D.D., Litt.D., will deliver a series of lectures on Thursday evenings beginning on February 26, and the general theme will be "Jesus, as the Gospels Show Him".

Following a custom of many years standing, Prayer Books were given to eight members of CHRIST CHURCH, Tarrytown, at the annual meeting held on January 13, in recognition of twenty-five years and more of faithful and devoted service to their church. Those so honored were: Mr. & Mrs. Joseph Dudley, Mr. & Mrs. Edmund Vanderbilt, Mr. & Mrs. Fred Miller, and Miss M. T. Lord and Miss Edith G. Lord.

On Wednesday evening, January 13, Bishop Donegan dedicated a new memorial Chapel at CHRIST CHURCH, Tarrytown. This chapel was constructed during the summer of last year in the east transept of the church.

In 1951 SAINT MARK'S CHURCH, North Tarrytown, and CHRIST CHURCH, Tarrytown, agreed to consolidate. Negotiations proceeded favorably and were completed in September of that year. One of the articles of agreement stated that a chapel was to be created within CHRIST CHURCH to be known as SAINT MARK'S CHAPEL.

The new chapel will be used at all the early celebrations of the Holy Communion and for Holy Day services.

It Is Evident

my people Israel.'" Or again Jonah, when he was called to preach, immediately fled in terror and resolved to escape from God's presence and jurisdiction by going to Tarshish. His flight did indeed lead him into adventure, but also ultimately to the preaching he rebelled against. And Saint Paul's call to the ministry came to him with these strong words, "Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me . . . It is hard for thee to kick against the pricks."

"Not only for the minister himself, but for those bound to him with family ties, is there terror in this sense of finality. How many mothers of sons offered to the ministry have known that there is a special application to them in today's Gospel – the aged Simeon's words at the Presentation in the Temple of that sacred Infant Who is the fount and origin of all our being, the Creator and Source of our Church, and our ministry – "yes, a sword shall pierce through thine own soul also."

"Awe and terror may be the first impressions of the ministry, but they need not be the final ones. The young colt when he first encounters the bridle, the bit, the harness, or the saddle, starts aside in terror, trembles, flees, rebels. But when broken in, if it has been well done by an understanding master, the animal finds himself and throws himself with a will into his work.

"One of the first things which the trainer does when he is breaking the young colt is to lead him up to have a good look at the cart he is to pull before he is harnessed to it. In somewhat the same way it behooves us to look critically, carefully, realistically at this ministry to which men are called, that we may know it for what it really is.

"The awe of the ministry manifests itself in various ways. In the Episcopal Church it takes the form, which is usually unrecognized – or even denied – of a certain frustration and discouragement arising from our comparative smallness and weakness. Our Church is contemptible in size, in numbers. There are not a great many of us. We are gathered today in one of the chapels of a great Cathedral, one of the greatest edifices of Christendom, certainly the largest and most magnificent church in this land. Its grandeur and importance are far beyond what the number of Episcopalians in New York, or in the country as a whole, would seem to warrant.

"It brings its special perplexity, this smallness of numbers. Is there any sufficient reason for being an Episcopalian, we wonder? Would it not be better to be a part of something larger, more effective, more efficient? There are today two great centers of magnetic attraction which exert their influence, in both positive and negative form, on all of us in the Episcopal Church, and on the candidate for the ministry especially – the magnetic pole of Rome, and the magnetic pole of Pan-Protestantism. One pole attracts one and repels another, but the insignificant individual in the rather limited field which our Church seems to represent sometimes tends to believe that the magnetic force exerted upon him is too great and that it is a useless expenditure of energy to attempt to resist. Is there really any reason in or future for Anglicanism? Is it not obvious that it must be absorbed in one or the other of these greater entities? The perplexity is a very real one and not to be ignored. The answer that the Anglican communion shares the merits and advantages of both Romanism and Protestantism, and is a bridge or bond between the two which will ultimately bring them both together scarcely satisfies. It almost seems to put us in the position of the little donkey in the stall who was placed between two bales of lovely, sweet hay. He was unable to decide to which he should turn first, and so starved.

"Rather, the Church to which we belong, and the ministry to which we are called, is like the harness which we must learn to wear, if we would pull the load which waits to be pulled. It matters not that the Episcopal Church is small in numbers, too widely scattered to carry proper weight, insignificant beside other and larger bodies. What does matter is that it is a part of the One, Holy, Catholic, and Apostolic Church – that its faith is the faith of Jesus Christ its Master, and that its ministry is one which he founded and gave to us. There is no escaping the compulsion of that faith, the necessity of that ministry. It is in that that we are harnessed and bound so that there is no escape or turning aside.

"Does this sound awesome; does it instil fear and dread? It need not. For once the harness is accepted and fitted and worn, there is joy – nay, gaity and merriment – in the freedom which comes for that life and work. Remember the phrase in the Second Collect at Mattins—"whose service is perfect freedom". It is only as we accept the finality of God's call that we find freedom.

"The ministry is one of the gayest of lives, in the true sense of gaity. Harnessed, we may be free of wordly fears and anxieties – not that there will not be such fears and anxieties, but that they do not count as important or final. When other men are wondering what they are to do with their lives, the priest may be gay in the knowledge that God has settled that for him. Since there can be no turning back, it is simple for him to move ahead.

"You remember some years ago we were electrified and encouraged by a stirring phrase, "We have nothing to fear, but fear itself." But fear itself is not a bad thing. The wrong kind of fear is bad. But there is a good fear. That fear we may pray for, seek, welcome, and cherish. It is holy fear, one of the sevenfold gifts of the Holy Spirit. It is well described in some words found in the papers of the great Walter Frere, sometime member of the Community of the Resurrection and Bishop of Truro:

I fear Thee, O my God,
O righteous Father, with filial awe;
O Judge inexorable, with
guilty dread;
O Holy Ghost, with terror born

From the former experience has come a sizeable booklet He That Gathereth (New York, World Council of Churches. $.50), a companion to Kennedy's earlier book on the Amsterdam meeting of the World Council of Churches. From the latter came the LP record Listening In on General Convention. The making of this record (available from the National Council at $3) and the television and radio broadcasts from General Convention were his introduction to his present task as head of the new Radio and Television Division of the National Council. Although he is currently on leave of absence from his parish in Lexington, Kentucky, Kennedy is living in New York and we take this review of his latest book to welcome him and his family to our diocese.

Training Sessions for Laity and Clergy

LEADERSHIP training sessions for laity and clergy leaders for The School of Worship, jointly sponsored by the Dean and Chapter of the Cathedral and the Woman's Auxiliary, will be conducted by the Rev. Robert E. Dentan, Ph.D., Professor at Berkeley Divinity School, and author of "Holy Scriptures" in the Church's Teaching Series.

The dates of the training sessions are APRIL 13, and APRIL 27.

neighborhood organization from 59th Street to 125th Street.

This critical situation calls all religious forces together in a common purpose.

So, as the Episcopal Bishop of New York, I invite the responsible leaders of all religious groups in the city, Christian and Jewish, to join me in forming a group for consultation, discussion, and communication, so that the spiritual leadership of the city may more fully assert itself; that we may stand side by side in the proclamation of the ideals of civic righteousness and the condemnation of evil and neglect, whether on the part of our own respective members or of others, and inspire our people to take their part in working a change in our city's affairs.

"We know the paths where in our feet should press,
Across our hearts are written Thy decrees.
Yet, now O Lord, be merciful to bless
With more than these.

"Grant us the will to fashion as we feel,
Grant us the strength to labor as we know
Grant us the purpose, ribbed and edged with steel,
To strike the blow.

"Knowledge we ask not—knowledge Thou hast lent,
But, Lord, the will—there lies our bitter need,
Give us to build above the deep intent,
The Deed . . . the Deed."

The Port of Missing Men

ONE OF THE IMPORTANT activities of the Seamen's Church Institute of New York, sponsored by our Diocese, is that carried on by its Missing Seamen's Bureau. Since it was started in 1916, the Bureau has located over 10,000 seamen, after searches that have lasted from one day to as long as seven years.

A separate room is required at the Institute to house the files kept on seamen reported missing by friends and relatives. Each of these files is a condensed human drama, for there is usually more than simple mischance involved: a man does not become separated from his family and friends in the same accidental, careless way in which he loses track of his fountain pen or his pocket comb. Usually the seaman has first lost his desire to keep in touch with his people, either because of unpleasant memories or because in the rush of present experiences he seems to find ready substitutes for those he has left behind.

Mrs. Shirley Wessel, head of the Missing Seamen's Bureau, finds out as many facts as possible about a seaman's background before she initiates the Bureau's careful and methodical search. By a strategic questioning of those interested in locating the seaman she can often discover valuable clues as to his probable whereabouts, and she can frequently establish the motive underlying the man's disappearance.

When specific "leads" provided by the questioning of friends and relatives avail nothing, the search reverts to a methodical canvassing of shipping companies and union halls, seamen's agencies and port of embarkation offices. His name is entered on the missing seamen's list published quarterly by the Bureau and sent to over a thousand places the world around where seamen congregate, where there is a chance that recent shipmates can supply further information.

A check of vital statistics departments in port cities sometimes discovers that the seaman is dead. This prevails in five to ten percent of the cases. After the last world war this figure was, of course, much higher.

When a seaman is located he is asked to contact the Bureau, and he is then told who it is that wants to find him, and why. The man is usually humbled by the search that has been made for him and he gets in touch with his people immediately. In cases where exceptional domestic difficulties underlie the separation, the Bureau acts as mediator, helping each side to see the viewpoint of the other. In rare cases, after a thorough investigation of the circumstances, the Bureau has agreed with a seaman that he ought to stay lost – that he is well rid of those he has left behind.

Thus the Missing Seamen's Bureau of the Seamen's Church Institute is at once a detective agency and a domestic relations court. And perhaps the lasting contact maintained with the Bureau by those it has helped is the best testimony of the excellent service it renders.

formed on promotional activities of the National Council.

The Rev. C. Kenneth Ackerman will head a committee that will seek to supply to the clergy of the Diocese such aids as will help them in public relations, hoping to increase publicity for the church throughout all areas of the Diocese.

Additional members of the Department were elected at this meeting and approved by the Council of the Diocese, namely: Mr. Howard Richardson of CHRIST CHURCH, Bronxville; Mr. William Hedges of ST. JAMES THE LESS, Scarsdale; Mr. Ernest F. Eidlitz of the CHURCH OF THE RESURRECTION, Manhattan, and Mr. Lee Bristol, Jr., of ST. BARTHOLOMEW'S CHURCH, Manhattan.

The Department, in making these plans, is keeping before it the objective of being of maximum usefulness to all the parishes and missions of the Diocese and assisting them to present more effectively the missionary work to which we are committed. "High pressure" methods are not contemplated, since we reiterate what was said in the January BULLETIN, that we feel confident that when the real needs are known and the opportunities for the building of God's Kingdom per-

THREE NOTED SPEAKERS IN A SERIES OF THREE SERVICES AND PANEL DISCUSSIONS ON "PEACE IN A WORLD OF STRIFE"

The Very Reverend James A. Pike, J.S.D., Dean of The Cathedral Church of St. John the Divine, who will speak on February 15th on "How We Can Achieve A Peaceful Community"

The Very Reverend Eric Noel Porter Goff, M.A., Provost of Portsmouth, England, who will speak on February 22nd on "How Can We Achieve International Peace?"

The Reverend G. Paul Musselman, Executive Director, Department of Christian Social Relations, Diocese of Michigan, who will speak on March 1st, on "How We Can Achieve Industrial Peace"

UNDER THE general theme "Peace In A World of Strife" there will be held a series of addresses and panel discussions at The Cathedral Church of St. John the Divine, on February 15th and 22nd, and March 1st.

The address will be given by the speaker of the day at Evensong, 4 P.M. in the Cathedral, and the panel discussion will be held in Synod House, where the speaker will be joined by two competent discussants, and there will be full opportunity for questions and comments from the floor.

The public will be welcomed at Evensong in the Cathedral and at the panel discussions in Synod House.

The series is sponsored jointly by the Dean and Chapter of the Cathedral and the Department of Christian Social Relations of the Diocese, with the cooperation of the Diocesan Commission on College Work, the Diocesan Woman's Auxiliary, and the Laymen's Organization.

Episcopalian Clergy Serving N. Y. Hospital

THE CHAPLAINCY Service instituted at The New York Hospital last Spring through the cooperation of Protestant, Jewish, and Catholic clergy has shown significant growth in meeting patients' religious needs, reports John Hay Whitney, president of the Society of The New York Hospital.

The Chaplaincy Service is maintained at the Hospital through the cooperation of the East Midtown Ministers Association, the New York Board of Rabbis, and the Catholic Archidiocese of New York.

The Episcopalian clergy in this Service are: the Rev. John Ellis Large, D.D., rector of The Heavenly Rest and Chapel of The Beloved Disciple; the Rev. James A. Paul, D.D., rector, Church of The Holy Trinity; the Rev. Hugh McCandless, rector, Church of The Epiphany; the Rev. Anson Phelps Stokes, Jr., rector, and the Revs. Irving S. Pollard, S,T.B., Charles P. Deems, D.D., and Gerald Gifford, assistant ministers, St. Bartholomew's Church; the Rev. James H. Morgan, assistant minister, St. Thomas Church.

New York Altar Guild Needs Your Help

THE NEW YORK Altar Guild is receiving many calls for all types of altar appointments, linens, and vestments.

These calls come to the Guild, not only from the Diocese of New York, but from all over the world. So that the Guild may continue to give important aid, your help is needed.

Will you look around your parishes and see if you have such things that are not being used and are in good condition? Please send them to the Guild, that they may be restored to use in churches and missions where they are needed.

Such articles may be sent to Mrs. Cuthbert Simpson, Chelsea Square, New York City 11.

Two Meetings on Psychological Counseling

ON TUESDAY, JANUARY 20, the clergy of the parishes which provide psychological counseling services, lay counselors associated with such programs, and clergy who have a general interest in this field, gathered at Cathedral House at the invitation of the Dean to consider means of closer relationship between them and possible contributions to the advance of such work in the Episcopal Church. The group was introduced to the Reverend Kenneth W. Mann, the new psychological counselor at the Cathedral.

The group decided to have regular monthly meetings, alternating between luncheon and dinner meetings, at Cathedral House.

The topic for discussion at the luncheon on February 12 was the relation of spiritual ministrations (confession, unction, and spiritual direction) to counseling. The discussion was led by the Rev. Benjamin R. Priest of Trinity Church. Dr. Hilda L. Mosse, of the LaFargue Clinic at St. Philip's Church, described to the group the work of the Clinic there. At future meetings the group will consider the relation of psychodynamic theory to Christian doctrine and ethics, policies of referral, relationships to medical psychiatrists, etc.

The next meeting will be March 13.

Convocation Dean Retires

AT THE REGULAR meeting of the Executive Committee of the Convocation of Westchester, held at the Roger Smith Hotel, White Plains, on Friday, January 9, the Reverend Fenimore E. Cooper, Dean, presented his resignation to be effective on February 1.

In his letter to the Council, Mr. Cooper stated he had recently accepted a call to Saint Mary's Church, Tuxedo Park, and that he would be taking up his new duties there early in March.

As this parish is located in the Convocation of Ramapo, it will be impossible for him to continue in his present office. The Reverend Mr. Cooper has been rector of Trinity Church, Mount Vernon, where he has served for the last seven years.

In his letter of resignation, Mr. Cooper stated, "It has been a real pleasure and joy for me to serve as Dean since November 10, 1950 and I am happy for the constant support given by those in positions of authority, and for the friendships formed in so serving."

The Council accepted the Dean's letter with regret and the following formal resolution was adopted: "The Convocation Council of Westchester accepts with regret the resignation of Dean Cooper and expresses its gratitude and appreciation for the splendid leadership and the devoted service which he has rendered the church and the Convocation during his tenure in office. The Council wishes him every success in his new work and prays that God will Bless him."

An Enterprise Larger Than A Third Of All The Dioceses Of The Episcopal Church

BECAUSE the Diocese of New York is a part of the Second Province, we are particularly conscious of the Episcopal Church's missionary work in Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Haiti, the Dominican Republic, and the Panama Canal Zone. Or we ought to be, because those Overseas Missionary Districts belong to the Second Province, just as we do.

But are we as conscious of our own Missionary Jurisdiction located wholly within the borders of our own Diocese? Do we realize that there are as many Assisted Parishes and Missions right here in the Diocese of New York as there are in the Missionary District of Panama (which includes Columbia, Costa Rica and Nicaragua); and twice as many as there are in the Missionary Districts of Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands combined?

As we remember in our prayers and in our giving the missionary work of the Episcopal Church throughout the world, let us not forget either in our prayers or in our generosity our very own missionary enterprise for which we are entirely financially responsible. An enterprise second in number of Missions and clergy to but a very few of the great Missionary Jurisdictions of the Church at home and abroad. An enterprise larger, by the same token, than a third of all the dioceses of the Episcopal Church.

At the present time there are 60 Missions and Assisted Parishes in the Diocese looking to the Diocesan Department of Missions for financial aid.

Forty-one Missionary Clergy are supported to a greater or lesser degree by the Missionary Society in order that these sixty congregations may receive the ministration of the Church.

Five of these missionaries are responsible for 3 Missions each and not a few for more than one.

"WE SHALL BUILD ON . . ."

The Story of Trinity Church, Morrisania

TRINITY CHURCH, Morrisania, 106th Street and Trinity Avenue, Bronx, was founded about 1868. But its history has been one of constant problems and changes due to the inevitable and swift impacts felt by all urban parishes.

The first group of people interested in founding a church—eventually to be known as Trinity, Morrisania—met in Purcell's Hall, on what was then known as Railroad Avenue, now Park Avenue. In a few months time the hall proved too small for the congregation, and it moved into Morrisania Hall, on the corner of 168th Street and Washington Avenue.

The church grew rapidly, and the cornerstone of the present church was laid in October 1874 by Bishop Horatio Potter, who also preached at the opening service on Christmas Day of the same year. Perhaps the parish grew too rapidly, and its financial problems became more and more perplexing in these next few years of great nation-wide financial stress. The large mortgage with which the church was struggling caused the sale of the property in June of 1880. The congregation was forced to move out, and for a short while worshipped in private homes, and at Third Avenue and 163rd Street.

But in the same year, 1880, a group of persistent men obtained permission from the proper authorities and the church was reopened under the title, "The Church of The Holy Faith", and the first service was held on Sunday, November 14, 1880.

In 1882 the church was admitted into union with the Convention. The present rectory was built in 1890. In 1888, to meet the needs of the Sunday School and the various organizations, there was begun the accumulation of a fund for the erection of a Parish Hall—which became an accomplished fact in 1903.

In 1923 the old name, Trinity, and the then current name, Church of The Holy Faith, were consolidated and the parish become "Trinity Church, Morrisania". The Golden Jubilee of the parish was celebrated by special services in 1924.

Time, Money & Prayers of Woman's Auxiliary

THE WORK of the Woman's Auxiliary through its Departments of Supply and Missions Promotion and others brings many rewarding contacts with missions and missionaries in all areas of this country and overseas.

Supplies of garments and household necessities are being prepared in many parish workrooms this year for missions in Virginia, South Carolina, South Dakota and Arizona as well as Puerto Rico, Haiti, Liberia, the Philippine Islands and Japan. All this work is carried on while provision is made to supply many needs in institutions and agencies in the Diocese of New York. Other work has been helped by the use of income from trust funds which are at the disposal of the Woman's Auxiliary.

To help St. John's Mission, Ellsworth, Wis., the Perkins Fund supplied $675 for repairs. The men of the congregation do as much of the actual labor as possible, but outside assistance is needed for technical items. Bishop Horstick writes, "The construction of the undercroft marks a new era in the life of the mission."

An Enterprise Larger

Two of these missionaries travel more than 20,000 miles a year ministering to their widely dispersed flock.

In almost every case these Assisted Parishes and Missions meet all their current operating expenses, except for the clergy salaries, and towards the latter they contribute some $75,000 annually.

Even so, a missionary enterprise of this size requires a considerable amount of financial assistance. This year's diocesan adjusted share of the total operating cost is $205,000. Nearly half of this amount goes to supplement the salaries of the two score and more clergy and the furnishing of rental allowances wherever a rectory is not provided. The remainder is budgeted for travel assistance, pension premiums, maintenance and improvement of all properties, and administrative expenses.

Whereas the general purpose of the Missionary Program remains constant, namely, "To carry on missionary and Church extension work in the Diocese", the details of the program are forever changing. And this is as it should be because of the very nature of the work.

It is interesting to note that within the last 5 years, for example, the careful execution of the missionary responsibility vested by Canon in the Bishop and the Board of Managers has resulted in:

7 Assisted Parishes regaining full parish status;

6 Missions attaining for the first time full parish status; Yes, and even:

6 Missions and 1 Assisted Parish being closed because of the discovery of an unnecessary duplication of effort in each case.

During the same period, because of shifting populations and the changing of the nature of neighborhoods, especially in urban communities, 5 more parishes have had to turn to the Diocesan Missionary Society for aid, and are now numbered among our total of 25 Assisted Parishes. Two former parishes, in order that they might perform a new and vitally important type of work within their immediately surrounding communities, have been changed to the status of Organized Missions. And one parochial chapel has also become a Diocesan Mission, making the present total of Missions 35.

In spite of all this, one of the tragedies of these recent years is the fact that the Diocese has not been able to open a single brand new work in any of the many new communities which are mushrooming in the suburban and rural areas of the Diocese because of lack of funds. The increase in missionary giving, which has been far less than planned and hoped for, has been sufficient only to meet the rising operating costs of existing responsibilities due to inflation. This inability to meet the unprecedented missionary challenge of our day within our own Diocesan borders should be the grave concern of us all. We, to whom the Church was first brought through the missionary giving of others, are inadvertently but literally keeping the Church from thousands of others who want it and need it as much as we do. Is it really fair?

Your Bishop Calls You to a "Second Mile" Offering May 3, 1953

HE NEEDS your help for the work of the Diocese of New York because the total missionary giving in the Diocese of New York is not only not going forward, but for the past several years it has failed substantially in meeting its quota. And missionary demands are increasing all the time.

"Grant unto Thy people, that they may love the thing which Thou commandest." These words will be said before every Altar in the Diocese on Sunday, May 3. They are the collect for the day. Will you mean them? Do we really want to love the thing which Our Lord commanded?

Your Bishop will be calling on you to respond to this missionary appeal on that day — May 3 — when in Parish churches throughout the Diocese, this collect is offered — that we may love the thing which He commandeth.

Youth Workshop Group Meets at Yonkers Next Meeting May 8-9

THE FIRST MEETING of Diocesan youth who plan to go to the Workcamp at Rosendale, New York, this August, was held at Christ Church Parish House, Yonkers, Friday and Saturday, February 6 and 7. Nineteen young people from six parishes were in time for the six o'clock supper served by the ladies of Christ Church, and there they met for the first time with the leaders of the Workcamp, The Rev. and Mrs. Robert C. Ward of St. John's Church, Cornwall; The Rev. and Mrs. Charles W. Brieant, Missioner of the Rosendale — Stone Ridge area; and The Rev. and Mrs. David T. P. Bradley, Rector of Christ Church, Yonkers. Introductions were made during the supper, which was immediately followed by Evening Prayer conducted by the Young People of Christ Church.

Buzzing to music

Buzzing with Food

Father Brieant took charge of the first session, "What Is the Condition of All Saints' Mission, Rosendale, and What Can Be Done about It?" Excellent kodachrome slides of the church and parish house were shown, which gave the project a touch of realism from the very start. The meeting then adjourned to Buzz Groups guided by the leaders to discuss the topic, "What Problems Will Arise Out of Group Living, and How Will We As Christians, Deal with Them?" The ideas returned from these sessions provided a lively meeting until 10:00 P.M., when the young people were taken to various homes in the Parish to spend the night.

Saturday's sessions began with 8 o'clock Communion followed by an informal breakfast; and the dishes in this case and at lunch were washed by the young people themselves. Father Ward presided over the first morning session, "How Well Can We, As Christians, Accept the Responsibilities of Living Together As a Group?" Much of the material discussed was a continuation of the topics presented the previous evening.

Mrs. Bradley gave a report, "What Will the Workcamp Cost Us?", in which the estimated figure was $20.00 for meals and $15.00 for transportation and necessary incidentals. It was expected that the self-help principle in the operation of the Workcamp, and the likelihood of economical foods in the area, will keep operating expenses low.

Father Bradley concluded the sessions with a brief discussion of spreading the Workcamp idea, and its possibilities as a useful project in the Diocesan framework. The meeting closed with light lunch, and delegates were on their way home shortly after noon. The next Workcamp session will take place at St. John's Church, Cornwall, and under Father Ward's leadership will proceed to Rosendale to inspect the property at All Saints' Mission, and lay concrete plans for the Workcamp which will take place in the latter part of August. The date of this next meeting is Friday and Saturday, May 8 and 9. It is hoped by the leaders that the Workcamp will accomplish at least two things: 1) That it will give young people some real work to do, and in such stringent conditions as to develop their sense of responsibility as Christians for each other; 2) That some solid work shall be done for the Diocese of New York in the advancement of Rural Mission Work.

Why A College Ministry?

"THROUGH THE COMMISSION on College Work of the Department of Christian Education, the church people of the Diocese of New York are engaged in a special ministry to colleges. This kind of ministry is expensive and will be more expensive when developed as it should be. When people are confronted with the assessments and quotas necessary to cover this expense, they ask quite naturally why this special ministry is necessary over and above the normal parish ministry of the Church.

"This is an investment in the future of the Church. Colleges with their faculties and students are the seed-bed of the future leadership of the Church. If the decisions-moulding policy in community and Church in generations to come are to be Christian decisions, it is crucially necessary that a basic Christian decision be part of the college experience.

"We all want the best possible education for our young people. This is only possible when education involves an intellectual, social, and spiritual experience. The college experience is a unique experience in the life of the student — it is calculated to be a specially-protected artificial experience in which he can grow in every way, intellectually, socially, and — and this is our primary concern—spiritually. No man can be said to be properly educated — no man can have the liberating experience of a truly liberal education — if this education does not result in a consciously accepted framework of convictions, values, and faith."

AMONG THE FACULTY

On Saturday, January 17, a group of Metropolitan New York Episcopal faculty members gathered at Cathedral House for luncheon with Canon T. R. Milford, Chancellor of Lincoln Cathedral, England. A number of those present were renewing their acquaintance with Canon Milford, who was a lecturer at the First Faculty Institute in Theology held at Hamilton College in June, 1950. Others were meeting him for the first time. Following the luncheon Canon Milford addressed the gathering briefly and then discussed with the group points of particular interest raised by various members. Those attending found his wit as delightful as ever and his penetrating comments highly provocative and equally entertaining. This meeting was the second held in the Cathedral, arranged this academic year by a faculty committee for Metropolitan Episcopalians.

New York University (Washington Square) faculty Episcopalians met for luncheon on Febraury 4 at the parish house of the Church of the Ascension. Professor John Tietz of the Department of Educational Psychology spoke on "Christianity and the Teaching of Values."

WITH GRADUATE STUDENTS

For three Sundays in March The Graduate-Faculty Forum at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine will discuss "The Meaning of Worship." Speakers will include The Rev. Dr. Cyril Richardson of Union Theological Seminary on "The Meaning of the Eucharist;" The Rev. C. Kilmer Myers of St. Augustines Chapel on "Liturgy and Life;" and The Rev. Canon Darby Betts, Headmaster of the Cathedral Choir School on "Liturgy and Architecture." All graduate students, recently graduated students, and faculty are invited to participate in these discussions at 7:30 p.m. on March 8, 15, and 22 in the Cathedral House.

WITH UNDERGRADUATES

City Wide Student Lenten Meetings

The Hunter College Canterbury Club announced a series of Friday evening Lenten Meetings for college students in the city of New York beginning February 27 at Roosevelt House, the Religious Activities Building of Hunter College. The first meeting featured an address and discussion led by The Rev. Leslie J. A. Lang, Dean of the Convocation of Westchester and Rector of St. Peter's Parish on the topic, "Prayer and a Lenten Rule of Life." On March 6 students heard the Rev. Wilfred F. Penny, Rector of St. Ignatius, Manhattan, on "Fasting"; and on March 27 The Rev. John M. Mulligan, Rector of All Angels Church, Manhattan, on "Alms giving."

Vassar College students are planning to continue a series of discussions on the Sacraments, led by the Rev. Dr. Robert E. Terwilliger of Christ Church, Poughkeepsie. A special Lenten program began with a service of Holy Communion in the Vassar College Chapel at 6:45 A.M. on Ash Wednesday. Over 125 students attended this service last year. On Friday evenings in Lent the regular supper for students in the Rectory will feature a discussion with the Lenten preacher for that evening at Christ Church. Among the Lenten preachers will be the Rt. Rev. Charles F. Boynton, Suffragan Bishop of New York, and the Very Rev. Percy L. Urban, Dean of the Berkeley Divinity School in New Haven. Students from Vassar College dormitories made up the choir for these services.

New Paltz State Teachers College: Students meet regularly with the Rev. J. Marshall Wilson of St. Andrew's Church on the second and fourth Sunday evenings of the month. The program begins with Evening Prayer, which is followed by discussions on "The Faith of the Church". Members of the Canterbury Club assist in the Church School as teachers. The president of the Club is Mr. Robert McNalley, of Glen Head, Long Island.

Columbia Launches New Program for Episcopal Students

Chaplain John M. Krumm of Columbia University has instituted an expanded program for Episcopal students during the Spring Term. A team of three General Theological Seminary students including Don Ammussen, John Messinger, and Alfred Minor has been asked by the chaplain to explore a new and varied approach to the Episcopal students. This program will include weekly small discussion groups, calling on individual students in dormitories, and corporate worship and fellowship in the Friday noon day Holy Communions at St. Paul's Chapel, and luncheons following.

New York University (Washington Square): On February 9 spring term activities began with a luncheon honoring newly-entered Episcopal students to the University. The spring term program will be varied from the fall program to meet the needs and time of the many different types of students who attended New York University. Regular Monday luncheon discussions will be held at the Church of the Ascension Parish House. On the third Friday of each month there will be a dinner meeting for students at the N.Y.U. Religious Center. On Wednesday, February 11, a weekly Communion Service for Episcopal students was instituted at the Religious Center.

Wagner College: Episcopal students at Wagner College, Staten Island, meet for supper two Wednesday evenings a month at St. Simon's Church. Following the supper, discussions on the general topic "The Faith of the Church" are led by the two chaplains to the group, The Rev. Douglas M. Glasspool, Rector of St. Simon's, and the Rev. Donald S. Cheetham, Rector of St. Alban's. Lenten Communion services for students are planned.

HOW CAN A PARISH HELP THE COLLEGE MINISTRY?

1. Order a supply of Letters of Commendation from the Division on College Work, 281 Fourth Avenue, New York 10, (there is no charge for these), and see to it that one is sent for each college student in your parish to the Chaplain to Episcopal Students at the college the student attends. This should be done early in September (or when the student first enters).

2. See that every college student from your parish receives a copy of the parish bulletin regularly.

3. Plan Corporate Communion services (with perhaps a breakfast and informal talk to follow) for the college students during their vacations — particularly at Christmas and at Easter if possible.

4. If your parish is near a campus, organize a committee to investigate ways in which you as a parish can make students away from home feel "at home" in your parish. Have a service to welcome students to the parish, publicize it as such, and have it early in the fall. Include and involve students in your parish activities.

5. For city colleges — the "commuter colleges" — have announced or posted on the campus the weekday services at the Episcopal Church nearest each campus.

A Prayer For Civic Righteousness

By The Bishop of New York

STIR UP we beseech Thee, O Lord, the hearts and wills of the people of our city that they may fearlessly contend against every evil; and so move them with a sense of Thy purpose for the life and welfare of our community that all unrighteousness may be overcome: Reveal to us, O Lord, how we may work together for that civic righteousness which alone exalteth a nation; and make us worthy of the leadership entrusted to us as citizens of a great city—through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

The Department Of Promotion Explains Missionary Quotes

THE QUESTION is often asked — "Who decides, and how does he decide, the missionary quota of my parish?" Here is the answer, in brief.

Every parish and mission in the Diocese of New York, as well as throughout the Church, is assigned a missionary quota each year. In this diocese and most others it is based upon what they spend on themselves.

In this diocese the parish quotas assigned are 45.17 per cent of the current expenses of each parish, averaged over the preceding three years. "Current expenses", however, excludes salaries paid to clergy, insurance premiums, and repairs. This quota represents a fair share of what we should be able to give for missionary work if we spend that much money on ourselves.

The missionary quota covers our own diocesan missionary budget and our apportioned share of the budget of the National Council of our Church.

The budget for missionary work of the Diocese covers the work in which the Diocese is engaged. It helps aided parishes who are unable to support themselves; it nurtures mission churches to self-support; and it opens new mission churches in strategic areas.

The Diocese of New York needs $342,572 in 1953 to maintain its own missionary program. This includes salaries to clergy serving as diocesan missionaries, and grants to various agencies doing other missionary work in the Diocese. The budget also maintains diocesan departments in the Council, such as the Department of Christian Education, Christian Social Relations, Finance and Promotion.

The National Church apportionment to our diocese for 1953 is $491,935. This is based on the amount that all parishes and missions of our diocese spend on themselves. The formula used includes all operating expenses, including clergy salaries, and the apportionment is calculated on a sliding scale of percentages as between the various dioceses. This is our fair share of the budget adopted by the General Convention.

The Bishop's Message

AT THE conference of religious leaders held recently in regard to the deplorable civic conditions it was agreed that the churches have a responsibility to arouse a spirit of moral concern which will ultimately bring about a cleansing of our community. As the revelations of civic unrighteousness are reported daily there is a rising spirit of righteous indignation against the minority who are responsible for the prevalent situation. But there is great danger that the indignation will be momentary, that apathy and indifference will set in with the result that conditions will go from bad to worse. The situation is urgent; it demands that every citizen do his part now.

What can the individual citizen do at the present time? Here are seven suggestions.

1) You can set out to be well-informed regarding the insufferable situation; by reading the newspapers carefully, and by studying the reports that have been made available by numerous civic groups.

2) You can organize groups in your church for discussion and action.

3) You can invite your friends and residents in your area to form neighborhood units for the same purpose.

4) You can give your support to one of the Committees pledged to civic reform such as the City Affairs Committee, Citizens Union, and the Citizens Non-Partisan Committee.

5) You can at the proper time register and vote conscientiously and urge others to do the same.

6) You can do your part according to your ability and opportunity to witness in terms of your daily life for the cause of civic righteousness.

7) You can pray; perhaps you may wish to use the authorized prayer found elsewhere in this BULLETIN.

As members of the Church we have an obligation in this matter. Religion cannot be confined to worship; it must be joined to the issues of citizenship and daily living. Our faith must go out with us in all our contacts in the world. To be pious to God and shirk our social and human obligations is to be recreant to our faith. How strongly does the Bible stress the relationship of worship and action! The prophets of the Old Testament spelled out in detail the obligations that God-worshipping people have to the poor, the stranger, the needy, etc. Our Lord testified through His ministry the relation that must exist between worship and concern for social righteousness and the welfare of the community.

It is the business of the Church to promote the Kingdom of God which is righteousness. We must fearlessly contend "that righteousness alone exalteth a nation and that sin is a reproach to any people."

In this crusade all citizens must do their part. The powers against which we contend are mighty. But if all people do their duty, victory is certain. The great danger is apathy and reluctance to act. Now is the time for all who love God and respect man to exercise their full powers of citizenship to correct the conditions which are a disgrace to our community.

We Episcopalians are not mighty in numbers, but united with the people of all faiths, we can enable the forces of religion to become a dynamic influence in giving leadership to community action.

May the city of our love and pride become a city of justice, brotherhood, and peace where corruption shall cease to fester and righteousness shall flourish and abound.

Time, Money and Prayers

I am for the generous gift to help us with our new chairs for Cuttington College and Divinity School which we need so desperately. In the beginning, not having the money, we built much of our equipment of local timber. Just this week we discover the bugs have just about eaten all the science laboratory away . . . We had a fine first commencement at Cuttington in November, graduating our first theological student and four from the college. The President of Liberia honored us with his presence and the address . . ." In addition, garments and supplies have been prepared for the Holy Cross Mission and for the House of Bethany.

First aid treatment in one of the three Clinics cared for by the Sisters

To Bishop Binsted $130 was sent from the H. Percy Silver Fund toward the purchase of theological books for the clergy of the Philippine Independent Church, particularly for those younger men who have taken their training with the seminarians of our own communion in St. Andrew's Training School, Manila. The Bishop writes, "The thoughtfulness of the Woman's Auxiliary . . . will do much to assist them to start their theological libraries, which they badly need." The Church Periodical Club has assisted with this project. Besides this gift St. Luke's Hospital, Manila, is being provided with garments and linens.

Among many fine works helped by gifts through the Supply Department, none is more appealing than that at St. Vincent's School for Handicapped Children in Port-au-Prince, Haiti. At this only institution which renders such a ministry in Haiti, the Sisters of St. Margaret supervise the work with 60 blind, deaf, and crippled children.

It began in 1945, when the Sisters on a hospital visit found Simone, a three-year-old weighing 13 pounds, apparently totally blind, and abandoned. She was so weak she could not even sit alone. In the face of her need they arranged for foster home care for her. With food, care, and a loving home, she has grown strong and with strength has recovered some sight. She now is a Braille student and doing well in school. Very soon the other two "charter" members of the school were found, a two-year-old girl with deafness resulting from a chronic mastoid condition, and a small boy so knock-kneed that he could not stand. These three are typical of the three handicaps with which the school is prepared to work: blindness, deafness, and orthopedic disabilities.

The children at St. Vincent's represent all sections of the community, from the very poor to the well-to-do, for it is the only school in the land able to take such cases for training. The government and medical circles and leading citizens take great interest in its work. Medical conferences have been held at the school, and the government has assigned a public health nurse to assist in treatments. Through the generous gift of the wife of Haiti's President more equipment was purchased and much needed repairs were made.

Interviewing a parent who wishes to place a child — crippled, blind, undernourished — in St. Vincent's School

"On World Health Day, St. Vincent's made its first public appearance," write the Sisters. "The Department of Education provided us with a truck so that we might participate in the parade along with other schools and health projects. Two of the teachers decorated the truck with the Haitian colors and made a platform on the floor of the truck. Standing at the front were three children, a deaf child with the school flag, a blind child with the Haitian National Flag, and another deaf child with a health placard. Further back were two blind children and a teacher who was giving them a lesson in Braille,

Group of deaf children at St. Vincent's School learning about the care of the Altar

one writing on a Braille writer. On the other side of the truck was the teacher of the deaf children with the group hearing aid unit, giving a lesson in speech. At the back of the truck was another table and on it our orthopedic chair in which Lucien (cerebral palsy) was sitting, his small legs encased in braces and his crutches hanging on the arms of the chair in full view. Around his neck hung his beloved music box with which he played from time to time, and on his head a cap of straw which he used effectively to fan himself or to wave to someone. On one side stood a deaf boy with the school pennant, and on the other a crippled child with the school's St. Vincent's picture. On the front of the truck was a card with the name of the school; on the side with the deaf children a sign 'The deaf learn to speak'; in front of the blind, 'The Blind receive a classical education'; and at the back, 'The lame learn to walk'. Many persons were much impressed, and the children were proud to ride past the reviewing stand of the President of Haiti!"

To help this work, many women of the Auxiliary are giving time, money, and prayers.

Unique Seaman's Checkroom

NOT THE LEAST of a seaman's problems is that of knowing what to do with his "surplus gear", the shore clothes, the hobby equipment, the papers and personal effects that cannot be stowed in the foc's'le of the ship he is on. When a seaman goes to sea he does not go "bag and baggage".

In helping seamen meet the problem of what to do with their shore "dunnage", the Seamen's Church Institute, sponsored by our Diocese, has developed one of the world's largest and most unique check rooms, in the sub-basement of its thirteen-story building on the tip of Manhattan Island. Here a seaman can obtain, at the very lowest rates available, storage space that will serve for him the same purpose that attics and spare rooms do for landspeople. Coats, suits, trunks, suitcases, bags and packages of all sizes and descriptions can be stored here for years at a time. Some of the trunks have been on the racks in the Institute baggage room as long as fifteen years. They are not just abandoned there, but, rather, are constantly serving as "catch-alls" for things the sailor does not need to carry with him but which he does not wish to lose track of. He stops in from time to time picking up a jacket, leaving some photographs he has made on his last trip out.

Seventy-five per cent of the pieces usually on the racks in the baggage room belong to men who are shipped out. Of the remainder, perhaps the most bizarre items belong to men who have just come ashore and who intend to make a trip home. It is this group that has the canaries, the vases, the parrots, the kimonas, the statuary, the monkeys, the coral fragments, the shrunken heads and the elephant ears. On the sailor's way back to sea, if there has been sweetheart trouble, kimonas and other fine baubles will be returned sullenly to the racks, where they may never be claimed.

For one reason or another, over eight hundred pieces of baggage were abandoned during 1952. After the last war this number was in the thousands. Most of these were not left at the owner's choice, but they were left forever.

When unclaimed baggage is opened, clothing goes to the Institute Sloppe Chest, while papers and items of value are held for seven additional years. Many of the interesting items in the museum which the Institute will open to the public on Maritime Sunday, May 24, came from this source.

The items in these unclaimed bags often tell a story. Baby shoes and a bachelor's mending kit, a ring in among the buttons. Two photographs: a young man, an old man. A tea set and a can opener. There are usually some letters. And there is often a birthday card or a Christmas card, perhaps looking very ordinary, but which must have meant something.

Over the years, the character of the baggage checked by seamen has changed. The once universally used white canvas seabag is now seldom carried except by sailors of an older vintage. But the penchant of seamen for collecting items ranging from sea shells to leopards would seem to guarantee that the atmosphere of the Institute baggage room will always remain somewhat individual.

THE WESTCHESTER CONVOCATION

THE ANNUAL Corporate Communion for Men and Boys held at TRINITY CHURCH, Ossining, on Washington's Birthday, was a most successful affair. Men and boys from the neighboring parishes attended and also assisted with the choir work. St. Peter's School Choir, which usually sings at this affair, was on tour and could not be present. The guest speaker was The Right Reverend Charles F. Boynton, D.D., S.T.D., Suffragan Bishop of New York.

March 15-22, Canon Albert J. du Bois, Canon Missioner of the Diocese of Long Island, will conduct a mission in TRINITY CHURCH, Ossining, on the theme, "One Lord, One Church, One Faith". Invitations are being issued to all the neighboring Episcopal churches.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH, Yonkers, has recently appointed a new superintendent for the Church School. Mr. Richard Deming, who is studying for the teaching profession at Columbia University, has consented to take over this important work.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH, Yonkers, has a special worship service for the children in the lower school. They have their own altar and each week decorate it with flowers. Only three flowers are allowed for each vase. The plan works very successfully.

A Quiet Day for the women of the parish and the community was held at CHRIST CHURCH, Bronxville, on February 11, the Wednesday before Ash Wednesday. The Rev. Leslie Lang, rector of ST. PETER'S CHURCH, WESTCHESTER, was the conductor.

ST. BARTHOLOMEW'S CHURCH, White Plains, is sponsoring a series of lectures on five successive Wednesdays during Lent on the theme, "The Meaning of the Bible". Dr. Robert Denton of the Berkeley Divinity School will be the speaker.

The Children of the Church School at ST. BARTHOLOMEW'S CHURCH, White Plains, are taking trip to places of interest in connection with their study of Church History. They have visited Seabury House and the headquarters of our national Christian Education Department, Tucker House in Greenwich, ST. PAUL'S CHURCH, Eastchester, and ST. JOHN'S CHURCH, Tuckahoe. Later they plan to visit such colonial churches as ST. STEPHEN'S CHURCH, Armonk, and ST. MATTHEW'S CHURCH, Bedford.

"Lord, Teach Us To Pray"

by Ellis H. Carson

OUR Lord took this request from His Apostles very literally and gave them a precise formula, which we know as The Lord's Prayer. Men are still making this same request. The Body of Christ, His Holy Church, has supplied their needs. It has done so in beautiful fashion. We have a whole store-house from which to choose, though perhaps we need some help in the choosing. This suggestion is prompted by my own experience.

Five years ago I attended a mission conducted by the late Father Shirley F. Hughson of the Order of the Holy Cross. He was then some eighty years of age. Nevertheless, he conveyed an impression of strength and vigor, and his vitality stimulated all who saw and heard him. Out of his saintliness he exhibited extreme compassion for the frailties of mankind. There was, however, a striking contrast between what might be termed as the gentle persuasiveness of his sermons and the power of his prayers. For these latter he opened what he demonstrated as a veritable treasure-chest of supplications and devotions. This he did as he laid before the throne of God on our behalf many of the matchless prayers which comprise the Collects of the Book of Common Prayer.

As he recited them with an earnest and forceful delivery, and mostly by heart, we sensed his affection for them and his belief in their effectiveness. Then also I realized that his delivery was in keeping with the verb form employed in the Collects, namely the imperative. This we usually associate with the giving of orders or commands, and it is not one we frequently employ in everyday life. So as to avoid being too positive, whether in speaking or writing, we are inclined to soft-pedal our instructions or tone down our requests. Not so in the Collects, wherein we say to Almighty God: "Assist us" – "Give us Thy peace" – "Fulfill now, O Lord, the desires and petitions of Thy servants". By these and other examples the Church teaches us to get quickly to the point in our prayers. We would not be saying them if we did not have faith that they would be heard and that our petitions will be fulfilled "as may be most expedient for us". A direct and positive approach seems, therefore, to be both logical and appropriate.

Endeavoring to follow Father Hughson's example, I have, even though in faltering fashion, tried to make some of the Collects specially my own. A little concentration and study will bring the realization of how many are already pretty firmly fixed in our memories by constant repetition. In our waking moments, almost automatically our consciousness revives to the plea, "Defend us . . . with Thy mighty power". A little meditation and find ourselves repeating, "Cleanse the thoughts of our hearts by the inspiration of Thy Holy Spirit". As we examine our consciences, we recall the simple supplication from the office for the visitation of the sick: "O Savior of the world, who by Thy cross and passion has redeemed us, save us and help us, we humbly beseech Thee, O Lord".

What shall we say in requesting absolution? The Collect for the twenty-first Sunday after Trinity: "Grant we beseech Thee, most merciful Lord, to thy faithful people pardon and peace, that they may be cleansed from all their sins and serve Thee with a quiet mind."

When should we especially ask Our Lord to teach us to pray? I have found that the period immediately before or after receiving Holy Communion is a period particularly suited to meditation and one during which we feel especially close to the Master. The act of memorizing requires repetition. This set in motion a stream of prayer. With each hepetition some fresh thought or aspect of supplication comes to mind. As one also

THE RAMAPO CONVOCATION

In ST. JAMES', Goshen, the rector gives choir crosses as awards to outstanding boys and girls; he had nineteen acolytes at church on St. Paul's Day.

The Guild distributes gifts to several nearby institutions, through the Church Periodical Club, led by Mrs. Rowland Earle.

The parish celebrates its 150th year in 1953: The present church building is one hundred years old.

In GRACE CHURCH, Nyack, seventeen college students came to a Corporate Communion Service recently.

Twenty men assisted the rector in a Festival of Lights for Epiphany.

George Schofield (architect) is now a member of the Department of Missions of the Council of the Diocese. He is also improving his own parish buildings, year by year.

CHRIST CHURCH, Suffern, plans three Monday evenings in March for a missionary study of Liberia, and Friday evenings in Lent for a study of Liturgics.

A program for church organists and priests was conducted by Canon West on the Monday before Lent. Many choristers also attended.

The Youth Council of Ramapo – 25 persons – met on February 9 at CHRIST CHURCH, Suffern, to plan the Lenten study material. Russell Hunt of Suffern and Marilyn Shaver of Nyack are the 1953 delegates to the Youth Council of our Diocese. The Rev. Fessenden A. Nichols is clerical advisor.

THE MANHATTAN CONVOCATION

May 14 will be a date to put into your engagement book. It is then that the Cantata Singers will give Bach's B Minor Mass at ST. MICHAEL'S CHURCH, Amsterdam Avenue. The Conductor is Arthur Mendel, the Head of the music department of Princeton University. This well-known choral group is made up of about 60 voices with 25 professional instrumentalists. The concert of May 14 will be the first of two which the group will give in ST. MICHAEL'S CHURCH during the coming year.

Each Thursday morning breakfast is served in the Parish House of the CHAPEL OF THE INTERCESSION, Trinity Parish, West 155th Street, after the 7:00 o'clock Celebration of the Holy Communion. The breakfast is planned for the convenience of people going to business or school.

On the last Sunday of the month, following the 11 o'clock service, there is a congregational rehearsal of hymns and other music for the following month at ST. BARTHOLEMEW'S CHURCH, Park Avenue.

THE CHURCH OF THE EPIPHANY, York Avenue, has prepared one of the most attractive of all Lenten notices which have come to this correspondent's attention. In two colors, on the front cover is a deeply religious poem of praise to our Lord in the different aspects in which He appears to us, as Light and Law and Peace, among others. The reverse side has the listing of the many Lenten services and meetings.

One of the best ways to answer the problem of Sunday evening worship has been worked out at ALL ANGELS' CHURCH, West End Avenue. The Service is framed within the context of Evening Prayer with use of familiar hymns. Following the Grace, questions are submitted to the Rector, The Rev. erend John M. Mulligan, who answers them from the Chancel steps extemporaneously. An expository sermon follows. After the Benediction the lights are put out, except for those in the Sanctuary. The organist plays a quiet recital for about twenty minutes. The entire service lasts about an hour and has proved extremely popular with non-Church-members.

The Church Mouse reporting in the "Parish Messenger" of THE CHURCH OF THE RESURRECTION, East 74th Street, reports the following: "An English clergyman preached a sermon on the subject, 'Recognition of friends in Heaven'. Soon after, he received a note which read: 'I should be much obliged if you would preach to your congregation on 'Recognition of friends on Earth', as I have been coming to your church for six months and no one has taken any notice of me yet.' Friendliness like cleanliness is next to Godliness". A very good point!

ST. JAMES' CHURCH, Madison Avenue, has entered upon a new venture for its members and friends. A Parish Mission, under the leadership of Bishop Coleman of Qu'Appelle (Saskatchewan, Canada), was held during the early part of Lent. The purpose of the Mission was to weld all the people more closely together as a Christian family and to help prepare for a helpful and enriching Lent.

Mrs. Guy Beaver King, who died during January, played an extraordinary role in the last 30 years in changing the dreary institutions for the aged into modern homes, and also increasing the capacity of Protestant homes in New York. She served for 18 years as President of St. Luke's Home for Aged Women in New York City. In addition to her work at St. Luke's, Mrs. King helped in the modern development of several other homes and served on numerous boards. At her funeral at the CHURCH OF THE INCARNATION, Madison Avenue, there were more than 300 people present, although the day was rainy and a bus strike impeded travel in the City. A valiant servant of the Church, may she rest in peace!

New lights outside the church doors, new collection bags and new kneelers, not to mention a very fine new organ, have recently been installed in ST. PHILIP'S CHURCH, West 133rd Street, the largest Parish in the Episcopal Church.

THE CHURCH OF THE HEAVENLY REST, Fifth Avenue, was again on TV over the nation-wide program, "Frontiers of Faith" which originates in New York City over Channel 4. The Reverend John Ellis Large, D.D., was Preacher on this service on February 15.

Basil Rathbone, the well-known actor of stage and screen, presented a program of dramatic readings at the Tuesday Evening Hour on February 10 in the Parish Hall of TRINITY CHURCH, Wall Street. This is one of a series of meetings when speakers from different backgrounds speak to an interested and growing group. There are refreshments and a cordial welcome to all.

ST. LUKE'S CHAPEL, Trinity Parish, Hudson Street, is organizing a choir for girls. It will sing at the 9:15 Celebration of the Holy Communion. ST. LUKE'S CHAPEL is celebrated for its music (among other fine things), and this new Choir is designed to strengthen and help congregational singing. Usually in each of the Sunday leaflets there is a short note commenting on the life and work of the composer whose works are being sung that day.

Three deacons have been ordained to the Order of Priests within the last few weeks in Manhattan parishes. The Reverend Gerald Gifford was ordained in January at ST. BARTHOLOMEW'S CHURCH, Park Avenue, by Bishop Hobson of Southern Ohio; The Reverend John F. Dickman was ordained on February 7 at ST. MARTIN'S CHURCH, Lenox Avenue, by Bishop Louttit of South Florida; and The Reverend Warren C. Skipp was ordained at ST. GEORGE'S CHURCH, Stuyvesant Square, on February 8, by Bishop Lawrence of Western Massachusetts. All three of the new priests are serving at the churches where they were ordained.

Can Spring Be Far Behind? Remember Apr. 7-11 A.M.

WITH THE PROMISE of spring each year, the Woman's Auxiliary takes its Diocesan Meeting for April out of Manhattan. This year it is to be held at Christ Church, Rye, on Tuesday, April 7, at 11 A.M. The program is planned to emphasize the Church in the rural areas of our country, and the speaker is to be the Bishop of Maine, The Rt. Rev. Oliver L. Loring, D.D. A box luncheon will be followed by a brief afternoon session.

"St. Faith's . . ."

"A GRADUATE of St. Faith's . . .". This phrase has been heard for over fifty years both at home and overseas. To the initiated at means that the Deaconess or Church worker referred to was trained for service in the Church at the New York Training School for Deaconesses.

The distinguished history of the New York Training School for Deaconesses began just before the turn of the century when the Rev. Dr. William Reed Huntington, revered and scholarly rector of Grace Church, Manhattan, gave impetus to the Deaconess movement in this country by framing and later (1889) securing the adoption by General Convention of the canon "Of Deaconesses" (#51, General Convention of 1952). The ministerial office of Deaconess having been canonically established, Dr. Huntington proceeded to initiate his pro-

Christian Social Relations Nationally

THE NATIONAL COUNCIL has marked a great advance in the field of Christian Social Relations by the creation of two new divisions within the Department. One is the Division of Social Education and Community Action, under the leadership of the Rev. M. Moran Weston as Executive Secretary. Father Weston, who is a member of the Department of Christian Social Relations of this Diocese, headed the study of Christian Social Relations in the Episcopal Church, and edited the report entitled The Episcopal Church at Work.

The other is the Division of Urban and Industrial Work, under the leadership of the Rev. G. Paul Musselman. Mr. Musselman comes to The National Council from the position of Executive Director of the Department of Christian Social Relations of the Diocese of Michigan, where he did an outstanding work in the field of industrial relations.

The third division of the Department, established several years ago, is the Division of Health and Welfare Services. At present this division is headed by the Rev. Almon Pepper, Executive Director of the Department.

The two new divisions are the result of the increased interest of the Church, as evidenced by the attitude of the General Convention in Boston last fall. There was an awareness of the duty of the Church to deal with the critical social, economic, racial and international problems of our day. There was a realization that the Church at present has only the most tenuous contact with labor, and that our great cities constitute one of the most challenging missionary fields in the world.

The Dean's Column

EVER SINCE the School of Worship last fall, when 350 women of the Diocese saw us celebrate the Holy Communion facing the people from behind the high altar, we have been receiving inquiries and expressions of interest. This interest was heightened by the appearance last month of a large picture in the New York Herald-Tribune depicting the offertory at our Eucharist. Since there may be some of the Diocese who may wonder what we are about at the Cathedral, I am going to talk this time about the principal liturgical changes which have been made by the Chapter with the approval of the Bishop.

Too often in a service it would seem that the priest and choir are the actors and the people the audience, when as a matter of fact the people should be the actors, with the priest and choir as prompters. This means we need more participation, a heightened sense of common action in worship. This is of course more difficult to achieve in a Cathedral than anywhere else, because of the size, the difficult acoustics for singing, and the fact that people don't know each other. But perhaps these very handicaps have spurred us toward bold solutions, like Demosthenes practicing his oratory with pebbles in his mouth. Our principal changes at the 11 o'clock Sunday service — all aimed at greater corporateness and greater vividness in teaching the meaning of the service — are as follows:

1. WE FACE THE PEOPLE, emphasizing that the Eucharist is the family meal of the people of God, and making available to the people the "eye-gate" as well as the "ear-gate" during the prayer of consecration. We are not the first in the Diocese to do this; this has been the custom at St. George's, Stuyvesant Square, since the foundation of the church in 1811. It was the universal practice of the Church until the ninth century. In quite practical terms it makes our high altar seem closer to the people (it is in fact not close enough) and improves the acoustics. But we have not abandoned the position of celebration more familiar to people: for the four other celebrations each Sunday and two each day the eastward position is still used.

2. WE BEGIN WITH MORNING PRAYER. By adding choral Morning Prayer (up to the second canticle — as allowed by the rubrics where Communion follows) we are able to begin the service near the people and with elements, such as the Venite, in which they can readily join. This also restores the psalmody and Old Testament lesson of the primitive Eucharist, supplying important notes which the present eucharistic rite lacks: the praise of God in His creation, the continuous working of God in history, etc. For matins all the clergy are together at the west end of the choir — including the celebrant, epistoler and gospeler, who go to the altar during the second canticle (such as the Te Deum or Benedictus) which serves as the Introit. The Collect for Purity and Summary of the Law are said at the foot of the altar; then during the Kyrie the celebrant goes behind the altar, with the assistant ministers standing sideways at either end as at St. George's.

3. THE GOSPEL IS TAKEN TO THE PEOPLE. On greater days, during the gradual hymn after the Epistle there is a procession to the great pulpit in the midst of the people, and the deacon there proclaims the Gospel; (we are fortunate in having a deacon attached to the Cathedral staff — the Rev. Prof. Edmund LaB. Cherbonnier, PhD., of the Barnard College Department of Religion). This stresses the fact that the gospel is something in motion — to be taken out into the world through the people of God.

4. LAYMEN BRING UP THE OBLATIONS ALONG WITH THE ALMS. Money alms were developed as a substitute for the gifts in kind which the worshippers brought in the early Church. The bread, wine, water, and alms together represent the people's lives and talents dedi-

The Queen Anne Chalice, which is the property of St. Peter's Church, Westchester, is one of the justly famous group of chalices and patens sent out by Queen Anne to the Anglican parishes in the American Colonies. This chalice is a beautiful example of early Eighteenth Century workmanship. The standing paten is here shown used as a form of covering for the chalice, which was a form of display characteristic of that age. The hall-marks are plainly visible. Note: the standing paten is an ancient form, still used by most of the Eastern churches; it is the direct ancestor of the ciborium.

Maker: John Eastt, London, 1708-09
On loan from St. Peter's Church, Westchester.

The Hungarian Chalice and Paten are of heavy gold, worked with a boldness in design characteristic of Magyar craftsmanship. The foot of the chalice has the Great Seal of the United States on one face, and the Arms of Hungary on the opposite and matching face; the enamel work in these is excellent. The lip of the cup has the Words of Institution in Hungarian on one side and in English on the other. The great weight of the chalice eliminates the possibility of daily use, but the Bishop himself always uses it at Ordinations.

THE ART TREASURES OF THE CATHEDRAL CHURCH

by Canon Edward N. West, D.D., Litt. D., Sacrist

Good ecclesiastical silver involves more than richness; it includes basic designs adapted to the specific use to which the individual object is to be put. A well designed chalice, for example, must meet the following requirements: it must have a bowl wide enough to admit of easy administration, it must have a knop smooth enough and large enough to permit the Minister to hold it firmly, it must have a sufficiently well balanced base to prevent any tipping should it inadvertently be struck with the edge of a pall. A processional cross should be so balanced on its staff that it is not unduly top-heavy. If the design be good, then enriching it may be appropriate.

The combination of precious metals and jewels always demands great discretion in design. Large numbers of jewels spread all over a piece invariably produce an unfortunate effect, and in addition impose an almost impossible situation when the problem of cleaning has to be met. If jewels are to be used they should be clustered together in rich designs, and, if used on chalices, be detachable as complete units. Some care must be taken to avoid colour combinations which are rarely satisfactory; e.g. rubies, amethysts, and sapphires do not ordinarily look well set in yellow gold, wheas they are superb when set in silver, white-gold or platinum.

Thought must also be given to the relative ease with which different metals may be worked; white-gold, for example, is notoriously difficult. The most satisfactory result ever obtained has been silver-gilt, but the mercury gilding process is so dangerous that it is now illegal in most countries. However, irrespective of the metal used or the adornments added, the all important thing is that the design be good and the material be exactly what it pretends to be.

The Cross of New York, which is reserved for use in services presided over by the Bishop of the Diocese, was given in memory of William Thomas Manning, Tenth Bishop of New York. The cross is of silver and gold; it took fifteen hundred working hours by jewelers and goldsmiths to produce it in finished form. Two hemispheric rock crystals mark the crucial point. One hundred and ninety-two diamonds, given for this purpose, adorn the central boss. Ninety-six other precious and semi-precious stones lend brilliance to the whole mass. The over all height of the cross and its staff is eight and one-half feet.

The Royal Alms Basin. In origin, the "decent Basin", mentioned in one of the rubrics in the Communion Service, is from the same family as the paten now exclusively associated with the Bread used in Holy Communion. This particular basin is of silver-gilt, hand-wrought and chiseled. It is sixteen and a half inches in diameter. The Royal Arms dominate the center of the design, and on the top flange is the eagle of St. John.
Maker: Omar Ramsden, London, 1926
Donor: His Majesty King George V

Two-handled Cup. This superb piece of silver-gilt work is termed "Restoration Cup" because it was made in the first years of the Restoration Period in English history; Charles II was restored to the English throne in 1660. This ceremonial piece was presented by Edmund Ironside, Esquire, to his relative, the Lord Bishop of Bristol, in 1661. The Coat of Arms impales the Arms of the See of Bristol with the Arms of Ironside.
Maker: R. C., London, 1661
Donor: His Majesty King George V

The Moffett Ciborium is one of the most satisfactory designs ever worked out in terms of function. It is of silver-gilt with clustered jewelled designs; recently a complete circle of pearls has been added to the base. A ciborium is a form of covered cup-paten originating in the standing paten; it is designed to permit easy administration of the Breads used at Holy Communion. This form of paten is valuable in services involving great numbers of people, for it prevents the accidents inevitable if an heavily laden flat paten be used.

Our Guest Editor continued from Page 7

repeats the prayers previously learned, a spiritual bouquet is laid at the feet of Our Creator.

The fact that we follow set liturgical patterns in our public prayers involves. repetition. The Lord's Prayer is obviously one designed for frequent use. We find it prescribed as part of every office for which provision is made in the Prayer Book. We never gather together for other religious purposes such as Vestry or Diocesan meetings that we do not recite this same prayer in unison. Then we note that by special rubrics several of the most vital Collects are required to be repeated with frequency. I have in mind the Collects for the first Sunday in Advent and for Ash Wednesday, which we are instructed to say throughout these respective seasons, and the Collects for Christmas and Easter Days, which are recited at all services held during the octaves. This is in no way "vain repetition". Repetition of prayers is only to be criticized when it is in vain in the sense that it is done thoughtlessly or without concentration and reverence.

There is no special originality about this suggested procedure for memorizing prayers, but, as with many other recommendations, their value is not fully realized until underlined by experience. Last Lent I resolved to begin anew to follow Father Hughson's example in memorizing Collects. The Collect for the second Sunday in Lent was emphasized in a Lenten sermon, and a day or so later I learned it during my post-Communion devotions. As I left the church to drive to the station for my morning train, I was still repeating what I had learned as I came to a busy intersection. I stopped, preparatory to making a left turn at a blind corner. The road appeared to be clear, but just as I re-started, a car came from nowhere, and only by the slightest margin was a violent collision averted. After the moment of emergency passed, I found myself still saying, "Keep us both outwardly in our bodies and inwardly in our souls that we may be defended from all adversities which may happen to the body and from all evil thoughts that may assault and hurt the soul."
